Subject: McKinley Pictures

Dear Ellie,

Hope the weather behaved and Cameron's birthday party went off as scheduled.

I got a message from Bob Forrest last night asking if you had sent me his student guess list on the McKinley photos. I thought you had forwarded your guess list to me. Anyway, I made a hard copy, which I thought I had stored with the most recent copies you sent, but apparently I hadn't. I also thought I had put your message into my e-mail Personal Filing Cabinet, but I can't find it there. When you sent me the first copies, you included a McKinley graduation program, but that stuff got put out in Jay's office when the kids helped me clean up this guest room/office for the gathering for Jay. Until then no one had been able to use the bed since 1998. Have no idea now what box it might be in. Having all the names might help jog my memory, although the names on the back of the 1941 photo are a big help. I'm guessing at some of the girls—Ginny Hansen and June Lucas—and can't picture Eleanor Delman (?). As for the boys, I can't quite read Stan (?) O—'s name and can't remember Bill Swift. Loren Dye's name is certainly familiar, but I'm not sure of the face. I'm guessing at him and Russell Maklofsky.

So here is my list. I would like to compare it with yours before sending it along to Bob, as some of my identifications are uncertain. I've put a question mark in quotes after those I'm least sure of.

Front Row: Bud Ferrell (I had a half-hearted crush on him, but he and Ida Brown were already a couple), Jack Early (?), Dorothyanne Reynolds (she was always front and center in the pictures, even at Pershing), Maryjo Wilson (?), Phoebe Anderson (?), Norman Sorensen, ———.

Second Row: Carma Gerber, Nancy Jensen (we were friends for a while at Pershing, then she went around writing "Helen Koefoed is a whore" in bathroom stalls, etc. I never knew why, nor did I even know what the word meant at the time), Gladis Boussum, ———, Marilyn Bennett, Dolly Brandt (?), June Lucas (?), Bea McCulloch, Verlaine Wilkinson, Ginny Hansen (?), Marifran Cook, Barbara Dahl (?).

later years and eventually in her last illness and death, and even to tend to her affairs after her death, it can never equal what she did for me. I am attempting now with my own children to amortize the debt to her by trying to give to them what I owe to her.

It's rather difficult to be specific and name one way in which the family was important in fostering my development through childhood to maturity. In retrospect I guess it was a lasting sense of values, long-term goals, and outstanding example is how my mother fostered my development. She made doing the right thing seem worth the effort. She put long-term goals ahead of short-term goals and gave us the motivation to weather the storms between ports. Her unflagging example made the whole thing possible.

Eleanor E. Borkenhagen.

*Excellent job of analyzing your family's life cycle.
Well-written - a job well done.

There weren't any conflicting tasks of mine with the family, as I recall. Admittedly, it is difficult to recall some aspects of this study.

Looking back, which is difficult, it seems to me that I poorly met the shift in developmental tasks at the stage where the last housekeeper left. Prior to that time the house cleaning, food preparation, washing, ironing, etc. were the responsibility of the housekeeper. It was ever thus in my remembering up to the rather significant age of thirteen years. Then, WHAM! Housekeeper Number Six left to work in a defense plant because it was more patriotic than cleaning our house and my mother decided we could manage without a replacement. The proverbial roof fell in as my mother and I attempted to cope with the above mentioned chores in what amounted to our "spare time". It was a difficult adjustment at a difficult age. In retrospect I think I met that developmental task poorly.

The age factor probably had a great deal to do with it

In general, I think the individual developmental tasks complemented each other. It's a strain, however, to be concise about happenings of a minimum of thirty years ago, you know.

Contracting Family

My family helped me "leave the nest" by providing encouragement and partial financial support. Although getting a job right out of high school would have eased our economic picture, my mother had a longer range view than that. She encouraged both my brother and me to go on to college.

Where we lived it was possible to attend a junior college while still living at home. This reduced expenses considerably and allowed me to continue working part time as I had all through high school. This was further supplemented by evening baby-sitting. Under this arrangement my mother was providing room and board and I was handling the rest of the expenses. Of course my potential earning power was not being realized as yet.

At the end of two years I was able to truly "leave the nest" when I went on to the university for the next two years of college. With the help of a small scholarship and a modest clothing allowance from my mother I was able to survive through that period. My savings were supplemented by a part-time job for the university in the department of my major.

