- 31 Aug 1870 Letter to "Trudy" Williams; salutation: "Dear Friend"; Complementary close: "Truly"; Signature: T. J. H. This 3-page letter primarily consists of criticism (constructive) of Trudy's last letter and congratulating her on her efforts/work with her "Sabbath School class" along with numerous "dos and don'ts" for her guidance! It says nothing about what he is doing!
- o (2nd paragraph) Will you allow me to criticise some things I saw in these lines from you, Trudy, if I do so mere for your advantage? I will preface my criticism with the remark that I greatly admire your clear, straight-forward, uninvolved way of expressing your thoughts. I admire, too, the good hand you hold in penmanship. I think you have made great improvement since last I saw your writing. But to the criticisms, I should consider each point as entirely possible...; but I want you to excel. Won't you? Custom requires that the order in opening the letter should be name of office, county, state, date. Thus: Clay, Ohio, August 25, 1870. You placed the date first. I could omit the letters after date; as 25 instead of 25th. It is not customary among some of the best writers. In this expression, "I thought A little bit of news" etc. The A is wrong, you know. (See primer on capital letters.) "Grandma is a visiting" sounds somewhat antiquated. Leave out the "a" and the sentence has a better jingle. Your author in grammar would condemn the expression "you had better believe"; but is now often used...I advise you now, for your own improvement, to rewrite everything coming from your pen. Every great historian has risen to eminence by care. McCauley rewrote nearly all his sentences. Gibbon rewrote the first chapter of his Roman history three times... Avoid scratching out a word; just draw your pen rapidly through it once, or take a sharp knife and scratch it off and begin further on for the next word. In this way you present a clean, unblotted, page pleasant to behold and one commences to read without prejudice.
  - o (3rd paragraph) I am very glad you take hold of your Sabbath School class with pride. I sincerely hope that you may so conduct yourself in your duties toward it that it's members may have reason to be proud of their teacher. It is a rare field for usefulness and self-improvement. If you study your lessons out carefully and thoroughly and give your class thorough instruction on the doctrines, history, geography and chronology of every lesson, you will have a chance for mental culture beyond what the same application would furnish at any literary institution. Don't be absent a day unless you are too sick to get there.

- o (4th paragraph) You say that you and Susan are going to hear the music. Could you not help make the music? I wish you would both go if a school is started; only don't let the boys come home with you or the evil may efface the good! ...
- o (Comment) The letter was written at St. Paul, Indiana. It would be interesting to know what T. J. was doing there. St. Paul is on Interstate 74 and more than half way from Cincinnati to Indianapolis. Following his discussion of the music program Trudy and Susan were going to hear, T. J. notes There is a fine singer trying to make up a school in this place, and if he succeeds and I remain here, I think I shall attend.

20 July 1871 Thomas Jay Harrison and Gertrude Leslie Williams married in Jackson County, Ohio. Gertrude, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Harger) Williams was born in Armstrong County, Pennsylvania, on 27 August 1853.

6 Oct 1872 Grace Harrison, first child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Jefferson Township, Jackson County, Ohio.

31 July 1873 Naomi Harrison sold the remainder of the "home place," about 60 acres, to her stepson, Thomas Jay Harrison, for "certain guarantees ... and five dollars."

1873 Thomas Jay Harrison nominated by acclamation by the Republican Convention to be Jackson County's representative in the Ohio State Legislature.

4 Feb 1875 Cora Lee Harrison, second child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Jefferson township, Jackson County, Ohio.

11 Feb 1877 John Scott Harrison, third child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Jefferson township, Jackson County, Ohio.

Dec 1877 T. J. Harrison, a school teacher at Oak Hill School, was locked out of the school house by his students when he returned from his usual noon walk. Instead of capitulating to the rowdy students, and giving them treats to unlock the door as was the custom at that time, he quickly showed the culprits who was boss. To the consternation of the students, he picked up a fence rail that normally served as a "base" in the game of "blackman," hoisted it onto his shoulder, made a run to the door with the fence rail serving as a battering ram to break down the school house door. This was the last known time a teacher was locked out of the Oak Hill school. T. J. completed the school year at Oak Hill and then resigned.

25 Mar 1880 T. J. and wife, Gertrude, sold their farm in Jackson County, Ohio, to James K. Henson in preparation for the move to Missouri.

- 25 Mar 1880 T. J. wrote letter to "Dear Brother" -- Isaac Harrison who was already in Missouri.
- o "Yours of March 18 was received yesterday." (Fast mail service!)
  - o Content of letter clearly indicates Isaac had found a farm, or farms, that should be to T. J.'s liking and had asked how much he (T. J.) would give for a Quit Claim deed.
  - o T. J. wrote that he had "sold in a hurry to meet this case" for $2,400 -- $2,000 cash and $400 to be paid in November -- and that it would take $200 for the move. He stated he did not "want much debt if it can be avoided."
  - o T. J. essentially left it up to brother Isaac, "with Clint's advice," to work out the best deal he could subject to money available and his desires as noted above.
  - o T. J. wrote "I am ready to come as soon as safe to do so -- must light out by the 15th of April."
- Spring, 1880 Thomas Jay Harrison bought 156 acres of land near what soon thereafter became Gardner Station in Harrison County, Missouri, for $10 per acre. This was some 6 miles northeast of Bethany, Missouri.
- 1880 Thomas J. Harrison listed as head of household on US Census of Grant Township, Harrison County, Missouri. The household consisted of Thomas J. (34), farmer; Gertrude (27), housekeeper; Grace (7); Cora (5); John S. (3); Nelson B. (8/12); and Naomi (67). Thomas J was born in Ohio, his father born in Virginia and mother born in Ohio. Gertrude and both of her parents were born in Pennsylvania. The children were all born in Ohio. Naomi, listed as "mother", no occupation, was born in Ohio and both parents were born in Virginia.
- Fall, 1881 Thomas Jay Harrison sold his farm near Gardner Station and bought 120 acres four miles south of Bethany, Missouri. There were no improvements on the new farm except fences and only 35 acres was broken land.
- 14 Jan 1882 Isaac Fletcher Harrison, fifth child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri.
- 1884 Thomas Jay Harrison completed a 2-story, 6-room house, with basement, that was to be his home for the rest of his life.
- 19 Oct 1884 Cary Williams Harrison, sixth child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri.
- 1886 Sparse records (that have survived) of the Mitchelville Church show that Thomas J. Harrison was Sunday School superintendent. These records show Hiram McNamee (brother-in-law of T. J.) was assistant superintendent, Isaac Harrison (brother of T. J.) was treasurer, and C. D. Evans (brother-in-law of T. J.) was one of the Sunday School teachers. Family verbal history says T. J. was Sunday School Superintendent at Mitchelville for many years. [Noted also in obit.]
- 5 Sept 1887 Gertrude Emma Harrison, seventh child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri.
- 1890 Thomas Jay Harrison began dairying.

- 5 Aug 1891 Naomi (McNeal) Harrison died in Harrison County, Missouri. Buried in Burriss Cemetery. Tombstone shows "McNeel."
- 15 Sept 1891 Anna Lois Harrison, ninth child of T. J. and Gertrude, born in Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri.
- 18 June 1899 Grace Harrison, first child of T. J. and Gertrude, died. Buried in Burriss Cemetery.
- 1900 Thomas J. Harrison listed as head of household on US Census of Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri. The household consisted of Thomas J., Coray (sic), John S., Nelson B., Isaac F., Cary W., Gertrude, and Annie L. T. J. owned farm -- free of mortgage.
- 10 Sep 1920 1910 U.S. Census T J (head) Cora and John.
Cora Harrison, second child of T. J. and Gertrude, died in Bethany Township, Harrison County, Missouri. Buried in Burriss Cemetery.
- abt 1920 T. J. Harrison wrote long article, as a letter to the Editor, which was published in a Bethany newspaper. Complaining about wasted resources building a road. Lots of philosophy.
- 3 Dec 1931 Letter to "Dear Emma & family" signed "T J H" o Your contribution came just after eleven and it is 1-15 now. I am prompt because I think I already owed you two or more letters. Many thanks. It is very nice to have so much good grub to help us get through need.
o I got a funny letter from Jane Garner -- you know Ma's cousin. She was born the next year after your Ma and has done house work for others since she was 15. She said she had been to Cal. four times, to Alaska once, to the Grand Canyon twice and to Europe this year and if I read it right, she said this last cost $1,400! But just listen -- She said she has $15,000 in bank and stocks and bonds bringing $600 per year. The irony of it!
- May 1937 Write-up in Ohio University Alumni Association newsletter identified Thomas Jay Harrison, a retired farmer living near Bethany, Missouri, as one of two "Oldest Living Alumnus." Both members of class of 1870. In age, Mr. Harrison was more than six years older than his former class mate. Among various items pointed out about T. J. Harrison was that "From 1870 to 1880 he studied law -- enough 'to keep out of trouble' -- but he never applied for admission to the Bar."
- Oct 1938 A Clarence Henson wrote a letter, dated 11 Oct. 1938, to Thomas Jay Harrison requesting information -- specifically whether he (T. J.) was the person who sold a farm to Henson's father, J. K. Henson. At the bottom of the letter, and continued on the back, were several notes believed to have been written by T. J. Harrison's daughter, Emma (Harrison) Link in preparation for a response to Henson's letter. {T. J. was infirm, nearly blind by 1938 but his mind was still sharp.} These notes obviously reflect words spoken by T. J. and are summarized below:
o Many things to tell him if it were possible.
o Very glad came to Missouri -- that you enjoyed a fair share of prosperity.

- o Bought farm 30 mi from r. r. Very lucky -- R. R. located with depot 1 1/2 miles from new farm. (Within a short time) sold it for 50% advance -- another stroke of good luck.
- o Bought farm four mi s. w. of Bethany -- another piece of good luck. Federal Highway 69 located right past the door -- another piece of good luck.
- o In 1890 he started dairying -- another stroke of good luck. Part of the time 200 to 300 a month for years.
- o Except what I gave my children {Thought/words obviously not complete but Aunt Emma undoubtedly knew the message he wanted to convey.}
- o Now in bed sick. blind & don't know what next. Good luck to you. -- Yours Truly

10 Sep 1943 Thomas Jay Harrison died at the Wood Hospital, Bethany, Harrison County, Missouri. He had been in the hospital for 780 days prior to death. In this case, the Wood Hospital served the equivalent of today's Nursing Homes. He was blind, deaf, and bedfast throughout this time but his mind remained alert, sharp.

NOTES, EXCEPTS FROM LETTERS WRITTEN BY T. J. TO HIS WIFE WHILE HE WAS ATTENDING STATE LEGISLATURE SESSIONS:

(Salutation, complementary close & signature shown on first line of each synopsis. Direct quotes italicized)

26 Jan 1874 Dear Little Wife; Yours; Thomas J. Harrison

- o Disappointed that he (T J) had not received a letter from her. Disappointment ...all the more poignant because we have today agreed in our patriotism to abjure our love for wife and children and home, and remain without adjournment until we are through. Our wives will no doubt rejoice to know that their dictators are not likely to put in an unpleasant appearance. It is singular that men can be so foolish and weak in principles as to fear to vote for a sufficiency of time to visit home! ... because their constituents would be displeased if they were to go home even for a day.
- o Notes that a fellow legislature, a Dr. Munson, said he was completely disgusted with activities going on and would not return again even though they gave them four times as much money for their service. T J adds I think him about right.
- o Notes he greatly appreciated the two letters (from Gertrude) he had just received. He then adds Don't allow Grace's want of "tittle" to prevent your writing again soon.
- o Notes that Right across a little open space from my room is a family of man, wife and 3 little ones -- after my own heart. They have a small organ and the wife, though a plain farmer's girl like you, plays well and sings finely. I can hardly resist the temptation to go and help her. Sunday evening she played an hour or two and I could but feel like grumbling that you and I could not thus together seek enjoyment.
- o The letter ends with Please allow me to say in your ear that, though I like your letters so very much, I would much rather have the substitute you propose to give. Don't forget that you have my whole love and that I want nothing less from my little wife.

THOMAS JAY HARRISON

- 20 Feb 1874 Dear Little Trudy; Yours only; T. J. Harrison ( Letter transcribed almost in it's entirety)
- o (opening paragraph) It gave me no great pleasure to read parts of your last letter. I don't think you were hardly fair in some of your criticisms. I felt miserable when I wrote you those short letters and lack of love and good wishes did not cause their brevity. The fact that I did not express my love as freely as usual arose from the fear that the old folks read with small sympathy. Love, pure and disinterested, is a noble attribute of humanity, yet its avowal is often productive of sarcastic smiles from any other than the subject and object of it -- the giver and receiver. If you were here, a warm kiss and caress should soon convince you that my love is not materially lessened to say the least. ... It seems to me you write impatiently. Do you feel so?

I think, Trudy, I can give up going to theaters or any place else where simple pleasure is the object, if my wife desires it. I would not like her to go against my will. I will therefore pledge you herein that I will not attend said resorts of pleasure unless some noted lecturer, whom I wish to hear, constitutes the attraction. Brazen faces, bare legs and bare a_s shall not control my attendance. Nor shall music, either, if you will wield your power at home. I have so far gone simply out of curiosity -- a desire to see what was done at these places. I have seen the inside of each and am now satisfied.

- o How do you spell that which you wished me to dissolve in my mouth? Be careful of that little word to, too, two. You may interchange them. You say "I received" etc.
- o My throat is now well, thanks to Providence, and my body is, I think, sound as usual; but my brain gets very tired of these business proceedings, if proceedings is the proper term when so little is done. We are doing much better, however, as we get better broken into the harness. It is impossible to say when adjournment will come. I think the flowers will bloom and fields look green ere we cast the last long lingering look at our adopted winter's home. ... A great many unimportant bills are introduced and many such pass the House, but they are mostly squelched in the Senate. That body is so contemptibly mean that it will pass nothing in which none of it's members have a personal interest. Their advantage therefore is not superior wisdom but transcendent meanness.
- o I will send you a little money today as I have drawn only one week's wages since I was at home the first time and am about out. I shall draw next week, though, and I shall then supply your needs. Write and tell me how much to send.
- o Accept the assurance of my sincere love for both my little dears, and write soon....

13 Mar 1874 My Dear Little Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison

- o Chit chat -- how he misses her. Does she need money? Can send it if she doesn't' ask for too much. Notes that I sent for the Star for you according to your request. I hope you will receive (notice how this word is spelled) it soon and be well pleased with it. What did you mean in your last in regard to Mr. Williams's Keeping grocery? You and the children both allude to it in a way that leaves me in doubt whether you are in fun or earnest. Please explain.
- o What are you women doing toward suppressing the whisky trade in your community? There is nothing of importance enough to talk of except the "Whisky War" here. ... Last night Gough lectured on temperance at the open house which was filled to overflowing. It was a masterly effort ... Perhaps when you come up next winter you will have the chance to hear the Lion roar.

- o I want you to tell me, Trudy, what to bring home to the children. I can't make a satisfactory choice either in kind or quality -- I need hardly tell you that.
- o I am glad to hear of your success in the new music book. I hope you will continue to give attention to music...

9 Apr 1874 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison. {Letter started on Thurs.; finished Friday}

- o Discusses, comments on, uncertainty about when legislature will finish their business.
- o Notes that the election has strengthened the Democrats and that one had stated he was ... in favor of reorganizing the remaining benevolent institutions before we leave if it takes all summer.
- o Bad weather -- snowing, ground covered with several inches of snow and snow still falling. I fear you will have a very disagreeable work to do in your feeding (my feeding, I should say)
- o Says he plans to come home Saturday (11 April) ... to be with my Darling ... Will She greet my coming with a holy kiss?
- o Notes that he was disappointed he did not receive a letter (from Trudy) yesterday

3 Dec 1874 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison

- o Chit chat. Legislature to adjourn for holidays. Boarding house where he stays charges full fare for absences of one week or less and half-fare for absences over a week. Legislator received no pay during recess. T. J. had a roommate -- representative from Clinton County. "Nice" room, on third floor. Rent/fare: either $5.50 or $0.50 per week -- document faded.
- o I went to church last night to while away the time and I was surprised to find one of the goodest old fashioned prayer meeting I have lately gone to -- good singing and hearty praying.
- o Recently attended an organ recital at First Congregational Church. Sent Trudy a copy of the "programmie".

