Dear Cousin,

It sounds like you have been having a rough time. Hope all goes well from now on.

Thanks for all the material. I have scanned through the material but have not studied it closely yet, but I did want to acknowledge its receipt. And I do appreciate your help and your interest in genealogy.

My husband has three lines that go back to Charlemagne, so perhaps I'm a distant cousin of my husband. Of course that goes a long way back.

Studying family history is a fascinating thing to do and I find I meet such wonderful people who are also interested in their families.

A neighbor just came to my door and asked us to feed his dog while he goes on a fishing trip. It is pouring down rain and pretty chilly, too. Hope the weather improves for him.

It seems so strange to have it so cold in May but perhaps in California it is warm.

Thanks again and I'll write again after I've carefully studied all you sent me.

Love

Mary Trumbo

Dear Cousin

Just a brief note to tell you thanks for the information. It fits with the information I have and contains some facts I did not have.

Monday, Oct 12 if the plane flies (U.S. Air) we will be going to Torrance, California to see my husband's sister whose health is slipping and he wants to visit her while he still can. Torrance is a suburb of Los Angeles. I don't know how far that is from you, perhaps you know. Our tickets are for Oct 12 thru Oct 28 if all goes well. Sure wish airlines would not strike.

When we return I'll write a longer letter

My husband just looked up to see where you live
We judge it is about 40 miles from L.A. Sure wish I could see you. If his sister is well enough perhaps we'll drop in for an hour or so

Again thanks for your help in sharing information

Love

Mary Trumbo

Dear Cousin James,

24 Feb 1993

I am finally beginning to catch up on things I should have done a month ago. (There always seem to be so much going on in December and January.)

Thanks for the snapshot. It's good. and for your Christmas card and Christmas letter. It is very evident that Genealogy is the love of your life. I enjoy it, too.

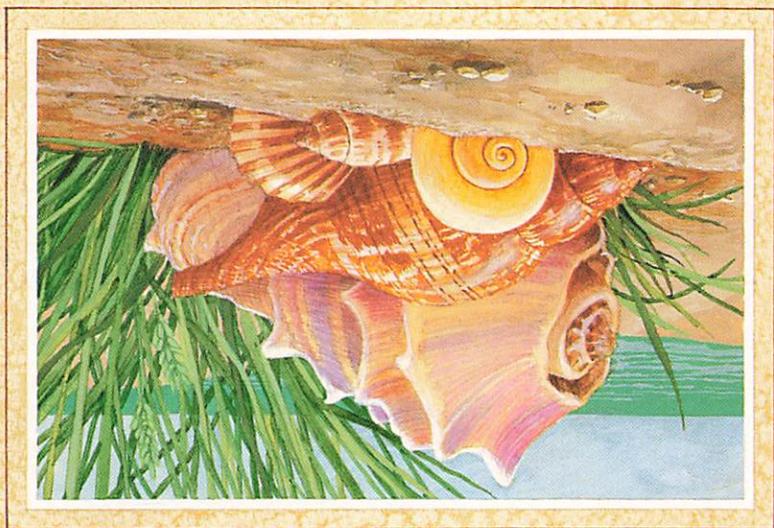

And an especial thanks for the Anthony information. I finally found time to enter that extended line onto my big pedigree chart and it really filled up a lot of empty spaces. I've been looking for that information for at least thirty years. I think you are great!

This card looked like something a Californian would like. Do you go in for shells by any chance?

We haven't heard from Serena lately but I know she is having a struggle just to keep going. I do hope things get better soon.

Thanks again for your wonderful help.

Love,
Mary Trumbo

Dear Cousin James,

You prompt and kind you are! I really appreciate the quick response. I am quite enthused and intend to "go back" as far as possible.

My husband and I worked on his Tull history for several years and did, finally, go to England to the town where history led us. People there said that we were the first "live Tulls" they had ever seen. The church had windows (many) with Tull on them and the cemetery had many, but, none were left in the town. Most interesting.

