Mark Tuttle Manager of the Associated General Contractors has given an interesting side light on the activities of the old Robber's Roost gang of Utah Bandits. Mark's father Azariah Tuttle was a famous old time Western Sherriff and reigned in Emery County. The gang had committed a robbery one day and Sherriff found it a bit hard to get volunteers because of the dead shot reputation of the robbers and their ability to lead searchers into ambush. Finally a man named Matt Thomas and another by the name of Maxwell, who was himself a reformed bank robber, took the trail with the sherriff. Thirty five miles East of Castle Dale at Mexican Bend they followed the bandits into the narrow canyon. One of the gang named Joe Walker opened fire from the cliffs and the Sherriff fell shot through the hip. The officer ordered his deputies back out of range, but all night he lay helpless in the snow. He had given one of his deputies his rifle, but even then he tried to raise up on one elbow while he took aim with his six shooter every time a bandit appeared on the cliff. Late the next day the deputies knew that if the sherriff was not rescued he would soon die as there was snow on the ground and the weather was bitter cold.

They got a suit of red underwear which they waved as a flag of truce and the bandits allowed the deputies to come and get the sherriff. Further down the trail he was placed on a buck board and driven fifty miles to a doctor. He contracted a severe case of pneumonia from the cold and exposure.

The end of the bandit Walker and his pal came in this way. George Whitmore a Nephi Banker and rancher in Carbon County swore vengeance on the gang. One of his sons who had encountered the bandit on the range had been badly beaten, robbed of his horse and forced to walk thirty miles to his ranch. Sherriff Tuttle and Whitmore were each leading a posse in search of the bandits. The Whitmore posse came upon the outlaws early one morning as they were asleep on a ledge in the Book Cliffs, North of Thompson's Springs. The bandits reached for their guns and the posse opened fire. Mark says he can well remember seeing the bodies after they were brought to Price and placed in the town hall. Walker had a number of scars on his body caused from bullet and knife wounds. Both of the had been shot a number of times by the posse. Two small mounds of earth out side the Price cemetery mark the end of the bandit trail. In 1911 Former Governor William Spry of Utah, aided by George Whitmore, Nephi Banker and Rancher, had a bill passed by the Utah Legislature appropriating $2500.00 for <sup>Mr. Tuttle's</sup> services in breaking up this gang ~~and~~, the last active members of the old Robber's Roost out laws. There are a lot of good stories about Sherriff Tuttle and his activities as a peace officer in the early days of South Eastern Utah and some day some one may write them up.

Dear Mr. Boren:-

It is I, that wishes to express gratitude to you for your letter of October 14, 1976. The kind remarks relative to my family was appreciated so much by me, that it will be filed in the book, Outlaw Trail, so my children and grandchildren can also appreciate it's contents in the future.

Speaking for my late father, I know he would be so pleased to know you are considering doing an article about his father, whom he loved and admired and I feel the same way.

In my way, I will try to give you the back ground of Azariah Tuttle Jr. and his son, Mark Tuttle.

Azariah Tuttle Jr. was the son to Azariah Tuttle Sr., born in New York. Azariah Sr's, own father, Terry, died at 29. He was only nine when he had to work early to support the family. When he was 15, he was bound out to learn the trade of sparmaker (ship builder). He served 4 years and nine months. I have often wondered if the widow came out west alone as Azariah joined the Mormon church in 1837. He suffered the persecution of Nauvoo and Winter Quarters and was one of the early pioneers to come to Utah. Isaac Morley told him to go to Manti and he was one of the founders of this community. He was a member of the City Council and City watermaster master for twenty years. He was very active through the Indian troubles and was a member of the Silver Greys.