3 Mar 1874 Dear Trude; Yours; T. J. Harrison

- o Chit Chat. T. J. had bad headache for several days. Went for a long walk, as recommended by "Dr. Ray." Only made headache worse!
- o Ended with Now good bye and be a good girl; Kiss Grace for me and receive mine.

3 Jan 1875 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison {Beginning of T J's 2nd year as legislator}

- o We made a call Friday on the governor. Cake and wine loaded down a side table and few of the members had the grit to say "no" when the latter was offered them.. To relieve your apprehensions at this juncture I will just say that I was not tempted above what I bore.

- o We heard a lecture at the Penitentiary by Ferguson, the Chaplain, on "Mordicai the Jew." There was some fun but little sense -- I'll say wisdom -- for it was the most sensual sermon I ever heard. It was full of obscenity and was very ill adapted to the place.*
  - o (This afternoon) we called on Mrs. John G. Deshler who set a rich table for perhaps two or three hundred -- at least as many as called. This was the silliest affair I have ever been a partner to. I suppose it was all in strict etiquette but a trained parrot might have entertained company with as much good taste and politeness as did this volary of, and acknowledged leader in, fashion.*
  - o I propose to start my juvenile bill forward and I hope it will be dealt with gently.*
  - o One year ago was my first Sunday in Columbus, and what great changes my experience has wrought in that time! Instead of the sober, earnest men I expected to see in the halls of legislation, I find few but political tricksters regarding naught but their own interests. But I have no time to pursue the thought as I would...*
  - o (End of letter) I must commend you for your penmanship for you are rapidly improving. ...Good bye and may this be the happiest and most useful year of the feast when you make the review a year hence.*

SOME MISCELLANEOUS NOTES NOT READILY TIME IDENTIFIED;

- o Pioneered in growing alfalfa in Harrison Co. [Newspaper article after death]*
- o Made one of the first road drags used locally [Obit]*
o never owned auto.
- o Interested in, worked for new/improved roads. Instrumental in getting a shorter road from his home to Bethany that later became a part of US 69. [Obit]*
- o Thomas Jay Harrison revered education. He appreciated classical literature and classical music. He was the only known member of the family to go to college/university. He was proud of that fact and accomplishment. All his children, except one, that lived to adulthood attended college or university; 3 sons and 2 daughters graduated from the Univ. of Missouri. His tombstone inscription includes "OHIO U 1870". Tombstone inscriptions for his daughters who died young, Grace and Cora, include "M.S.U. 1896" and M.S.U. "1898" respectively.*

What prompted this respect for education and love of classical literature and music? Could it be his stepmother, Naomi McNeel?? She, daughter of a physician, raised him. T. J. was six months old when his mother died and 11 years old when his father died. Records indicate, and family verbal history confirms, there was much love and respect between Thomas Jay and Naomi. Among other things, she took care of him when he was a baby, young child and young adult. He took care of her in her later years.

THOMAS JAY HARRISON, FARMER, SCHOLAR, TEACHER, LEGISLATOR, FARMER

BOOM! CRASH! The sound of a wood door breaking, splintering. Startled students inside the Oak Hill, Ohio, Country School, on this Indian Summer day shortly before Christmas, 1877, just stared at the broken, splintered, door with a fence rail poking through. Then a hand came through the hole, unlocked and opened the door. Their teacher, Thomas Jay Harrison, stood in the doorway, with that fence rail, he used as a battering ram to thwart the students devious plan, still on his shoulder. He glared first at one small cluster of students and then another. Older boys, both those responsible for locking Mr. Harrison out when he went for his usual noon time walk and those who knew they would be suspected of the deed, became apprehensive. The one-room school had but one door and Teacher was blocking that exit. Escaping through a window was not an option; the boys knew, from experience, Teacher could move as fast as they could, if not faster, -- and he still had that fence rail on his shoulder. Deafening silence enveloped the school room, broken only by an occasional bird call from surrounding trees or a squirrel chattering as it scrounged for nuts to hide away for winter food. Not long before, these silent students had been chattering like magpies about what kind of treat Teacher might offer to induce them to unlock the door.

It was a custom during that period of time, in southern Ohio at least, for students to lock their teacher out of the school house sometime during the week or two preceding Christmas. They would let him/her in only after collecting a ransom, or treat, they deemed appropriate. According to a history of Jackson County, Ohio, the 1877 lock-out of T. J. Harrison was the last known such incident at Oak Hill School.

Thomas Jay Harrison, my maternal grandfather, was born 9 January 1846 near Oak Hill, Jackson County, Ohio. He was the youngest of seven children born to Nelson and Margaret (Buck) Harrison. Nelson, born in Rockingham County, Virginia, in 1811, came to Gallia County, Ohio, in 1825 with his parents William and Mary (Fawcett) Harrison. His siblings, except his oldest sister who was married and remained in Rockingham County, came to Gallia County at the same time. Margaret, born 20 March 1812 in Gallia County, Ohio, was the first child of Thomas and Susannah (Cherrington) Buck.

Nelson Harrison and Margaret Buck married in Gallia County, Ohio, on 19 August 1829. Nelson began farming for himself shortly after marriage. Tax records show Nelson was in Jackson County in 1832. He was assessed for one horse, valued at $40.00, and two cattle valued at $16.00. He had no "pleasure carriages" or money at interest. His total tax bill was 64.4 cents. Jackson County Tax Records show Nelson had two horses and five cattle in 1833. Total value of this personal property was $120.00. In 1834 Nelson still had two horses but only three cattle. The 1840 US Census of Jackson County shows Nelson and Margaret had four children, a boy and a girl under five and a boy and girl between five and ten. Their fifth child was born later in 1840.

Margaret (Buck) Harrison died on 27 July 1846 -- six months, 18 days after the birth of Thomas Jay. Nelson married Naomi McNeal on 9 November 1847. Naomi, born 8 June 1813 in Ohio, was the daughter of a pioneer Ohio physician. Nelson and Naomi had no issue.

The 1850 US Census of Liberty Township, Jackson County, Ohio, shows Naomi and all seven of Nelson's children in his household. Nelson's occupation was "farmer" with real estate valued at $3,000.

Sometime in the 1830s or 1840s, Nelson became involved in iron ore mining and smelting. Nelson's grandfather, Benjamin Fawcett, was heavily involved iron ore mining and smelting in Rockingham and, later, Bath, Counties, Virginia. Nelson's venture proved unsuccessful. When he died, in 1857, he was heavily in debt. He, or his estate, lost some, if not all, of his farm land holdings. Court records indicate the 60 acres that became the "home place" for Naomi and Thomas Jay may have been Naomi's inheritance.

Naomi was the only mother Thomas Jay ever knew. Thomas Jay became known as "T. J." and, in later life, as "Uncle Tommy." After Nelson died, when T. J. was only eleven, Naomi became his only parent. A deep bond, a deep admiration and mutual respect, developed between this stepmother-stepson and lasted throughout both their lives. She cared for and nurtured him through his young, formative, years; he looked after and took care of her during her old age.

Early in his life, T. J. developed a life-long love for learning, education, and an appreciation of music -- as a participant, not just a listener/spectator. In this respect, he was somewhat unique among his siblings and, as far as is known, his cousins. Was stepmother Naomi the prime motivator in developing these interests?

Sometime between 1850 and 1860 the family moved from Liberty Township to Jefferson township. The 1860 US Census of Jefferson Township, Jackson County, Ohio, shows Naomi as head of household and a farmer. Real estate was valued at $3,000 (same as 1850); personal property was valued $200. The household included five of her stepchildren -- Phoebe A., Susan, Mary, Maria and Thomas.

A Confederate Army, commanded by General James Longstreet, threatened to invade Ohio by fording the Ohio River near Gallopolis, Ohio, during the early part of the Civil War. T. J. joined other teenagers and old men shoring up Union forces in that area. The threat never materialized. T. J. and the others returned after "soldiering" for a week or so -- to the great relief of old timers anxious to get back to their farms and stores but to the dismay of teenagers basking in a new role as heroes and freedom from close parental supervision! Some youngsters relished "time on the town" where saloon keepers winked and interpreted dirt and grime on their smooth faces as beard stubble and dance hall girls flashed a wee bit more of their feminine charms than usual just to see the startled look on their cherubic faces as they flitted on to more affluent patrons.

Thomas Jay Harrison enrolled in the University of Ohio, Athens, Ohio, in the fall of 1865. Listed below are some of the classes he took and grades received:

Term	Class	Grade	Term	Class	Grade

T. J. graduated from Ohio University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Arts and Sciences in the spring of 1868. He received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1870 after taking some more courses in Greek. University records indicate he did not attend some school terms during the 1865-70 period and was, perhaps, a part time student during some other terms. He farmed his stepmother's land during that time period, and afterwards, and he may have taught school prior to graduation from the University.

The 1870 US Census of Jefferson Township, Jackson County, shows Naomi Harrison the head of a household that included, besides herself, Susan and Thomas J. Harrison. Naomi's occupation was listed as "keeping house." She had real estate valued at $2,400 and $450 worth of personal property. Thomas J.'s occupation was "farmer;" he had no real or personal property and was the only member of the household eligible to vote. The decline in value of real estate (from $3,000 in 1860 to $2,400 in 1870) was probably due to land lost, or sold, because of Nelson's debts when he died. Nelson's estate was not settled until 1862. The increase in value of personal property ($450 in 1870 vs. $200 in 1860) probably reflects additional livestock and, maybe, farm implements, accumulated by Naomi -- most probably with help from T. J. This is somewhat amazing; T. J. was just a "teener" during the early part of this decade and was attending the University during the last half of the time period.

A 3-page letter written 31 August 1870 by T. J. to his then fiancée, Gertrude "Trudy" Williams, is somewhat amazing, and amusing, when read with today's sense of propriety. It does, however, say much about T. J.'s dedication to excellence, his priorities, et cetera.

T. J., in St. Paul, Indiana, had just received a letter from Trudy. The salutation, "Dear Friend," the complementary close, "Truly," and the signature, "T. J. H.," although a bit formal for a betrothed couple, seem "normal" enough. But, after a few lines of chit chat and thanking her for her letter, the remainder of <sup>his</sup> letter is devoted to criticism (constructive) of Gertrude's grammar and writing and congratulating on her efforts/work for her "Sabbath School class" along with numerous "dos and don'ts" for her guidance. The letter tells nothing about his (T. J.'s) activities. {Comment: To this day, we do not know when he went to St. Paul, when he returned, or why he went there.} Most of the letter is printed below:

"Will you allow me to criticise some things I saw in these lines from you, Trudy, if I do so merely for your advantage? I will preface my criticism with the remark that I greatly admire your clear, straightforward, uninvolved way of expressing your thoughts. I admire, too, the good hand you hold in penmanship. I think you have made great improvements since last I saw your writing. But to the criticisms. I should consider each point as entirely possible ...; but I want you to excel. Won't you? Custom requires that the order in opening the letter be name of office, county, state, date. Thus Clay, Ohio, August 25, 1870. You placed the date first. I omit the letters after date: as 25 instead of 25th. It is not customary among some of the best writers. In this expression "I thought A little bit of news," etc. The A is wrong, you know. (See Primer on capital letters.) "Grandma is a visiting" sounds somewhat antiquated. Leave out the "a" and the sentence has a better jingle. Your author in grammar would condemn the expression "you had better believe;" but is often used ... I advise you now, for your own improvement, to rewrite everything coming from your pen. Every great historian has risen to eminence by care. McCauley rewrote nearly all his sentences. Gibbon rewrote the first chapter of his Roman History three times. ... Avoid scratching out a word; just draw your pen rapidly through it once, or take a sharp knife and scratch it off and begin further on for the next word. In this way you present a clean, unblotted, page pleasant to behold and one commences to read without prejudice.

"I am very glad you take hold of your Sabbath School class with pride. I sincerely hope that you may so conduct yourself in your duties toward it that it's members may have reason to be proud of their teacher. It is a rare field for usefulness and self-improvement. If you study your lessons out carefully and thoroughly and give your class thorough instruction on the doctrines, history, geography and chronology of every lesson, you will have a chance for mental culture beyond what the same application would furnish at any literary institution. Don't be absent a day unless you are too sick to get there.

"You say that you and Susan are going to hear the music. Could you not help make the music? I wish you would both go if a school is started; only don't let the boys come home with you or the evil may efface the good! ..."

Gertrude, born 27 August 1853 in Armstrong County, Pennsylvania, was the third of six children born to John and Elizabeth (Harger) Williams. She soon became known as "Trudy." At age one, or two, Trudy came to Ohio with her parents and two older brothers. Her mother died about 1862. Her father then married Phoebe Ann Harrison, eldest sister of Thomas Jay, on 8 October 1863 in Jackson County, Ohio.

Young love and mating instincts prevailed over T. J.'s prodding-to-excellence -- or maybe they were enhanced by the prodding. Thomas Jay Harrison and Gertrude Leslie Williams married in Jackson County, Ohio, on 20 July 1871. Trudy's stepmother was now her sister-in-law also.

Following marriage, T. J. and Trudy settled down to farming on Naomi's farm. Thomas J. probably taught school in addition to farming. Their family began growing with the birth of daughter Grace on 6 October 1872.

Naomi Harrison sold the remainder of the "home place," about 60 acres, to her stepson, Thomas Jay, on 31 July 1873 for "certain guarantees ... and five dollars." He became a landowner for the first time. About the same time the Republican Convention of Jackson County nominated T. J., by acclamation, to be Jackson County's representative in the Ohio State Legislature. T. J. easily won the election later that year.

T. J. began his first, and only, two-year term as a legislator in January, 1874. Trudy, with help from Naomi, "kept the home fires burning," including feeding and caring for the livestock as well as little Grace. T. J. and Trudy corresponded regularly, by letter, while he was at Columbus, Ohio, and she was home on the farm. They each frequently wrote two or more letters a week. Some of T. J.'s letters have survived and are readable today. Unfortunately, none of Trudy's letters have been found. We have some of the originals and copies of others courtesy of a cousin, Virginia (Link) Milano. These letters provide a very detailed insight into Thomas Jay Harrison, the man -- his motivations, his character, his capabilities, his loves and his dislikes. In addition, they show his writing skill, his preciseness. If he were using a word processor with spell-check and grammar-check, I believe the only squawks spell-check would made would be proper names and grammar-check would never flash "This clause may contain a verb in the passive voice!"

T. J.'s letters to "Dear Little Wife," "Dear Little Trudy," et cetra., show he was impatient with and frustrated by the exasperating slowness of legislative progress. They include many satirical, and sometimes caustic, comments concerning progress, or lack of same, motivations of some of his fellow legislators, and social amenities associated with politics such as meeting with the governor and political "big-wigs." They also depict his love of music and his avid support for the temperance movement.

In one letter, T. J. tells of his surprise and utter disgust concerning "sexcapades" of a few of his fellow legislators. {Comment: It appears shenanigans of politicians haven't changed much since the mid 1870s -- or from the days of David and Bathsheba!} In another letter, T. J. complains that Trudy unfairly lambasted him for going to a 1870s equivalent of a honky-tonk or striptease joint; he promised to never do that again!

Appendix 1 is an abridged copy of these same letters.

Legislative duties were not all Thomas Jay had on his mind during the winter of 1875. Cora Lee Harrison, second child of T. J. and Trudy, arrived on 4 February 1875. Unfortunately, we have no letters written by T. J. describing his turmoil at that time. And, he had no way of knowing that in a few short years, little Cora would become the defacto mistress of his household and surrogate mother to his younger children.

T. J. returned to farming following the end of the 1874-1875 legislative session. He did not seek re-election in the fall of 1875. He had his fill of politics. Presumably he returned to Columbus for the fall, or early winter, session. T. J. also resumed teaching. He taught at Oak Hill during the 1877-1878 term as noted at the beginning of this paper. Where he taught the rest of the time is unknown. It is known only that "he taught school several years in Jackson and Gallia Counties." One of his students was Daniel Webster Williams, later a newspaper editor and father of Ben Ames Williams, noted novelist and short story writer. T. J. frequently corresponded with Daniel Williams after he (T. J.) moved to Missouri.

