ton, 30 March 1720, died at Spencer, 18 February 1766, aged 46 years, the daughter of Major Benjamin, Esq. and Rebecca (Stone) Reed. He married, second, 14 May 1773, Mrs. Eleanor (Stoddard) Snow, the widow of Jonathan Snow.

About 1740, he settled in Rutland, where he was often selectman. He remained there about ten years, and then removed to Spencer where the rest of his life was spent. In each place he was a very highly respected and useful member of society. He was deacon in the First Church in Spencer from 12 June 1753 to 1789, a period of thirty-six years. He represented the town of Spencer in the General Court of Massachusetts, 1779, and was selectman of Spencer: 1753-1756, 1758-1762, 1764-1765, 1770, 1772, and 1774, and was Town Clerk, 1754-1756, 1761-1762, 1771-1774. He served as member of the Spencer Committee of Correspondence, 1775, 1778-1780, and was commissioned Justice-of-the-Peace, 18 March 1772. He was also frequently employed as scribe in writing wills, deeds, and other legal instruments.

6. REBECCA MUZZY, daughter of Deacon John and Abigail (Reed) Muzzy, was born in Spencer, 24 May 1750, and she died there 29 April 1818. She married in Spencer, 24 December 1770, Captain John Draper (No. 5), born at Spencer, 16 November 1745, died at Spencer, 20 December 1822, the son of Captain James and Mehitable (Whiting) Draper.

1635 NEWCOMB

1. FRANCIS NEWCOMB (Nucum), aged 30 years, with his wife Rachel, aged 20 years, and two older children, came to New England in the "Planter," Nicholas Trarice, Master, which sailed from London, in April 1635. They settled temporarily in Boston for three or four years, and on 28 February 1635/6, Rachel was admitted to the First Church in Boston. They removed to Braintree, now Quincy, where Francis was admitted to the First Church of that town, 16 February 1639/40. Braintree, Lynn (Saugus), and other places were the sources of bog-iron ore. Here Francis served on the jury in March 1678, and in March 1684/5, Rachel transferred her membership from the First Church in Boston to the First Church in Braintree (now the First Church in Quincy). Francis Newcomb died at Braintree, 27 May 1692, "aged 100 years."

2. JUDITH NEWCOMB, daughter of Francis and Rachel Newcomb, was born at Braintree (Quincy), 16 January 1645/6, and she died at Watertown, 1 March 1722/3. She married at Watertown, 30 October 1666, Ensign Samuel Jennison (No. 2), born about 1645, died at Watertown, in October 1701, the son of Robert and Grace Jennison.

1636 NUTTE—NUTT—NUTE

1. MILES (OR MYLES) NUTT was born about 1598, and he died at Malden, Massachusetts, 2 July 1671, aged 73 years. He was a proprietor at Watertown, 1636, and was admitted freeman of the Colony, 17 May 1637. He removed to Woburn where he was a proprietor in 1645. He married Sybil (Tuicknett) Bible, the widow of John Bible of Boston, and the daughter of John Tuicknell, of Wedmore, co. Somerset, England, and the sister of John Tuicknell, of Wedmore, to whom she gave power of attorney, 26 September 1650, to collect a legacy left her by her father. John Bible was a licensed innkeeper at Hull, 29 May 1644, who removed to Malden. Miles Nutt and his wife Sybil made a mutual agreement or will, 4 January 1658, by which her daughter Anna (Bible) Jones, wife of Robert Jones of Hingham, and her children were to inherit certain property. Miles Nutt made his will 1 February 1673/4, which was probated 15 December 1674, in which he bequeaths to his wife Sybil, and to their daughter Sarah, the wife of John Wyman, and her children. Sybil was in Shadwell in Stepney Parish, London, England, 9 October 1640. After the death of Miles Nutt, she married again, John Doolittle, of Rumney Marsh (Chelsea), Massachusetts. The Nutt property in Woburn was given to John Wyman, Jr. first wife

Henry Sweet and wife Mary, with William Andrews and wife Ann and Mary Andrews conveyed to William Spencer "land formerly of John Andrews who died intestate in Newport, R.I., we being heirs." The grantors here were undoubtedly Mary Ridgley Andrew, widow of John<sup>1</sup>, her stepson William Andrew with wife Anna Searle and Henry Sweet with wife Mary Andrew, daughter of John<sup>1</sup>.

Mary Andrew was certainly Henry Sweet's wife between 1693 and 1713, so she was the mother of Griffin Sweet, born 1709. Some Sweet family genealogists suggest that another Mary could have been Henry's wife before 1693, but there is nothing to indicate he married more than once. Henry Sweet received Mary's inheritance from her brother in the same year distribution was made to the other heirs and Henry was already in possession of part of the land according to the deed. Furthermore, on 4 May 1713 (ibid. 2:146) Henry deeded "for consideration of full satisfaction already in hand [no sum of money mentioned] paid by my son, John Sweet, weaver, one parcel of land, 20 acres, bounded east by highway, north by Charles Andrews, west by William Allin of Prudence Island, southwest by William Andrews." Though the land description is vague, there is some reason to believe this was the 20 acres deeded to Henry in 1693 by John<sup>2</sup> Andrew. If this was Mary Andrew Sweet's inheritance, it would be unusual for her husband to dispose of it to a son not her own, and John<sup>4</sup> Sweet was the second son, born 24 March 1684.

