Acknowledgement

The compiling of this family tree is an honest effort to put together much information provided by honourable and interested persons. Some of the information may not be correct but it may prove a clue and incentive to others to do some searching and extend family "branches" into their following generations.

There are many to whom thanks is due! First to my mother who helped kindle my enthusiasm to begin this family tree; and then to those who so generously gave their time and effort in supplying names, dates, etc. Without their help this family history would not have been written.

I am also indebted to the Public Archives of Nova Scotia, where a treasure of information was gleaned from the records there.

My sincere thanks to one and all. —

An explanation concerning the repetition of names in the early families

Dr. C. Bruce Fergusson, Provincial Archivist, Public Archives of Nova Scotia, says that usually when there are two Peters born into a family it means that the first one has died. However, the Germans frequently used one Christian name for several children. For instance, there might be a Peter John, Peter James, and Peter Daniel but only one of them was known in the family as Peter.

Bustling Industry In 1800's

Grist, Feed Mill Now Just a Memory.

By Ed. Coleman

During the last decade and a half of the 19th century the now quiet community of White Rock was the location of a bustling enterprise known as the S. P. Benjamin grist and feed mill. The mill was built on the banks of the Gaspereau River in 1885. Fifteen years later it was gone.

Little trace of the Benjamin mill remains today. The mill was situated where the White Rock bridge spans the Gaspereau River, the site has long been filled in by man and nature. For a long time one or two buildings stood to mark the millsite. These were swept away by a flood in the '40s

But while time has eradicated most traces of the mill memories of it still linger in the minds of old timers. Eighty year old Raleigh Eagles, Highland Avenue, Wolfville, recalls passing the mill many times while he was a school boy in White Rock. His father and brothers worked in the mill.

Eagles has in his possession two photographs connected with the mill. One shows the crew, the mill itself shows a sprawling array of buildings along the south bank of the river. The bridge in the photo shows or appears to be the same one that serves the people of the community today.

The group photo shows that over fifty men were employed by the mill while there is no way of telling how accurate this figure is, there is no doubt the mill was an important industry to the people of that area. As well as offering employment, the mill drew heavily on the countryside for supplies. Men and draft animals had to be fed, And the number of utensils required by the men in the woods, hauling logs would be limitless.

According to Eagles, the mill was a tiny community in itself. there was a boarding house with a full time cook. The cook by the way is said to have used a barrel of flour a day making bread for the hungry men.

Also on the site was a blacksmith shop. In the photo- this is snuggled up against the bridge. Next to the shop were two buildings to stable the horses and oxen. Next was the great mill and the lumber mill.

The great and lumber mill, Raleigh Eagles says operated in the summer night and day. Lumber for the mill was obtained from woodlands around the Gaspereau Lake where B. P. Benjamin owned thousands of acres. In fact it appears that Benjamin wasn't sure exactly how many acres he owned! When he later sold his holdings to Nova Scotia Light and Power, he could only make an estimate of the number of acres.

The logs cut in the lake country were floated to the mill via the Gaspereau River. Once the logs were milled out the lumber was hauled by oxen and horse teams through the Deep Hollow Road to Port Williams. There the lumber was loaded on schooners and shipped all over the world.

One of the clearest memories Eagles has is the struggle the oxen and horses had to haul the lumber to Port-Williams. The haul through Deep Hollow was made over an often muddy and always treacherous road. The swampiest part had to be corduroyed, that is reinforced by laying poles cross-wise. But even this didn't help at times and teams had to double up to continue their haul.

Eagles says that ten teams of horses and seven or eight yoke of oxen were used by the mill for the daily lumber hauls. Each team and yoke was expected to make two trips a day to Port Williams. Even under the best conditions there was barely enough day-light to make the trip.

The lumber was hauled in what Eagle says the men of the day called "Dutch Wagons" so called because they were made in Bridgewater.

Eagles brother Leslie was one of the teamsters and Raleigh remembers him talking about the daily hauls. Competitions were held to see who could take the largest load to port. In one haul Raleigh's brother logged 4,000 feet of finished lumber to Port Williams, a record that stood for many years.