Azariah Jr. was born in Manti Utah on September 1, 1855. He was married at Manti Utah, on April 5, 1874, to Mary Wilkins. Mary, was the daughter of Dave and Jane Easton Wilkins and her father, David Wilkins, was a member of the Mormon Battalion, he also operated the Union Hotel in Salt Lake City, 1850-1860. I do not know when they were told to move to Orangeville, but I do know Dad was born in Manti, in 1830. They had a large two story house on the main street of Orangeville and had a large family of nine children. Mary Tuttle, his wife was known as the angel of Orange-

MEMORIES OF MY MOTHER ALTA CONOVER TUTTLE THAT I WILL REMEMBER FOREVER

"COUNT YOUR BLESSINGS AND COUNT THEM ONE BY ONE".- In many ways, all that I have accomplished over the passing years I feel I owe to my mothers teachings. I will never forget the time when a neighborhood girl a few years older than I was, gave me a terrible beating & I arrive home bloody from head to foot. Never, absolutely never will I forget my mothers words when she said, "I never thought I would ever have a son that would allow a girl to give you such a sound beating and turning to my father she demanded that he purchase me boxing gloves and my uncle Bruce taught me the art of boxing. And, in about six months I was the champion boxer of Hatcher's Ward in Salt Lake. And, believe it or not, I never lost in boxing bouts in most contests in many other wards, finally requesting that I box the champion of the boy scouts here in the valley in which I declined, the reason being "I thought I would lose". My mother got me my first job at Auerbach Company as C.O.D. Clerk. She had met Herbert Auerbach thru Dad. Mother, with nothing else to go on called him up, & requested he at least meet me, explaining many qualities, many I'm sure I never possessed. She talked to him with a "I won't take No for an answer. Yes, I met him & I had the courage to inform him that I could do the C.O.D. Clerk position after school even though the position was formerly a full day job. It turned out that I was able to work thru all my school days & was finally given the position of Asst. Credit Manager & assigned a car. I was offered far more money with another company & in leaving "Mr. Herbert" told me, should your new job not turn out well, consider you will always have a job in my company. You simply come straight to my office & hang your hat up. This, bear in mind was at a time when jobs was almost impossible to obtain. Further, he took the liberty to call me often at my home after I left Auerbach Company and many at the store used to remark, "Mr. Herbert treats you almost like a son at the store and as for myself he might have as he & his mother invited me to their home in Cottonwood many times. In fact, his mother would not allow anyone to drive her around the valley but myself in her beautiful new Cadillac. Never, never will I forget either Mr. Herbert or his lovely mother. How very true it is that our path in life is lighted by <sup>the light from</sup> many lamps. And it was my mother, bless her saintly heart that lit the first lamp in my obtaining my first job.

I am asked the question, are some marriages made in heaven? The answer is yes. One being my mother & my father. No greater love is possible than existed between them. Yes, both was a perfect role model for each of their children. As an example, Dad would not travel without mother and let me tell the world that my dear mother more than held her own at any convention. As an example, one would always know where mother was as her personality was so striking, everyone liked to be around her. Yes, she also had the "Conover wit" & in addition was a beautiful woman with an inner quality that told the world, there goes a lady. We, her children will never forget her poise in presenting the Mark Tuttle Award over the passing years and the confidence she had in her self in her delivery. It was in mother that we in the family used to say, "if any family in the world can make it, mother can make it happen if she was on the team".

My dear saintly father. All my life I have tried to emulate the many fine qualities he possessed. These qualities was known by all here in Utah. Many qualities are now not often practiced. I well remember the time when I took a stamp from his A.G.C. office. He followed me to the door & asked me if I took the stamp and when I admitted I took it, he said, "I never thought I had a thief for a son, in addition a cheap thief. Never, have I taken a dime since from a company I worked for & I was bonded many times in my lifetime, one time for $250,000.00 being informed it was the second highest bond in the state. He was also a MASTER OF PSYCHOLOGY. As an example, he allowed me to take his car quite often and when I started to leave with it, he would say, "take the car as long as you think you need it, but do remember that mother & I worry after 1:A.M. until you return home. I need not have said this as in the past your word has never been broken with me. Yes, I have seen him handle many men in his organization with more tact than used by Solomon where formerly they were bitter enemies. And may I say at his funeral, he had two former Governors as Pall bearers. Even to this very day do I give a silent salute to both my father & my mother.