Upon graduation my resources were virtually depleted, but I had achieved my goal. My mother assisted at the second stage of the launching by lending me enough money to buy a second-hand car to get me to my place of employment. She also lent me enough for living expenses until my first pay check. It didn't take long to pay the financial debt once I was established in a full-time, professional level job. The personal debt will never be fully paid. Although I was able to advise and assist my mother in her

Allocation of resources was very well handled. This was done much in the style of "Mama's Bank Account" by Katherine Forbes. Although there never was alot of money, there always seemed to be enough for the really important things. I still don't know exactly how that was accomplished.

The division of labor was somewhat askew due to having domestic help. We had certain responsibilities outside of what she did. But it wasn't until after the last housekeeper left that the burden really descended.

Socialization was a task very successfully met. My mother was very social herself and moved smoothly and surely in a group. Mostly by example, sprinkled with direct guidance, she led us down the path to being socially acceptable creatures.

One thing my mother had trouble doing was releasing us at maturity. Under the circumstances, I think that was understandable. We were her whole life for so long it's easy to see why it would be harder to do than under more usual circumstances.

The maintenance of order was very sucessfully met. This also was done mostly by example.

Placement of members in larger society was also successfully met. As noted above, my mother was quite social and as a teacher was more active in the community than some full-time housewives might be. Her skills in this area made our transition smoother than it might have otherwise been.

Maintenance of motivation and morale was also successfully met. My mother's personal spirit encouraged and generated an esprit de corps which carried us as a family through many difficult periods.

imposed an atypical situation

Obviously the stage of the family at the time of the death of my father, which shifted the developmental tasks. The absence of my mother due to the necessity of her returning to teach further magnified these discrepancies. These factors certainly interfered with or affected meeting developmental tasks.

As to individual developmental tasks, my mother did everything humanly possible to equip us to enter society as useful citizens. However, as noted repeatedly above, my father's absence affected both the family and my individual developmental tasks. It is rather obvious that my mother couldn't meet all of her own and my father's tasks. This limitation was the only limit on my family's help toward me meeting my developmental tasks.

My family of orientation was very definitely inner-directed in its personality orientation. If my father had lived, it might have been different. However, at his death my mother assumed her double dose of developmental tasks with all the strength she could muster. She instilled in me, mostly by example, an almost exaggerated sense of responsibility and a taste for the satisfaction of a job well done, with almost no need for approval.

As you might expect in an inner-directed family, my family of orientation was definitely entrepreneurial. Because of the circumstances under which I grew up, independence, mastery, training the child to change the situation, self-control, etc. were essential to our survival as a family unit.

As I recall from what my mother has told me in the past, I was raised in a strict manner as a child. This was typical in the 1930's and I believe my mother "went all the way" at that time.

However, again of necessity, as we passed from infancy to childhood she became more permissive. This was no doubt partially influenced by having to do the job alone.

The distinction between traditional and developmental conceptions of family members is less clear cut than any of the categories above. My family of orientation was a blend of both. Traditional and developmental were probably about equally shared. If a choice had to be made, then the trend was probably from the middle ground toward the developmental.

Expanding Family

Although my mother and father built a new house in anticipation of my arrival, they built it with one bedroom and space in the attic for two more to be built later. Because of my father's death this was never done. When the housekeeper arrived, she moved into the breakfast room, which adjoined the kitchen. When my brother was of an age that my mother thought he should be in a separate room, he moved into a corner of the dining room. When the housekeeper left, he moved into the breakfast room. That left my mother and me in the bedroom.

Although this was a less than ideal situation, I don't recall that we felt especially deprived. The Depression had its clutches on the nation's economy at that time and we fared better than most. Since we had food, clothing and medical care, I'd have to say that my family was relatively successful in meeting the developmental tasks of physical maintenance. When it is realized that my ninety-eight pound mother was doing the providing, I'd say that she was pretty successful.

We visited often with my paternal grandmother and maiden aunt and even spent brief vacations at their home. Since we were the only grandchildren on that side of the family, they were predictably indulgent to a fault. They bestowed luxuries when our needs were in the realm of necessities.

While my father was living, his salary was the only source of income. However, his parents were wealthy and I know that valuable gifts were bestowed with some frequency. This was still true to a lesser degree after my father's death, when my mother's salary was the sole source of income.