According to a history of the area the Benjamin Mill did a thriving business while in operation at White Rock. Why it closed down isn't known. But perhaps a simple explanation is that the timber supply in the lake area owned by Benjamin ran out.

In 1900 Benjamin, a Wolfville man, dismantled the grist and lumber mill and moved to Falmouth. This move must have been a heavy blow to the area at that time.

Carmel & Mary Schofield are buried in White Rock Cemetery Kings Co., N.S. which is a short distance from the "Old Homestead" (see next page) A.W.

Two Old Homesteads

The village of White Rock, Kings Co, N.S. is located where the Black River flows into the Gaspereaux River.

On arriving at this little village continue down the winding road to the bridge spanning the Gaspereau River, then up the steep mountain where there are many farms.

The owners of two of these old homesteads were - Millidge & Annex (Reid) Schofield and later their son Archibald & wife Eva (Corbum) Schofield. This home is now occupied by Archibald's youngest son Dean & wife Ann (Spinney) Schofield and family.

The other old homestead situated below the White Rock Cemetery was once owned by Emery & Emma (Reid) Schofield then by Emerys brother, Carmel & wife Mary (Corbum) Schofield then later by Carmels son, Pierce & wife Nellie (Virtue) Schofield and their family.

Beside each of these homes there were carriage houses in which the carriages and wagons of the by-gone days were kept. These carriage houses are now used as garages for modern cars.

Many were the happy hours spent while on our summer holidays in my childhood visiting these homes of our Uncles, Aunts and cousins & grandparents. Memories linger of fertile fields, grazing animals and the sound of their tinkling bells; large barns filled with new mown hay brooks with small fish and skippers, where the cattle came to drink; and beautiful orchards with rosy apples to make the mouth water.

Summer holidays at these old homesteads were very special days!

The above information re - the occupants of the two old homesteads was told to me by two sisters Mrs Arch Schofield and Mrs William Lambly.

MINOT'S BEACON

By Alexander C. Corkum.

Out where the waves of the ocean
Thunder and break in their wrath,
Here on the outermost danger,
Near to the mariners' path,
Standing on treacherous footing,
Towering over the sea
Flash I my signal of warning
Of one - four - and three.

Wrapped in a mantle of darkness,
Lashed by the wind and the wave,
Swaying beneath their encounters,
Often their furies I brave;
And by the tears of the tempest,
Dimmed though my radiance be,
Still I keep flashing my warnings
Of one - four - and three.

Mist often mingles with darkness,
Pall-like upon me they close,
Hiding my treacherous neighbors,
Whom I am here to expose.
Then with my voice I'm proclaiming
Dangers the eye cannot see,
While I keep flashing my warnings
Of one - four - and three.

Winds that have fiercely assailed me
Whisper their gentle regret,
Waves that besieged me in anger
Round me remorsefully fret,
Always impassive I greet them;
Duty is sacred to me;
So I keep flashing my warnings
Of one - four - and three.

Here through the varying seasons,
Gray, weatherbeaten I stand,
Guiding the course of the seaman,
Cautiously making the land;
And all the people who pass me
Seeking the "Land of the Free,"
Flashing a welcome and warning
Of one - four - and three.

Capt. Corkum Services Held. Hero Honored

Funeral services were held yesterday for Capt. Alexander C. Corkum, 85, of 1452 Beacon street Waban, Merchant Marine hero of World War I, who died on Sunday. Dr. Eugene S. Philbrook pastor of the First Baptist Church Randolph, officiated at the services in the Rich and Bellinger Chapel, Centre avenue, Newton.

The Capt. Corkum Post, World War Veterans of the American Merchant Marine, which was named in honor of the deceased was represented by acting Quartermaster J. Kenneth Goggins. Also represented were the Boston Marine Society and the Yacht Masters and Engineersr Society.

Capt. Corkum, on whose head the Germans had set a price and the skipper whom every German submarine commander was instructed to get, was victor in many skirmishes with German U-boats during the first World War. He had 11 engagements but the last battle was the worst. It lasted for two hours on Oct. 12, 1918, and resulted in the wounding of six merchant sailors and the killing of merchant seaman Atkinson. A poem in tribute to Seaman Atkinson by Capt. Corkum was read on the floor of the House of Representatives and appeared in the Congressional Record.