I have some hand written information from Frey Brock Ybarra to my mother & it all fits with yours. I also have a picture of Lavinia Brock. Would you like a copy? I intend to look in a trunk of mother's. She thinks there are more pictures. She moved here in 1974 but went back to San Diego last May & decided to stay. My sister is out there & of course, that really was her home.

Back, before you were born, I used to sail boats in Newport. It was a lovely spot - I hope it still is!

My husband is a "farmer." Among other things we grow rice - which we wish more people ate. I am sending you what is called an aromatic type. We don't grow it but, I love it. Hope you enjoy it, too.

Thank you again. I'll let you know what happens.

Sincerely
Mary G. Jull
(Mrs. John E.)

P.S. I hope this $5 will cover cost of copies etc.. There is no way I can re-pay you for your time and generosity.

Dear Cousin James,

My apology for not sending the check for the money you spent. I am enclosing one and I hope this will cover it. If not please let me know.

The rice was a gift, to show you just how very much I appreciate your help. I do hope you try it, soon. It smells divine while cooking. Just follow the directions that should have been included. It is so good you really don't need gravy or anything on it, unless it is a little butter.

Our divorced daughter and her three children live next door to us, and I too have been busy with helping her clean up/ fix up. It is an old house and belongs to us, but needed some work. We have done quite a lot and she is thrilled with it, of course, since it is free, there isn't much she can or would say.

Thank you again for all of your help. I will let you know when everything falls into place.

Sincerely,

Mary Tull (Mrs. John)

This is in response to your March 8, 02 letter to Mary Grembo regarding your going to Salt Lake to do some research and your card from Salt Lake.