In conclusion, I think the greatest heritage my father & mother left we children, was "love of family". That where there is love at home, one will never find "darkness" that one is never alone when one tells the world, "he is not heavy he is my brother". I am one who counts his blessings and I count them one by one" and in each blessing I find I have included each member of the Mark Tuttle family as without them I would have been nothing as one can not live by bread alone. I also know that when I am called home, I will know that each member of my family that has passed on will be there to welcome me.

In conclusion, allow me to salute my heritage which includes both the Conover & Tuttle family of which I am a proud member.

Howard M. Tuttle

G. O. P. CANDIDATE FOR AUDITOR HAS WIDE EXPERIENCE

MARK A. TUTTLE.

Mark A. Tuttle, who was nominated for state auditor at the Republican convention in the Salt Lake theater Thursday, has had about ten years' experience in that office, two as traveling auditor under Jesse D. Jewkes, and eight as chief deputy under Lincoln G. Kelly and the present state auditor, Joseph Ririe.

Mr. Tuttle resigned a few weeks ago on announcing his candidacy for the nomination he obtained Thursday. Before coming to Salt Lake to take the state position he served for some time as county clerk of Emery county, his former home. He was at one time the only Republican elected to a county office there.

Thinks Utah Logical Center of Intermountain Region Activities

Mark Tuttle, executive secretary and manager of the Associated General Contractors of America, intermountain branch, and former Utah state auditor, is a strong booster for Utah.

Mr. Tuttle boosts Utah as the logical center of the intermountain region for all construction work, material purchases and allied enterprises. Geographically located as the center, Utah is also the logical point for headquarters of large contracting companies because of ample railroad facilities, Mr. Tuttle says.

Mr. Tuttle was born in Manti and moved to Emery county with his family when 1 year old. He attended the district schools there and later the University of Utah.

First Public Office Clerk of Emery County

He was first employed as clerk and bookkeeper for a mercantile company, and then in 1906 was elected county clerk of Emery county for a two-year term. At that time he received $60 per month, considered very good wages in those days. In fact, he had the highest paid job in the county at that time.

At the expiration of that job he accepted a position as traveling state auditor under Jesse D. Jewkes, state auditor, during the administration of Governor William H. Spry. Mr. Tuttle was later chief deputy with Joseph Ririe and Lincoln G. Kelly in the state auditor's office.

In 1921 Mr. Tuttle was elected state auditor and served until 1924, rounding out 18 years of continuous service in public office.

In 1925 and 1926 he was secretary and treasurer for the Grey Line Transportation company.

In 1927 he took over his present position.

Foresaw Business Possibilities Or Boulder Dam Construction

For several years past Mr. Tuttle foresaw the possibilities of the Boulder dam on the Colorado river for business interests in this territory. In 1927, during the legislative session, he served as secretary of a business men's organization to promote sentiment whereby Utah would enter the six-state compact.

Mr. Tuttle is a member of the Elks lodge, the Modern Woodmen of America and active in the Salt Lake chamber of commerce. He is vice chairman of the building and construction committee, a member of the advisory council, postal affairs and highway committees.

He resides at 1485 Fifth East street.

SENATOR FROM SANDPIT

By HAM PARK

He was my friend, faithful and just to me.—Julius Caesar.

Farewell to a Friend

Mark Tuttle, another great and loyal friend of mine, slipped quietly away the other day. One by one my friends depart, and with each passing I get a little lonelier. One makes new friends, of course—it would be a terrible world if one didn't—but there is something so comforting, so restful, about an old friend. The kind of a friend whose eyes light up when he greets you, and who is eager to help bear your burdens without sharing his with you. Mark was that kind of a friend to me, as he was to countless others. His capacity for friendship seemed unlimited.

