THANK YOU FOR YOUR RESPONSE. ~~I BELIEVE~~ THIS IS WHAT I HAVE REGARDING YOUR LINE, AND AS NOTED, ALL IS NOT PROVEN (OR PERFECT), SO PLEASE TELL ME OF ANY AND ALL ERRORS THAT YOU FIND. I HAVE NOT RESEARCHED RICHARD ¹ SO I CANNOT ARGUE THAT HE WAS FIRST OR NOT, HE IS MERELY FIRST BECAUSE OF GEORGE D.A. COMBES' RESEARCH. I BELIEVE THIS IS ALSO MY LINE - BUT CANNOT PROVE OR DISPROVE THAT THEORY.

WILL:

Thomas COMBS, Carpenter of Freehold, Monmouth Co., NJ. In the name of God, Amen. The twelfth day of October in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred, twenty, and three, I Thomas COMBS of Freehold, Carpenter being now sick in body but of perfect mind and memory, thanks be given unto God therefore, calling unto mind the mortality of my body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die, I make and ordain this my last will and testament, that is to say principally and first of all, I give unto God my soul who give it and for my body I recommend it to the earth to be buried in a Christian and decent manner at the discretion of my Execs and Executrix, nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God, and as touching such worldly estate as it hath pleased God to bless me with in his life, I give devise and dispose of the same in the flowing manner and form. Imprint. I will and ordain that my just debts be paid by my Exes and Executrix.

Item. I give and bequeth unto Robert COMBS my son, twelve acres of land joining to land formerly Benjamin Cooks land where the aforesaid Robert's shop standeth to him to Robert COMBS, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give and bequeath to Rachel COMBS, my daughter 25 acres of land, to her heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give and bequeth unto Thomas COMBS my son, 25 acres of land to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give and bequeath unto Joseph COMBS my son, 25 acres of land to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give and bequeath unto Jonathan COMBS my son, 25 acres of land to him, his heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I give and bequeath unto John COMBS my son, the remaining part of the land all which I now possess and enjoy and that the said John his share or proportion shall be and take in the house and orchard that I now lie in possess and enjoy.

Item. I give and bequeath unto Elizabeth COMBS my daughter, 30 pounds money at 8 shillings/oz. which is to be paid to Elizabeth her heirs and assigns by my aforesaid sons, viz, Thomas COMBS, Joseph COMBS, Jonathan COMBS, and John COMBS, each of them their equal proportion of the 30 pounds when any and every of them shall arrive at the age of 22 years that is first --- COMBS and so on successfully as they shall be at the age afore to- and upon denial or neglect by any of aforesaid legates that then his or their part as aforesaid shall be sold to pay the same by my now wife Elizabeth COMBS is that her deed shall be as good and authentic as if I myself were alive and could assign it to any person whatsoever.

Item. I give and bequeath unto Elizabeth COMBS, my beloved wife, all and singular any movable estate to be by her or her assigns peaceably enjoyed by my --- during her lifetime or to be divided at her discretion she paying all my debts and --- whom I constitute together with Jonathan Hampton of Freehold, coordinator my Executrix and Exer and I do hereby utterly dispose, revoke, and disannul every other former testament, will, legacy bequeathed and Exec by me in any way before this time, named and bequeathed, rectifying, confirming and no other to be my last will and testament and in witnessed thereof I have here unto set my hand and seal the day and year above written. (Liber A, pg 298).

Proven: 12-Oct-1723.

Inventory: May 1724, personal estate valued at 92.12 pounds; made by Thomas Williams, George Walker and John Campbell. (NJ Wills, 1:103).

Elizabeth:

It has been suggested that Elizabeth was the daughter of Solomon Seaman, who died in 1703, since she was of the correct age, and the name Solomon appears in the family.

It is also possible that Jonathan Hampton, executor of Thomas' will was related.

Via: Steve Rosen, (s-rosen@ti.com), he gives us: Elizabeth Hampton was born on 11-Oct-1676 in Scotland. She was the co-executor with Jonathan Hampton for the will of Thomas COMBS. Elizabeth & Thomas had no known children, which implies that she was his second marriage. Thomas mentions his children in his will...

* TO DO ****

Since he was a widower at about 1805/7, and his children were given over to his sisters family, chances are that there are some court records explaining this.

Job was 80 years old in 1850, chances are that he did not live too long after that, need to see his Will to find out who his children were...

BIOGRAPHICAL:

Nathaniel settled in Hempstead about 1780, as an employee of Michael DeMott. Nathaniel fell in love with Phebe, the bosses daughter. They eloped when she was about 15 and he was about 10 years older. Nathaniel was one of the first members of the old "Sand Hold" Methodist Church. He was reported to have died of a violent fever, when he was about forty, leaving his wife to raise the six children. The sons were "bound out" to learn a trade. Phebe survived many years and lived with her eldest son, Richard.

BIOGRAPHICAL:

'Michael Combs had a desire to preach the Word of God, but it took years of determination before he found a location where he was fully accepted. It wasn't until 1826, when he purchased land in Montgomery County that he was accepted as a 'worthy' preacher. After moving here, he found there was no organized church although there were a few brethren and sisters, whose religion was bitterly opposed and grossly misrepresented. Combs volunteered his services as a preacher in the area. Being a stranger in the county, the people were reluctant to accept his services and feared he could not meet the attacks that were sure to come. At Combs persistence, the people agreed to allow him to preach one service with an elderly brethren to sit as his judge. They were clear in stating that if his effort was feeble and unsatisfactory, they would give him neither encouragement nor a second trial.