That Mary Andrew was Henry's wife as late as 17 Jan. 1724/5 (ibid. 4:39) is shown by the fact that Henry Sweet with wife Mary [he by "H" mark, she by "X" mark] sold for £20/10 to Charles Hazilton of North Kingstown "the 17th meadow share lying in the Great Meadow in East Greenwich, drawn in the right of John Andrew of Newport" as laid down in the plat of said meadow by John Smith, surveyor, etc.

The date of Henry Sweet's death is unknown and no probate record has been found. From 1713 to 1728 (ibid. 2:144 f., 169; 4:166, 543) Henry deeded land to sons Henry, John, Joseph, Benjamin and William Sweet, to the last named on 31 Oct. 1728, the final land transaction for the father. Mary Andrew Sweet, wife of Henry, is believed to be the "Mary Sweet of East Greenwich, died 2 May 1752, in her 89th year" recorded at West Greenwich (Arnold, Vital Record, West Greenwich 1:97). The entry follows that of the death of her granddaughter, "Hannah Sweet, daughter of Benjamin, died 8 April 1752 in her 18th year," both shown to be in Volume 1, p. 87 of the original records. It is logical to suppose that Benjamin<sup>4</sup> Sweet, who lived at West Greenwich by this time, recorded the death of his daughter and his mother at the same time. No other Mary Sweet of East Greenwich fits this age at death.

Mary<sup>2</sup> Andrew was thus born about 1664, the daughter of John<sup>1</sup> Andrew and his first unknown wife, probably their eldest child. She married about 1681 Henry<sup>3</sup> Sweet.

THE ENGLISH ORIGIN OF MILES NUTT
WHOSE DAUGHTER SARAH MARRIED JOHN WYMAN

BY JOHN B. THRELFALL

In 1955 Mr. John Insley Coddington published an important article (TAG, supra, 31:90-101) on Mrs. Sybil (Tincknell) Doolittle which showed that the second of her three husbands was Miles Nutt, born 1598, died at Malden, Mass., 2 July 1671 aged about 73. Mr. Coddington presented what was then known about Miles Nutt and his only child Sarah, but the origin of Miles Nutt and the name of his first wife were unknown. The following parish register entries seem to apply to the family of Miles Nutt who came with his first wife and one daughter Sarah to New England by 1636 in which year he was a proprietor of Watertown and received a grant in the first distribution. Sarah married on 5 Nov. 1644 John Wyman of Charlestown, had ten children; married a second time, 25 Aug. 1684, Thomas Fuller, and she died 24 May 1688. Since Miles Nutt had only one daughter and no sons, there are no descendants of the name, but the numerous Wyman descendants will be interested to know the background of Miles Nutt.

Although a search was made, nothing can be found in the way of probate records for the Nutt, Jackamin or Branson families, nor were there found any parish records which might have extended this pedigree. Perhaps they are to be found in other parishes.

From these records we can construct the families as follows:

MICHAEL<sup>A</sup> NUTT of Barking, Suffolk, England, married 23 May 1586 ELIZABETH JACKAMIN who was buried 5 Feb. 1617/18. He married secondly in 1619 at Old Newton, Suffolk, Christian Godard. Michael was buried 24 Nov. 1630 at Barking, "an ould man of Needham." She was buried there 29 June 1631. Barking is about one mile southwest of Needham and Old Newton is about five miles north of Needham. There is another parish named Barking in Essex.

Children:

- i. Michael, bapt. Barking, 17 April 1587, bur. 29 Oct. 1596.
- ii. Anne, bapt. 22 Feb. 1589/90.

- vi. Mary, bapt. 17 May 1604, bur. 23 Oct. 1605.
- vii. Francis, bapt. 27 March 1607.

William Nutt, who had a wife Susan and several children baptised at Barking, was perhaps also a son of Michael, although he would have been by an earlier marriage.

assassinated on 22 June 1844. The building has been well restored by the Utah Mormons. The elder in charge was not overly talkative but answered questions put to him with full information. Standing where this most dastardly crime was committed was a most moving experience. We then went to Nauvoo and visited the several Smith properties maintained by the Reorganized LDS Church, and afterwards viewed the city remains.

THE HAUTEVILLE ANCESTRY

BY CHARLES F. H. EVANS, F.S.A.

The late Mr G. Andrews Moriarty in his as yet unpublished The Plantagenet Ancestry devotes folios 71 to 74 to the Hauteville family and their relations the Princes of Capua, and the Dukes of Naples and Spoleto; and folio 74 gives an expanded version of his account of the ancestry of Guy, Duke of Spoleto, Lay Abbot of Mettlach (d. 860), that appeared in NEHGR 107 (1953) 282-4. However, these particular tables rely heavily on W. H. Turton [The Plantagenet Ancestry (1928)]; E. Rübel (Ahnentafel Rübel-Blass (1939)), and E. Winkhaus [Ahnen zu Karl dem Grossen und Widukind (1950-53)]; and as all their accounts of the Lombard and Norman rulers of this period in Italy have been largely superseded by the writings of Augusto Sanfelice di Monteforte [La prima famiglia di Guaimario IV, Principe di Salerno (1936)]; Ricerca storico-critico-genealogica (1947-62), which are not readily available, here follows an attempt partly based on Sanfelice to revise and amplify Moriarty's pedigrees, and suggest further lines of research, without in any way following up every ancestral line as far as possible as Moriarty does.