When a well-known man dies, people often ask: "Did he leave much?" Well, I couldn't tell them whether or not Mark left a dime. But he did leave a fortune—a fortune of golden memories in the hearts of a legion of friends—a treasure so great that by comparison King Midas was a pauper.

The Vanishing Boat

To all at length an end!
All sailors to some unseen harbor float.
Farewell, mysterious, happy,
twilight boat,
Farewell, my friend!

AZARIAH TUTTLE JR.

Azariah Tuttle Jr. was born Sept. 7, 1853 in Manti, Utah and was the son of Azariah and Ann Mabbott Tuttle.

He was the sheriff of Emery County, a profession that was followed by many of the early Tuttle men. He broke up and captured the notorious Robbers Roost gang headed by the outlaw Butch Cassidy. He led a posse in a narrow canyon where the bandits were cornered, as he was walking up the middle of the canyon unprotected and a perfect target, he was shot and crippled for life. In 1911 Gov. Spry presented Sheriff Tuttle $2.500 on behalf of the people of Utah for what he did to break up this notorious gang of outlaws. His activities are told in the book "Outlaw Trail" by Charles Kelly and a book published (1973) by Bailey called the Wild Bunch which depicts Butch Cassidy and the outlaws that were in his gang. ## Azariah Tuttle Sr.

Azariah Tuttle Sr. of Manti, son of Terry Tuttle and Eleanor Mills, was born in New York, April 20th, 1818. His father died when he was nine and he had to work early to support the family. He worked in a printing office and when he was just 15, he was bound out to learn the trade of sparmaker (ship builder) He served four years and nine months.

He joined the Mormon church in December 1837, through hearing Parley Pratt and Elijah Fordham preach. They moved to Missouri in 1838 and were through the persecution in Farr West, Adams County and in Nauvoo. In the fall of 1847, with his wife and two children, he left Nauvoo and went to Winter Quarters intending to come to Utah. They returned to Missouri because of the Indians. In 1852 they started in Bishop Howell's train and arrived in Provo Sept. 15th.

Isaac Morley induced them to come to Manti, where they arrived Oct. 12, 1852. All through the Indian troubles Mr. Tuttle took part, being a member of the Silver Greys. He was a member of the City Council and City Watermaster about twenty years. He was married in New York City, Mar 11, 1838 to Ann, daughter of Thomas and Ann Mabbot, born in Yorkshire England Dec. 2, 1821. Their children were : Leonard- Elizabeth, Luther, Abigail, Mary, Azariah Jr., Horton, John Henry, William and Leonard.

TERRY O. TUTTLE

Terry Tuttle was born 7 March 1790, in Aquebogue, Long Island. He was the son of Luther and Ruth (Terry) Tuttle. Terry married Eleanor Mills of New York City, 15 July 1817 and as he died 30 December 1826, he had only 9 years and 5 months of married life. Because of his early death, very little is known of him, in fact Prof. Tuttle, who published a book in 1968, listing the Tutttles and Tuthills of America could find nothing relative to him until I wrote him giving him the church archive record of the Manti Ward and the information it contained, therefore, it opened up my own line as well as many others. His widow did not remarry, as I visited her grave in Manti. She died 7 Dec. 1877. Their children were, Azariah, John Henry- Elizabeth Jane- Luther Terry. Terry was named for his mother Ruth Terry Tuttle. Her family with the Tutttles were among the 13 original families that founded Long Island, N.Y. It is also rich in descendants of the Mayflower, Ephriam Terry married Ann Collins who decends to Gov. Bradford. Thomas Terry married Anna, daughter of Thomas Rogers of the Mayflower. Ruth's father's name was William Terry born (1715) he descended from Thomas (1658)--to Thomas (1630) to Thomas (1607) I am currently researching the names of their wives as very little is written about them. Curious facts reveal themselves in research, such as there were two Ruth Terry's, both born on the same day, 12 Dec. 1752, one from Southhold the other from Oysterponds ( both locals are in Long Island) the Ruth from Southhold (ours) married Luther Tuttle and the Ruth from Oysterponds married Daniel Tuttle.

