PASSENGER LISTS PUBLISHED IN
"THE SHAMROCK OR IRISH CHRONICLE," 1811

J. DOMINICK HACKETT

The date of arrival of early immigrant ancestors from Ireland in America must always be a matter of interest to descendants. The evidence of this lies in the frequent searches of such records.

Official passenger lists may be found at the port of entry. Those in New York date only from 1820 and have to be consulted, if at all, at the Custom House. These lists, which are numerous even in early days, are chronologically arranged and it is almost impossible to find an individual name unless the exact date of arrival is known because the surnames are not alphabetically arranged. The lists are incomplete even after 1820. Alphabetical lists of names of passengers previous to that time are scarce and those which have been compiled form an important source of information.

Early periodicals, such as "The Shamrock" of New York, have published lists of passengers arriving in New York and other American ports of entry from time to time and some of them have been published by our Society in "The Recorder." On account of their unique character, it has been thought desirable to publish the surnames of those who arrived in 1811 in a single alphabetical list. Unfortunately one issue of the Shamrock, July 27, is missing but it may not have contained a Passenger List. Each surname in this consolidated list is preceded by a number which identifies the ship in which the passenger arrived. "List of Ships" shows the name of each ship with its corresponding number, together with attendant particulars such as sailing and/or arrival date, place of departure and/or port of entry; thus, the number 18 preceding the entry "18 Doherty, Henry" refers to the ship, particulars about which will be found in the "List of Ships" following the list of names.

All surnames have been copied exactly as they have originally appeared except in a few cases where the facts have been ascertained or where there is an obvious typographical error. There are indications that names were taken orally from passengers by persons indifferently acquainted with the Irish names or their usual anglicized form, hence the spelling is sometimes unusual; Coil for Coyle, Ceyrin for Kieran. Some of the names are rare, such as Vimmo, Amberson, Turkenton, M'Knott, Charbowell, Cobine, Clothard, Coslarder, Dettart. Others are well known in America today such as Glass, Copeland, Roulstone, Robert Service, Crothers, and Harding. As usual Doherty is spelled in a variety of ways and we find Camble, Cambell and Campbell. Moreover, certain spellings tend to be stereotyped. With a few exceptions the "M'" affix is used rather than the correct form "Mac" or its abbreviation, "Mc". All names in the alphabetical list with the "M'" prefix are arranged as if they had a "Mac" prefix.

The passenger lists already published in "The Recorder" have excited interest. Several persons have been enabled to find the time when their ancestors came to America, the place of departure and the port of entry. For instance, Mr. John R. Morron, President of the Atlas Cement Company, has found that his ancestor, John Morron of Ballybay, Co. Monaghan, departed from Belfast, Ireland, on the "Protection" and arrived in New York in 1811. Further, it has been possible to supply Mr. J. Keresey, New York, with the names of his grand-parents and their kin who came from Lismore, Co. Waterford, and sailed from Cork on the ship "Radius" which arrived in New York May, 1811; the names, however, were written "Kearcey."

The descendants of the 2,000 individuals listed in 1811 probably number no less than 150,000 persons today. It is evident, therefore, that the publication of the list should be of wide interest.

The small proportion of South of Ireland surnames is explained by an interesting historical circumstance. The "Belisarius," sailing from Dublin in 1811, was met by the British ship of war "Atalanta" on the west border of George's Bank, and sixty-two men, women and children, were taken off, it being alleged they had not passed the customs. A passenger, however, claimed that the lists were correct. He further said that those taken off were addressed by the sailors of the British ship, "Come along; you shan't go into that damned Republican country; we are going to have a slap at them one of these days and you shan't be there to fight against us."

Thus, 1811 could not be accounted a normal year of Irish immigration. In any case it is impossible to say whether all the ships which arrived in that year are included. Moreover, some of the entries specify children, the number of which is not mentioned. It is also known that some Irish came from English ports. For instance, of 117 passengers leaving London between Dec. 11 and December 18th, 1773, Patrick Reiley, William Morgan, William Boyle, Arch. O'Brian and Thomas Gorman are all mentioned as having an Irish residence, while Terence MacDonald, James Demsey and Thomas McKoin are mentioned as having a London residence. Thus, about 7 per cent of these passengers were Irish.

