In the four years named patents were issued for two hundred and forty-one lots. If the conditions of sale were fulfilled, there would appear to have been at least two hundred dwellings in the town in 1755, and one thousand inhabitants. It is possible that all the lots and patentees are not included in the foregoing statement. The estimated buildings and inhabitants are, therefore, rather below than above the correct numbers. Nearly all of the patentees named were resident at Reading. The growth of the town was certainly wonderful.

In order to show when certain additional lots were patented, not included in the statement arranged, and when certain other persons most probably settled in Reading, the following numbers and patentees are added:

- 1757.—200, Valentine Kerper.
 1758.—187 and 188, Dort Pfister (cordwainer).
 1761.—228, Fred'k Helwig; 292, Jacob Rappolt; 378, Jacob Wainwright.

In December, 1767, twenty-four water lots were laid out by John Lukens, surveyor-general, fronting on both sides of the Schuylkill River, at and near the "Ford,"—eighteen on the eastern side and six on the western. These were laid out to accommodate warehouses and encourage transportation by water. From the "Ford" westwardly, the Tulpehocken road was indicated, called "road to Siinking Spring."

In June, 1776, four additional squares of blocks were laid out, between King (Third) Street and the river (Front Street), two on each side of Penn, and "divided into lots of the same dimensions as the other lots in the Town, and numbered on from the last number in the present plan," being from No. 521 to No. 524. The two streets crossing Penn were called Treat (Second) and Bridge (Front).

GROUND-RENT.¹—When the lots were laid out in the town-plan of Reading, each lot was made subject to a ground-rent of seven shillings, payable annually on the 1st day of March. Notwithstanding this condition, numerous lots were sold without the charge of ground-rent. Over sixty years after the town had been laid out, this charge, having become generally overlooked, was a great subject which agitated the citizens to a considerable degree and for a considerable time. In 1815, and again in 1818, a public notice was given to all delinquents that the ground-rents due should be paid; otherwise the lots remaining charged with them would be sold. The attorney for the Penns was apparently very lenient in his demands. He endeavored to satisfy the public that the ground-rents due could be legally collected. This professional service must have been found very objectionable, for in 1822 he notified the public that he would not settle any further ground-rents after October 15th, and that he would discontinue his agency for the Penns after that time. Nothing was subsequently done in this demand. In 1820 numerous releases of ground-rents were issued and recorded in the recorder's office at Reading. Many of the early patents are also recorded at Reading.

LIST OF TAXABLES, 1759.—The following list of persons comprises the assessment of the town for the year 1759. It is the earliest that could be found among the county records in the court-house. It includes two hundred and sixty-nine taxables. The total assessed value of taxable property amounted to nine hundred and ninety-four pounds; and the tax levied, ninety pounds and three shillings. Single men were each assessed at twenty shillings. Henry Hahn was the collector.

brought to the market-house and exposed for sale. The people of the country and of the town doubtless looked upon these fair-days with much pleasure. In the beginning their dealings were mostly of a practical nature. But gradually they introduced festivities of various kinds. The exhibition continued two days, the first by common consent having been taken by the farmers and country people generally, and the second by the town-people. Dancing, with music, produced on the violin, was a prominent part of the programme; and (if we may judge of the exhibition then by the practices of the people four-score of years afterwards) the conclusion was enlivened with fighting and revelry.

CITIZENS AGAINST CHANGE OF GOVERNMENT.¹—Several years previous to the granting of the charter to the town, a considerable agitation prevailed amongst the people of the country concerning the question of a change of government which had been recommended by the Assembly of the province for the reason, as it was alleged,—

“That mischievous disagreements subsist in this government, which proceed, as they conceive from the very Nature of it, and that a Spirit of Violence, Riot and Confusion prevails among us which cannot be controlled by the present Power of Government and renders a change of the same necessary.”