Dear Mr. Tuttle:

(and papers)

I am sending back the picture of your father. It made a good negative and a good, clear print, and I am very glad to have this to use along with others I am collecting. I will write to Dick Brandon and then if I go to Utah again early in September as I now think, I'll try and contact him. From what you wrote before, he could tell plenty of things.

I never have been in a position to just take time off and interview all the people involved, to get these things. But ever since I grew up enough to hear about the Robbers Roost outlaws, I have wanted to write it up. And now the last year I have decided that "you never get time to do the things you want; you have to take time," because procrastination is an awful habit, and it will get you if you don't watch out. Already I have let it cheat me out of interviews with a great many people who could have told plenty of inside stuff, and lately I have been getting all I could out of others while I can.

The main thing of all that I'd like to ask you is for all the particulars you know, as you would remember them from your father, on just how that shooting happened when Joe Walker hit him, also about the killing of Sheriff Burns.

As with other events, there are different versions from everyone you talk with about how Sheriff Tuttle was wounded. For instance, one man is dead sure (as your father himself told it, he said) that he had just stretched himself up in the stirrups to ease his riding position, when Walker's bullet hit him in the hip. Another man, equally dead sure, said your father had just swung his right leg up over the back of his horse, to get off, when the bullet caught him in the hip. A third man declares that Sheriff Tuttle had left his horse and was starting up a rocky trail when Walker called to him to go <sup>back,</sup> saying he didn't want to shoot, but he'd have to if the sheriff didn't turn back, and since he kept going up, Walker hit him that way. A fourth version is that Walker said he was aiming <sup>deliberately</sup> to hit either Gunplay Maxwell or <sup>George</sup> Whitmore, and he hit Tuttle by mistake. I think this latter story is something like Charles Kelly told it in "Outlaw Trails."

Dear Sister Mable:-

I am enclosing a notice of Uncle Will Tuttle's death, which you may have learned about before. Alta and myself went down to the funeral which was held last Sunday and I was glad I went down, they seemed to appreciate it.

The services were largely attended and there was many nice things said about Uncle Will, his family and the Tuttle family in general. A Mr. Carpenter, an old friend of the family who works in the Manti Temple gave quite an interesting history of the Tuttle family. He stated that they originally lived in Essex, England and that they emigrated to Ipswich, Massachusetts three hundred years ago. He stated that the people in England were some times known as Tuthil and that the derivation signified a kingly race of people. He traced the connection between King Tuthankem whose body was uncovered a few years past in Egypt. One of the speakers called attention to the fact that he had never known of Uncle Will speaking ill of any person and I thought of dear old Grandma Tuttle. Truly that is a wonderful thing to say of any person and is a remarkable virtue.

On account of the nature of the gathering I had the opportunity to see so many of our good relatives and friends. I think that the people of Manti are as fine as any in thw world. I was impressed with the fact that the older generation is fast passing away. It will soon be sixteen years since Father was killed. I often think of him. He was a good kind hearted man and I wish he could have lived longer. I think we would all have enjoyed his companionship. I have a good position here, although it keeps me busy. We were at Los Angeles last week and would liked to have come that way and seen you all but could not spare the time. We will try and come and see you this Summer. I do not think I want to run for office again. I still like to work in politics however and the fellows honored me by putting me in as Chairman of the largest precinct in the city. You might send this letter along with your family letter. With it express the love of my self and family for all of my dear brothers and sisters. I am proud of you all and miss the opportunity to see and visit with you often. I wish you all the best of health and prosperity.

Sincerely yours brother,

Mark Tuttle