Because I was so young when my father died, I don't^{know} specifically what his occupation was. His education, through a Bachelor of Arts degree, was in liberal arts with a law minor. He had railroad experience in the Quartermaster Corps and upon discharge went to work for the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. I only know that he was involved with freight rather than passengers. It could be assumed that with the indicated education and experience that the position had some authority and/or responsibility associated with it.

In expectation of my birth my parents built a new home in the suburbs and moved from a flat in The City, which they had occupied since their marriage. My mother had stopped teaching at the time of their marriage and was at home full time. Presumably, my father was progressing in his job as he had been employed ~~eight~~ years at the time of my birth.

The area where our house was built was considered a "fashionable suburb" by society editors and some others. It is still considered so by some.

Atmosphere of Home of Family of Orientation

It is difficult to make definitive statements in this area because of the atypical situation. A working mother and an almost constant stream of domestic help of necessity produced flexibility in family roles. When my mother was at home (school vacations in particular) she was obviously the head of the house. In her absence the gap was filled with varying degrees of success by the housekeeper. As my brother and I grew up we assumed responsibilities in accord with our age and abilities. My interests were mainly in the garden until we dispensed with the housekeeper when I was thirteen. Housework came as a rude shock at a particularly vulnerable age. I have not recovered from the trauma even yet.

Companionship would certainly describe my family of orientation interactions. My mother of necessity relied heavily on us in proportion to our age for helping make decisions that affected us all. Also of necessity the housekeeper was considered part of the family. She participated to the extent that the decisions affected her.

BIOGRAPHY: MY FAMILY OF ORIENTATION

Framework

My father was thirty-three years old and my mother was thirty-one when I was born. They had been married four years at the time of my birth. They met during World War I while my father was serving as a lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps of the United States Army. Prior to that time he had received a bachelors degree from Saint Ignatius College, which is now the University of San Francisco.

My mother had graduated from State Normal School, which is now San Francisco State College, and was teaching elementary school. As was common in that generation, they did not marry until my father was "established" in his job.

Although my maternal grandfather had died when my mother was four years old, her mother married again and had three more children. My maternal grandmother died the year my father was discharged from the Army. Since my mother lived with them and the half-sisters and brother were still of school age, these family ties may have been a factor in the delay of the marriage.

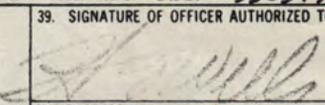

My father lived with his parents, a brother, sister and an old-maid aunt. His father died a month before I was born.

My brother was born eighteen months after I was. As is often the case when children are close in age, we were often mistaken for twins, much to our mutual disgust.

When I was three and my brother was eighteen months old, my father died. Since my mother never remarried, there were no more siblings and my mother assumed the developmental tasks of both mother and father. This necessitated her almost immediate return to elementary school teaching. It also necessitated the inclusion of a live-in housekeeper into the family. There were about six of them in a period of about ten years, which was less than satisfactory, but a fact of life, domestically speaking, then even as now.

My extended family lived in San Francisco - eighteen miles to the north. My paternal grandmother, her unmarried sister and my father's unmarried sister made up one household. My mother's step-father, his unmarried sister, and my mother's younger half-brother and half-sister made up the second household. My mother's older sister, who was married and had three children about the same ages as my brother and me, made up the third and last household of my extended family.

My aunt and uncle with the three children visited us often as we lived in what was considered "the country" by The City dwellers. Actually, we lived in a residential suburb of San Francisco called Burlingame.

Chapter IX ^{ambition, Hopes and} ~~IX~~ ^{dreams for career and} Life Work

My ambition is to be a High School Librarian in a school like (Wks.) B.H.S. ~~that~~ If I wasn't lucky enough to get in a local school I would like to work in San Francisco.

I realized I would like to be a librarian when in grammar school we were requested to put in the paper our horoscope including name, ambition and nickname.

I think it an interesting career and think I would enjoy it because I like to read very much.

I hope I will be able to fulfill my dreams and become a successful librarian and a useful citizen.

Chapter VIII Impression of High School

When I started to U.S. I must admit I was a little frightened of certain things. After the first day I felt as if I had been there all my life.

Before I came to high school I knew quite a few people but now I know twice as many and I like nearly all of them. I think ~~the~~ most of the students are very friendly and are willing to help you if they can.

~~Before I came to high school~~ I didn't like swimming at all but now I can't wait for our next swimming day.

I am very ^{much} pleased with U.S. and liked it much better than ~~the~~ grammar school.