The third child of T. J. and Trudy, John Scott Harrison, was born on 11 February 1877. Two years and 8 months later, on 11 October 1879, Nelson Burr Harrison joined his two older sisters and one older brother. He was the last of their children born in Jackson County, Ohio.

T. J. and Gertrude sold their Jackson County, Ohio farm to James K. Henson on 25 March 1880. That same day, T. J. wrote a letter to his brother, Isaac Harrison, who was already in Missouri, concerning his (T.J.s) move to Missouri. It was obvious they had corresponded previously concerning this move. T. J. noted he received Isaac's letter dated 18 March "yesterday." {Comment: Fast mail service -- only six days.} Apparently Isaac had found a farm, or farms, he believed would be acceptable to T. J. and asked about payments, type of deed, et cetra. T. J. wrote "...sold in a hurry to meet this case..." He received $2,400 for his Ohio land, $2,000 in cash and $400 due in November. He noted the move would cost about $200. He also stated that he did not "want much debt if it can be avoided." With that description of his financial position, T. J. essentially left it up to brother Isaac and brother-in-law Clint Evans to work out the best deal possible considering money available. T. J. ended this letter with "I am ready to come as soon as safe to do so -- must light out by the 15th of April."

Harrison County land records show Thomas Jay Harrison, of Jackson County, Ohio, bought a 156 acre farm in Grant Township for $1,560 on 12 April 1880. This farm was some six miles northeast of Bethany, Missouri. It was about 1 1/2 miles from a depot called Gardner Station after the Burlington Railroad put a branch line through Harrison County about one year after T. J. purchased the farm.

T. J. and family embarked by train for Missouri, probably in early or mid April, 1880. At that time, the railroad depot closest to T. J.'s farm was about 30 miles away. Horse drawn wagons moved their belongings from the depot to their new farm. Apparently there was a house, or cabin of some kind, on the farm. The 1880 US Census for Grant Township, Harrison County, Missouri, shows Thomas J. Harrison as head of a farm household. Others in the household were Gertrude, Grace, Cora, John S., Nelson B., and Naomi. Naomi listed as "mother" of head of household.

In the fall of 1881 T. J. and Gertrude sold their property near Gardner Station, for substantially more than they paid for it, and bought a 120 acre farm in Bethany Township, four miles south southwest of the then small village of Bethany. There were no improvements on the new farm except fences. Only 35 acres were broken. The family lived either in a temporary cabin or in a rented house until T. J. completed a house in 1884. The new house, a 2-story, wood frame structure with clapboard siding, had six rooms and a full basement. The family may have been basement dwellers for a while.

T. J. and Trudy proudly watched their family grow both in number and maturity during the decade following their move to Bethany Township. Five times the stork visited the Harrison home. Sadly, the death angel touched the family three times during this same time period. These birth and deaths are as follows:

Son Isaac Fletcher, born 14 January 1882
Son Cary Williams, born 19 October 1884
Daughter Gertrude Emma, born 5 September 1887
Daughter May, born and died 2 May 1890
Stepmother, defacto mother, Naomi (McNeal) Harrison died 5 August 1891
Daughter Anna Lois (my mother), born 15 September 1891
Wife, mother, Gertrude Leslie (Williams) Harrison, died 26 November 1893

T. J. and Gertrude joined the Mitchelville Church, a Methodist Church located several miles south of their farm, shortly after moving to Bethany Township. T. J.'s brother Isaac and wife, and sisters Susan and Mary and their husbands were already active members. By 1886 T. J. was Sunday School Superintendent, a position he held many years. Church functions and activities were an essential part of the Harrison Family life. Summertime ice cream socials were popular.

Education was another essential activity for the Harrison children. The Mitchelville School, a one-room country grammar school located slightly more than a mile south and east of the family home, provided education through eighth grade. Then came high school at Bethany. By the early 1890s, the older children (including the girls) began enrolling in Missouri University at Columbia, Missouri.

The 1900 US Census of Bethany Township showed all seven of T. J.'s living children residing at home. Grace died 18 June 1899 of spinal meningitis. By 1910 only Cora and Lois remained at home. They both continued living at home until 1920 except when Lois was attending or teaching school. Cora, who had been mother as well as sister to the younger children, died 10 September 1920. Anna Lois married in February, 1921. From then on T. J., in essence, lived alone on the farm until mid-1941 when he entered the Wood Hospital in Bethany. {His arrangement at Wood Hospital was equivalent to that of a Nursing Home today.} At least two of his married children lived with him briefly during the late 1910s and early 1920s. In the late 1930s he became quite frail; his eye sight and hearing progressively deteriorated. A grandson, whose parents lived nearby, stayed with him much of the time during this period.

The 120 acre farm T. J. bought in 1881 proved a boon to him and his family. Most of it lay on the "second bottom" of Big Creek. {Second bottom land is land far enough from the creek or river that it does not normally flood during high waters.} Except for a few acres on the "back side" of the farm, the soil was deep, fertile, loam. Except for the few acres noted above, the lay of the land was such that it did not erode seriously as a result of rain from Missouri thunderstorms even when cultivated. Crops, planted and harvested with horses and horse-drawn implements, included corn, small grain, hay and pasture. He also had a large apple orchard. T. J. was identified as a "progressive farmer." He gleaned literature from the University of Missouri School of Agriculture, and other sources, for new ideas. Some worked, some didn't. HOARD'S DAIRYMAN, a trade magazine for dairymen was one of several magazines he read, studied, regularly. He was the first to grow alfalfa extensively in Harrison County. Alfalfa is a nutritious (high protein) legume especially suited for dairy cattle feed. Although it tends to "winter-pull" in northern Missouri, a good field of alfalfa will usually last several years before it has to be re-seeded. Alfalfa is considered good for the soil. T. J. practiced soil conservation long before it became the "watchword" for mid-west farmers.

T. J. began dairying in 1890. This proved "another stroke of good luck" as he put it some 48 years later. (Other "strokes of good luck" noted in this same document included coming to Missouri; buying the farm near Gardner Station -- railroad came through near the farm and he sold it for considerably more than he paid for it; buying the farm southwest of Bethany.) He soon built up a large, productive, herd of Jersey milk cows. Jersey's are a relatively small breed (eat less feed) and they produce milk rich in butterfat. He lived far from a market for milk so he sold butter -- butter by the tub. Dairying was labor intensive during the time T. J.'s livelihood depended on it. Milking was by hand. A hand-cranked separator separated cream from the whole milk. A hand-cranked, horizontal-barrel-churn was used for many years to churn the cream into butter.

T. J.'s 120 acre dairy farm provided "bread and butter" for his family as the children were growing up and, later, provided, or helped provide university or college level education for all but one of his eight children that lived to adulthood. His two older daughters and three older sons graduated from Missouri University. His two younger daughters received two years of college or more. In addition, T. J. gave 20 acres of land, or it's cash equivalent, to each of his children.

We visited the Jackson County, Ohio, farm home of T. J. and Trudy in 1987 when we attended the Cherrington Family 100th Annual Reunion. We were amazed at the similarities between this farm home and T. J.'s Missouri farm home. The lay of the land was almost identical -- i.e., gentle slope with a small amount of rougher ground on the back side. A major difference, however, was the soil; the Ohio soil was shallow, rocky, not nearly as productive as the Missouri farm.. From the outside, the farm house in Ohio looked almost identical to the Missouri house except for some obvious side add-ons. Both were 2-story, "L" shaped with the foot of the "L" rather short, wood framed structures with clapboard siding. The occupants of the Ohio house told us that a few years before the inside of the house was extensively remodeled. In the course of this work it was found that the house had been build around a log cabin which was left intact insofar as walls were concerned. It would be interesting to know whether T. J. was the one who built the house around the log cabin. The similarity of the two houses certainly suggests that possibility.

Thomas Jay Harrison was a religious man. His previously noted service at the Mitchelville Church seems to be a continuation of the life style he led in Ohio. Letters to Gertrude while he was serving in the legislature indicate his interest and involvement in church activities at that time. He regularly read the Bible according to his children. The Harrison Family Bible , which we now have, is large, heavy, and appears well used. He had other, smaller, Bibles for "everyday" use. The prized Family Bible, a King James version, contains 1,375 pages exclusive of a concordance, index, and pages for family information and pictures. It is approximately 10 1/2 inches high, 9 1/2 inches deep and 3 1/2 inches thick. Weight is about six pounds. Binding is leather over thick cardboard stiffeners. Notes, similar to the notes in the NIV Study Bible, are at the bottom of every page. A mini sermon follows many chapters. The name T. J. Harrison is imprinted in gold letters on the front. We do not know when he acquired this Bible; the only date (except for the handwritten family births, deaths and marriages) is at the end of the preface. This date is 15 August 1847.

Thomas J. Harrison was interested in and worked for improved roads. He built and used one of the first road drags in Harrison County. About 1920 he wrote a letter to the editor of a Bethany newspaper expressing disappointment and disgust concerning a new road going north-south through Bethany. This letter is a mixture of satire, humor, and biting, caustic, remarks. He used the Biblical story of Jacob and Esau as a format for his article. Like his letters to Trudy in 1874-75, he chose and manipulated words and ideas like a skilled violinist plays his instrument. The article illustrates not only his writing skill but his knowledge of both ancient and current history. For example, he developed a scenario with a conclusion that I would normally say "... they might as well commit suicide." T. J. stated it this way: "... might as well go to Armenia and let the unspeakable Turk put an end to their sufferings." {In 1915, the Turks, long noted for barbaric treatment of nomadic tribes, drove most Armenians into the desert where hundreds of thousands perished from fatigue, starvation, and sunstroke.} Attachment 2 is a re-typed copy of T. J.'s letter.

In 1937 Thomas J. Harrison was recognized as one of the two "Oldest Living Alumnus" of Ohio University in the Alumni Association newsletter. This recognition was based on year of graduation. T. J. was more than six years senior in age to his co-Oldest-Living-Alumnus.

T. J. never owned or drove an automobile. Locally he traveled on horseback, in a horse drawn buggy or in a farm wagon. In later years his son living nearby chauffeured him frequently.

Thomas Jay Harrison, by then known as "Uncle Tommy," died 11 September 1943 at age 97 years, 8 months and 2 days. Wood Hospital, Bethany, Missouri, had been his home for 780 days. Although bed-ridden, blind and deaf, his mind remained alert and active to the end. Unlike the curmudgeon one might envision from his writings noted previously, Uncle Tommy was a sensitive, genial, forward-looking, and cheerful patient. Being bedridden and blind, he required lots of service from the staff. His nurses reported that he never failed to thank them for service and observed that he gave back more than he received.

O-----O-----O-----O-----O-----O-----O-----O-----O

I never really knew Grandpa Harrison. He was 76 years old when I was born. I saw him on numerous occasions, though not frequently. Dad was "on the outs" with Grandpa as result of an ill-fated venture involving two families in one house -- I should say a venture involving two strong-willed men farming one farm. The relationship may have been tenuous, strained, before that. Granddad did not attend my parents wedding in Bethany. Motivations, beliefs, and lifestyle of the Harrisons were quite different from those of the McQuerrys. The occasions when I did see Grandpa Harrison, always at his home south of Bethany, included family get-togethers and when Mom visited him. I also spent a few days with him during at least two summers. My main interest during these visits was playing with my cousins. Two cousins, one my age and one seven years older, lived nearby.

As I knew him, Granddad Harrison was old, somewhat feeble, very quiet -- maybe aloof -- but kind, gentle and courteous. He stood about 5 feet, 9 inches tall, erect, almost, but not quite, a "military bearing," and weighed 150 to 160 pounds. He had a long, white beard which he parted with a dinner knife to drink milk from a glass. I remember he always drank lots of milk and buttermilk -- with every meal and, sometimes, between meals. I never understood why he liked buttermilk; I hated it! His hair was white, somewhat thin but he wasn't bald. I do not remember the "pot-belly" that shows in some snapshots taken during this time period. His eyesight was "not-the-best." In later years his eyes frequently watered profusely. He was hard-of-hearing.

I do not remember seeing Mom and Grandpa play the piano together. I do remember Mom telling how they could "while away the hours" playing the piano and singing together.

During family get-togethers, Grandpa Harrison was always with the "men folk" but he talked, visited, very little. He always, willingly, responded to questions directed at him (when he heard them) but infrequently joined in the general chatter. He definitely was not the "talkative old man" he described himself as in a letter to daughter, Emma, written about two years before I was born. It was the same way when he and I were alone. We never "visited." He readily answered questions I asked if/when I was able to make him understand. Occasionally he would ask me questions -- usually about school. One time he talked a little bit about reading the Bible. I believe this was prompted by Mom telling him I was reading the Bible. Grandpa observed he had read the Bible in its entirety more than once. Then he added, with a chuckle, "Well, all but the begats and a few other such parts and (long pause) maybe Revelation." According to Mom, Grandpa thought the Book of Revelation might have good information in it if one understood it.

I wish I had known Grandpa Harrison better. Among other things, maybe he could have persuaded me to appreciate music as a participant -- not just a spectator/listener.

Reflecting on how I saw/knew my grandfather makes me shudder to think how my grandchildren and great grandchildren, some 70 years younger than I, must envision me!

NOTES, EXCEPTS FROM LETTERS WRITTEN BY THOMAS JAY, TO HIS WIFE
WHILE HE WAS ATTENDING STATE LEGISLATURE SESSIONS:

26 Jan 1874 Dear Little Wife; Yours; Thomas J. Harrison

- o Disappointed that he (T J) had not received a letter from her. Disappointment ...all the more poignant because we have today agreed in our patriotism to abjure our love for wife and children and home, and remain without adjournment until we are through. Our wives will no doubt rejoice to know that their dictators are not likely to put in an unpleasant appearance. It is singular that men can be so foolish and weak in principles as to fear to vote for a sufficiency of time to visit home! ... because their constituents would be displeased if they were to go home even for a day.
- o Notes that a fellow legislature, a Dr. Munson, said he was completely disgusted with activities going on and would not return again even though they gave them four times as much money for their service. T J adds I think him about right.
- o Notes he greatly appreciated the two letters (from Gertrude) he had just received. He then adds Don't allow Grace's want of "tittle" to prevent your writing again soon.
- o Notes that Right across a little open space from my room is a family of man, wife and 3 little ones – after my own heart. They have a small organ and the wife, though a plain farmer's girl like you, plays well and sings finely. I can hardly resist the temptation to go and help her. Sunday evening she played an hour or two and I could but feel like grumbling that you and I could not thus together seek enjoyment.
- o The letter ends with Please allow me to say in your ear that, though I like your letters so very much, I would much rather have the substitute you propose to give. Don't forget that you have my whole love and that I want nothing less from my little wife.

20 Feb 1874 Dear Little Trudy; Yours only; T. J. Harrison ( Letter transcribed almost in it's entirety)

- o (opening paragraph) It gave me no great pleasure to read parts of your last letter. I don't think you were hardly fair in some of your criticisms. I felt miserable when I wrote you those short letters and lack of love and good wishes did not cause their brevity. The fact that I did not express my love as freely as usual arose from the fear that the old folks read with small sympathy. Love, pure and disinterested, is a noble attribute of humanity, yet its avowal is often productive of sarcastic smiles from any other than the subject and object of it -- the giver and receiver. If you were here, a warm kiss and caress should soon convince you that my love is not materially lessened to say the least. ... It seems to me you write impatiently. Do you feel so?

I think, Trudy, I can give up going to theaters or any place else where simple pleasure is the object, if my wife desires it. I would not like her to go against my will. I will therefore pledge you herein that I will not attend said resorts of pleasure unless some noted lecturer, whom I wish to hear, constitutes the attraction. Brazen faces, bare legs and bare a__s shall not control my attendance. Nor shall music, either, if you will wield your power at home. I have so far gone simply out of curiosity – a desire to see what was done at these places. I have seen the inside of each and am now satisfied.