In 1802 Robert Slade, secretary of the Irish Society, made a report to the governors entitled "Narrative of a Journey to the North of Ireland in the year 1802," from which the following is extracted:

"The road from Down Hill to Coleraine goes through the best part of the Clothworker's portion, which was held by the Right Honorable Richard Jackson, who was the Society's general agent. It is commonly reported in the country that, having been obliged to raise the rents of his tenants very considerably in consequence of the large fine he had to pay, it produced an almost total emigration among them to America, and that they formed a principal part of the undisciplined body which brought about the surrender of the British Army at Saratoga. I think it right to add that Mr. Jackson was considered a man of the greatest honour and integrity, and that his memory is highly respected by all who knew him."

Long before this period, however, passengers were coming from Ireland in large numbers. Cheesman A. Herrick, in his valuable book, White Servitude in Pennsylvania, says that, in 1729, there was received in the colony a total immigration of 6,208, of whom 267 were English and Welsh passengers and servants, 43 were Scotch servants, 1,155 were Irish, 4,500 chiefly Irish were landed at New Castle and 243 were Palatine passengers. Out of the known emigrants from Great Britain and Ireland it will be seen that over 75 per cent were Irish at this early period!

The report of the American Historical Association, 1896, quotes Phineas Bond as saying, in 1788, "I have not yet been able to obtain any account of the number of Irish passengers brought hither for any given series of years before the war—but from my own recollection I know the number was great and I have been told that in one year above 6,000 Irish were landed at Philadelphia, Wilmington and New Castle upon Delaware."

PASSENGER LISTS

From "THE SHAMROCK OR IRISH CHRONICLE," 1815-1816

CHARLES MONTAGUE EARLY

This Passenger List is a further installment of the series published in our annual volume XXVIII and from the same source, "The Shamrock or Irish Chronicle" (new series) for 1815-16. The first list proved to be of such wide interest that the present publication seems justified. Copies of the periodical are exceedingly rare and that in our possession is not in good condition. Official records of the sort were not kept till some years later and the names are not alphabetically arranged. This list forms a chapter in a book that has yet to be written on the extent of Irish immigration from the earliest time. In this circumstance the accumulation of evidence is highly desirable.

The Passenger List following covers about a year beginning September, 1815, and it includes about 3,150 names of persons from whom are descended perhaps 230,000 people living today.

The manner of presentation is the same as in the last list. Each name is preceded by a number which is also to be found in the "List of Ships" following the alphabetically arranged names. This number indicates the name of the ship, the date and place of departure and arrival for each individual wherever such particulars were obtainable from the periodical.

No less than seventy-two vessels are mentioned as having arrived at various American ports, mainly New York; from certain foreign ports, mainly Irish, with passengers having Irish names. The following list shows particulars:

EMBARKATION POINTS AND NUMBERS OF SAILINGS, 1815-1816.

Belfast	16	Galway	2	Londonderry	11
Cork	1	Halifax	2	Newry	7
Demerara ...	1	Lisbon	1	Sligo	5
Dublin	23	Liverpool	3	Total	72

This list does not include all Irish persons who came to America in the specified period. The list of arrivals from Irish ports is possibly incomplete and, moreover, some Irish must have come by way of Canada and also from such ports as London, England.

Many names, not generally identified as Irish, are found in the list; some are rare even in Ireland. Curred, for instance, is an unusual Sligo name. Rochford is an old Norman name frequently found in Ireland. Streat is better known as Strawn, Stratton or Strahan; it is the name of an old Tyrconnell family. Tigut may be Tuite; Wacum, Sithgon and Wantya are unidentifiable. Record is possibly the same derivation as Ricard. Burr and Strawbridge are not uncommon in Ireland. As a contribution to family nomenclature the list presents many points of interest.

A LIST OF PASSENGERS MAINLY FROM IRELAND, ARRIVING IN AMERICAN PORTS

September 1815 to August 1816

Transcribed from "The Shamrock" and alphabetically arranged

NOTE: The number preceding the surname indicates the name of the ship as shown in the "List of Ships" following the alphabetical list.

Ship "SPENCER" Passenger List - 1806

Modified to show apparent family groupings and dates

Compiled and submitted by John M. Collins

Observations By John M. Collins 2002-08-29

The Ship "SPENCER" of Newcastle, Horton Brown Master, left from Oban, Argyll, Scot. and arrived at Charlotte Town, Prince Edward Island on 22 September 1806. She carried 64 males and 50 females as emigrants to P.E.I. The heading of the list says they were "imported" in the ship SPENCER".