But they were generally against a change which indicates a “Tory” feeling. Their disapprobation of this movement was expressed in memorials to the King. These memorials were printed. In them the subscribers represented,—

“That they had received information that a certain petition praying for change of government had been drawn to the King; and alarmed at its nature, they asked for a copy to know its contents; that they were informed that it had already been forwarded, and no copy could be granted without leave of Assembly at next meeting in September; and, apprehending that delay would prejudice them so that they could not submit their sense of the matter, they represented that they held their Frame of Government in the highest estimation; that though disagreements had arisen, others around them were not exempted from like misfortune, and that they were not incident to the Nature of their Government; that the Province enjoyed” the most perfect internal Tranquility; that the Spirit of Riot and Violence was foreign to General Temper of the Inhabitants, that disturbances were quieted, the Civil Powers were supported and no offenders were screened from public justice; and that if executive power were too weak, the Assembly could strengthen it—therefore they prayed the King to disregard the petition of the Assembly as grievous and not properly representing the state of the Province.”

One of them was signed by citizens of Reading, eighty-six in number; among these, prominent men, such as James Whitehead, Jr., James Scull, Isaac Levan, Abraham Levan, John Scull, Nicholas Scull, Conrad Bauer, Christopher Witman, Anthony Fricker, Jasper Scull, Henry Vanderslice. The great majority of the signatures were in German handwriting.

Another from citizens of Reading was signed by Jonas Seely, James Read, John Patton, Henry Christ, Jacob Weaver, (sheriff), John Bishop, Samuel Weiser, (coroner), Jacob Mechlin, Richard Lewis, (commissioner).

EARLY INN-KEEPERS.—The tavern was a prominent public place in the town. Licenses were granted by the Governor of the State upon the recommendation of the justices of the county. In 1762 over thirty licenses were issued for taverns in Reading. The following persons were recommended:

Christopher Witman.	Michael Kraus.
Alexander Klinger.	Leonard Rupert.
Peter Fetter.	Frederick Braun.
Peter Withington.	Elias Yungman.
Henry Kehler.	John Hartman.
Henry Haller.	Jacob Shoemaker.
Jacob Jäger.	Nicholas Seitzinger.
Anthony Fricker.	Abraham Weidman.
Jacob Graul.	Conrad Longsdorff.
Jacob Keyser.	Casper Pflatteicher.
Erhard Roos.	Christian Maurer.
George Albert.	Peter Weiser.
Michael Brecht.	Jacob Rabolt.
Peter Brecht.	Ludwig Byerle.
Andreas Engel.	Jacob Moyer.

William Frymyer.

A number of the tavern-keepers named were prominent, not only in the town affairs, but in the county political affairs. The proportion of taverns to the population was rather surprising, having been about one to every forty inhabitants. A prominent tavern was “Witman’s,” now the building occupied by the

"Farmers' National Bank." This building was erected in 1763 by Adam Witman, an inn-keeper, who, doubtless, erected it for an inn. He held it till 1778. In 1799, Michael Wood, also an inn-keeper, came to own it. He had leased it for some years previously. From his possession it took the name of "Wood's Inn," and it was so known till 1814, when the Farmers' Bank purchased it and took possession. The bank has held it for banking purposes continuously till now, a period covering seventy years. This is the second oldest building in Reading.¹ Washington sojourned in it whilst visiting Reading in 1793. He was very kindly received and hospitably entertained. He held a levee, and many persons called to show him honor and affection.

EARLY OCCUPATIONS.—The early industry of the town was very diversified. It comprised numerous trades. The mechanics were the life and development of the town. They were happy because they were employed; and they were contented because they supplied their wants, not only by laboring for others, but also by cultivating lots and out-lots for themselves. And many of them were in good circumstances. Hat-making was then a prominent employment.