Chapter VIII Graduation from 8 grade

Graduation activities started months before the actual thing. We started having final tests, writing the entertainment, ~~rehearsal~~ rehearsing the entertainment, and marching.

~~Many parties~~

There was much social activity ~~roller~~ roller skating, swimming, ice skating, and dances. ^{to} Every body had a good time socially.

Every one thought the graduation exercises were lovely. The girls carried old fashion bouquets of red-white and blue flowers ~~and~~ as the whole theme of the graduation was "Patriotic".

The boys and girls marched in and out together and the whole program went perfectly. I think all the parents were very proud of their graduates.

After the graduation we had a little party. That kind of ended the evening at home which made a very nice ending for the evening.

Chapter VI Clubs & Parties

One of my favorite parties was when I was seven, my 7th birthday party. All the ~~the~~ class was there. We played games and had the party outside. My mother took our pictures and I still enjoy looking at them.

A few days after the party I joined "Brownies". I took part in all the activities, which ranged from planting seeds to making gifts.

When I was 10, I "flew up" and became a Girl Scout. Scouts ~~was~~ ^{were} a lot more fun than Brownies because we did twice as much.

We went to the Brownie Day Camp and cooked our dinner over tin can stoves which we made ourselves. We did many things from cooking out, ~~the~~ making pins with our initials on them and ~~the~~ selling ~~the~~ ^{of} ~~the~~ ^{our} cookies.

Chapter V Hobbies

Stamps are my hobby. I have been saving stamps for about 7 years now I have quite a collection. I have about 2500 foreign and domestic stamps.

My stamp traders are kept in Kraft cheese boxes in ^{small} alphabetized manilla envelopes. In the other cheese box I keep a "Stamp Collector's Book shelf". It consists of little labeled match boxes with stamp hinges, etc. With all this I keep my stamp album.

Among my other hobbies are fishing, hiking, hunting, horse back riding, reading, gardening, swimming.

I spend quite a bit of my time in my 11ft by 5ft Veg. & flower garden.

It is situated in the back of the yard by a high fence. It has a small green fence around it to keep the dirt in and the dog out.

~~Two years ago I planted an alamo tree against the fence now~~

This year I planted 25 blubs on beets, and carrots.
I like to work in the garden

Chapter IV Travel, Camping Trips, Vacations

My first vacation was when I was nine ~~months~~ months old. I went to the Santa Cruz Mountains with my mother & father. After that ~~to~~ we ^{had} many week-end trips to Boyes Springs & Hollister to visit relatives.

~~After that we grew older ^{we} to~~
From the time I was 2 yrs old I have been going to our country home in (Sagaminthus) Sagaminthus Marin County. Here we fish, swim, go horse-back riding and can go deer hunting.

From there ~~to~~ we often take trips up the ~~to~~ B Russian River and to Bolinas Beach where we ~~can~~ go swimming. At Bolinas it is interesting to watch the porpoises leap ^{through} through the water.

We have enjoyed a few vacations on the boardwalk at Santa Cruz

Usually in the summer before we go to "Lag." we "camp" in the back yard. ~~We build~~ My brother and I build a cupboard & a fire place & bring out our ~~steps~~ sleeping bags. After camping for 2 weeks we get "fed up" and come in the house.

Chapter III Schooling

~~I started ^{my educational career} kindergarten at Howard Avenue School, now Washington School.~~

I started ~~my~~ educational career in kindergarten at Howard Avenue ^{School}, now Washington School. ~~Then~~

When I was ready for first grade I entered Calvin Coolidge Grammar School which was just down the street.

37. That made it very ^{convenient} convenient. After ~~graduating~~ "graduating" from Coolidge, which only has six grades I went to M^c Kinley 50 Grammar School.

While at M^c Kinley I worked in the cafeteria at lunch ^{time} for a year and sold ice cream in the basement for ^a year and a half.

In the high eighth grade I served as Red Cross Chairman for one term.

As soon as we were promoted to the high eighth the graduation activities began.