According to Moriarty (fo. 71) Tancred d'Hauteville married twice, and by one of his wives, both of unstated origin, was the father of Robert Guiscard, who in turn married twice. By his first wife Alberada, also of uncertain origin, Robert Guiscard was the father of Bohemond of Antioch, whose descendants are well-known [see F. L. Weis, Ancestral Roots of Sixty Colonists (4th ed. 1969), Line 103]; and by his second wife Sikelgaita of Salerno Robert Guiscard is presumed by Moriarty to have had a daughter Matilda, wife of Raymond Berenger II of Barcelona and ancestress of the Counts of Barcelona and Provence, and so of Eleanor of Provence, wife of King Henry III (Weis, op.cit. Line 111).

Now Szabolcs de Vajay has shown in a pamphlet entirely devoted to the subject that the above Matilda was certainly the eldest of the six children of Robert Guiscard by his second wife Sikelgaita [Mahaut de Pouille, comtesse de Barcelone et vicomtesse de Narbonne, dans le contexte social de son temps (1971)]. Matilda married first in 1078 Raymond Berenger II, Count of Barcelona, who was assassinated in 1082 leaving an only child Raymond Berenger III; and secondly in 1085 Aymeri I, Viscount of Narbonne, who died on crusade in 1105 and by whom she had five children including a son Guiscard named after his famous grandfather. Matilda died in 1108.

Sybille, the youngest child of Robert Guiscard by Sikelgaita, married Eble II de Roucy. Turton (op.cit. fo. 184) gives Ade, wife of Gaucher II de Châtillon (d. 1148), as Ade de Roucy, a granddaughter of Eble II and Sybille de Roucy; and Elizabeth Woodville, wife of King Edward IV, was certainly descended from Gaucher II and Ade de Châtillon. However, W. M. Newman [Les seigneurs de Nesle en Picardie 1 (1971) 190-2] has examined the problem of the identity of

SYBIL (TINCKNELL)(BIBBLE)(NUTT) DOOLITTLE
 AND HER FAMILY

By John Insley Coddington, F.A.S.G., of Washington, D.C.

Sybil Tincknell or Tyncknell was baptized at Wedmore, co. Somerset, England, 2 Aug. 1607, and after three marriages and widowhoods she died at Malden, Mass., 23 Sept. 1690, "aged about 82 years" according to her gravestone in Malden Cemetery, though she was really 83. She was the daughter and the elder of two children of John Tincknell or Tyncknell, who was baptized at Wedmore 29 Sept. 1580 (son of an earlier John Tincknell), buried there 3 Nov. 1626, and married there 16 Oct. 1606 to Margery Rodford, baptized there 8 Dec. 1583, daughter of Simon and Joan (Burgess) Rodford of Wedmore who were married there 2 May 1583. [Parish Registers of Wedmore, co. Somerset, 3 vols., Wells, 1890.]

Sybil Tincknell married first, at Wedmore, 7 May 1629, John Bibble (also spelled Bibbill and Bible), who is said in the Banks Mss. in the Rare Book Room in the Library of Congress to have come from Lympsham, co. Somerset, which seems very probable as Lympsham is but eight miles from Wedmore. John and Sybil (Tincknell) Bibble had no children baptized in Wedmore, and they may have left Somerset soon after their marriage. They lived for a time in Shadwell, then part of the large parish of Stepney, co. Middlesex, but now a part of London.

John Bibble came to New England by 1637, and a house lot in Boston was granted to him on 4 Oct. 1637. He soon engaged in litigation. At a Court held at Salem on 31 March 1640, the Constables of Salem and Marblehead were ordered to arrest and commit to gaol in Boston William Mead and Thomas Ashley, to answer at the next court in Salem to John Bibble in the matter of debt [Records and Files of the Quarterly Courts of Essex County, Mass., 1:16-7]. Sybil had not accompanied her husband to New England, and on 9 Oct. 1640 she was still in Shadwell. On that date "John Bibble made a letter of Attorney to Sibill Bibble his wife of Shadwell in Stepney parish & John Waterton of the same shippwright to sue James Buckley of Shadwell aforesaid" [Note-Book Kept by Thomas Lechford, Esq., p. 181]. The date of Sybil's arrival in New England is not known, but it was probably not long after 1640.

The Bibbles seem to have lived both at Malden and at Hull, Mass. On 29 May 1644, John Bibble was licensed as an innkeeper at Hull. On 26 Sept. 1650, "John Bible of Hull in N.E. constituted John Tincknell of Wedmore in Somersetshire his wives brother to aske leave

John Bibble died (apparently at Hull) between 21 July 1653, the date of his will, and 21 Aug. following, the date of probate in Middlesex Co., Mass. There is a record of the death of a "Thomas" Bibble in 5 mo. 1653 in the Malden Vital Records; doubtless this is a mistake for John Bibble's death. His will, which was printed in full in the New England Hist. & Gen. Register, vol. 9, pp. 306-7, contains the phrase "I John Bibbill of Malden in New England living now of Hull in New England." From the language of the will, it is evident that John and Sybil (Tincknell) Bibble had only one child living, namely, Ann, wife of Robert Jones.