The following list (in connection with the previous list, which embraces the patentees of town-lots) indicates the occupations which the town afforded and also the pursuits which certain men followed. They were obtained from the records in the recorder's office of the county. The year indicates the date of the deed in which they appear. The persons mentioned may have lived in the town some time before the year given:

1754.—Martin Kast, inn-holder; Leonard Rupert, baker; Adam Wagner, baker; Moses Highman, merchant; Conrad Deboy, reed-maker; Andrew Steele, blacksmith; Joseph Chammond, shop-keeper; Michael Gretter, slaughterer; Jacob Kern, inn-holder; Evan Jones, shop-keeper; George M. Gretter, slaughterer; John Jackson, felt-maker; Samuel Jackson, felt-maker; Adam Werterberger, weaver.

1757.—Jacob Yeager, carpenter; Henry F. Degenhardt, tinner; Gabriel Shopp, saddler; George Diehl, cordwainer; Nicholas Shopper, joiner.

1758.—John Shreidt, gunsmith; Sebastian Grauser, carpenter; Martin Krafft, inn-holder.

1759.—Paul Lebo, blacksmith; Isaac Lebo, hatter; Christopher Laman, joiner; David Henderson, lawyer; Adam Brosius, tailor; Bernhard Rorebauch, cooper; Henry Senger, leather-dresser; John Gross, book-binder.

1760.—Robert Popkins, carpenter; Peter Haas, wheelwright; Jacob Yeager, inn-keeper; Edward Drury, inn-keeper; Nicholas Keim, wheelwright; Casper Jost, nailer; Peter Holtzäder, cooper; Isaac Young, shop-keeper; Matthias Hineine, hatter; Lawrence Fix, cooper; Isaac Wickersham, carpenter.

1761.—Meyer Josephson, shop-keeper; William Frick, barber; Jacob Hoffman, inn-holder; John Märchin, carpenter; William Graeff, lock and gunsmith; Edmund Rose, weaver; Adam Scheir, carpenter.

1762.—Francis Ficks, cooper; John Collier, tailor; Samuel Weiser, scrivener; Frederick Goodhart, wagoner; Elias Yungman, hatter; David Meyer, mason; Balthaser Bach, tailor; James Whitehead, Jr., lawyer; Paul Kerber, cordwainer; Ludwig Fillinger, weaver; Edward Biddle, lawyer; Jonathan Worrall, shoemaker; Andrew Schenck, wheelwright.

1764.—Jacob Robold, brick-maker; Adam Schlegel, tailor; John Bingeman, carter; Peter Rapp, butcher; George Shultz, hatter; Thomas Lincoln, mason; Peter Rein, glazier; John A. Gottschall, focksmith.

1765.—Christopher Neidle, wheelwright; Henry Haller, tailor; Peter Brecht, saddler; Nicholas Keim, shop-keeper; John F. Moyer, cordwainer; Henry Gossler, baker; Andreas Fuchs, cooper; John Witman, cordwainer; Valentine Urledig, clock-maker; Matthias Moyer, joiner; Jost Tietz, miner; Conrad Babb, tinman.

1766.—Henry Eckert, brewer; John Spohn, brewer; Conrad Geist, weaver.

1767.—Peter Zimmerman, mason; John Morris, joiner; Michael Klein, cordwainer; Jonathan Jones, saddletree-maker; Jacob Neithack, cordwainer.

1768.—Alexander Murray, clerk; Abraham Witman, cordwainer; Jacob Hoff, surgeon and barber.

1769.—Frederick Stieff, cordwainer; Jacob Graff, hatter; William Miller, pump-maker.

1770.—Casper Pfatteicher, cordwainer; Henry Printz, stocking-weaver; George Bernhard, skinner; Jasper Scull, surveyor.

1772.—Jeremiah Paul, school-master; Anthony Fricker, inn-keeper.

1774.—Abel Morris, clock-maker; John Mears, cabinet-maker; Daniel Levan, lawyer; Daniel Rose, clock-maker; Peter Gross, hatter; Jacob Gross, hatter; John George, butcher; John Dissler, saddler; Jacob Boyer, carpenter; Jacob Oswald, tailor; Jacob Bright, brewer.