Chapter II Birth and Early Childhood

As I said I was born. This little thing happened in the Saint Francis ^{at 6} at 6 o'clock in the morning on August 9, 1917. ~~What a a morning~~. I have always lived in this little town called Burlingame but have had extensive trips between Burlingame and San Francisco where my grandmother lives. ^{As I said previously} I was followed by a brother. We played together the good part of our childhood in our own backyard. We had a regular playground including slide, two sandboxes, swing, rings, ^{se-} saw, and bar. We always had plenty of toys and pets to keep us occupied. ^{Among} our best pets was a pit bull named "Puzzy" whose real name was "Puzzums". We got this name from Barney Google's baby "Puzzums" ^{in the funny paper.} Among our other pets were turtles, frogs, & gold-fish. We used to put the turtles on a paper and watch them go around trying to get off. Alltogether we really had a lot of fun

Chapter I Ancestors & Parentage

My paternal grandfather was born in New Orleans, Louisiana on August 19, 1857. He moved to San Francisco as a boy and was educated at the Lenox Grammar School and Heald's Business College. He was an accountant.

He died ~~on~~ ^{June 27} ~~in~~ ^{at} San Francisco. My paternal grandmother was born in San Francisco in 1868. She was educated in private schools. She is interested in Welfare Work in San Francisco.

My maternal grandfather was born in Illinois. He served as a newspaper editor in the east.

My maternal grandmother was born in Ireland and came to Hartford, Connecticut as a small child. She was educated in one of Hartford's private schools. She came West to live and died in San Francisco in 1919.

My father was born in San Francisco and ~~was~~ was graduated from U. S. F. He worked as a freight agent for ~~the~~ ^{the} ~~company~~ ^{company} ~~and~~ ^{and} ~~studied~~ ^{studied} law. He was a well known basketball player.

the Santa Fe Railroad. He died
October 13, 1930.

My mother was ^{born in} Pawtucket, Rhode Island and came to California as a girl, was educated in the public schools of San Francisco. She and graduated from San Francisco State Teacher's College. She taught in S. F. for a short while. When my mother & father were married they built our home in Burlingame, ~~Long~~ San Diego after they to Burlingame and arrived followed

GROUPINGS.

FOUR Planets in CARDINAL Signs give action, initiative, leadership and executive ability.

FOUR Planets in COMMON Signs make one logical, adaptable, versatile, intellectual and impressionable.

SIX Planets in FIERY Signs give enthusiasm, spiritual power, courage idealism, self-reliance and originality, but a tendency to be quick-tempered and impulsive.

ASPECTS.

THE MOON moves so rapidly that unless the exact hour of birth is known it is impossible to compute the position and degree it was in when the native was born. However it is possible that the MOON squared the three planets VENUS, JUPITER and URANUS at birth, with all three parallel to each other. Should this be the case the native may suffer some sorrow through the affections (Venus); she is warned against extravagance and taking too many chances (Jupiter); and there may be a tendency to nervous indigestion (Uranus) or liver disturbances (Jupiter).

THE MOON could also be trine to NEPTUNE, which would increase the faculty of imagination and give occult ability. It denotes a kind and sympathetic disposition.

VENUS sextile MERCURY makes one good-natured and companionable, with ability for music and poetry, also success in salesmanship because suave and persuasive.

SATURN trine MERCURY makes one cheerful and optimistic, with the ability to always look on the bright side of things and keep up the spirits in hours of adversity. The mind is broad and versatile, & success is indicated in literature or law.

SATURN trine JUPITER gives a strong character, a philosophical mind, a benevolent disposition and a strong sense of justice and fair play, with the ability to grasp opportunity when it is met.

SATURN trine URANUS is fortunate for a public career in an official capacity, for it gives ambition, determination and the ability to concentrate upon large problems and exercise authority, plan and systematize.

PLUTO sextile VENUS and MARS gives the ability and the opportunity to work with groups interested in elevating the thoughts and bettering the economic conditions of the masses.

grasp an idea and elaborate on it. It gives a scientific turn to the mind, with ability to apply this faculty in research work or business. It gives strong subconscious urges and good recuperative powers, but should avoid a tendency to overstrain the nervous system. This is a good position for those engaged in any of the industries connected with the sick, such as nurses, doctors, chemists, the science of sanitation and hygiene, and the preparation of health foods etc.

MOON in SAGITTARIUS gives an alert and active mentality, with an inclination to study religion, law, philosophy or occultism- travel vonscious at all times, with a love of walking, riding or other outdoor exercises. Fond of animals especially horses or dogs. There is an innate desire to be of service to others. Can benefit through connection with public health enterprises and assisting medical workers.