In the listing of her passengers, it is evident that the female passengers were asked to give or just did give, their maiden names. Early listings of the passengers provided two columns of names, one male and the other female with their ages subdivided into three groupings above 60; 16 to 60; under 16. This subdivision separated out the "old folks" and the "wee ones" who would not be immediate contributors to the economy of the Island. In these subdivisions there were 2 men and 2 women over 60, and 27 boys and 16 girls under 16.

The family groupings have been based on matching up men and women of comparable ages while retaining the sequence of each column. It appears that whoever made the list did it on a family by family basis beginning with whoever was considered the leader of that family group.

From the repetition of family names, it appears that many families were related or in some way connected.

* Malcolm McEacharn age 58 [male 1] and wife Flora Buchanan age 52 [fem 1] are not only the parents and grandparents of those listed with them, but may also be the parents of Cathr age 27 [fem 6], Ann age 19 [fem 46] and Archd. age 30 [male 57].

* Malcolm McMillan age 48 [male 26] and wife _____ McNeil age 40 [fem 20] are known to have been the parents of Margt. McMillan age 26 [fem 50]. The mother's given name of Grigael (Grace) comes from other sources. He may also have been a brother to Flora McMillan age 51 [fem 3].

* Jas. Darroch age 32 [male 47] and Archd. Darroch age 20 [male 48] are suspected to be brothers of Cathr. Darroch age 30 [fem 38] who is shown as married to Glibert McAlridge age 38 [male 42]. The two Darroch boys are listed immediately after their supposed sister's family. The McAlridge turns out to be a misspelling of McAlder > McCalder > MacCalder. Archd.'s age seems to indicate that they are not an immediate part of the Angus Darroch age 60 [male 59] family.

* Nancy McDuff age 19 [fem 29] is likely a daughter to the Duncan McDuff age 54 [male 34] whose entry immediately precedes her.

Assessments of aged mothers.

* Janet Currie age 55 [fem 39] is only 17 years older than Gilbert McAlridge. Being mother of Cathr. Darroch age 30 [fem 38] is deemed more likely.

* Mary McDuff age 72 [fem 42] is 52 years older than Archd. Darroch age 20 [male 48]. Being mother of Marion Bell age 34 [fem 41] is deemed more likely.

* Dolly Patterson age 70 [fem 44] is 51 years older than Jane Currie age 21 [fem]. Being mother of Dond. McNeil age 34 [male 49] is deemed more likely.

SHIP PASSENGER LISTS

We have many request to publish lists of ship passengers from Ireland. In accordance with these requests, this issue contains "Passenger Lists from Ireland", by J. Dominick Hackett and Charles Montague Early. This booklet was excerpted from the Journal of the American Irish Historical Society, Volumes 28 and 29. Permission to reprint these lists was kindly granted by the Genealogical Publishing Company, Baltimore, Maryland.

Before printing these lists, it is, as usual, necessary to describe the manner in which they were compiled and presented. There are undoubtedly as many ways to compile these lists as there are people transcribing them. For an explanation of the lists in this issue we quote from the introduction, "Passenger Lists Published in 'The Shamrock or Irish Chronicle', 1811", by J. Dominick Hackett. Mr. Hackett says, "The date of arrival of early immigrant ancestors from Ireland in America must always be a matter of interest to descendants. The evidence of this lies in the frequent searches of such records."

"Official passenger lists may be found at the port of entry. Those in New York date only from 1820 and have to be consulted, if at all, at the Custom House. These lists, which are numerous even in early days, are chronologically arranged and it is almost impossible to find an individual name unless the exact date of arrival is known because the surnames are not alphabetically arranged. The lists are incomplete even after 1820. Alphabetical lists of names of passengers previous to that time are scarce and those which have been compiled form an important source of information.