Sybil (Tincknell) Bibble married second, presumably at Malden, in January 1658/9, Miles Nutt, who was born about 1598 and died at Malden 2 July 1671, aged about 73. She was his second wife. The birthplace of Miles Nutt in England is not known to the present writer, and the surname Nutt, though not common, was found in the 17th century in widely separated parts of England. Miles Nutt came to America by 1636, accompanied by a first wife whose name is unknown and a daughter Sarah. He was a proprietor in Watertown that year, and was made freeman 17 May 1637. He then moved to Woburn, where he was a proprietor in 1645. His daughter Sarah Nutt married at Woburn, 5 Nov. 1644, John Wyman of Charlestown, Mass. At some time after this, Miles Nutt moved to Charlestown, where he was one of the petitioners in favor of the freedom of the church.

At the time of their marriage, Miles and Sybil made the following contract:

"A mutuall Agreement made the 4th day of Januarie 1658 [1658/9] Betweene Miles Nutt and Sibell his Wife Concerning the Settling of his Estate upon his said wife for her future. Imp: it is my Will and reall Intention that my wife Sibell that now is shall have and enjoy hir Life in the house I now live in in Charlestowne after my decease And that she hold and possess it with all things thereunto belonging or in any wise appertaining for terme of her Life moreover it is my will & desire that my aforesaid wife Sibell shall have the one halfe part of my whole Estate as well reall as personall of all and whatsoever I may die possess<sup>d</sup> of at the time of my death Excepting the house above mentioned which she shall Enjoy only for terme of Life, with all appertaining thereunto. Furthermore it is my Will and desire that if God take first away by death my wife Sibell before me that in such Case my will is that the s<sup>d</sup> halfe part of my Estate as above mentioned (at the time of my death and decease) shall be given and fall unto y<sup>e</sup> daughter of my Wife Sibell by name Anna the wife of Robert Jones and unto his Children of hir Bodie. And further it is my desire that if after my decease my wife Sibell survives, and that then shee shall desire to live & dwell in my house and land at Maulden in such case my will & desire is that she shall have libertie to have and Enjoy that house & land conditionally that that the Estate being equally divided shee give a full Allowance for such hir Libertie as Indifferent men shall Judge meete in that case. And further I doe fully & really make over unto my wife Sibell that tenne pounds which I lately received of William Morris the which he is to receive by exchange of his friends in England. I doe hereby make it safe unto her to be at hir dispose After my death and decease. In witness of truth I have hereunto sett my hand seal.

In addition, Miles Nutt left a will (in the same file):

"The Last Will and Testament of Miles Nutt made the first day of Februarie in the yeare 1660 [1660/1] being very sensible and in good understanding. I doe firstly Committ my soule unto God who gave it me and my Bodie to be laid in the grave. Next I doe bequeath unto my wife Sibell all and whatsoever I have by deeds under hand and seale of a former date I say I doe hereby fully ratifie and Confirm what is therein Exprest & mentioned And no more. Nextly whatsoever Estate I shall leave or die seased of more and besides what is given by deede to my wife Sibell, I doe bequeath all such Estate unto my daughter Sarah the now wife of John Wyman to have and p'sess whatsoever may Appeare to be mine shee to enjoy it for terme of life and after her decease the said Estate to fall unto hir Children that Are or may be, to bee divided equally betweene them onely the eldest son John shall have a double portion. And further my Will is that John Wyman the Elder be Executor unto this my Last Will and Testament and I doe further desire and here nominate my trusted friends Solomon Phipps and Jo'n Catler [sic—probably John Carter was intended] to be my overseers in trust to see this my Will performed. The mark of Miles Nutt Witnesses hereunto: James Cary, Solomon Phipps, Thomas Carter. James Cary & Tho: Carter do attest on oath that the aboves<sup>d</sup> is a true coppie of Miles Nutts will."

From the language of the foregoing contract and will, we may, perhaps, infer that Miles Nutt was Sybil (Tincknell) Bibble's enthusiastic bridegroom in January 1658/9 but a bit more restrained by 1 Feb. 1660/1. Miles Nutt was a juror in Charlestown in 1660, and Sybil his wife joined the church there on 29 (6) 1660. They evidently moved to Miles Nutt's house in Malden after that year.

After Nutt's death in 1671, Sybil remained a widow three years, then married third, at Malden, 30 Oct. 1674, John Doolittle (or Dowllettell, as he himself wrote the name). Sybil was his second wife.

According to Elijah E. Brownell's edition of Charles E. Banks, Topographical Dictionary of 2885 English Emigrants to New England (1937), p. 184, John Doolittle and his brother Abraham came from Ribbesford, co. Worcester. The authority given is Banks Mss. The present writer has not been able to find the reference in the original Banks Mss. in the Library of Congress. The Parish Registers of Ribbesford commence in 1574, but have not been searched in connection with this article. Several other New England settlers came from Ribbesford, and "Doolittle" was a Worcestershire name. In An Index to Worcestershire Fines, 1649-1714, edited by John Amphlett (1895), the name appears twelve times; six times in connection with the parish of Kidderminster, and once each in connection with Bewdley, Offenham, Shrawley, Rushock, Holt and St. Swithins. Bewdley is an adjoining parish to Ribbesford, and from Bewdley came the prominent Wakeman family of New Haven.