Because of Captain Corkum's successful action against enemy submarines the British Admiralty made him a 'Vice-Commodore of Convoy' and gave Commodore Wells instructions to extend to Captain Corkum the Admiralty's 'thanks.' This was done in New York in November, 1917. Capt. Corkum twice received the thanks of the British Admiralty and was personally complimented by Commodore Wells at New York, by Vice-Admiral Napier at Bermuda and by Admiral Jellicoe at Manaco.

Capt. Corkum devoted considerable time to his hobbies, poetry and music. One of his publications, "Musings of a Mariner", was dedicated to his wife. He published a song entitled "Where Our Buddies Are Sleeping." He held a master's certificate for 53 years and retired in 1932.

Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery, Ashmont.

The data on pages 53 and 54 was sent to Mrs. A. J. Smeltzer in 1975 by her first cousin Mrs. (Mildred) Samuel W. Cameron - a daughter of the late Mrs. Alexander Chris Corkum.

Josie Eastman Corkum

NORWAY — Josie Eastman Corkum, 100, of Milan, N.H., died suddenly Thursday.

She and her twin sister were born on Sept. 2, 1895. Jessie died Dec. 3, 1906. They were daughters of Morrill Edson Eastman and Mary Elizabeth Dale Eastman, both of Milan. Josie attended the Milan elementary schools, Berlin High and Plymouth Normal School and taught for many years in local schools and Milan village.

She married Burton L. Corkum Sr. on July 11, 1916. They shared 72 years of companionship before Burt died in 1988.

Josie led a very active life, having assisted her mother at a telephone office switchboard in her younger years and later serving as Milan town auditor for 29 years, in addition to being an 80-year member of the Rebekah Lodge and a member of the Grange, Methodist Church, choir and Service Society.

She is survived by one son, Burton L. Jr. and his wife Jean LaRochelle Corkum of Maine; four grandchildren, Burton III of Massachusetts, Nancy of Pennsylvania, Jane of Maine and Brian of Califorina; and three great-grandchildren, Becky, Sarah and Ryan.

BERLIN Daily Sun 17 Jun 1996

Milan's oldest citizen dies at the age of 100

By Amanda MacKinnon
THE BERLIN DAILY SUN

MILAN — The town of Milan has lost one of its most treasured and well-known citizens. Josie (Eastman) Corkum passed away suddenly in Norway, Maine on Thursday, June 13.

Corkum, 100, was the oldest resident of Milan and was honored in a ceremony at last year's Old Home Days in Milan with the prestigious Boston Post Cane.

"There are not enough pages in your paper to describe her," said her nephew Glenn Eastman. "She was one of the few remaining mainstays of this area," Eastman remembered that she was always willing to help out. He reminisced of one time in particular, when he was really caught in a bind. When he was a young man, Eastman and his cousin Burt Jr., Corkum's son, rode their bicycles to the Milan Hill State Park. On their way back down the hill, Eastman's tire fell off. He tumbled over the handlebars of his bike, unraveling his brand-new sweater. "Aunt Josie had yarn in an identical shade, and she knitted it back together and never told my parents. I don't think my mother ever knew the difference."

Bev Hawkins also has many fond memories of her Aunt Josie. "Although she was my aunt by marriage, she always considered me a blood relative. She was always there for the family."

Corkum led a very active life. She attended Milan Elementary School, Berlin High School and Plymouth Normal. She taught for many years at the Milan Village School and was the Milan town auditor for 29 years. She was an 80-year member of the Rebekah Lodge and a member of the Grange, Methodist Church choir and Service Society. She sang in the church choir until she was well into her 90's. "Even when she couldn't get around as well anymore, she was still involved, she made rolls for the church suppers right until she went to stay in Maine," said Hawkins.