- o How do you spell that which you wished me to dissolve in my mouth? Be careful of that little word to, too, two. You may interchange them. You say "I received" etc.*
- o My throat is now well, thanks to Providence, and my body is, I think, sound as usual; but my brain gets very tired of these business proceedings, if proceedings is the proper term when so little is done. We are doing much better, however, as we get better broken into the harness. It is impossible to say when adjournment will come. I think the flowers will bloom and fields look green ere we cast the last long lingering look at our adopted winter's home. ... A great many unimportant bills are introduced and many such pass the House, but they are mostly squelched in the Senate. That body is so contemptibly mean that it will pass nothing in which none of it's members have a personal interest. Their advantage therefore is not superior wisdom but transcendent meanness.*
- o I will send you a little money today as I have drawn only one week's wages since I was at home the first time and am about out. I shall draw next week, though, and I shall then supply your needs. Write and tell me how much to send.*
- o Accept the assurance of my sincere love for both my little dears, and write soon....*

13 Mar 1874 My Dear Little Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison

- o Chit chat -- how he misses her. Does she need money? Can send it if she doesn't' ask for too much. Notes that I sent for the Star for you according to your request. I hope you will receive (notice how this word is spelled) it soon and be well pleased with it. What did you mean in your last in regard to Mr. Williams's Keeping grocery? You and the children both allude to it in a way that leaves me in doubt whether you are in fun or earnest. Please explain.*
- o What are you women doing toward suppressing the whisky trade in your community? There is nothing of importance enough to talk of except the "Whisky War" here. ... Last night Gough lectured on temperance at the open house which was filled to overflowing. It was a masterly effort ... Perhaps when you come up next winter you will have the chance to hear the Lion roar.*
- o I want you to tell me, Trudy, what to bring home to the children. I can't make a satisfactory choice either in kind or quality --I need hardly tell you that.*
- o I am glad to hear of your success in the new music book. I hope you will continue to give attention to music...*

9 Apr 1874 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison. {Letter started on Thurs.; finished Friday}

- o Discusses, comments on, uncertainty about when legislature will finish their business.*
- o Notes that the election has strengthened the Democrats and that one had stated he was ... in favor of reorganizing the remaining benevolent institutions before we leave if it takes all summer.*

- o Bad weather – snowing, ground covered with several inches of snow and snow still falling. I fear you will have a very disagreeable work to do in your feeding (my feeding, I should say)
  - o Says he plans to come home Saturday (11 April) ... to be with my Darling ... Will She greet my coming with a holy kiss?
  - o Notes that he was disappointed he did not receive a letter (from Trudy) yesterday
- 3 Dec 1874 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison
- o Chit chat. Legislature to adjourn for holidays. Boarding house where he stays charges full fare for absences of one week or less and half-fare for absences over a week. Legislator received no pay during recess. T. J. had a roommate -- representative from Clinton County. "Nice" room, on third floor. Rent/fare: either $5.50 or $0.50 per week -- document faded.
  - o I went to church last night to while away the time and I was surprised to find one of the goodest old fashioned prayer meeting I have lately gone to -- good singing and hearty praying.
  - o Recently attended an organ recital at First Congregational Church. Sent Trudy a copy of the "programmie".
- 3 Mar 1874 Dear Trude; Yours; T. J. Harrison
- o Chit Chat. T. J. had bad headache for several days. Went for a long walk, as recommended by "Dr. Ray." Only made headache worse!
  - o Ended with Now good bye and be a good girl; Kiss Grace for me and receive mine.
- 3 Jan 1875 Dear Wife; Yours; T. J. Harrison {Beginning of T J's 2nd year as legislator}
- o We made a call Friday on the governor. Cake and wine loaded down a side table and few of the members had the grit to say "no" when the latter was offered them.. To relieve your apprehensions at this juncture I will just say that I was not tempted above what I bore.
  - o We heard a lecture at the Penitentiary by Ferguson, the Chaplain, on "Mordicai the Jew." There was some fun but little sense -- I'll say wisdom -- for it was the most sensual sermon I ever heard. It was full of obscenity and was very ill adapted to the place.
  - o (This afternoon) we called on Mrs. John G. Deshler who set a rich table for perhaps two or three hundred -- at least as many as called. This was the silliest affair I have ever been a partner to. I suppose it was all in strict etiquette but a trained parrot might have entertained company with as much good taste and politeness as did this volary of, and acknowledged leader in, fashion.
  - o I propose to start my juvenile bill forward and I hope it will be dealt with gently.
  - o One year ago was my first Sunday in Columbus, and what great changes my experience has wrought in that time! Instead of the sober, earnest men I expected to see in the halls of legislation, I find few but political tricksters regarding naught but their own interests. But I have no time to pursue the thought as I would...
  - o (End of letter) I must commend you for your penmanship for you are rapidly improving. ... Good bye and may this be the happiest and most useful year of the feast when you make the review a year hence.

TRANSCRIPT of a LETTER TO THE EDITOR by T. J. HARRISON
(Written about 1920; Published in a Bethany, Missouri, Newspaper)

Dear Editor:

In my last comments I promised to give your readers a sample of E. Z. Marks and a record of the respect which history accords them. Sixty-five years ago, when I was just beginning to understand what I read, I found it difficult to get reading matter that boys like. We had quite a library of big leather bound volumes, mostly of religious and scientific works, but you know a boy's love for blood and thunder and action. These elements were supplied abundantly in the Bible and Plutarch's "Lives." So I read them as boys would hardly do now.

There were four stories in the Old Testament that were especially interesting to me: The story of Esau and Jacob, the story of Esther and Mordicai, the story of Joseph, and the story of Ruth. The first three are stories of financial, political, and social greed, but the fourth is a story of love and unselfish devotion so beautiful that it has made Ruth the sweetest name loving mother can bestow on her darling babe. If there is anything in English literature finer than Ruth's auto dedication, I have yet to find or appreciate it.

But it is the story of Esau to which I would like to call your readers' attention as it seems to have been recorded for just such cases as ours. I would be glad to have your readers defer to the story for they will find it exceedingly interesting; but for those who may not find reference convenient I will say briefly that Esau and Jacob were twins. Esau was the elder brother and, according to the law of prime-geniture which prevailed at that time, was entitled to succeed his father as patriarch or father-ruler of the family, and was heir as well to the family's great wealth. Esau was preeminently an outdoor boy, helping the cowboys of the range to round up the steers and bust the bronchos. He was also a great hunter and kept the table supplied with the choicest of venison. Jacob, however, was the "Little Lord Fauntleroy," or perhaps the "Merle twin," of four thousand years ago. When Mrs. Ben Hadad called on Mrs. Israel, Jacob leaned sweetly against mother's knees and listened to neighborhood scandals and knew all about how many hens the neighbors had setting and especially the price of eggs. During all this time mother's fingers were gently twining those glossy curls and she loved Jacob as the apple of her eye. Isn't it wonderful then that she should determine that Jacob should supplant Esau in the inheritance and in his father's love.

Came at last a time when Isaac was very old and blind -- so blind that he would not know a great highway from a cross-cut saw. He called Esau to bring him a choice mess of venison and promised then to give him his final blessing. But the mother heard, and when Esau brought his offering, Jacob and his mother had already kidded the blessing from the father and there was nothing left for Esau.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to call your readers' attention to the fact that though this was the grossest and most unbelievable case of bunco-steering in ancient or modern history, yet Isaac after being convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that he had done Esau irreparable wrong, refused utterly to unwind one particle of his red tape or change his blue print a single hair. In other words government was just as blind and stupid four thousand years ago as it is today.

Again came a time when Esau went hunting. The wind was wrong and the game was shy. Discouraged, hungry, footsore and weary, Esau turned homeward. By some species of wireless the crafty and conscienceless mother and son learned of Esau's plight and prepared the final act of his undoing. The loving mother prepared a great bowl of steaming broth and sent Jacob with it to meet his brother. To feed him? Not on your life! Esau, full of gratitude, reached for the bowl but Jacob withdrew it and told Esau he could have it only in exchange for his birthright. Of course we know the Mayor of Cork would simply have tightened his belt a notch and gone on a hunger strike, and his wife would have stood by to prevent the cruel English from feeding by force. But I tremble to think what would have befallen little Jake's face if the proposition had been made to a red blooded American. Esau, however, accepted the condition.

I would like to call the readers attention to the fact that Esau and Jacob, though twins, were born in widely separated states. Esau in Utopia and Jacob in Missouri. Esau is one of those that "believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." Jacob believes nothing till it is proved, hopes for nothing that he has not the energy to make on his own, endures nothing that he can fight successfully. You tell Esau to "sign here" and he signs, even if it is a quit claim to his soul's salvation. Jacob would know the meaning of anything he signed if he had to spend a month finding out. Esau only feels the urge to buy when the price has reached the top; Jacob only when the price has reached the bottom. Esau never looks a gift horse in the mouth; Jacob will scrutinize every tooth in his head. Esau was greatly pleased when Bethany made him a present of a fourteen-mile hill and went gladly on the hunt of the mules which he must stable and harness, water and feed the balance of his life to do the work of two mules; Jacob would have declined the gift in those emphatic little words of the Bible, "Go to." Curious, Mr. Editor, but I have always thought the authors of King James' version left out a word here inadvertently and if the reader thinks he has in mind a word adapted to the context for the purpose of this article he has my permission to use it. Jacob sold the contract to grade the fairgrounds at eighteen cents a cubic yard. Esau sold the contract to grade the Jefferson Highway at seventy cents. Which would you employ to do business for you?

Not many months ago I had business in a store in a town not far from Bethany. I was detained several hours and while waiting so many people called for oil that my attention was attracted to the method of service. The room extended from street to alley. The clerk received the receptacle from the customer, walked wearily one hundred feet, maybe, to the rear, down a stairway, got a quart, half gallon or so and wearily returned. Each service occupied probably six to ten minutes.

A few days later I was at another store in the same town. I was there only a few minutes but in that time a customer called for oil. The clerk received the can, took possibly three steps, gave a lever a yank or two and handed the buyer his oil. The whole affair occupied possibly one minute. Which firm would you bet on?

The fact is, Mr. Editor, that every intelligent manufacturer scraps an inefficient machine whenever a better can be bought. Must do so or quit business. Much less would he buy an inefficient machine if he knew it. But Bethany Township is deliberately buying a costly road that is eighty-four percent junk, as compared with the road it might have had for the same money.

I saw men hauling coal past my home the other day. They lived so far south I did not even know them. They possibly had one ton to the team. What hope would there be for Bethany if its citizens had to haul their fuel and other supplies from New Hampton or Ridgeway? How long would it be until Bethany would become a mere cross-road with a blacksmith shop, a church and perhaps a "farmers' store?"

Forty years ago, when I first saw Lorraine and Bethany, there was not much difference between them except that Bethany had the court house and its usual barnacles. If the railroad had gone through Lorraine and left Bethany out, their present status would have been exactly reversed. Don't make any mistake about it. A community is made or ruined by its transportation facilities or lack of them.

I do not know the exact grade of Big Creek Bottom. The Missouri River bottom has a fall of about one foot per mile or one-fiftieth of one per cent. It is this fact that makes possible those magnificent freight trains you can see anywhere from Kansas City to Omaha. Our creek has doubtless twice that fall. But an intelligent engineer could certainly have made Bethany a one per cent road if he had wished. Such a grade would have enabled a tractor to take at one load enough coal to last a dozen families a year.

It seems impossible to me that an intelligent community would submit to the squandering of their hard earnings for twenty on a mere pretense of a good road. But if it does submit, then the mountain that labored and brought forth a mouse has nothing on Bethany.

Isaac discovered the law of survival of the fittest four thousand years before Darwin's time. He saw that Esau, because of inherent weakness and inability to grasp opportunity, never could become the head of a great nation, and Esau still breeds true to type. If the owners of the saloons and dance halls, pool halls and patent medicines, depend on Jacob's patronage they might as well go to Armenia and let the unspeakable Turk put an end to their sufferings; but Esau, poor, little, weak, incompetent Esau, will see that their wives and kiddies are clothed in the cleanest and daintiest lingerie and never go hungry. And Jacob? Jacob will caress every nickel like a fond red-lipped sweetheart and by and by will be building great steamship lines, great transcontinental railroads, and great halls of learning. True to type? Ah Yes. Esau downward to those asylums behind whose walls we hide from human sight those intellectual monstrosities of humanity, and Jacob upward to our hall of fame in whose center we have placed that great masterpiece of the Divine Hand the man who lived and wrought to the end that liberty and equality should not perish from the earth -- The Emancipator -- the man without a model and without shadow.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am going to write your paper another article, but I suppose there is no hurry. It may only be putting a jewel in a swine's snout anyhow. But first I want to tell your readers of a wonderful club I am organizing. It is to be known as the "Esau club." Its motto and creed will be:

"A hill is no detriment to a road. All grades are, and of right ought to be, free and equal."

The federal and state engineers, the county court, and the Bethany Highway commissioner will be invited to become members ex-officio, having already proved their eligibility. Any person can become a member by bringing conclusive proof of direct descent from Esau. The sessions of the club will be held quarterly in the county clerk's office, the first Monday in each month. Each session will be opened and closed with this beautiful hymn:

The grand old Duke of York
He had ten thousand men.
He marched them up the hill,
And marched them down again!

#1. South side of house. The part to the right was added by the Henson family who bought it from Dad in 1880. The house looked very nice. Didn't look like it had been a log house that had put siding on. Was in good repair. The people who owned it planned to come back & rebuild and may have done so by this time.

Dear Brother:

Your letter of March 18, was received yesterday. Neal's case has probably been decided already. I know too little of circumstances to answer your question as to how much I would give for a quit-claim deed. Possibly it would be best to state my financial condition and let you decide, with Clint's advice to help you. I don't want any more debt if it can be avoided. I sold in a hurry to meet this case for $2400 - $2000 cash and $400 in November. It will take $200 to move ourselves and goods. With this knowledge, do as seems to you good.

Better reserve my right to approve.

Don't buy any more than the original tract if you can help it.

I am ready to come as soon as safe to do so - must light out by the 15th of April. Advise me immediately of any new developments.

Yours Truly

By T. J. HARRISON.

Dear Mr. Editor: In my last comments I promised to give your readers a sample of E. Z. Marks and a record of the respect which history accords them. Sixty-five years ago, when I was just beginning to understand what I read, I found it difficult to get reading matter that boys like. We had quite a library of big leather bound volumes, mostly of religious and scientific works, but you know a boy's love for blood and thunder and action. These elements were supplied abundantly in the Bible and Plutarch's "Lives." So I read them as boys would hardly do now.

There were four stories in the Old Testament that were especially interesting to me: The story of Esau and Jacob, the story of Esther and Mordecai, the story of Joseph, and the story of Ruth. The first three are stories of financial, political and social greed, but the fourth is a story of love and unselfish devotion so beautiful that it has made Ruth the sweetest name loving mother can bestow on her darling babe. If there is anything in English literature finer than Ruth's autodeication, I have yet to find or appreciate it.

But it is the story of Esau to which I would like to call your readers' attention as it seems to have been recorded for just such cases as ours. I would be glad to have your readers refer to the story for they will find it exceedingly interesting; but for those who may not find reference convenient, I will say briefly that Esau and Jacob were twins. Esau was the elder brother and according to the law of primo-geniture which prevailed at that time was entitled to succeed his father as patriarch or father-ruler of the family, and was heir as well to the family's great wealth. Esau was pre-eminently an outdoor boy, helping the cowboys of the range to round up the steers and bust the bronchos. He was also a great hunter and kept the table supplied with the choicest of venison. Jacob, however, was the "Little Lord Fauntleroy," or perhaps the "Merle twin" of four thousand years ago. When Mrs. Ben Hadad called on Mrs. Israel, Jacob leaned sweetly against mother's knee and listened to neighborhood scandals and knew all about how many hens the neighbors had setting and especially the price of eggs. During all this time mother's fingers were gently twining those glossy curls and she loved Jacob as the apple of her eye. Isn't wonderful then that she should determine that Jacob should supplant Esau in the inheritance and in his father's love?

Came at last a time when Isaac was very old and blind—so blind that he would not know a great highway from a cross-cut saw. He called Esau to bring him a choice mess of venison and promised then to give him his final blessing. But the mother heard, and when Esau brought his offering, Jacob and his mother had already kidded the blessing from the father and there was nothing left for Esau.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to call your readers' attention to the fact that though this was the grossest and most unbelievable case of bunco-steering in ancient or modern history, yet

Isaac after being convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that he had done Esau irreparable wrong, refused utterly to unwind one particle of his red tape or to change his blue print a single hair. In other words, government was just as blind and stupid four thousand years ago as it is today.