"Early periodicals, such as 'The Shamrock' of New York, have published lists of passengers arriving in New York and other American ports of entry from time to time and some of them have been published by our society (American Irish Historical Society: Ed:) in 'The Recorder.' On account of their unique character, it has been thought desirable to publish the surnames of those who arrived in 1811 in a single alphabetical list. Unfortunately one issue of the Shamrock, July 27, is missing but it may not have contained a Passenger List. Each surname in this consolidated list is preceded by a number which identifies the ship in which the passenger arrived. 'Lists of Ships' shows the name of each ship with its corresponding number, together with attendant particulars such as sailing and/or arrival date, place of departure and/or port of entry; thus the number 18 preceding the entry '18 Doherty, Henry' refers to the ship, particulars about which will be found in the 'List of Ships' preceding the list of names.

"All surnames have been copied exactly as they have originally appeared except in a few cases where the facts have been ascertained or where there is an obvious typographical error. There are indications that names were taken orally from passengers by persons indifferently acquainted with the Irish names or their usual anglicized form, hence the spelling is sometimes unusual; Coil for Coyle, Ceyrin for Keiran. Some of the names are rare, such as Vimmo, Aberson, Turkenton, M'Knott, Charbowell, Cobine, Clothard, Coslader, Dettart. Others are well known in America today such as Glass, Copeland, Roulstone, Robert, Service, Crothers, and Harding. As usual

Doherty is spelled in a variety of ways and we find Camble, Cambell and Campbell. Moreover, certain spellings tend to be stereotyped. With a few exceptions the "M" affix is used rather than the correct form "Mac" or its abbreviation, "Mc". All names in the alphabetical list with the "M" prefix are arranged as if they had a "Mac" prefix.

-----"The descendants of the 2,000 individuals listed in 1811 probably number no less than 150,000 persons today. (Note: this list was originally published in 1929: Ed:) It is evident, therefore, that the publication of the list should be of wide interest.

"The small proportion of South of Ireland surnames is explained by an interesting historical circumstance. The 'Belisarius', sailing from Dublin in 1811, was met by the British ship of war 'Atalanta' on the west border of George's Bank, and sixty-two men, women and children were taken off, it being alleged they had not passed the customs. A passenger, however, claimed that the lists were correct. He further said that those taken off were addressed by the sailors of the British ship, "Come along; you shan't go into that damned Republican country; we are going to have a slap at them one of these days and you shan't be there to fight against us."

"Thus, 1811 could not be accounted a normal year of Irish immigration. In any case it is impossible to say whether all the ships which arrived in that year are included. Moreover, some of the entries specify children, the number of which is not mentioned. It is also known that some Irish came from English ports. For instance, of 117 passengers leaving London between December 11 and December 18th, 1773, Patrick Reiley, William Morgan, William Boyle, Arch. O'Brian and Thomas Gorman are all mentioned as having an Irish residence, while Terence MacDonald, James Demsey and Thomas McKoin are all mentioned as having a London residence. Thus, about 7 per cent of these passengers were Irish.

"In 1802 Robert Slade, secretary of the Irish Society, made a report to the governors entitled "Narrative of a Journey to the North of Ireland in the year 1802", from which the following is extracted: "The road from Down Hill to Coleraine goes through the best part of the Clothworker's portion, which was held by the Right Honorable Richard Jackson, who was the Society's general agent. It is commonly reported in the country that, having been obliged to raise the rents of his tenants very considerably in consequence of the large fine he had to pay, it produced an almost total emigration among them to America, and that they formed a principal part of the undisciplined body which brought about the surrender of the British Army at Saratoga. I think it right to add that Mr. Jackson was considered a man of the greatest honour and integrity, and that his memory is highly respected by all who knew him."

"Long before this period, however, passengers were coming from Ireland in large numbers. Cheesman A.

Herrick, in his valuable book, "White Servitude in Pennsylvania", says that, in 1729, there was received in the colony a total immigration of 6,208, of whom 267 were English and Welsh passengers and servants, 43 were Scotch servants, 1,155 were Irish, 4,500 chiefly Irish were landed at New Castle and 243 were Palatine passengers. Out of the known emigrants from Great Britain and Ireland it will be seen that over 75 per cent were Irish at this early period!

"The report of the American Historical Association, 1896, quotes Phineas Bond as saying, in 1788, "I have not yet been able to obtain any account of the number of Irish passengers brought hither for any given series of years before the war - but from my own recollection I know the number was great and I have been told that in one year above 6,000 Irish were landed at Philadelphia, Wilmington and New Castle upon Delaware."