Of course, anyone who has ever spent any time in Milan knows about Josie and her husband Burt's Halloween traditions. Every year she would make homemade taffy or popcorn balls and they would have all of the trick-or-treaters sign the "guest book". David Woodward brought his children each year, just as his parents had brought him each year, and his grandparents had brought his parents.

"She really loved the children," said Emmy Tankard. Tankard, a former teacher at the Milan Village School for many years, remembered Corkum as a frequent visitor at school, long after she had retired. "She would pop into school, just to check on the children and visit. She would look around at their writings and praise them."

One thing that everyone who knew Josie is sure to remember is her good-nature. "She always had a smile and a quick wit," Eastman laughingly remembered, "she always had the time to make life brighter for everyone."

Hawkins also remembered Aunt Josie as someone who could always find the good in everyone. "We'd be sitting around talking about so-and-so doing something wrong, and Aunt Josie would always bring up some nice thing that the person had done in the past, to make their wrong doing seem less severe."

"She led a full, healthy life right up until the end," said Hawkins. "There used to be a bus from the Methodist Church that would go to Berlin once a week and, as Aunt Josie didn't drive but she loved those excursions, she would call around to everyone to make sure that they were going, so that the bus would continue running."

She was a well-loved woman, and never was this more evident than at last year's Milan Old Home Days. "The incredible outpouring of friendship that everyone showed was amazing," said Eastman. The community had a booklet printed up about her life, as well as dedicating the entire weekend of festivities to her, calling the theme of the weekend "100 Years Ago".

Her nephew said that it was a shock to hear of her death because, as he said, " she was one of those people that you just expected to live forever".

She and her twin sister were born on September 2, 1895. Her sister, Jessie, died December 3, 1906. They were the daughters of Morill Edson Eastman and Mary Elizabeth Dale Eastman, both of Milan.

She married Burton L. Corkum, Sr., on July 16, 1916. They shared 72 years of companionship together before Burt died in 1988.

She is survived by one son, Burton L. Corkum, Jr. and his wife Jean LaRochelle Corkum, Maine; four grandchildren, Burton III, Massachusetts; Nancy, Pennsylvania; Jane, Maine; Brian, California and three great-grandchildren; Becky, Sarah and Ryan.

Relatives and friends paid their respects at the Bryant Funeral Home Friday evening. The funeral services were held Saturday, June 15, at 11 a.m. at the Milan Methodist Church with interment in the Hillcrest Cemetery in Milan.

Walter Rand Sr., valued family's long ties to area

WINDHAM — Walter W. "Scotty" Rand Sr., 80, a millworker and nature lover who built houses, boats and strong family ties, died Sept. 8, 2000, at his home.

A son of Lorenzo A. and Alice Mayberry-Wescott Rand, he was born at Gags Corner, in the White Rock area of Gorham where the Rand family had owned farmland since the early 19th century.

Walter Rand Sr.

One of Mr. Rand's two daughters, Deborah M. Rand of Windham, said the family's long connection to the area was important to her father, and he often talked with his children about their ancestors and genealogy. "It was very important to him that I knew where I came from," she said.

Mr. Rand built his own home near Gags Corner as a young man. He and his wife, Connie Corkum, to whom he was married in 1939, cleared woods for a farm near the Presumpscot River.

His daughter remembers growing up on the farm and learning about nature from her father.

"He taught me about thunderstorms and not to be afraid of them," she said. "We would sit on the steps as a storm gathered and he would show me how to smell the air as it changed, and when to go inside."

Mr. Rand worked at the S.D. Warren paper mill in Westbrook for 25 years. After his retirement he purchased C and C Market on Route 202 in Gorham.

He later sold the store, and he and his wife spent winters in Florida and summers in Maine. They returned to Maine nine years ago to be closer to their children.

Mr. Rand was a musician who enjoyed playing the violin, guitar and harmonica. He also built several wooden boats, including one the family used at their summer camp on Thomas Pond in Raymond.

"We used it for water skiing when we were kids," said Mr. Rand's son, Walter W. Rand Jr. of Gorham. "They really enjoyed that camp for many years when we were growing up."