Again came a time when Esau went hunting. The wind was wrong and the game was shy. Discouraged, hungry, footsore and weary, Esau turned homeward. By some species of wire-less the crafty and conscienceless mother and son learned of Esau's plight and prepared the final act of his undoing. The loving mother prepared a great bowl of steaming broth and sent Jacob with it to meet his brother. To feed him? Not on your life! Esau full of gratitude reached for the bowl but Jacob withdrew it and told Esau he could have it only in exchange for his birthright. Of course we know the mayor of Cork would simply have tightened his belt a notch and gone on a hunger strike, and his wife would have stood by to prevent the cruel English from feeding by force. But I tremble to think what would have befallen little Jake's face if the proposition had been made to a red blooded American. Esau, however, accepted the condition.

I would like to call the readers attention to the fact that Esau and Jacob, though twins, were born in widely separated states. Esau in Utopia and Jacob in Missouri. Esau is one of those that "believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things." Jacob believes nothing till it is proved, hopes for nothing that he has not the energy to make his own, endures nothing that he can fight successfully. You tell Esau to "sign here" and he signs, even if it be a quit claim to his soul's salvation. Jacob would know the meaning of anything he signed if he had to spend a month finding out. Esau only feels the urge to buy when the price has reached the top; Jacob only when the price has reached the bottom. Esau never looks a gift horse in the mouth, Jacob will scrutinize every tooth in his head. Esau was greatly pleased when Bethany made him a present of a fourteen-mile hill and went gladly on the hunt of the mules which he must stable and harness, water and feed the balance of his life to do the work of two mules; Jacob would have declined the gift in those emphatic little words of the Bible, "Go to." Curious, Mr. Editor, but I have always thought the authors of King James' version left out a word here inadvertently and if the reader thinks he has in mind a word adapted to the context for the purpose of this article he has my permission to use it. Jacob sold the contract to grade the fair grounds at eighteen cents a cubic yard. Esau sold the contract to grade the Jefferson Highway at seventy cents. Which would you employ to do business for you?

"Not many months ago I had business in a store in a town not far from Bethany. I was detained several hours and while waiting so many people called for oil that my attention was attracted to the method of service. The room extended from street to alley. The clerk received the receptacle from the customer, walked wearily one hundred feet, maybe to the rear, down a stairway, got a quart, half gallon or so and wearily returned. Each service occupied probably six to ten minutes.

A few days later I was at another store in the same town. I was there only a few minutes but in that time a customer called for oil. The clerk received the can took possibly three steps, gave a lever a yank or two and handed the buyer his oil. The whole affair occupied possibly one minute. Which firm would your bet on?

The fact is, Mr. Editor, that every intelligent manufacturer scraps an inefficient machine whenever a better can be bought. Must do so or quit business. Much less would he buy an inefficient machine if he knew it. But Bethany township is deliberately buying a costly road that is eighty-four per cent junk, as compared with the road it might have had for the same price. I saw men hauling coal past my home the other day. They lived so far south I did not even know them. They possibly had one ton to the team. What hope would there be for Bethany if its citizens had to haul their fuel and other supplies from New Hampton or Ridgeway? How long would it be until Bethany would become a more cross-road with a blacksmith shop, a church and perhaps a "farmers' store?"

Forty years ago when I first saw Lorraine and Bethany there was not much difference between them, except that Bethany had the court house and its usual barnacles. If the railroad had gone through Lorraine and left Bethany out their present status would have been exactly reversed. Don't make any mistake about it. A community is made or ruined by its transportation facilities or lack of them.

I do not know the exact grade of Big Creek bottom. The Missouri river bottom has a fall of about one foot per mile or one-fiftieth of one per cent. It is this fact that makes possible those magnificent freight trains you can see anywhere from Kansas City to Omaha. Our creek has doubtless twice that fall. But an intelligent engineer could certainly have made

Bethany a one per cent road if he had wished. Such a grade would have enabled a tractor to take at one load enough coal to last a dozen families a year.

It seems impossible to me that an intelligent community would submit to the squandering of their hard earnings for twenty years on a mere pretense of a good road. But if it does submit, then the mountain that labored and brought forth a mouse has nothing on Bethany.

Isaac discovered the law of the survival of the fittest four thousand years before Darwin's time. He saw that Esau because of inherent weakness and inability to grasp opportunity never could become the head of a great nation, and Esau still breeds true to type. If the owners of the saloons and dance halls, pool halls and patent medicines depended on Jacob's patronage they might as well go to Armenia and let the unspeakable Turk put an end to their sufferings; but Esau, poor, little weak, incompetent Esau will see that their wives and kiddies are clothed in the cleanest and daintiest lingerie and never go hungry. And Jacob? Jacob will caress every nickel like a fond red lipped sweetheart and by and by will be building great steamship lines, great transcontinental railroads and great halls of learning. True to type? Ah yes. Esau downward to those asylums behind whose walls we hide from human sight those intellectual monstrosities of humanity, and Jacob upward to our hall of fame in whose center we have placed that great masterpiece of the Divine Hand the man who lived and wrought to the end that liberty and equality should not perish from the earth—The Emancipator—the man without a model, and without shadow.

Now, Mr. Editor, I am going to write your paper another article, but I suppose there is no hurry. It may only be putting a jewel in a swine's snout anyhow. But first I want to tell your readers of a wonderful club I am organizing. It is to be known as the "Esau club." Its motto and creed will be:

"A hill is no detriment to a road. All grades are, and of right ought to be free and equal."

The federal and state engineers, the county court, the Bethany Highway commissioner will be invited to become members ex-officio, having already proved their eligibility. Any other person can become a member by bringing conclusive proof of direct descent from Esau. The sessions of the club will be held quarterly in the county clerk's office, the first Monday in each month. Each session will be opened and closed with this beautiful hymn:

The grand old Duke of York

He had ten thousand men.

He marched them up the hill,

And marched them down again!

Dear Sir:

Your application for a room in the new Dormitory was duly received. The building is not yet entirely completed, but is expected to be ready for occupancy on or before the first day of September. The number of students occupying each room, and rates of rent are as follows:

Basement floor. Two single rooms to be occupied by two students each, rent $32.00 per student. One single room, two students, rent $28.00 each. One suite of three rooms, three students, rent $28.00 each. One suite of three rooms, four students, rent $27.00 each. One suite of three rooms, four students, rent $30.00 each.

First floor. The space on this floor is taken up by the dining room, parlors, steward's rooms, pantry, hallways and stairways.

Second floor. One suite of three rooms, three students, rent $36.00 each. Three suites of three rooms each, four students each, rent $33.00 per student. One suite of three rooms, three students, rent $33.00 each. One suite of three rooms, four students, rent $36.00 each. Two suites of three rooms, four students each, rent $34.00 per student.

Third floor, one suite of three rooms, three students, rent $36.00 each. One suite of three rooms, three students, rent $33.00 each. Two suites of three rooms, three students each, rent $24.00 per student. One suite of three rooms, four students, rent $34.00 each. One suite of three rooms, three students, rent $34.00 each.

Attention is called to the following rule adopted by the Executive Board of the University:

"Each student renting a room or taking out a permit for meals shall make a deposit of $5.00 with the Proctor of the University, and take a receipt therefor, which receipt shall be filed with the Steward before the student shall take possession of his room or take meals in the dining room. This deposit shall be refunded when the student leaves the dormitory or surrenders his meal permit, provided he has paid all charges assessed against him for damage to University property and his proportionate part of the charges against the Club organization for such damage."

Rooms in the old buildings will be rented on the same terms as heretofore, except that the deposit above named is required.

In remitting money to pay rent for rooms, each student must also forward the deposit of $5.00.

The matter of providing furniture for the rooms in the New Dormitory has not been determined. If the Curators have funds available they will probably supply the rooms with the same quantity of furniture as is provided in the old building (see catalogue.) If they have no funds available, they will probably adopt some uniform standard of furniture which the students may purchase and which will be accepted by the Curators from the students and paid for at cost, if in good condition, as soon as they secure an appropriation for that purpose.

Very truly yours,

J. G. BABB,

Sec'y Board of Curators.

Dear Mr. Harrison:

In the current issue of the Ohio University Alumni Association I read the following paragraph: "THE OLDEST living alumni, in years since graduation, are Dr. Phillip Zenner, Cincinnati, Ohio, and Thomas J. Harrison, Betheny, Mo., both of the Class of 1871."

I am writing you to know if you are not the Mr. Harrison from whom my father purchased a home and farm many years ago about one mile north of Oak Hill. As a small boy I clearly remember my father speaking of T. J. Harrison from whom he purchased this property, and I express the hope that you are that person. If so, I would be most happy to meet you, although it is probable I shall not have that opportunity.

My father died at the age of 73 in 1917. If you are the man I have in mind, you doubtless knew him. (J. K. Henson)

I shall be very happy to hear from you in response to this letter, assuming of course, that you are the Harrison which my father knew.

With all good wishes for your continued health and strength, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mrs. Link:

In reply to your very interesting letter dated January 21, 1948, I am pleased to write you what I know about the former Harrison home in Ohio, located near Oak Hill.

Yes, indeed the house is still standing. When my father died March 29, 1917, all five of his children met on the occasion of the funeral and they decided that the home place should be kept by our step-mother, who survived my father, during her life time. While she is still living, now nearly 93 years of age, that is, in her 93d year, we all agreed about five years ago to sell the property as father had left no will and there were six heirs living including our step-mother. The sale was made. Today the house and land are rented, the purchaser to take possession in the near future I believe, but I am not certain when.

As you know, the house is located on a paved road between Clay and Oak Hill, on the right of the road as one drives from Clay to Oak Hill, about one mile north of Oak Hill.

I do not know of any history of Jackson County that has been written. If such a history has been prepared, I do not know about it. In this connection I might suggest that you write a letter of inquiry about a history of Jackson County to my sister who lives in Jackson, now taking care of my step-mother. If there is such a history, she would be able to find out and let you know.

Her address is:

Miss Ethel Henson,
21 Oak Street
Jackson
Jackson County
Ohio

Of course it is most interesting to me to know that the house which I think of and remember as the home place before we grew up and separated to different sections of our nation, was built by your grandfather about one hundred years ago. I am now 73 years of age, and if I remember correctly, I was about 5 years old when father purchased the house and 60-acre farm.

I am, Thanking you for your letter, and with all good wishes,
Very sincerely yours,

Clarence C Henson

Dear Mrs Link,

Our folks near Oak Hill, O told us that you stopped there recently to see the place that was once your home, and now belongs to us. I thought you would like to have a record of the date your father bought the place, so am sending it to you copied from the record we have, and just in case the pictures you took failed to turn out well, am sending one along also. We love the place and go down as often as possible.

I am glad you got to visit your old home and if you are out this way again don't fail to stop, we hope to go back to stay before too long.

Sincerely

Missouri Farmer and Cincinnati Neurologist Share the Title of "Oldest Living Alumnus"

OHIO ALUMNUS

FOLLOWING the death of Judge Anselm T. Holcomb, '67, in Portsmouth on March 1, the honor of sharing the title of "Oldest Living Graduate of Ohio University," passed to Dr. Philip Zenner, a prominent Cincinnati physician and Thomas Jay Harrison, a retired farmer living near Bethany, Mo. Both are members of the Class of 1870.

Although the honor is a joint one, since their class is the oldest one having living members, Mr. Harrison is more than six-decades the senior of Doctor Zenner in point of years since birth, the Missourian having been born in Jackson County, Ohio, January 9, 1846, while Doctor Zenner first saw the light of day in Cincinnati on May 17, 1852.

Although but a youth when the Civil War broke out, young Harrison, with other boys, served for a week in the Union Army when General Longstreet threatened to cross the Ohio River near Gallipolis. After the War he matriculated at Ohio University where he majored in the arts and sciences, taking the strictly prescribed courses of the old-time curriculum.

Two years after graduation Mr. Harrison married Gertrude Williams, a Jackson County girl. He was elected to the State Legislature but he had no great liking for politics. From 1870 to 1880 he studied law—"enough to keep out of trouble," he says, but he never applied for admission to the Bar. In 1880 he moved to Harrison County, Missouri, where he has since resided. There he purchased a farm of 160 acres and became one of the county's pioneer and most prosperous dairy farmers.

Mr. Harrison is a great believer in education. He is the father of eight children, six of whom are still living. All six have been educated in Missouri schools. Three sons and two daughters are graduates of the University of Missouri, while the other daughter is a graduate of Missouri Wesleyan College. Mrs. Harrison died many years ago.

The nonagenarian is ill at the present time and was confined to his bed when the photographer from the Harrison County Times called upon him a few weeks ago. He still follows the nation and the world with great interest by means of newspapers and his radio, however, and is fond of reading books. Modern modes of living and morals do not receive his approval. "I believe in the sensible things," he says.

Doctor Zenner's father emigrated from Lichtenfels, Bavaria, Germany, in 1846 and established a mercantile business in Cincinnati.

Deciding upon a medical career, following graduation from Ohio University, young Philip entered the Miami Medical College, now a unit of the University of Cincinnati, and received his medical degree in 1875. He immediately entered upon the practice of his profession. The years 1879-71 were spent in advanced studies in Berlin, Vienna, Leipsic, Paris and London, and on his return he made a specialty of neurology.

Doctor Zenner has been connected with the Ohio Medical College, now a unit of the University of Cincinnati, as professor of neurology, holding emeritus rank since 1910. He was neurologist to the Cincinnati Hospital and is now its consulting neurologist. He helped to organize the staff of the Jewish Hospital in 1886 and has been a member of it ever since.

The Cincinnati has contributed many articles to the medical journals of America and Europe and to medical encyclopedias. His books are "Education in Sexual Physiology and Hygiene" and "Mind Cure and Other Essays." The former, which is the first attempt at a school course on the subject of sex, consists of talks to school children and college boys which he had given in the public schools and the colleges at the request of the Cincinnati superintendent of schools and the president of the University of Cincinnati.

In 1929, Doctor Zenner established a loan fund for released prisoners of the Ohio Penitentiary which is intended to help tide the freed individuals over that period from the time of their release to the time of securing suitable employment. This fund, the first of its kind, affords an opportunity for the prisoner's rehabilitation, and gives society a more equal chance to escape from further depredations on his part. The loans bear no interest, but the recipients must give their notes duly witnessed. Within two years loans were made to eighty-six released prisoners; eighteen of whom repaid the loan within a year and fourteen repaid it in part.

A pioneer in many ways, Doctor Zenner was the first physician in Cincinnati to devote himself to the treatment of nervous diseases, the first to open a clinic for nervous diseases in the Cincinnati medical colleges, the first to propose a course of lectures for the medical students of Cincinnati in an insane asylum and the first to suggest the Cincinnati Neurological Society, of which he was the first president.

In civic matters he has been a zealous worker in the Cincinnati Charter movement. Doctor Zenner is a member of the Cincinnati Academy of Medicine, the Ohio State Medical Association, and the American Neurological Society. He is unmarried.

The classes of 1871 and 1872 are both now without living representatives. Of the seven original members of the Class of 1873, two are still living: Rev. Frank O. Ballard, Hanover, Ind., and Evan J. Jones, Sr., Athens. Fletcher S. Coultrap, '75, a former member of the Ohio University faculty, is next in the "line of succession."

NELSON B. HARRISON, well known dairyman and stock raiser was born in Jackson County, Ohio October 11, 1859, son of Thomas J. and Gertrude (Williams) Harrison.

THOMAS JAY HARRISON, father of the subject of this sketch, was born in Jackson County, Ohio January 9, 1846, son of NELSON & MARGARET (BUCK) HARRISON. Nelson Harrison was born in Rockingham, Virginia and died in 1857. He is buried in Jefferson Township, Jackson County Ohio. His wife died in Jackson County Ohio and is buried in Liberty Township, that county. Thomas Jay Harrison was educated in the public schools of Ohio and in the State University at Athens, Ohio, where he graduated in the course 1868, and in the Greek course in 1870. He taught school in Jackson and Gallia Counties in Ohio, farming during the season, until 1880, when he came to Missouri and located near Gardner Station in Harrison County, buying 156 acres of land of Anthony Enlee for $10.00 per acre. Eighteen months later he sold this land to Mr. Bartlett and bought the 120 acres, now his home, four miles southwest of Bethany in Bethany Township on Rural Route No. 5. Thirty-five acres of the land was broken, but there were no improvements except the fences. In 1884, Mr. Harrison built his present residence, a six-room house with a basement. He has followed dairying since 1890, and has been very successful.