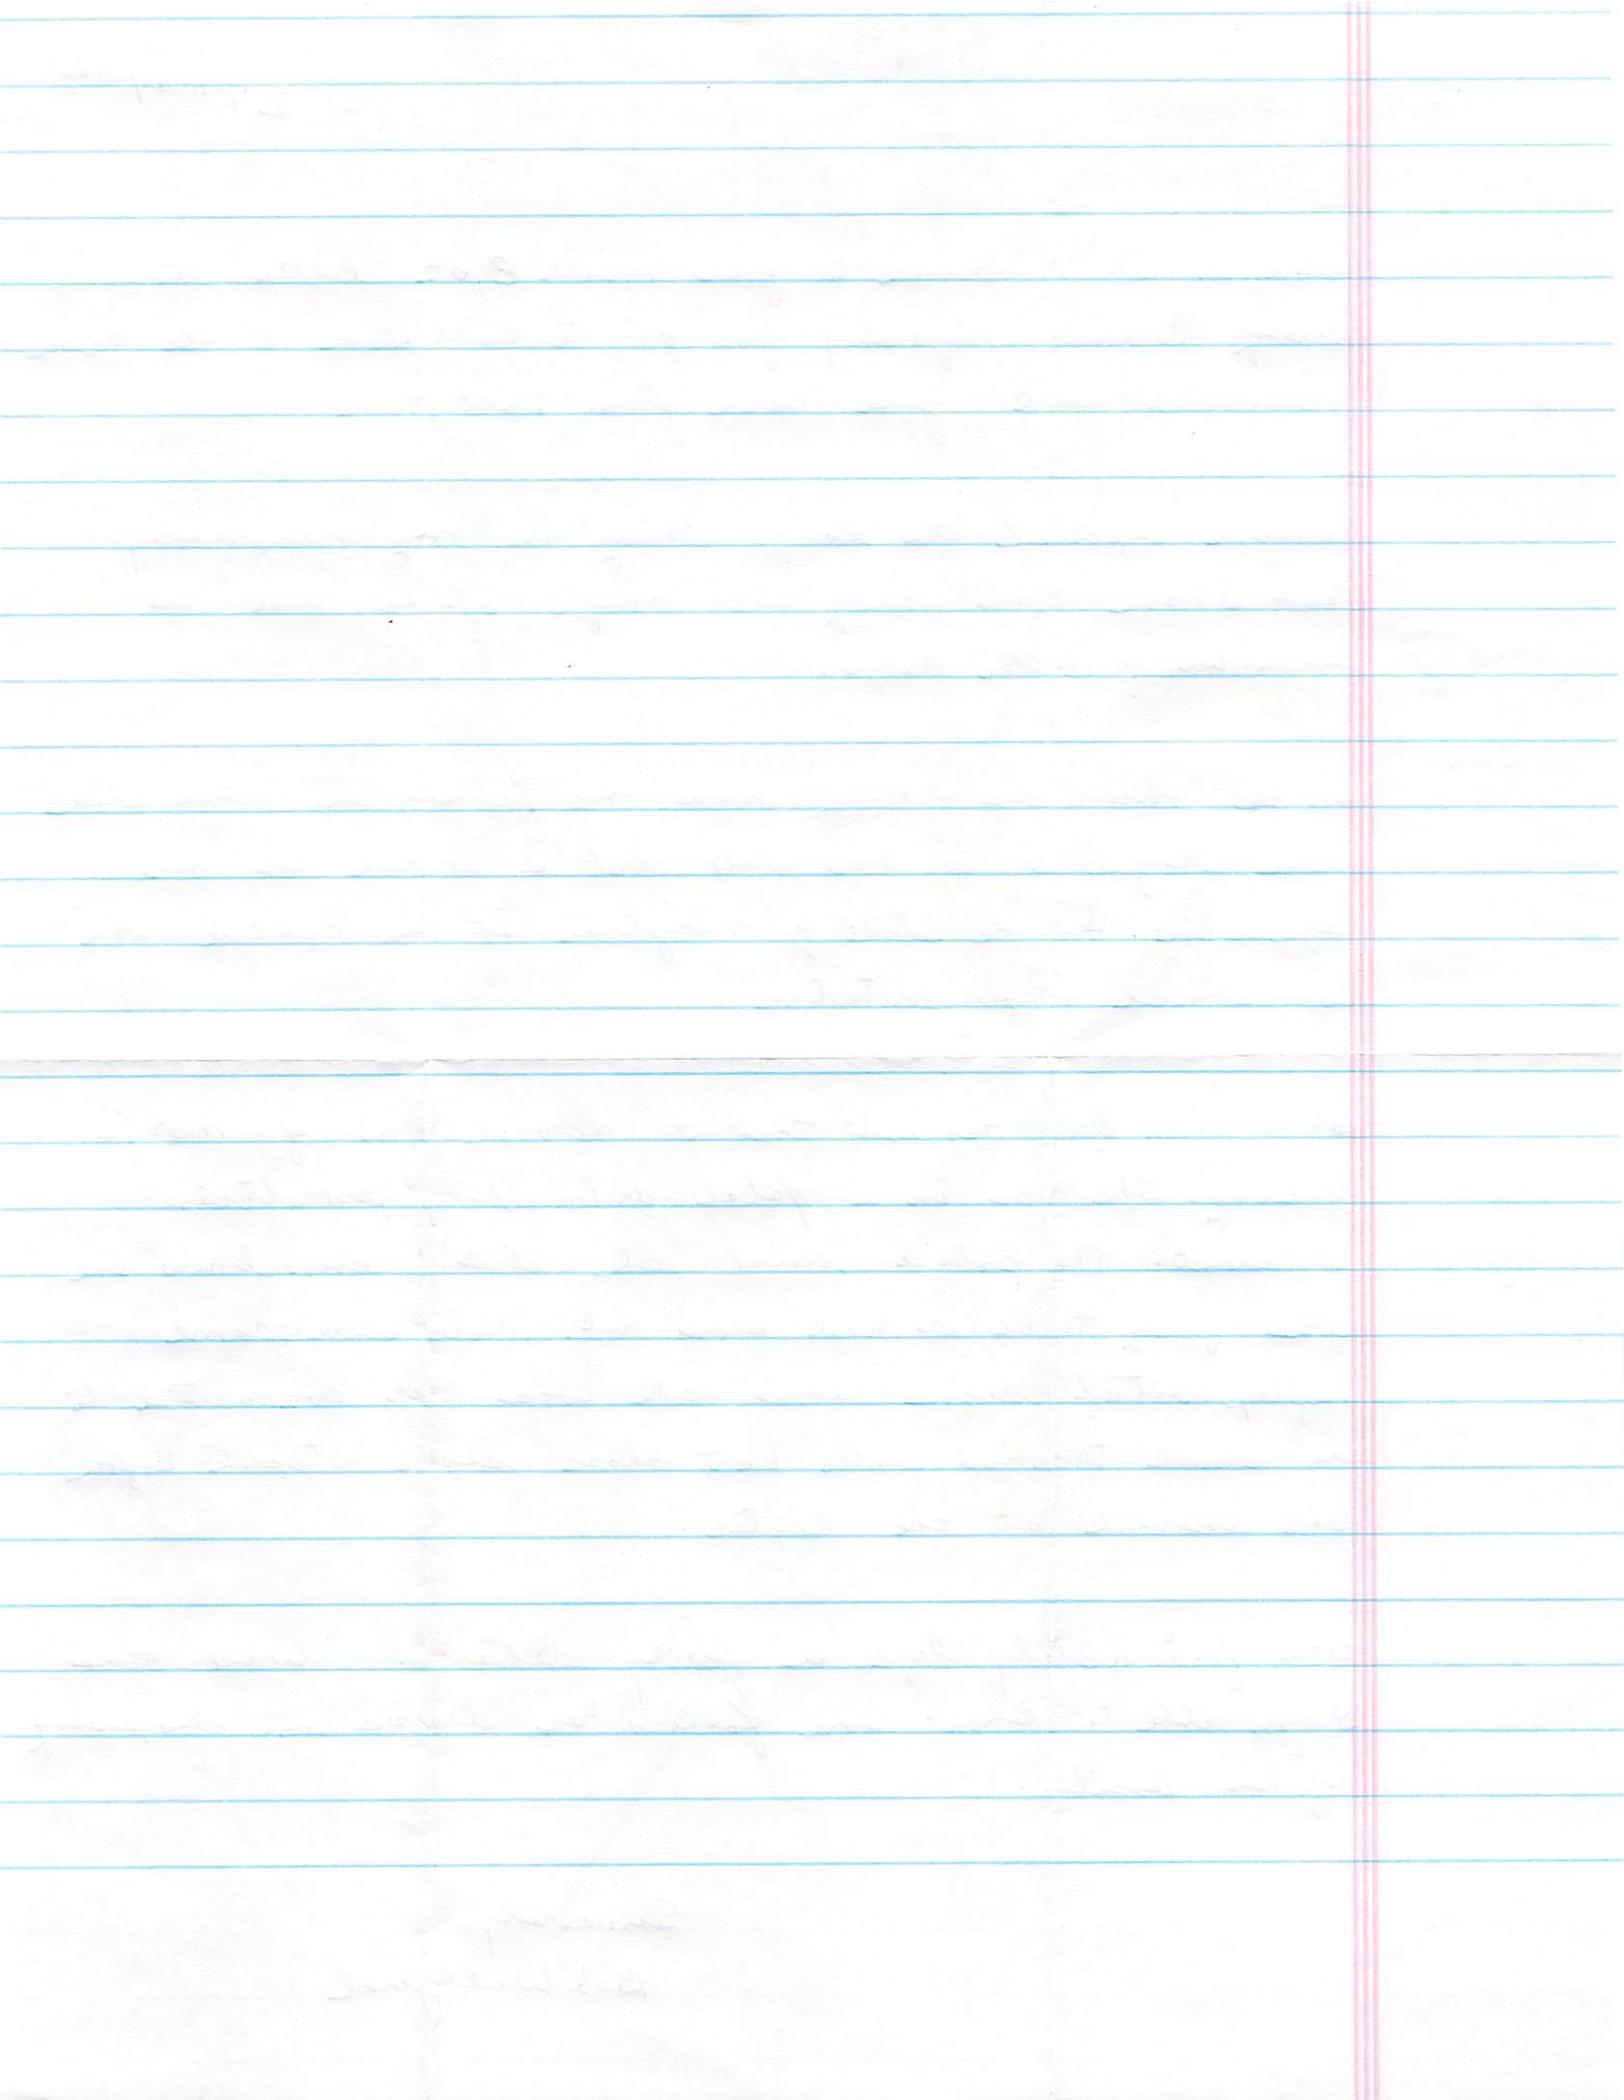

Please excuse the long delay in my responding but I have been busy with Mary's affairs and a number of other things.