To New Haven came Abraham Doolittle, John's (probably younger) brother, who was born about 1620 and died at Wallingford, Conn., 11 Aug. 1690, aged about 70. He married first, Joan Allen, who was baptized at Kempston, co. Bedford, 12 Oct. 1617, daughter of James Allen of Kempston, blacksmith, whose will, dated 7 Jan. 1656, names "Abram Dewlitttle & my daughter Joane his wife, living now also in New England." [The will of James Allen was given in full in George P. Allen, A History and Genealogical Record of the Alling-Allens of New Haven, Conn. (1899), pp. 9-11, and was later briefly mentioned in George Sherwood, American Colonists in English Records, 1st Series (1932), p. 47; and other records of the Allens in England were given by Donald L. Jacobus in The American Genealogist, vol. 27, pp. 7-9.] The Parish Registers of Kempston, published in the Bedfordshire Parish Register Series, contain no mention of any Doolittles, and indeed it seems quite possible that Abraham married in New Haven, where Joan's brother Roger Allen (or Alling) had settled. For other details concerning Abraham Doolittle, and his descendants, see William Frederick Doolittle, The Doolittle Family in America, Cleveland, Ohio, 1901-8, and Donald Lines Jacobus, New Haven Genealogical Magazine, vol. 3, pp. 546-562.

John and Abraham Doolittle are said to have been in Boston as early as 1640. Abraham removed to New Haven in 1644 and his later career is associated with that colony. But John moved to Lynn about 1643, and later to Rumney Marsh [now Chelsea and Revere, Mass.]. "John Doelittell" was chosen Constable of Rumney Marsh at a general town meeting held 14 (1) 1652/3. On 12 (1) 1654/5, John Doolittle and two others were chosen to run the line between Lynn and Boston and Charlestown and Boston. On 9 March 1662/3, he was chosen surveyor of the highway at Rumney Marsh for the ensuing year. He was again chosen Constable for Rumney Marsh on 13 March 1670/1, and in April 1680 he was chosen Tythingman for Rumney Marsh. In 1660 he was made executor of the will of William Bunnell of Pulling Point, and in the same year he was named in the will of the Rev. Edward Holyoke of Lynn, who died at Rumney Marsh 4 May 1660. John Doolittle died at Salem between 22 Sept. 1681 (the date of his will) and 14 Oct. following (the date of probate). The will reads:

"I John Dowlettell living in Rumney Marsh make this my last will and testament. To my loving wife Sybbell the thirds of the rent of my houses and landes, also her houses and land at Malden and Forty pounds and other goods all which is mentioned in perticular in a writing under my hand before marriage to her which Some of those perticular goods I have received but the most part I have not, also my will is that what ever other goods that were hers before I married her, that are in the house, as bees &c. that are not mentioned in the writing Shee should have forever. Also my wife should have that land and marsh which I bought of Thomas Wellman, and after her death [these lands] to be equally divided between Benjamin Jones and the children of Mary Jenkins the wife of Obadiah Jenkins the Grandchildren of my said wife. To my brother Abraham Dowlettell I devise the marsh bought of Mr. Holyoke in Lynn, to be to him for his life and at his death to his son John forever. Also to my brother Abraham I give the marsh bought of Goodman Browne in Lynn, and my part of the house that was Mr Coggans, and my part of the house that was Mr Robinsons, both in Boston, and fifty pounds to bee equally divided among his children as they come of age. Also all my wearing Clothes. To John Dowlettell the son of my brother Abraham fifty pounds. To Joseph Floyd the son of John Floyd the houses and lands that John Paul lives in, when he comes of age, and if he die before the age of twenty-one it is to be equally divided between his brothers and sisters. To Rev. Mr. Wigglesworth Pastor of the Church of Malden 20 shillings in silver yearly as long as he liveth in Malden. To Sarah Floyd daughter of John Floyd one hundred pounds. To John Floyd that two hundred pounds that Ebenezer Stocker is to pay me, twenty pounds a year towards my maintaining one of his sons at the Colledge. To Sarah Floyd wife of John Floyd fifty pounds, and to their children fifty pounds to be equally divided between them as they come of age. Signed 22 Sept. 1681.

Doolittle, The Doolittle Family in America, the author of which says, pp. 53-4, that John Doolittle was "said to be" brother of Abraham. Had the author seen this will, he would have been able to state the brotherhood positively].