THOMAS JAY HARRISON was married to GERTRUDE LESLIE WILLIAMS in July 1870. Mrs. Harrison was born in Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania in 1853. She was educated in the public schools of Ohio. She died in 1893 and is buried in Burris Cemetery, Harrison County, Missouri. To Thomas Jay and Gertrude L. (Williams) Harrison the following children were born:

Grace, a graduate of Missouri State University and a teacher in Harrisonville, Cass County, Missouri at the time of her death in 1898 at the age of 26.

Cora Lee, born February 1875, a graduate of MSU and a teacher in Harrison County at the time of her death in September 1920.

Emma, a graduate of Wesleyan College, Cameron, Missouri formerly a teacher in Harrison County schools, and now Mrs. Willard Link of Mount Ayr, Iowa.

Lois, a graduate of the Bethany High School and of the State Teachers College of Maryville, Missouri, now Mrs. James McQueery of St. Joseph, Missouri.

John Scott, educated in Bethany High School and the MSU, now teaching and conducting a ranch in Frosser, Washington.

Nelson Burr, the subject of this sketch.

Isaac Fletcher, a graduate of Bethany High School and of the Engineering Dept. of MSU, now the general manager of a tile factory in Birmingham, Alabama.

Carey, educated in Bethany High School and MSU, now doing general farming in Union Township, Harrison County.

Thomas Jay Harrison was a member of the Ohio Legislature, elected from Jackson County in 1873 and serving until 1876. He was a public spirited man, standing well in his community. His interest in education is shown by the fact that all his children were sent to schools for advanced work.

Nelson B. Harrison, the subject of this review, was educated in the public schools of Harrison County and graduated from MSU in 1905 with the degrees of B.S. in M.E. He has followed farming all of his life. He and his brother, Carey, bought the 80 acres on which Nelson B. now lives, in 1912. This with forty given to them by their father made 120 acres. Later N.B. Harrison bought his brother's interest in the place. Mr. Harrison put all the improvements on the place except the barn. The Mitchellville schoolhouse is on one corner of the farm. The place is well fenced, being hog-tight, and has a good residence recently remodeled. The house is only one-half mile from the Jefferson Highway. Mr. Harrison conducts a dairy and has 27 registered and grade Jersey cattle. He also raises Duroc-Jersey hogs and Rhode Island Red Chickens.

Nelson B. Harrison was married to Eunice E. Link in 1912. She is a daughter of J.H. & Etta Link of Mount Ayr, Iowa, and was born in Ringold County, Iowa. Her parents formerly lived near Hatfield in Harrison County. To Nelson B. & Eunice E. (Link) Harrison the following children were born:

Marjorie, Cecil, Keith--died at age of 2½, and Catherine.

Mr. Harrison is a member of the Knights of Pythias at Bethany and belongs to the Methodist Church. The Harrison family is well known in the County, belonging to the group of families that have fostered the growth of Harrison County since early days.

Mr. Harrison was a member of Co. D., 4th Missouri Volunteer Infantry and served in the Spanish-American War in 1898.

the place. The farm is well shaded and Mr. Nelson has put extensive improvements on it. He raises Rhode Island chickens and has about 800 fowls all together. He also raises hogs and cattle. The farm presents an attractive, well kept appearance.

Mr. Nelson was married June 29, 1916, to Pearl Cranor, a daughter of James and Carrier (Coulter) Cranor. James Cranor was born near King City, died at Albany about 1910, and is buried in Albany. Carrie (Coulter) Cranor was born in Ohio and now lives in Los Angeles, California. Their children were: Pearl, born at Albany and educated there, now Mrs. Nelson; and Opal, now the wife of H. D. Wilcox of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson have one son, James Robert, born April 29, 1919.

Mr. Nelson is a young man who stands well in his community.

W. H. H. Gillespie, a well known retired citizen of Bethany and ex-sheriff of this county, was born in Jackson County, Ohio, June 22, 1842, the son of W. B. and Rhoda (Miller) Gillespie.

Mrs. W. B. Gillespie was a native of Virginia. Her mother who was Nancy Flynn had quite an interesting and tragic experience in childhood. While her father was clearing land in Virginia in pioneer days he was killed by Indians just when he had finished fencing his land. The Indians took all of the family prisoners except one girl who jumped into a sink hole and escaped. Nancy Flynn was kept prisoner by the Indians until she was twelve or fourteen years of age, when she was rescued by three white men who had been informed of her identity by a white family where she had been sent by the Indians for milk. A scar caused by a burn was the clue that identified her as she had no knowledge of her parents, having been captured in infancy.

W. B. Gillespie was born in Virginia in 1811 and later moved to Jackson County, Ohio, where he married and lived until 1844. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gillespie came to Missouri in the fall of 1844 and settled six miles south of Bethany, where W. H. H. Gillespie was reared. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie died there and are buried in Pleasant Ridge Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie were the parents of the following children: F. M., who died at the military home in Leavenworth, Kansas, and who was in Company F, Merrill's Horse, 2nd Missouri Cavalry, enlisting August 1, 1861; Nancy, who died at the age of twenty-five years; W. H. H., the subject of this sketch; Z. T., who died in Oklahoma in 1918; and W. S., who died in Cypress Township.

28 May 1975 Notes handwritten by Emma Harrison Link in the back of the Willard Link Family Bible.

Mt. Ayr, Iowa Mar. 30, 1936

My father, T. J. Harrison was born in Jackson Co Ohio--January 9, 1846. My mother--Gertrude Williams was from the same place--born 1853. My grandfather, Nelson Harrison came with three brothers John, Jacob and Alfred, from Rockingham Co. Virginia early in the 19th century. Probably between 1820-1830. One sister Ann Harrison Polly crossed the mountains in 1833 during a shower of meteors which caused serious trouble with cattle and horses. Grandfather Harrison's first wife died about 1848--leaving six children-1. Phoebe (second wife of Grandfather Williams) 2. Isaac Burr Harrison died 3. Susan McNamee, 4. Della Evans 5. Maria Creighton and Thomas J. His second wife, Naomi McNeal, daughter of a pioneer physician, owned also a farm on which they built a brick house but with investments in iron mines lost both farms and Nelson Harrison died in 1857. His widow was left with a small farm of 40 acres. Thomas J. acquired an education and graduated from Ohio U. in 1870. He married and taught for several years--was also a member of legislature. One of his pupils was Daniel Webster Williams, Editor, father of Ben Ames Williams. From D. W. Williams he frequently heard by mail years later. About 1880 with wife, children and mother--he came to Missouri and located near Bethany on a farm. His wife died in 1893 and the next years were a struggle to raise and educate the family. The two oldest girls helped in the home and attended school when both entered Mo. University in 1890. Grace graduated in 1896, Cora in 1898. The boys Scott, Burr and Fletcher graduated in 1903-1904-1905. Cary did not finish school. Emma finished in Piano at Missouri Wesleyan College in 1908. Lois graduated in piano and teaching at Maryville Normal College.

Grace died from Meningitis while teaching High School at Harrisonville, Mo. June 18, 1899. Cora taught only one term--had very poor health and made a home for her father. She died in 1920 after one operation. Thomas J. made frequent bequests of money and land to his family. Now lives alone on the home farm at the age of 90. Is well but his eyesight is failing.

One less at home !
The charmed circle broken—a dear face,
Missed day by day from its usual place,
But cleansed, saved, perfected by grace,
One more in heaven.

One less on earth !
Its pain, its sorrow and its toil to share,
One less the pilgrim's daily cross to bear,
One more the crown of the blest to wear,
At home in heaven !

OBITUARY

Gertrude Harrison, wife of Thomas J. Harrison, died at her home south of Bethany, Nov. 27th, 1893.

She was a good and faithful companion and mother. She was ever faithful in trying to make every one happy around her, and she always met you with a smile, that was cheering to everyone. Blessed thought, that if we are as faithful in Christ as she was, we will all meet to part no more. Husband and children be comforted by that thought.

I render oblation to Heaven,
For all that has come through the years,
For the faithful companion given
To share all the hopes and the fears.

A light from our household is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A vacant place within our home
That never can be filled.

THE OHIO ALUMNUS

Death Claims Two Nonagenarians;
One Is "Oldest Living Alumnus"

Death this fall removed from alumni ranks two of Ohio University's oldest and most venerable graduates.

One, Thomas Jay Harrison, of Bethany, Mo., had, in fact, enjoyed the distinction of being "the oldest living alumnus" since the death of Dr. William H. Scott, '62, in 1937. Mr. Harrison died in a Bethany hospital, September 11, at the age of 97 years, eight months, and three days.

A native of Oak Hill, Ohio, he received a B.S. degree from Ohio University in 1868 and an A.B. degree in 1870. He taught school in Jackson and Gallia counties until 1880, and served in the State Legislature from 1873 to 1876.

In 1880, Mr. Harrison moved to Harrison County, Mo., where he became a successful farmer. All of his six children are graduates of state colleges or universities.

"UNCLE TOMMY" WAS FINE

Out at the Wood hospital, where "Uncle Tommy" Harrison was a patient for 780 days before his death, Saturday, the staff says that he will be badly missed.

Because he was blind, it was necessary for nurses to feed him at each meal. Not once in the 780 days did he fail to thank the nurses or anybody else for everything that was done for him, even though it was in the line of duty.

Uncle Tommy Harrison

When "Uncle Tommy" Harrison passed away at the Wood hospital last Saturday he left a vacant place. Not just the room where he had been a patient for 780 days, but in the hearts of the whole staff. Nurses who cared for him are going about the hospital lonesome for the genial, happy-spirited old man with his forward looking attitude at nearly 100 years of age. His cheerfulness had no bounds, for age had mellowed him and made him kind and considerate instead of cross and crabbed. His courtesy was unflinching, and no nurse ever did him the least kindness, or ever gave him the most casual attention without eliciting a warm "thank you."

"Uncle Tommy" was blind, but his vision was clear. He had a furnished mind and his home always had been a house of books and magazines. There always had been good talk at the dinner table or around the evening lamp at his house. Eight children grew up in that home with its rich background of high thinking.

The nurses say that while he had to be fed and was given all needed care, with some thrown in for good measure, he always gave back more than he received, so alive and generous was he.

When he died and was carried from his hospital room, there was not really a vacancy. It was a room filled with the memories of 780 days of occupancy by a noble and generous spirit.

THE OLDEST LIVING
O. U. ALUMNUS, DIES

Served in Ohio Legislature

Growing of Alfalfa—Burial
at Burriss Cemetery

Thomas Jay Harrison, reputed to have been the oldest living alumnus of Ohio university at Athens, Ohio, died Saturday afternoon at the Wood hospital, at the age of 97 years, eight months and one day.

Mr. Harrison had been cared for at the hospital for two years, after he became so feeble of body that attending him in a private home was difficult. He had lost his sight, but that faculty returned to him in slight degree before his death, and he could discern the shape and nature of objects placed before his eyes. His mind was alert even during the last week.

Born in Jackson county, Ohio, Mr. Harrison was graduated from a general course at Ohio university in 1868, and he received a degree in Greek there two years later. He taught school in Jackson and Gallia counties, Ohio, until 1880, and he served in the Ohio state legislature from 1873 to 1876.

In 1880, when he was 34, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison came from Ohio to Harrison county, and he bought 156 acres of land near what later became Gardner. After 18 months there he sold that tract, and bought 120 acres five miles southwest of Bethany, which since had been his home.

On that farm he came to engage in dairying, and he pioneered locally in the growing of alfalfa. He was superintendent of the Mitchelville Sunday school for many years and, when active, participated in public welfare movements.

His wife, Gertrude, also a native of Ohio, died in 1893. Their sons and daughters, both alive and dead, all were given higher educations. The survivors are J. S. Harrison of Arkansas, N. B. Harrison, Bethany, Isaac F. Harrison, Birmingham, Ala., C. W. Harrison, Eagleville, Mrs. Emma Link, Mt. Ayr, Ia., Mrs. Lois McQuerry, Blythedale.

The Rev. E. P. Reed officiated Monday at funeral services for Mr. Harrison, at Mitchelville, and burial was at the Burriss cemetery.

OBITUARY - HARRISON

Thomas Jay Harrison, the son of Nelson and Margaret Buck Harrison was born at Oak Hill, Jackson County, Ohio, Jan 9, 1946, and passed away at the Wood hospital, which had been his home the past two years, Sept. 11, 1943, at the age of 97 years, eight months and two days.

"Always interested in learning the truth, he attended the public schools, then went to Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, from which he was graduated in 1870.

After graduation, he taught in the schools of Ohio and for a time was a member of the state legislature from his district. Not caring for teaching or politics, he engaged in farming, in which occupation he remained until advanced age compelled him to quit.

He was married to Gertrude Williams in 1871, who passed away in November 1893. To this union were born eight children-- four sons and four daughters. Two daughters, Grace and Cora preceeded him in death.

In 1880, he moved from Ohio to Missouri, later purchasing a farm near Bethany.

He was interested in the work of the Sunday School and for many years served as superintendent of the Mitchelville Sunday school. He was also interested in good roads, and through his efforts a shorter road was built from his home to Bethany, which later became part of highway No. 69. He made and used one of the first road drags seen in this locality.

He is survived by the following children: J. S., Green Forest, Ark., N. B.; Bethany, Mo.; I. F., Birmingham Ala.; C. W., Eagleville, Mo.; Mrs Emma Link, Mount Ayr, Io.; and Mrs Lois McQuerry, Blythedale, Mo. Twenty-one grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive. Four grandsons are now with the Armed Forces.

His life was a sincere expression of the first psalm, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

Funeral services were held at the Mitchelville Church Sept. 13, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Edgar P. Reed. Music was furnished by the Choir of the church, with Mrs. Olin Slaughter at the piano. The numbers used were "Going Down the Valley", "Does Jesus Care?", and "Sweet Peace, the Gift of God's Love."

Pallbearers were Cecil Davis, Olin Slaughter, Cecil Harrison, Harrison Link, Wesley Harrison, and Carlyle Harrison. Burial was at Burris Cemetery.

CORA LEE HARRISON OBITUARY

Cora Lee Harrison, daughter of Thomas Jay and Gertrude Leslie Harrison, died at her home, near Bethany Mo., Sept 10, 1920.

She was born Feb. 4, 1875, in Jackson Co., Ohio moving with the family in 1880, to Harrison County, Missouri where she has since made her home.

She was graduated from the State University at Columbia in 1898. While attending school she was converted at the Presbyterian Church, joining the Church at Mitchelville on her return home.*

She has taken an active part in church work, having had much of the church and Sunday school music in charge for the past 20 years. The songs she has led us in, songs of rejoicing in play times, songs of comfort and cheer in times of sorrow, will long find echo in our hearts.

At the age of eighteen, through the death of her mother, Cora became her father's helper in a home in which there were six younger children, the baby a child of two years.

She has given freely of her time and strength, guiding the older children and tenderly caring for the two younger sisters to whom she has been both sister and mother.

She leaves to mourn their loss her father and four brothers and two sisters: John Scott of Prosser, Wash.; Isaac Fletcher of Birmingham, Ala.; Mrs Emma Link of Mt. Ayr, Iowa; Cary William of Eagleville; Nelson Burr and Anna Lois of Bethany, together with a host of relatives and friends.

Those who were privileged to know her best feel that their lives have been enriched by this courageous industrious life.

GRACE HARRISON

Miss Grace Harrison, daughter of T. J. Harrison, was born in Jackson Co., Ohio, Sunday morning, October 9, 1872, and died at her home, in Harrison Co., Mo., June 18, 1899. She united with the M.E. Church, at Mitchelville, Mo., under the ministry of Rev. Ezra Downs, and remained a conscientious member until death. She graduated from the Missouri University in the Classic Course, in June 1896, and when stricken with her fatal illness--spinal meningitis--was assistant High School Teacher at Harrisonville, Cass Co. Mo.

There was not a shadow of pride, or pretense or selfishness in her composition, and the family loved her as they love their own souls. She was a faithful worker in the Epworth League. Her noble character made the home an ideal one. She was a tireless reader of good literature. The memory of her life and work will ever be a rich legacy to her family and friends. It may truly be said of her, "She hath done what she could."