The big day arrived and Combs saw that he was facing a very crucial position, for people flocked to the location to 'hear what this blabber had to say'. Rather than be discouraged, Combs was inspired by the attention and as a result won a favorable decision of the old judge and the love and confidence of the entire little brotherhood. The views of Combs presented found favor in the eyes of a few of his neighbors and that day was the beginning of active operations in a new extensive field. It was the early dawn of the Reformation in this section of Indiana and Combs found himself in the midst of it and started organizing a new church. The Conference approved his ordination to the ministry. Having gained this approval he immediately organized a small church near or upon his farm in Montgomery County. The organization was later moved to Crawfordsville and the Christian Churches continue to flourish today from that early beginning. Combs became prominent among the early Reformers in Indiana.

He traveled through the White River Valley and was the first to oppose human creeds and plead for a union of all Christians on the Bible alone.

Combs was born in East Tennessee on February 17, 1800, the son of Job, a Scotch descendant of Presbyterian faith, and Abigail Coons of German descent. The Coons were mostly Baptists and noted for their piety and zeal for God. There were many preachers in the family, one of whom, John Coons, was imprisoned in the days of the Revolution, by the English or Episcopal Church. Michael Combs and his brother, Job, were placed in the home of a maternal uncle after their mother's death. The uncle was a strict Baptist of the Calvinistic dye. The orphan boys were taken to the Baptist Church and became bias in favor of that faith. Under the circumstances of their situation, the Combs boys' education was neglected. They were taught only to read and write. Luckily they were both very fond of books and they read everything they could get their hands on. Michael became interested in the historical portions of the Bible which made a deep impression upon him, as did the Baptist preacher of that day.

But apparently no one paid attention to Michael's deep feelings about religion and lacking encouragement, his religious impressions soon wore thin and he went about the everyday things in life. Being of a very mirthful and mischievous disposition he was easily turned altogether out of the faith. Michael's father, having married again, heard that land in Ohio was more than 'milk and honey'. He went to Ohio only to be disappointed in the land and so proceeded as far west as Wayne County, Indiana, where he pitched his tent for a short period of time. His two sons had accompanied him to the Quaker territory and they were less than impressed with the Quakers' quiet worship and solemn manner. The family then moved to Preble County, Ohio, where Michael became friends of the Newlights, a class of Christians. He became very impressed with their views and attended many of their meetings and although he never joined them, Michael became a strong defender of their beliefs.

Michael married a Quaker girl, Mary Edwards and they had 13 children. She left the Quaker Church and she and Michael continued with the Newlights. Young Job Combs also started attending the meetings to see, as he said, 'What the Newlights cut up'. Because Mary was somewhat despondent, Michael started preaching to dispel her feelings. Job was converted and this led to Michael's determination to reform his life for although he was preaching he had not been converted. It wasn't until he was 22 years of age that Michael decided to join the church and truly represent himself as a Christian. About 1822, Michael and Job both commenced exhorting a great revival in which Elder David Purviance preached, Michael was so moved by the preacher's thoughts on immersion that he was immediately baptised. After his immersion, Michael began to enlarge the field of his ministry. It became necessary for him to be licensed and his congregation strongly recommended it. However, when he appeared before the Conference for a license, he was turned away. He did not understand, but for some reason he was not regarded with much favor by that body. This hesitation troubled Michael because he felt deep inside that he had received a special call from God to preach.

At first Michael waited 'in weakness, in fear, and in much trembling' for his ministry to be accepted and grow. Being very poor, his family was dependent upon his labors for their daily bread, and his reputation as a preacher was not such as to command any considerable remuneration. While he labored, Michael's mind never left his desire to preach. After long days in the field, he studied the Bible to prove himself capable of preaching. After coming to Montgomery County and organizing a church, Michael continued preaching with great zeal and at great personal sacrifices. He was beginning to be accepted as a preacher by the people and often served without compensation, moneywise. For a period of 12 years, he was one of the very foremost in the Revolution movement, leaving the care of the family to his wife.

Almost without warning, Michael found himself barren and unfruitful. Although he did not err from the faith, he began seeking to increase his earthly possessions which resulted in many sorrows in his life the years that followed. Michael wanted to provide for his children with an education and a start in life so he turned his attentions to the affairs of life. Although he continued to preach, moving to Illinois, he was no longer considered 'the shining light' that he was in former years."

BIOGRAPHICAL:

"George D.A. Combes, writer of this article, born as above, May 12, 1889, married Aug. 31, 1910 Florence A. Wichern, born Aug. 9, 1890, daughter of Henry and Rebecca (Mangels) Wichern. Having taken over the business formerly operated by my father, Glentworth D. Combes, at the time of his death in 1907, when I was 18 years of age, I continued to sell coal, lumber, hardware, and building materials up to and including the present time [1940]. In addition to this, I was elected a Director of the Bank of Rockville Centre in 1915, and on May 12, 1936 was elected President of the Bank. Have as a side line studied family and local History for many years, and was chosen Town Historian for the Township of Hempstead some seven years ago."
Florence: Daughter of Henry & Rebecca Mangels Wichern.