Sybil (Tincknell) (Bibble) (Nutt) Doolittle remained a widow for the third and last time, for almost nine years. Her own will follows:

"I Sybille Doolittle of Malden widow make this my last Will and Testament in manner following. I commit my soul to God who made it and my Bodie to earth whence it came. I give to Obadiah Jenkins and Mary his wife and to their Children all my housing and lands in Malden with all my movables, he the said Obadiah Jenkins paying out of it unto my Grand children Robert, Zechary, Benjamin and Rebecca Jones five pounds a piece when they come of age, the sons at y<sup>e</sup> age of twenty one, the daughter at y<sup>e</sup> age of eighteen. Item I give to my Grand child Sarah Browne one pewter platter and to her son Joseph Browne two pewter platters. Item I give to Hannah Paddick five shillings and to her children John and Mary two pewter platters a piece. And I make my grandson Obadiah Jenkins my Executor of this my Last Will and Testament And I nominate and Desire my loving friend Mr Wigglesworth & Deacon Sprague to be y<sup>e</sup> overseers of this my last Will to see it performed. [The foregoing documents are in the Probate of Sybil Doolittle, #6361, Middlesex County Court House, Cambridge, Mass.]

The only known child of Sybil (Tincknell) (Bibble) (Nutt) Doolittle, by her first husband, John Bibble, was:

1. Ann or Anna, b. about 1630; see below.

1. Ann or Anna Bibble, born in England about 1630, died between 7 June 1677 and 22 Sept. 1681. As "An: Bibble" she was one of the women of Malden and Charlestown who signed a petition to the General Court of Massachusetts Bay requesting that Rev. Marmaduke Matthews be permitted to remain as minister at Malden. The date of this petition was 28 Oct. 1651, and Ann must have been of age to sign it [Deloraine Pendre Corey, The History of Malden, Mass., 1899, p. 146]. In her father's will, dated 21 July 1653, she was named as wife of Robert Jones and her eldest child John received a bequest of 10s. It is presumed, therefore, that her marriage to Robert Jones took place at the end of 1651 or early in 1652.

Her husband was Robert<sup>2</sup> Jones, eldest son of Robert<sup>1</sup> and Elizabeth (Soane) Jones. He is said to have been born near Reading, co. Berks, England, after 1625, in which year his parents were married [Melvin E. Jones, Jones-Hathaway-Richards-Gooding Genealogy, 1934, p. 3].

Robert<sup>1</sup> Jones was a planter at Hingham, Mass., in 1636, and Robert<sup>2</sup> probably accompanied his father to America and lived at Hingham till his marriage. At that time, Robert<sup>2</sup> apparently moved to Hull, then made a further move to Rehoboth, Mass., after the death of his father-in-law John Bibble. He bought land in Rehoboth from Robert Titus on 23 March 1653/4, and had settled there by mid-September 1654. He took the oath of fidelity at Rehoboth and lived there over fifteen years, but moved to Swansea, Mass., soon after 28 Feb. 1669/70. He is mentioned in Richard LeBaron Bowen, Early Rehoboth (4 vols., Rehoboth, 1945-9), 1:16, 36, 38, 39, 41, 42, 43, 57, 63; and 3:48, 64, 145, 156, 168. Robert Jones, together with his eldest son John and son-in-law Joseph Lewis, fought the Indians in King Philip's War, and all three were killed and scalped by Indians in a skirmish at Swansea on 24 June 1675 [Plymouth Colony Records, 8: 61, and Jones-Hathaway-Richards-Gooding Genealogy, loc. cit.].

In both Savage, Genealogical Dictionary of New England, 2:564-5, and Pope, Pioneers of Massachusetts, p. 262, there is some confusion between the careers of Robert<sup>1</sup> and Robert<sup>2</sup> Jones. This is cleared up by Melvin E. Jones in his Genealogy. Robert<sup>1</sup> Jones survived his eldest son by more than sixteen years and died at Hingham 17 Nov. 1691, leaving a will dated 20 Apr. 1688 in which he bequeathed "to my grandchildren which are the children of my son Robert Jones deceased" (History of Hingham, Mass., 1893, vol. 2, p. 387). "The heirs of Robert Joanes" [meaning the heirs of Robert<sup>2</sup>] and their property in Rehoboth are mentioned in a list of the inhabitants of Rehoboth in 1689, printed by Richard LeBaron Bowen in the New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 97:320, 326.

Children:

- i. John<sup>3</sup> Jones, probably b. at Hull, Mass., in the second half of 1652; received a bequest of 10s. in the will of his maternal grandfather, John Bibble, dated 21 July 1653; killed and scalped together with his father and brother-in-law by Indians at Swansea, 24 June 1675; unmarried.
- 2 ii. Mary Jones, probably b. at Hull, Mass., soon after 21 July 1653; not mentioned in John Bibble's will of that date.
- iii. Sarah Jones, b. at Rehoboth in mid-Sept. 1654; named in the will of her grandmother Sybil, dated 1683; m. at Lvnn 22 Dec. 1680 Joseph Brown of Lvnn, Mass.
Child:
  1. Joseph Brown, b. at Lvnn 12 Apr. 1682; named in the will of his great-grandmother Sybil, dated 1683.
- 3 iv. Hannah Jones, b. at Rehoboth "latter end of Aug." 1656.