It is a source of much consolation to the relatives and many friends to know that during her illness at Harrisonville, she received the best of care from the teachers, and many other kindnesses were known by the school-board and the hosts of friends she made in the city.

The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, from Psalms 37:37. "Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright; for the end of that man is peace," after which the body was laid to rest in the Burris Cemetery.

Lewis Weary, Pastor.

Mitchelville Aid Celebrates

The Mitchelville Aid society observed its 50th anniversary Thursday of last week at the church south of Bethany, with a basket dinner at noon attended by 45 members, husbands and guests. A program and Christmas gift exchange followed the dinner.

Shown in the photograph, seated at the table behind the white tiered cake decorated with gold roses in her honor, is Mrs. Oval Baker, the only living charter member of the Aid. Standing, left to right, are: Benton Crabtree, song leader; Mrs. Kenneth Youngman, secretary; Mrs. Harry Harrod, vice-president; Mrs. Lee Maize, pianist; Mrs. Garland Coats, president; Mrs. Irlin Maize, reporter; Mrs. J. V. Sisk, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Hiatt, assistant pianist. The latter is holding a corsage which she presented to Mrs. Baker. In the background, between Mrs. Crabtree and Mrs. Pougman, is the Rev. Royce Lewis, pastor of the Mitchelville church.

A brief history of the Aid follows:

In the fall of 1910 nine women, Mrs. Emma Burris, Mrs. Abbie Burris, Mrs. Effie Maize, Miss Oval Maize, Mrs. Maggie Baker, Miss Cora Harrison, Mrs. Emma Tilley and Mrs. Bertha Tilley, met at the home of Mrs. Abbie Burris and organized the Mitchelville Aid society. Mrs. Bennet, wife of the minister, acted as chairman. Officers elected were: Mrs. Abbie Burris, president; Mrs. Effie Maize, vice-president; Miss Oval Maize, secretary; and Miss Cora Harrison, treasurer.

The Aid meets twice monthly, on Thursdays, and has worked for the church, community and adjoining communities. In 1914, Mrs. Emma Burris and Mrs. Bertha Tilley met with women of the Bridgeport community, and helped in the organization of a similar society.

Funds have been raised by such methods as quilting, knitting comforts, annual Thanksgiving box suppers and bazaars, Fourth of July ice cream suppers at the S. L. Maize home, serving lunches at sales and plowing matches, bake and rummage sales, and dinners served for Bethany clubs.

The Aid has helped in Red Cross sewing, donated to several funds, and at present members are making cancer pads. The organization also has sponsored a 4-H club.

The largest number of members of the Aid at one time has been 33. At present there are 20 active members and nine social members. Three honorary members are Mrs. Harry Pryor, Mrs. Myrtle Reed and Mrs. Oval Baker.

The Aid's colors are purple and white, the calla lily is the flower, and the motto is "Observe Good Faith and Justice Toward All."

 Government CONTRACT 9, 5

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

United States Reclamation Service

This Agreement Made and entered into this 1st day of June, one thousand nine hundred 1907, by and between THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, acting in this behalf by Halter N. Greener, Director, United States Reclamation Service, thereto duly authorized by the Director of the United States Reclamation Service and subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior, party of the first part, and John Scott Garrison, of Benton County, Washington, party of the second part, his heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

Whereas, In pursuance of the Act of Congress approved June 17, 1902, (32 Stat. 388), entitled "An Act appropriating the receipts from the sale and disposal of public lands in certain States and Territories to the construction of irrigation works for the reclamation of arid land," the United States has purchased the irrigation system of the Washington Irrigation Company and proposes to enlarge the system and supplement the same by storage reservoirs forming the Sunnyside project; and in the Northeast Quarter of the Northwest Quarter of the Northwest Quarter, Range 11N, T. 4N, R. 11W, Section 36 (3), Township 4N, Range 11W, T. 4N, R. 11W.

Whereas, The party of the second part has heretofore entered into contract with the Washington Irrigation Company for water irrigation for the following described lands, to-wit:

containing 2.5 acres; and

Whereas, A condition of said contract is that the amount of water to be furnished for said lands shall not exceed one cubic foot of water per second for each 160 acres; and

Whereas, The party of the second part desires to obtain the benefits of the storage connected with the Sunnyside project, the benefits of the better distribution of the water supply through the irrigation season, the benefits derived from the enlargement and improvement of the present Sunnyside irrigation system, an increased water supply over the existing contract allowance, an eventual reduction of maintenance charges when the improved system is completed or within a period not exceeding five years, and the better security of operation and facilities afforded for draining wet lands through the construction of wasteways:

Now, Therefore, The parties hereto have mutually covenanted and agreed, and by these presents do covenant and agree with each other as follows:

1. That in consideration of the premises the party of the second part hereby agrees to pay to the Special Fiscal Agent of the Reclamation Service assigned to the Sunnyside project, or such other officer of the United States as may be duly authorized to receive the same, the sum of $10.00 per acre for the benefits to be derived from said project of the United States, the water for the said lands to be furnished in such amount and distributed through the irrigation season as in the case of other like lands in such project which are subject to the provisions of the Reclamation Act, in full consideration for the water to the use of which the party of the second part is entitled in pursuance of his said contract with the Washington Irrigation Company or its predecessors in interest. The party of the second part further agrees to pay to the Special Fiscal Agent or other proper officer, such annual maintenance charges as may be levied by the Secretary of the Interior under the provisions of the Reclamation Act against other like lands in the said project.
2. The party of the second part further agrees to pay the said sum of $10.00 per acre in Five annual installments, the first of which shall become due and payable within 60 days from the date of this agreement, and subsequent payments shall become due and payable on or before the first of December of each year after the present year until fully paid.
3. The party of the second part further agrees to pay within 10 days from the date of this agreement the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) per acre as maintenance charges for the irrigation season of 1907, unless such payment has already been made, and agrees to pay the annual maintenance charges hereafter assessed against like lands in the project, on or before the date when the same shall be due, not to exceed One Dollar ($1.00) per acre.
4. In case of failure to make any of said payments when due, the United States shall be authorized and empowered to refuse to deliver water for any of the lands herein described until such payments have been made in full, with legal interest as provided by the State Law, from the date when the same is due.

Benton County, Washington

5. The party of the second part hereby agrees within 30 days from the date hereof to subscribe to the stock of the Sunnyside Water Users Association for all the lands hereinbefore described, and in case the party of the second part elects to pay the $10.00 per acre in more than one installment and the lands held by him under the project exceed in area 160 acres, it is understood and agreed that he will execute an excess holding contract with the Sunnyside Water Users Association in the form heretofore adopted by said association and will agree that the power of sale therein conferred upon the Water Users Association shall be exercised within one year from the date of this contract, unless the party of the second part shall have sold the excess over 160 acres to some person or persons qualified to perfect a water right under the provisions of the Reclamation Act.

6. It is further understood and agreed that the power of sale conferred by the said excess holding contract shall remain in full force and effect until such excess lands shall be held by parties duly qualified in tracts not exceeding 40 acres or 80 acres, in accordance with the classification of lands shown upon the map on file in the office of the project engineer at North Yakima, Washington, said map having shown thereon the areas within which individual holdings shall be limited to 40 acres and 80 acres, respectively, when the lands are subdivided as excess holdings, or are entered under the public land laws. The said excess holding contract shall be modified in accordance with these provisions.

7. It is understood and agreed that this contract shall serve the purposes of the water right application provided for in Section 6 of the stock subscription and contract of the Sunnyside Water Users Association, and the party of the second part is hereby expressly relieved of the necessity of making such water right application.

8. The amount of water to be furnished hereunder shall be three acre-feet of water per annum per acre measured at the land, or as much ~~water~~ as will be required to successfully irrigate the land, the amount so required to be determined by the authorized agent of the United States, and the water shall be used only to irrigate said lands and for domestic purposes incident thereto; Provided, that the amount of water furnished shall be limited to the amount beneficially used upon such lands.

9. It is further understood and agreed that the party of the second part will conform to the rules and regulations concerning the distribution and measurement of water and the construction, operation, and maintenance of laterals now or hereafter adopted for the project.

10. It is further expressly understood that the United States shall not be responsible for the failure to supply water under this contract, caused by insufficient supply of water in the Yakima river, due to hostile diversion or unusual drought, nor for damage caused by floods, acts of hostility or unavoidable accidents.

11. It is further expressly understood that no Member of or Delegate to Congress, officer, agent, or employee of the Government is or shall be admitted to any share or part of this contract, or to any benefit which may arise therefrom, and the provisions of Sections 3729, 3740, 3741, and 3742, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to contracts, enter into and form a part of this agreement, so far as the same may be applicable.

11. Official recording of transaction noted above. Recorded in Deed Book 53, page 308. Why the almost one year delay for recording? 10 The instrument authenticated by a Notary Public on 17 Feb 1922. Copy of istrument shows it was filed for record by John Woodman at 4:30 PM on 5 Feb 1923. Per instrument sellers received $10.00 for property. No "other considerations" noted. Was this sale prompted by birth of Thomas Darrow? Do not have birth date yet. 9. It appears this 20 acres (per legal description) is contiguous, north side, with property identified above. Did Scott already own this land or does this mortgage really constitute purchase of additional property? Recorded in Book 22 (Deed? Mortgage?), page 356. Entry, on index page, shows "satisfied" on 6 Feb 1923 8. Scott and Zilla signed mortgage on land covered by above entries. Was this a very much delayed entry of mortgage into records (some nine years) or does this reflect a new loan? Entry shows mortgage "satisfied" 23 Aug 1951. Loan to buy land below? 7. This is official recording of agreement/contract noted above. Wonder why the almost 8 months delay? 6. What happened to remaining 0.8 acre covered by legal description of property? IN THE PROBATE COURT OF CARROLL COUNTY.

IN THE MATTER OF THE INSANITY OF THOMAS DARROW HARRISON

Whereas, a written statement was filed before me, the Probate Judge of Carroll County, on the 10th day of Dec. 1959, by Mrs. Howard Michiols a reputable citizen of the State of Arkansas, showing that Thomas Darrow Harrison a citizen (resident) of Carroll County, Arkansas, to the best of her knowledge and belief, is insane, and that he ought to be committed to an insane asylum, for care and treatment, as his being at large is dangerous to the community (prejudicial to his chances of recovery from his condition of mental disorder).

And Whereas, a hearing has been had before me, and after examination of competent witnesses, and having had said Thomas Darrow Harrison examined by Dr. A. L. Carter and Dr. Wayne P. Jones, two reputable, competent, and disinterested physicians, which examination was made at different times and places, separately, and on questions propounded as required by law, and after each of said physicians has presented to me a sworn statement of the result of said examination, and each accompanying the same with his affidavit that he is not of kin or related in any manner whatever to the said Thomas Darrow Harrison.

And now being well and sufficiently advised in the premises I find that the original statement filed by Mrs. Howard Nichols is true, and that said Thomas Darrow Harrison is insane.

And I hereby direct the Clerk of this Court to enter this finding upon the records of this Court, and to transmit to the Superintendent of the Arkansas State Hospital for Nervous Diseases my decision herein, with copies of the original Statement filed by said Mrs. Howard Nichols and of the statement of said physicians, including the interrogatories propounded and the answers thereto.

Witness my hand as such Probate Judge this 10th day of Dec. 1959.

/s/ Thomas F. Butt
Probate Judge .

MRS. EMMA HARRISON

Emma Eunice Link, only daughter of Jacob and Ettie Saville Link, was born Oct. 28, 1890 near Redding, Iowa, and passed away at Reed Hospital, November 17, 1947, at the age of 57 years and 20 days.

Her parents were early settlers in Iowa, coming from Virginia soon after the Civil War. Her early years were spent on a farm north of Hatfield, Missouri, and she was educated in the schools there, later studying music at Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville.

On September 18, 1912, she was married to Nelson Burr Harrison, and they began their life together at the farm south of Bethany, their home for more than thirty years. To them were born five children, three of whom survive, Marjory (Mrs. Byron Tyler), of Golden City, Mo., Cecil of Bethany, Mo., and Benjamin of Fayetteville, North Carolina.

She was preceded in death by her parents and two young children, Keith and Kathryn. Left to mourn the loss of wife, mother, companion and sister are her husband, three children, two daughters-in-law, one son-in-law, four grandchildren and two brothers, Willard and John Link, of Mount Ayr, as well as other relatives and friends.

Always frail in health Mrs. Harrison had been seriously ill for many years, but she gave generously of her energy to her home, her children and her church. Her chief interest was in them and in the flowers she loved, which rewarded her by a profusion of bloom.

She joined the Christian Church at Hatfield when young and was an active member of the Mitchelville Methodist Church for many years. After she and her husband made their residence in Bethany, she renewed her membership in the Christian Church of that place.

Her busy life typified the Biblical story of "The Virtuous Woman, her price is above rubies. The heart of her husband doth safely trust in her so that he shall have no need of spoil. She will do him good and not evil all the days of her life. She layeth her hands to the spindle and her hands hold the distaff. Strength and honor are her clothing and she shall rejoice in time to come. She looked well to the ways of her household, and eateth not the bread of idleness. Her children arise up and call her blessed. Her husband also and he praiseth her. Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her in the gates."

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon, November 19, from the Christian Church in Bethany, conducted by the pastor. Burial was made near Bethany.

This was copied from a newspaper article found in the Willard Link Family Bible 28 May 1975. This Bible is in the possession of Henry Harrison Link, (son of Willard and Emma Harrison Link) of Tingley, Iowa.

95TH YEAR

Longtime engineer Harrison retired at 86

By Charlotte Miller

Most folks look at 65 as being an ideal time to retire.

But not Isaac Fletcher Harrison. He celebrated his 90th birthday this month, and has only been retired 4 years.

Mr. Harrison was chief engineer on the "Vulcan project" for Birmingham.....and thereby hangs a tale.

He was born in 1882 in Missouri, graduated from the University of Missouri with a BS degree in mechanical engineering in 1904.

He worked as an apprentice in the Union Pacific shop at Armstrong for 2 years, then worked in an engineering office in Kansas City.

He came to Birmingham to work for the firm of Ford, Bacon, and Davis from 1907 til 1908.

Then he founded a partnership and did small contracting jobs under the firm name of Harrison and Houston until 1913.

He went to Mobile in '13 and in 1914 again went to Kansas City, returning to Bessemer the same year to work on the Bessemer Realty Building.

(Last year the inside of the Van Antwerp building he engineered in Mobile was redone, but the outside of the building, although built in 1913, was still so sound, it was left untouched).

From 1917 until 1934 he was with Bessemer Clay Works.

In 1936 he was named as chief engineer for moving Vulcan to its present location atop Red Mountain.

Mr. Harrison had first seen Vulcan in St. Louis in 1904 at the World's Fair.

About 1915 he saw it at the State Fairgrounds standing with a pole to hold the left arm in place.

In 1936 he began working on a pedestal for Vulcan, and was asked to supply the necessary equipment for the dismantling of the figure so it could be moved to Vulcan park.

A serious accident almost resulted and Mr. Harrison was asked to take direct charge of the moving. Using a WPA crew, and a crew of Union riggers the figure was erected on the pedestal using the scaffolding and rigging already in place.

Everything except a small amount of stone work and some painting was done while Mr. Harrison was in charge. He was sent to work on the water works water treating plant for Tarrant city in 1937.

In 1949 Mr. Harrison, then past the age most men retire, came to St. Bernard. He was chief engineer when the library and new church building were erected. And he retired in 1968 at the age of 86.

While working on the church he designed and built a derrick to lift the stones into place for the church and designed and built a hydraulic press to shape the heavy beams in the church into arches.

The pottery wheel used in the ceramic shop was also designed and built by Mr. Harrison is the father of seven living children (one died in infancy). They are: Thomas, a sales engineer in Birmingham; William, who owns a heavy machinery and supply business in Houston, Texas; Margaret, a social worker with the state of Georgia; Jane Frances, a Benedictine nun who is president of a hospital at Council Bluffs Iowa; Isaac Fletcher, better known as Father Timothy at St. Bernard College; Edward, who is with the S & H Stamp Company in North Carolina; and Sister Eleanor, who is Dean of Cullman College.

Their mother was the late Margaret McQue Harrison.