SATURN in SAGITTARIUS gives a charitable and philanthropic disposition with a desire to elevate humanity by self-help under just laws and true religious impulse. Likely to work for the public good, trusted, honored and respected, much in demand for positions of trust in social, industrial or religious circles. May have contacts with hospitals, jails or institutions. Good for the study of occult philosophy. Saturn's lesson for the native to learn when in Sagittarius is "to concentrate" %

MOON'S SOUTH NODE in SAGITTARIUS makes one resourceful and determined, with the ability to overcome opposition, but sometimes very impulsive.

MOON'S NORTH NODE in GEMINI gives a good sense of humor and much versatility, with the ability to practise telepathy.

JUPITER in ARIES makes one high-spirited, energetic and ambitious, always on the lookout for new and progressive methods usable for advancement in the world's work. Strongly creative, artistic, and inventive; popular in business and social circles, interested in public health measures and conditions of the working classes, Sympathetic and somewhat religiously inclined, with literary and legal ability. A love of outdoors. Better avoid speculation.

URANUS in ARIES makes one sensitive and high-strung, original, independent, resourceful but impulsive and fond of change. Likely to travel a great deal. It gives a fine intellect and good memory, with a liking for invention and new methods. However, the native may sometimes have an abrupt manner or way of speaking which upsets people even though no offence may have been intended.

MERCURY in CANCER makes one logical, adaptable, literary, with a good memory and financial ability. Interested in public health matters, with sympathy for the underdog, but should help as well as think in this direction. The native likes to have the good opinion of others, and is not averse to praise and flattery. May have many secrets but difficulty in keeping them! There may be confidential reasons for travel. Best not speculate.

PLUTO in CANCER gives deep occult ability and a strong attachment to home and family, with possibility of an inheritance. It gives a love of research, but makes one very sensitive and restless.

HOROSCOPE OF ELEANOR.

The native was born under the Fixed and Fiery Sign LEO, the Lion, which is ruled by the powerful SUN; and in the second decanate (August 3 to 13), so will also be much influenced by the planet JUPITER, which tends to give rather strong views in regard to religion, philosophy and politics. It is the decanate of REFORMATION, and those born in it have the courage of their own convictions and the power to gain followers for their own progressive ideas. Because of this power to convince and lead others, they should make every effort to gain the truth and take care that they do not disseminate erroneous notions. Famous people who were born in this decanate include: poets Dryden, Shelley, Tennyson and Francis Scott Key; writers Maupassant, Felix Adler and Bruce Barton; actresses Sylvis Sydney, Norma Shearer, Anita Page and Ann Dvorak; President Herbert Hoover; philanthropist Russell Sage; tennis champion Helen Jacobs.

CHILD OF LEO.

The Royal Sign! Your bright star, Regulus,
Denotes the lion's heart. The glorious Sun
Gives brilliancy. Ambitious, valorous,
For you no goal lies too far to be won.
You love the martial music and the flags,
The cheers that mark each step of your advance!
Applause and praise denied, your spirit lags.
You are not good at dull continuance;
You must be always queen! But none can claim
More loyalty in friendship, none may hold
More warmth in love. For you the ruby's flame,
For you the ardor of the marygold.
You, child of Fire, possessing summer's art,
Should find an easy road to every heart.

-B. Y. Williams.

SUN in LEO gives high ambitions and aspirations, dignity and the capacity for rising to positions of wealth and power. Always at the forefront of one's own circle, or wanting to be! Kind, generous, sociable, though sometimes assuming and imperious. Frustrated, may show one's worst side- arrogance. Though usually sturdy and radiant, yet sometimes depressed.

Leo persons usually radiate love, though sometimes of a burning kind, ardent as the sun itself, and they aspire to rule others. Nevertheless their affections are deep and lasting and they are staunch defenders of those loved, but they are equally strong in their aversions. (See also General Characteristics of this Sign, which may however be modified by the individual horoscope chart).

NEPTUNE in LEO gives a kind, sociable and affectionate disposition, fond of pleasure and artistic pursuits. Considerable ability and success in connection with educational work, because of an innate understanding of the nature of others and the faculty of imparting to them whatever knowledge the native herself possesses. Mental life may possibly be influenced by parent of same sex. Interested in public health measures and working conditions.

VENUS in VIRGO gives one a tender sympathy for the sick, and people with this position make good nurses. It favors occupations such as chemist or dietician in connection with health foods. It gives dramatic talent, and indicates pleasant relations with inferiors.

MARS in VIRGO gives an ambitious nature and keen intellect, quick to