- v. Mercy Jones, b. at Rehoboth "last of April" 1662; d. young.
- vi. Rebecca Jones, b. at Rehoboth in May 1665; named in the will of her grandmother Sybil in 1683.
- vii. Robert Jones, b. at Rehoboth in "mid-November" 1667; named in the will of his grandmother Sybil in 1683; weaver; sold land in Swansea in 1696.
- viii. Zachariah or Zechary Jones, b. at Rehoboth 28 Feb. 1669/70; named in the will of his grandmother Sybil in 1683; bought 40 acres of land from Samuel Dailey of Providence, for £20, 9 March 1706 (Austin, Gen. Dict. of R. I., p. 62).
- ix. Benjamin Jones, b. at Swansea 8 May 1674; named in the will of his step-grandfather John Doolittle in 1681 and in that of his grandmother Sybil in 1683. He is said by Melvin E. Jones, in the Jones-Hathaway-Richards-Coddington Genealogy, p. 3, to have lived at Bristol, R.I., Swansea and Norton, Mass., but no record of him or his family appears in the printed Vital Records of Norton. He m. at Bristol, 18 Sept. 1696, Elizabeth Borden (Arnold, Vital Record of R. I., 6, Bristol, p. 29). The identity of this woman puzzles the present writer. She does not appear in the account of the Borden family in Austin, Gen. Dict. of R. I., pp. 23-4, or in Hattie Borden Weld, Historical and Genealogical Record of the Descendants of Richard and Joan Borden, 1899. The descendants of Benjamin<sup>3</sup> and Elizabeth (Borden) Jones in the male line are traced by Melvin E. Jones in his Genealogy (ante cit.), but one item of possible error in this fine book should be noted. Mr. Jones states (p. 3) that Elizabeth<sup>4</sup> Jones, b. at Bristol, R.I., 12 July 1697, eldest of the seven children of Benjamin and Elizabeth (Borden) Jones, "perhaps married by intention dated 4 Nov. 1741 William Coddington." It is the opinion of the present writer that the Elizabeth Jones who married William Coddington was a younger woman, of a different Jones family.

2. Mary Jones, daughter of Robert and Ann (Bibble) Jones, was probably born at Hull, Mass., soon after 21 July 1653, as she was not mentioned in John Bibble's will of that date; died before 1 April 1720, probably at Malden. She married first, at Swansea, 13 June 1671, Joseph<sup>2</sup> Lewis (Edmund<sup>1</sup>). The date of Joseph's birth is not known. He was killed in battle with the Indians at Swansea, 24 June 1674, together with his father-in-law and brother-in-law. A full biography of Joseph Lewis appears in George Harlan Lewis, "Edmund Lewis of Lynn and some of his Descendants," Essex Institute Hist. Coll., 43:71, 78-81, 121-2.

Mary (Jones) Lewis evidently left Swansea soon after her tragic bereavement, and moved to Malden to live with her grandmother Sybil (Tincknell) (Bibble) (Nutt)

Doolittle. She married second, at Malden, 11 Jan. 1676/7, Obadiah<sup>2</sup> Jenkins, son of Joel<sup>1</sup> and Sarah (Gilbert) Jenkins of Braintree and Malden. Obadiah was baptized at Boston 13 Oct. 1650, and died (probably at Malden) shortly before 1 Apr. 1720, on which date letters of administration on his and his wife's estates were granted to his eldest son Joel. Obadiah Jenkins, Mary his wife and their children were mentioned in the will of Obadiah's step-grandfather-in-law John Doolittle, dated 22 Sept. 1681; Obadiah was appointed executor by his grandmother-in-law Sybil in her will, dated 25 Dec. 1683, and he acted as such when the will was probated in 1690. Rev. Michael Wigglesworth of Malden testified that Obadiah and Mary (Jones)(Lewis) Jenkins "dearly earned" what they received in Sybil's will because of the "great care & trouble" they had with the old lady. For further details concerning Obadiah Jenkins and his descendants, see C. Harold Floyd, "Some Descendants of Joel Jenkins of Braintree and Malden, Mass.," New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 66:269-72. See also, H. W. Brainard, H. S. Gilbert and C. A. Torrey, The Gilbert Family (1953), pp. 24, 53.

Children by the first marriage:

- i. Joseph Lewis, b. at Swansea 6 June or 6 Aug. 1672; moved to Malden with his mother, 1675; d. at Wilmington, Mass., 25 July 1755; m. at Malden (by Rev. Michael Wigglesworth) in 1700 to Hannah Jones, who d. at Wilmington 6 Nov. 1760. Six children.
- ii. Sybil Lewis, b. at Swansea 18 Mar. 1673/4; moved to Malden with her mother, 1675, to live with the great-grandmother for whom she was named; d. at Malden 23 Feb. 1757; m. there (by Rev. Michael Wigglesworth) in 1700 to Samuel<sup>3</sup> Howard, b. there in Feb. 1671/2, son of Samuel<sup>2</sup> and Susanna (Wilkinson) Howard (originally Hayward, for whom see Thomas Bellows Noyman, The Genealogies and Estates of Charlestown, Mass., 1879, 1:170-1). Five children.