Today he leads a quiet life with his second wife, the former Kathleen Quinn Thompson.

To look at him, one would never guess his age to be 90. For he walks with the gait of a man much younger, and even his hearing is sound.

In fact some folks wonder if he has really

His family has already made plans for his 100th birthday.

As any one must know who has seen the "Iron Man" 11 stories high on Red Mountain, it was no easy task to place him there. The one responsible for this "monumental" work, Isaac Fletcher Harrison, late of Cullman, was born on a dairy farm in Bethany, Missouri in 1882. He might well have become a well-to-do dairyman as many others in the area and in his family did. However, his interests were in things of iron and steel — or at any rate things which would remain beyond his lifetime.

He attended, and graduated from, the University of Missouri and became an engineer. He and a friend visited the 1904 Exposition at St. Louis. Perhaps it was more than coincidence that one of the exhibits which interested them was Vulcan, displayed by the city of Birmingham although Harrison was not aware then that he would become well known because of it.

His first job after college was with the Missouri Pacific railroad in Kansas City. He did not remain there long, but once remarked that diesels and other "modern" trains which were not on the tracks until many years later were on the designing boards and in models at the time so were nothing new to him when they came into daily use.

It was in Kansas City that he met his first wife, Margaret McCue, while he boarded with her grandmother who had several young engineers in her home. They were married in Birmingham where Harrison and George Houston had a partnership in the construction business. The partners built several schools in the Birmingham area and also worked a short while in Mobile.

When the partnership was dissolved, Harrison became associated with the Vulcan Tile and Brick Industry, later known as National Fire Proofing and was plant manager in the early 30's. By this time he had seven children and since the company was prone to pay in stock, his wife persuaded him to leave that work since they "couldn't eat stock."

He worked for the government and held various other positions until he was approached to do the pedestal for Vulcan monument, which was only one of many major engineering projects for

SISTER JANE FRANCES HARRISON osb
January 23, 1919-September 6, 1984

...Blest are the single hearted for they shall see God...(Mt 5, 8)

Isaac Fletcher Harrison and Margaret Mary McCue were blessed with a loving and devoted family. Seven children survived to adulthood and one baby girl having died a few hours after her birth.

On January 23, 1919 in Birmingham, Alabama, their fourth child, Jane Frances was born. There were two older brothers and an older sister. Later two more brothers and a sister completed the family. William, Fr. Timothy, O.S.B. and Sr. Margaret, O.S.B. preceded Jane Frances in death. Thomas Jay, Joseph Edward and Sr. Eleanor survive and helped gladden Jane's last summer with visits and short sightseeing trips. Her nephew, Dr. Tom Harrison of Sikeston, Missouri, with his family spent a day with her and Dr. Tom returned on Sept. 4 to spend several hours visiting. Another nephew, Paul Harrison was with her the evening she died from 7 to 7:15.

Jane Frances was educated by Benedictines from kindergarten through high school at St. Paul's in Birmingham. There she received a scholarship to Mt. St. Scholastica College, Atchison, Kansas, which she attended for one year. The following year she took a course on the Burrough's calculator and worked in Birmingham for over a year. Next she accepted a position in Washington, DC, in a department which was a forerunner of the CIA. After a year and a half, her desire to become a religious prompted her to resign this position in July, 1942. While making her final arrangements to enter the Benedictines of Perpetual Adoration at Clyde, she visited her family in Birmingham and her brother Ed, who was in the army. Jane Frances felt that through a life of prayer she could bring herself and others closer to God. Her entrance date was October 10, 1942.

On August 26, 1944, she pronounced her first vows, receiving the name, Sr. Mary Praxedes. Her profession companions were: Sr. M. Consilia Judge, Sr. Lucille M. Beyer and Sr. Gaudentia Sommer. She was stationed at our monasteries in Tucson, AZ, and Mundelein, IL, before making her final profession at Clyde, September 17, 1949.

In 1951 she was afflicted with an illness that required hospitalization for twenty three years. During the latter part of this period, she was able to be employed at the hospital as a nurses aide, and also visited her family. With several other Sisters she returned to her baptismal name, Jane Frances on Holy Saturday, 1974. In December of that year she returned to Clyde to resume monastic life. She helped in the infirmary and reception room until 1977 when she came to St. Louis. These were happy years for her. In St. Louis she worked at the Health Care Center, where she received the nickname "Hummingbird" as she cheerfully hummed while she worked. She enjoyed her friends and loved to travel, appreciated art and classical music. One of her ambitions was to visit as many churches as possible and for this she was teased about "Church-hopping". She had a great devotion to Mary and prayed the rosary by herself or with others.

The last year and half, Sister suffered with cancer; as the disease progressed she seemed to become stronger in her zest for life. It was not until about a month before her death that she was confined to bed. She was able to participate in community activities, almost to the end of her life. About 9 p.m. Thursday, September 6th, she breathed her last very peacefully. She had made two requests, both of which were honored: that she not be taken to the hospital and that her remains be cremated.

The community in St. Louis had a Vigil service on Sunday evening, September 9th, and the Memorial Mass on Monday, the 10th. In addition to the Sisters and local friends, the following family members were present: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jay Harrison from Birmingham, AL., and their son Tom from Sikeston, MO., Joseph Edward Harrison from Jacksonville, FL, and Sr. Eleanor Harrison OSB, from Montgomery, AL. The latter was accompanied by two other sisters from her community (Cullman): Sr. Adelaide and Sr. Ruth. Msgr. William James, from St. Jude's City, Montgomery, and a friend of the family, concelebrated with our chaplain, Fr. William Doyle, S.J. In his homily, Fr. Doyle quoted John Dunne's words "No man is an island unto himself ..." and "thus when someone is lost to us, we all suffer. Today we feel somewhat diminished." He went on to relate the present experience to Sr. Jane Frances' vow day when she joyfully died to material possessions, to the joy of a husband and children, to personal independence. "She was ready for whatever Christ asked..and He did ask; He asked her to suffer...He had asked her to drink deeply of the chalice and it was through the Cross that she found this suffering not only palatable but even sweet."

We her Sisters in community, marveled at Jane Frances' positive outlook on life and will continue to miss her cheery presence in community.

On Tuesday Septmeber 11th, Sisters Joy Ann Wege and Deanna Maria Pavone drove to Clyde with the cremains, where they were interred the following day at Mt. Calvary cemetery.

Notes:

FAMILY-OCCUPATION: Jerome Harrison, personal communication; 2002; email message dated 29 Sept. 2002 from Jerome and Marian Harrison to Ruth and Wayne McQuerry; NOTE: Text of message follows: Thanks for the Wave, Wayne! Good to hear from you. {Earlier I emailed Jerome and Marian (and others) a greeting that included a kitten waving it's paw.} Things on the Right Coast {Jerome and Marie currently live in the vicinity of Raleigh, North Carolina} are going Fair to Middl'en. All the family seems to be doing pretty fair. Joe just got back from Norway not too long ago, and wayward Paul is on his way to China and Korea for a company trip.

My sister Anne and I are probably the ones sitting in the most precarious position with our jobs. Always thought Telecommunications could take me wherever I needed, but the bottom appears to have dropped out in this industry. My jobs may vanish here before too long, then I'll have to figure out what I'm going to do when I grow up. Ann is in textile with Carter's baby clothes, and she's pretty much in a similar position as myself.

My mother is hanging in there right now. I enjoy going down to visit with her, but her mind is really slipping now.

She's a pretty happy camper most of the time, but she gets confused rather easily.

Give our best to Ruth. God Bless. Jerome & Marian

Joe Harrison was born the 6th of 7 children in Birmingham, AL in a devout Catholic family. He was either fortunate or unfortunate to be born into a family of scholars depending of your outlook. He was a marginal student at best, but his calling was not to be a scholar. His mother having so many children that were gifted students, was concerned about his ability to make a living. She echoed her concern, not for lack of love, but because of the benchmark his siblings had set. He took this as a challenge his entire life to prove that his mother's fears were unfounded for she had underestimated her son Joseph Edward and the spirit he had within him.

Joe Harrison was a depression era child and this would forever impact his nature. He learned to scrimp and save, and never relented from his saving methods even later in life when he had more means.

Joe Harrison was called to serve his country in WWII. It was during his Air Force training at Westover field in Massachusetts that he was fortunate enough to meet Marie Nadeau and the rest of her French Canadian family. They would correspond frequently throughout his combat tour in Europe. It was through this correspondence that they commenced their relationship that would last for the next 60 years. They celebrated their 56th anniversary in November.

He served in the 15th Army Air Corp based out of Italy and flew 13 combat missions. He was shot down on the 5th mission, and with the help of friendly Yugoslavian partisans and a Russian transport he was able to get back to Italy to his unit. He went from 165 lbs to 135 lbs. during this period - you see the people in Yugoslavia were starving, but offered what little they had. He would return twice later to Yugoslavia to visit Medjorgje and to try and find the people who aided him. On his return he flew more missions and was shot down once again over northern Italy. God had a plan for this man for unbeknownst to him in his effort to get back to friendly lines he walked straight through a mine field into the British lines. The British Infantry told him only after making it to their camp. Having been shot down twice this got him past the 50 mission requirement so he made his way back to the States.

About his war experience, he said, "he would not wish the experience on anyone, but he would not trade it for the world." This prepared him for everything thereafter for no other experience was truly a life or death situation as this war experience was.

He also indicated that on the descent of his second parachute jump that if he made it back alive he was going to marry Marie Nadeau .... If she would have him. They got married immediately following the war as most did back then. He often stated that the best thing he ever did was marry Marie. They had a common Catholic faith and both wanted more than anything to have a big family - mission accomplished. He based his upbringing on firm discipline that he received from his family and military training. He lived his life with fairly simple code of conduct based on the tenets of his Catholic faith, and had very little tolerance for anyone who waivered from these tenets, especially his children. He made good on ALL disciplinary measures with his family.

As hard as he could be at times, he also had an extremely soft, affectionate side. He would never hesitate to come up and give his family a hug, or to tell each and everyone of his family members that he loved them. He always had a "Nickel's worth of free advice", and it was usually heartfelt and sincere, and always perfectly frank. His advice was always sound, and much to the chagrin of his children, usually right. He had a series of adages for every situation that you could encounter and all the adages are permanently ingrained in his children's minds because he used them so often.

He worked extremely hard to provide food, shelter, clothing and values to his family. His frugal ways learned during the Depression were put to good use during this time. He also valued providing a Catholic and higher education to all of his children. With 9 children to provide for, he was fortunate to have married a woman that was so adept at managing the home and taking care of children for these were not his strong suites. His strong suit was his ability to communicate with his children and his work colleagues. He never new a stranger, and used his ability to communicate and to sell S&H Green Stamps for 37 years. His 37 years took him from Massachusetts to Connecticut, to North Carolina and to Florida where he retired at the ripe age of 62.

Joe had unwavering faith in himself and with his Lord which helped keep the family going. He loved his wife and family unconditionally. He was a proud man, but he was never to proud to ask for assistance from family and friends. We would be remiss if we did not mention the help of Memere and Pepere Nadeau, Auntie Jean and Uncle Herve early in their marriage, Pop Drolet's family in Connecticut, Doctor Bill Robie for his countless visits to the house in the middle of the night, Helen and Bob Steigerwald for providing shelter for wayward sons, the staff at Windsor Point Retirement Community, and a litany of other family and friends.

Christmas was also a special time in the Harrison house, an almost surreal time. It was, first and foremost, a religious celebration of the Christ Child's birth. This also was the one time of year that Joe and Marie would provide clothes & toys to the children which would hopefully last until the next year and would always be handed down. As with all things in the Harrison house there was an order, even to Christmas. You first went to church in the morning, came home and ate breakfast, cleaned the entire kitchen, and only then did we open presents, one at a time from youngest to oldest

In the last years of his life he offered up one last lesson - a lesson of humility. The Good Lord asks you to come before him humbly, and in his last few years, he gradually lost his ability to walk, take care of his personal hygiene, feed himself, and finally in the last week he lost his greatest gift, the ability to communicate. Through this his 6 year ordeal, he never complained, and often stated, "That there was no sense in complaining because no one was going to listen". We his children our comforted by the passage in Mathew 23, "The greatest among you will be the one who serves the rest. Whoever exalts himself shall be humbled, but whoever humbles himself shall be exalted."

As a tribute to him, everyone should have some toast with Raspberry preserves, and after eating the toast, for good measure, never mind the toast just take a spoonful right out of the Raspberry preserves jar and taste that goodness.

Joe Harrison you had only one goal in life and that was to make it to heaven. You realized that on the day of reckoning each person had to give an accounting of themselves. You also realized that you, like all of us, are flawed characters, and without the grace of the Almighty, and the dying and rising of his son Jesus Christ to forgive our sins, none of us could fit through the narrow door.

God bless you and grant you your forgiveness.

JOSEPH EDWARD HARRISON

FUQUAY-VARINA — Joseph Edward Harrison, 77, passed away on Friday, February 1, 2002.

Pepere, you taught us that the only goal important in life is to make it to heaven, everything else was secondary. You taught us the importance of prayer and that all the graces that were bestowed on you and our family were because of the time you and Mom spent on your knees in prayer asking the Lord for help and guidance.

"You wore your emotions on your sleeve. Happiness, anger, frustration, dismay, disgust and pity flashed across your face, but no one ever remembers seeing fear. . .but today there is nothing but peace."

You served your country well during WWII, having been awarded the Air Medal and ETO Ribbon with five battle stars. Maybe having to bail out of two planes during your 13 missions was the defining moment in your life and that hardened you for anything that the future held. You were fortunate enough to escape capture in occupied territory. With the help of unnamed Yugoslavian partisans you evaded capture for six weeks.

You had the gift with good old-fashioned "common sense" and an innate ability to assess people, and the best assessment you ever made in your life was marrying Mom, which you would not hesitate to tell anyone. The two of you complemented each other; you brought the unwavering self confidence, optimism, and faith that the Good Lord always provides a way. Mom brought the homemaking and children rearing skills. You won over not only Mom, but her parents as well, Monsieur and Madam Nadeau, with your southern hospitality (you weren't even a Frenchman).

You never knew a stranger and you used your "gift of gab" to the fullest to sell S&H Green Stamps for 37 years.

Joseph E. Harrison, you've lived a wonderful life and you have earned eternal rest. Your wife and your family will miss you—not one day will go by without us thinking about you. We thank you, Lord, for providing a wonderful husband, father and friend.

He is survived by his loving wife, Marie M. Nadeau Harrison of Fuquay-Varina; children, Jane and Steve Zanini of Jacksonville, FL, Paul and Natalie Harrison of Trinity, AL, Diane and John Lumsden of Kingwood, TX, Mary and Linwood Strickland of Apex, Carol and Mat Crovitz of Apex, Tim and Noel Harrison of Raleigh, Ann Harrison of Atlanta, GA, Joe and Judy Harrison of Huntsville, AL, and Jerome and Marian Harrison of Cary; 16 grandchildren; and sister, Sr. Eleanor Harrison O.S.B. of Cullman, AL.

Visitation will be 2-4 p.m. Sunday (today) at Mitchell Funeral Home, 600 St. Mary's Street.

Mass of Resurrection will be 11 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church, 2718 Overbrook Drive. Interment will follow at Raleigh Memorial Park.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be sent to Sacred Heart Monastery, PO Box 2040, Cullman, AL 35056.

Received from Charles DeLoach
 Director of Alumni Development
 Missouri State Normal School
 Maryville, Mo. Dec 15, 1999

Explanation: Entries on this side of the card are for regular, resident class-work only; see reverse side for all other credit. Work of a single quarter occupies one double column; the grade appears at the left, the amount of credit at the right of the red line. The exponent attached to a grade letter shows the quarter of the subject taken.
 The date of the quarter appears at the top; numbers 1-4 stand for fall, winter, spring, and summer; the year is that in which the quarter begins. All non-collegiate work is entered in red, and its credit is stated in units.
 Grades and credits are in their original form as first reported by the teacher; all alterations appear in the left-hand margin. Zeros in the credit column, except after failures or conditions, indicate work duplicated in advanced standing.
 Grade letters: E=Excellent, S=Superior, M=Medium, I=Inferior, U=Unsatisfactory, D=Delayed, C=Conditioned, Ex=Excused. All above U are passing grades.