In as much as Mary had no family in this area she requested in her will that I serve as her executor. In the State of Maryland it is called the Personal Representative.

It is with deep regret that I advise you of Mary's passing. She was in a fatal automobile/pedestrian accident. The police said she didn't even know she was going to be or had been hit. There were some reflex vital signs when she was air evacuated to the shock trauma center but those signs stopped before she arrived at the center.

She fortunately left a fairly detailed will thus I am able to know and follow her desires in disposing of her assets.

Sincerely,
Bob Willgerd

Dear Mrs. Robinson,

I read with interest the recent Mayflower quarterly article on the Palmer family of New England.

I have for several years tried to research the Palmer line of a third name. The mother ~~was~~ Corea Palmer b. Feb. 4, 1905 in Kansas; died 1951 in Indiana, Calif. She married

Enga Doan Newfeld 1916-1928

Corea was the daughter of Henry Doan

Palmer b. 19 Mar. 1868 in Cygne, Lin Co., Kansas

died Sept 9, 1940. Married the same Doan

Doan b. Kansas d. 1955 one of first Doan and Doan women.

Henry Doan Palmer was the son of Lee Palmer

who was born about 1819 & married Ellen Talbot

Yreka, Calif.

That's as far back as I have been able to trace the Palmer family.

My grand ~~uncle~~ John the mother Corea

Palmer had paid on more than one occasion that they were descended from the Mayflower.

She also has an older line I am tracing through Walt, but right now my interest lies in whether you can help me here.

What I look forward to hearing from you and hope it will be good news.

Sincerely,
James F. Palmer

Sorry -

Yours is a different Palmer family.
You have mentioned the name Lincoln in one of the ancestors.

There is a Lincoln Palmer genealogy which could be the right Palmer family.

The widow Sarah Morrill married Mudgett, 8 Oct. 1665. He was a "shipwright"; he served for Abraham Morrill as a soldier in the Narragansett War, 1675; was a householder" of Salisbury in 1677; freeman 1690.

An authority has said the descendants of the ancient trainer, Abraham Morrill, in every generation have been noted for their enterprise, whether in iron, fish, cloth, nails, coasting vessels, farming or trade.

In Cambridge Abraham Morrill was proprietor of Cambridge and resided on the west side of Brighton Street, near the spot occupied by the old Porter Tavern.

In 1640 he removed to Salisbury where he was an original proprietor. In 1650 he was one of the four richest men in town. 9 He had a grant of land in the first division in Salisbury, Mass. in 1640 and again in 1644 and 1645. His name is signed to a petition of the inhabitants of Salisbury in 1658. His home was on the "Green". On 25 Jan. 1642 sixty acres of land were granted to him and Henrie Saywood to build a Cornmill. No other mill was to built so long as this one ground all the corn the people needed. This mill was situated at what is now called the "Mills" Amesbury. He is believed to have moved from the "Green" and owned and occupied a house on Bailey's Hill, Amesbury, "a most slightly place taking in the sinuous Merrimack and Pipe-Stave Hill to Deer Island, while, at its foot, among the ancient elms, nestle the hamlets of Pointshore." The cellar of his house is still visible.

One of the peculiarities of the Puritan code of laws is shown in the record of Abraham Morrill's having been fined in 1741 for "selling his time to a servant." Possible this servant was a prisoner of war.

At his death he owned four guns. The death of Abraham Morrill, Mr. Morrill says in his history of Amesbury, Mass. "one of the most prominent men in the old town, may with propriety be mentioned here as his descendants have helped to people the town. . . he was one of the first to settle the new territory.