Children by the second marriage:

- iii. Joel Jenkins, b. at Malden (say 1678); appointed administrator of his parents' estates, 1 Apr. 1720; lived at Reading and Wilmington, Mass., and d. at the latter place shortly before 21 Feb. 1754, when letters of administration on his estate were issued. He m. at Reading 27 Dec. 1704 Mary Chadwick, b. 2 Nov. 1685, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Stocker) Chadwick of Reading. Ten children.
- iv. Sarah Jenkins, b. at Malden 9 Mar. 1665; unmarried in 1721 (at age of 36), but according to Mr. Floyd's account (supra) she d. before 12 Apr. 1768, having m. ----- Taylor by whom she had a daughter Sarah.
- v. Anna Jenkins, b. at Malden 29 Oct. 1657; d. at Medford,

- vi. Obadiah Jenkins, Jr., b. at Malden 4 Apr. 1690, d. there 4 Feb. 1762; m. at Medford 5 Jan. 1720/1 Mary Grover, b. at Malden 26 Sept. 1701, d. there 10 Dec. 1767, daughter of Andrew and Marv Grover of Malden. One child.
- vii. Mary Jenkins, b. (say 1692), d. before 12 Apr. 1768; m. at Malden, 27 Dec. 1710, Zachary or Zachariah<sup>3</sup> Howard, who d. at Wilmington, Mass., 10 May 1758, son of Samuel<sup>2</sup> and Susanna (Wilkinson) Howard, and younger brother of Samuel<sup>3</sup> Howard who married Mary's half-sister Sybil Lewis. Three children.
- viii. Lydia Jenkins, b. (say 1697), d. at Mansfield, Conn., 11 Oct. 1762; m. ca. 1719 Noah<sup>4</sup> Upham, b. at Malden 1 Oct. 1694, d. at Mansfield 8 Feb. 1766, son of Nathaniel<sup>3</sup> (Phineas<sup>2</sup>, John<sup>1</sup>) and Sarah (Floyd) Upham of Charlestown and Malden (Wyman, Charlestown, 2:979 and F. H. Upham, The Descendants of John Upham, 1892, p. 53, where Lydia is called, by confusion with her mother, "widow of Joseph Lewis of Swansea"). Noah and Lydia (Jenkins) Upham moved from Malden to Pomfret, Conn., in 1727 and bought 103 acres there from Joseph and Elizabeth Sessions, for £500. They later moved to Mansfield, Conn. Four children.

3. Hannah (or Ann or Anna) Jones, born at Rehoboth "latter end of August" 1650; died at Swansea, Mass., 18 Jan. 1725/6; married at Swansea, 21 Dec. 1673, John<sup>2</sup> Paddock, born 1 Apr. 1643 [Mayflower Descendant, 17:135, died at Swansea in 1718, son of Robert<sup>1</sup> and Mary Paddock of Plymouth and Duxbury, Mass. When Robert<sup>1</sup> Paddock was on his death-bed in July 1650, he gave his seven-year-old son John to Thomas Willett, and Robert's widow Mary confirmed the gift in Nov. 1650 [Pioneers of Mass., p. 338]. John Paddock doubtless followed the exciting and varied career of his master Thomas Willett [ante, 19:139-140], who was the first English Mayor of New York in 1665, but lived in Swansea, Mass., from 1668 to his death in 1674. In Willett's will, dated 26 Apr. 1671, he bequeathed £10 to his "old servant John Paddock" [John Osborne Austin, Genealogical Dictionary of Rhode Island, 1887, p. 428]. John Paddock appears as an inhabitant of Swansea in lists dated respectively 22 Feb. 1668/9, 18 Nov. 1670 and 7 Feb. 1671/2, and in the two latter he is listed as one of the "Third or Lower Rank of Inhabitants" [Bowen, Early Rehoboth, 1:36, 38, 39]. "John and Anna Paddock of Swansea, planter," sold 7 acres of upland in Rehoboth for £5 to Obadiah Bowen of Swansea on 24 May 1681 [ibid., 3:164], and on 15 Nov. 1686 John Paddock received Lot 2 on New Meadow Neck in Swansea [ibid., 1:42]. Hannah (Jones) Paddock was named as "Hannah Paddock" in the will of her grandmother Sybil, dated 1683. John Paddock was again named as one of the Third or Lower Rank of inhabitants of Swansea in a list dated 1689 [New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 97:326]. The family is treated in J. O. Austin, One Hundred and Sixty Allied Families, 1893, p. 187.

Children:

- i. John Paddock, b. ca. 1674, named in the will of his great-grandmother Sybil in 1683; m. at Little Compton, R.I., 11 Nov. 1706, Deborah<sup>2</sup> Hilliard, daughter of William<sup>1</sup> and Deborah Hilliard of Little Compton (James N. Arnold, Vital Record of Rhode Island, vol. 4, Little Compton, p. 29).
- ii. Mary Paddock, b. at Swansea 16 Jan. 1676/7, named in the will of her great-grandmother Sybil in 1683.
- iii. Martha Paddock.
- iv. Deborah Paddock, m. at Little Compton, R.I., 11 Nov. 1706 (evidently in a double ceremony with her brother) to Robert<sup>2</sup> Woodman, b. at Little Compton 8 Sept. 1677, d. there between 23 Dec. 175- (date of will) and 5 Sept. 1757 (date of probate), eldest son of John<sup>1</sup> and Hannah (Timberlake) Woodman (Arnold, Vital Record of Rhode Island, loc. cit.; Austin, Gen. Dict. of R.I., p. 231). Five children.
- v. James Paddock.