Mr. Rand's daughter recalls water skiing lessons with her father, who helped her overcome her anxiety by stepping into the old mahogany skis and taking a turn around the pond himself – even though he disliked skiing. "He taught me not to experience fear," she said. "That's a very important thing."

She also remembers the empathy her father showed for a daughter's struggles growing up.

"If I came home from school crying, he would walk in from work and spend an hour and a half sitting on the couch with me, trying to make me feel better," she said.

On the other hand, he was not above a prank and made it a point to crash his daughter's teen-age parties so he could perform the twist in front of her friends. "It would embarrass me, but my friends all loved him," she said.

Surviving are his wife of 61 years, Connie Corkum-Rand; his son, Walter W. Jr. of Gorham; two daughters, Lorraine A. Verrill of Yarmouth and Deborah M. Rand of Windham; eight grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

A graveside service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Sapling Hill Cemetery, Route 237, Gorham. Arrangements are by Dolby Funeral Chapel.

Laura W. Thomas

'enjoyed life and helping people'

WINDHAM – Laura W. Thomas, 70, of Brook Street, who made helping others a priority in her life, died Saturday at a Portland hospital.

She was born in Portland, a daughter of Theophilus and Cora Ames Pennell.

Throughout her life, Mrs. Thomas held a range of jobs, from waitressing at Portland restaurants, to helping in the kitchen at the Baxter School for the Deaf, to housekeeping at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in Windham, where she was a member.

PASSAGES

Each day the newspaper selects one obituary and seeks to learn more about the life of a person who has lived and worked in Maine. We look for a person who has made a mark on the community or the person's family and circle of friends in small but lasting ways.

But her main role was helping others: on the job, as a volunteer with Share and Meals on Wheels, and as a wife and mother.

And people responded.

"She really enjoyed the kids at the Baxter School," said her son, Bruce W. Charles of Standish. "She was always bringing home crafts that kids in the school would make for her. They just loved her."

Mrs. Thomas was particularly proud of her high school diploma, which she received in 1993 when she was 65.

"It was just something she wanted to do," her son said. "She wanted to finish her education."

Three years later, when her husband suffered a stroke, Mrs. Thomas decided to become a certified nursing assistant so she could take care of him at home. When her husband died, she carried on with her studies and became a CNA in 1996.

Although she devoted much of her time to work and volunteering, Mrs. Thomas also enjoyed wintering in Florida and square dancing. And she found comfort and solace in the cancer support groups and weekend retreats she attended.

Despite hardships – especially the deaths of two sons in accidents – Mrs. Thomas retained a zest for life.

"She was quite a lady," her son said. "She was just full of life. She enjoyed life and helping people."

Two husbands, Henry Word and Arnold Thomas, and two sons, Curt Charles and Steve Charles, died previously.

Surviving, besides her son Bruce, are two stepsons, Richard E. Thomas of North Yarmouth and Arnold Thomas Jr. of Hudson, N.H.; four sisters, Viola Corkum and Faith Greenstreet, both of Westbrook, Shirley Griffin of Falmouth and Virginia Jenness of South Portland; two grandchildren and four stepgrandchildren.

Visiting hours will be from 8 to 10 a.m. Tuesday at Dolby Funeral Chapel, 434 River Road. A funeral Mass will be held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church with the Rev. Donald Proulx as celebrant. Burial will be in Hillside Cemetery, Gorham.

Police log

CHELSEA — Route 9 resident Earl R. Corkum died because a tractor rolled over him as he was hauling a fishing shack along the bank of the Kennebec River, state police determined Wednesday.

Corkum, 69, whose body was discovered on his own property at 10:15 p.m. Tuesday, died about 12:30 p.m. Tuesday after he slipped under the moving tractor, according to police.

A state medical examiner's spokesman said the victim died from several skull fractures. A state police investigation concluded there was no foul play.

Gardiner firefighter Donald Staples said Corkum's daughter, Jane Wregard, found the body. She last spoke to her father around noon and became suspicious when he did not appear at her home as planned Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Wregard tried phoning her father, then went to his house, where she found the doors open, Staples said. She discovered Corkum's body within minutes, he said.