Whittier in his poem to Quake Morrison makes the latter say:

"Ensign Morrill and his son,

See the wonders they have done.

Roberts in his History of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. says, "The family of the ancient trainer, Abraham Morrill, through long generations has been noted for its enterprise, whether in iron, fish, cloth, nails, coasting vessels, farming or trade. In the business history of of Salisbury and Amesbury, Massachusetts, the ancient and honorable soldier of the Artillery Co. and his numerous descendants have made a noble record.

AB MORRILL, Isaac father and mother unknown. He was b. 1588 Hatfield Board Oak, England. He came to Boston, Mass. on the ship "Lion" on 16 Sept. 1632. He brought his wife Sarah b. 1601. Her parents were Isaac also had his two daughters prob. Sarah and Catherine on the ship. He was a freeman 4 Mar. 1633, Ancient and Honorable Co. 1638. He d. 18 Dec. 1662 after his brother Abraham. Isaac subscribed to an oath of allegiance to his mother country (prob. on compulsion) on 22 June 1632 before he came to America. He was in the Ancient and Honorable Co. that he belonged to which was in Boston. This started in 1638. He was a member of the first church of Roxbury, Constable of Roxbury 1659 and is mentioned as one of the town's four wealthy citizens.

In the list of passengers on the Lion, the name is given "Isaack Murrill." A Facsimile signature, pub., is "Isaac Morrill" while the inscription on his tomb, still legible, is "Isaac Moril." He was married in England to his wife Sarah. The church in Roxbury was the Church of Christ of Roxborough, Isak Morrell, wife Sarah.

Subject; MAJOR CALEB GIBBS - GENEALOGY

Dear Jim;

Your participation at the Massing of the Colors was greatly appreciated. At the request of the National Society, S.A.R. I am writing an article about the January 17th earthquake - to put it in an SAR perspective, I am using the Massing as an example of inter chapter cooperation as the theme. It pleases me to be able to include my friends in the Orange County Chapter.

Your offer to assist me in TRYING to identify the ancestry of Caleb Gibbs is appreciated beyond any expression of thanks.

In the past two years, I have amassed a tremendous amount of information on him. Most of the data is from letters to and from him, his being mentioned in numerous others, as well as the official records. To date I have four (4) 3" binders with hard copy information and ten (10) 3.5" disks. I can reasonably place him day-by-day from April 21st, 1775 until his death on November 6th, 1818. But before April 21st - nothing - a few assumptions, all explained in the attached genealogical information.

I have read literally hundreds of biographical and autobiographical books, and never have encountered one that starts with the subject of the biography being 26 years of age. Attempting to explain way this lack of information discredits the balance of the proposed book. I MUST find his date and place of birth and his parentage.

I believe this lack of information has discouraged other writers from attempting a biography.

In my efforts to find his ancestry, I have made numerous inquiries. The historian of the Newport, Rhode Island Historical Society, I was advised of their efforts to link him to the Gibbs family of Newport, without success. How extensively they tried is a matter of conjecture. He was a resident of Marblehead, Massachusetts when the War broke out (1775), and was selected to serve as Adjutant of the Marblehead Regiment with the rank of Captain. The Historian of the Marblehead Historical Society suggested that many of the residents of Marblehead were involved in smuggling. John Glover, Colonel of the Marblehead Regiment, was one of them. Glover was also involved with John Hancock, another smuggler,. It is possible that Gibbs was also involved, and since the British blockade of Boston (In response to the famed Tea Party affair), shipments from Europe were unloaded at Newport, transferred to Coastal vessels and sailed up to the neck of Cape Cod (usually Barnstable). The cargo was transported via wagon to Sandwich (the north shore of the Cape) loaded on another Coastal vessel and sailed north to Marblehead. Here it was unloaded and smuggled by wagon into Boston. All of this was necessary because the British Man-o-War cruising the Cape would discover any vessel attempting to round the peninsular or sailing in deep water. It makes good sense that Glover or other smuggling ring types, would have someone working for them that was familiar with Newport.

Since smuggling, although patriotic, was a capitol crime, it follows that concealing ones identity to prevent causing problems for family members at home was commonplace.

To further this line of thinking, after the war, Gibbs, for a time, owned and operated a Chandler's shop in Boston. Obviously, selling equipment and stores to ship owners required a good knowledge of the sea.

The other possible explanation is that Gibbs' parents were loyalists. We have numerous recorded stories of the problems created by Loyalist/Patriot family relationships. A recent find indicates that George Washington's infamous mother was a Tory. That would explain away the problems Washington had with his troublesome mother.

In either case, someone, somewhere, has found the answers and recorded them in a genealogical record. The Mormon Library Salt Lake is probably the best place to search for such a record.

Your assistance in this regard will be most appreciated.

Warmest personal regards,

Donald Norman Moran

1.	From the Second Congressional Church of Newport, Rhode Island - Baptismal Records (Arnold's Vital Records of Rhode Island - Volume 8, Page 445). The Archivist of the Newport Historical Society wrote that they have tried to tie Caleb Gibbs of the Life Guards to Newport without success. However, the official rolls of the forces at Yorktown - October 22nd, 1781 listed Gibbs as being from Rhode Island. Additionally when the British invaded Newport Washington allowed Gibbs to take a leave of absence from the Life Guards and join General Green's staff for the siege. Why? Gibbs had to have requested the assignment and justified it for personal reasons. We have first person information that Gibbs wanted a combat command - however, he accepted a staff assignment - it doesn't make sense unless he was from Newport, Rhode Island.

Carlos Godfrey's " The Commander-in-Chief's Guard " page 170 (Probably based on information in Gibb's Service Records - unfortunately those records have disappeared from the NAational Archives, along with ALL the records of the known members of the Guard listed in Godfrey's book. I believe Godfrey lifted those records in 1905/05 when he was researching his book. Letters to inquiring individuals as early as 1908 reported the absence of the records).

9.	Newspaper record from the " Independent Chronicle and Boston Patriot " - 11th November 1818
10.	The newspaper reported Gibbs died in at the Charlestown Naval Yard - he lived in Boston, hence we can assume he died on the job - if that assumption is correct, his death would have been sudden, otherwise it would seem that if ill he would have been at home. Gibbs would have been 70ish - a prime age for a heart attack.
11.	Not found - The family was not doing well financially, so his marker was probably nothing more than "wood" and did not survive.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The information on the Children of Caleb and Catherine Hall Gibbs was found in Carlos F. Godfrey's 1906 book "The Commander-in-Chief's Guard". Page 171. Godfrey cites his genealogical information coming from Mrs., Caroline E. Blagge of Galveston, Texas. The third child of Caleb and Catherine Gibbs was Sarah Blagge.

Mrs. Lucie Kenison of Galveston joined the Daughters of the American Revolution on April 13th, 1964. She was born on December 8th, 1886 and was the wife of Alphonse Kenison. She was a descendant of Caleb Gibbs through his son Alexander Hamilton Gibbs. Her papers add nothing to the genealogical information and she showed Caleb Gibbs baptismal date from Newport, Rhode Island as his birth date. (See attached genealogical chart). The D.A.R. records show her mother, as having been an early member of the D.A.R. (D.A.R. No. 13039).

A Mrs. Carribel Nichols McCaleb, also of Galveston, Texas, (D.A.R. No. 66895), wife of Harper Hunt McCaleb. She was descendant from Caleb Gibbs through his granddaughter Caroline E Blagge. (See the attached pedigree chart.)

All the D.A.R. records have been obtained. Additional, no man has joined the S.A.R. or S/R claiming Caleb Gibbs as a Patriot ancestor. The last member of the Society of the Cincinnati based on Gibb's service was his son Alexander Hamilton Gibbs.

Letters were written to every person in the Galveston area named McCaleb, Nichols, Kenison - most came back as having moved without forwarding addresses, and of those that did response no connection was found.
