MARION MADISON MCQUERRY AND MARTHA JANE MILLER FAMILY

Marion Madison "Maddy" McQuerry, born 2 December 1863, Hancock County, Indiana, to Cally and Priscilla Jane (Mingle) McQuerry, came to Mercer County, Missouri, when he was about one year old. (See separate write-up for Cally and Priscilla.) Martha Jane Miller was born 31 October 1867 in Mercer County, Missouri, to Abraham and Deborah (Maxwell) Miller. Abraham and Deborah, both born in Ohio, married 26 September 1850 in Allen County, Ohio. They came to Harrison County, Missouri, about 1855 and moved to Mercer County a few years later. They had three daughters and five sons. Abraham was a Civil War veteran.

Marion Madison and Martha Jane married 22 November 1885 in Mercer County. Their first home was the "Weaning House" on Cally McQuerry's farm where their first two children were born. They moved to a farm in Harrison County south of Mt. Moriah in 1888. In 1900 they moved to a farm south of Bethany, Missouri, where their two youngest children were born.

Maddy and Martha Jane had seven children: Genettie (Nettie), Geneva (Neva, Peggy), James Madison, Charles Marion, Harlie Ward, Lois Lucille and Cally Wayne. Only James and Harlie had issue. Jim had one son and two daughters; Harlie had three sons and three daughters. Jim and Harlie each lost one of their daughters shortly after birth.

Martha Jane and Cally Wayne died, and Lois Lucille suffered severe injuries, 25 August 1911 when a train struck the spring wagon they were riding in at a crossing south of Ridgeway, Missouri. The accident thrust Nettie into the role of "mother" for the younger children. Later Maddy sold his farm and moved to Bethany, where he owned/operated a taxi service.

Marion Madison and Martha Jane were Baptists -- members of the Hamilton Church for many years. Martha Jane was noted for her "happy disposition" and "her kind-hearted neighborly ways". Maddy was a member of the I.O.O.F. He learned the trade of blacksmith at an early age and combined blacksmithing with farming. Maddy was of medium stature -- somewhat gaunt. He took great pride in his physical prowess; enjoyed competitive anvil tossing, running, etc. He delighted in holding a pitch fork at arm's length with his sons hanging onto the handle. The Mitchellville School teacher called on Maddy to be "peace maker" whenever somewhat inebriated "rowdies" threatened to spoil the School's Box Supper.

Marion Madison McQuerry died 8 May 1927 at his home in Bethany, Missouri. He was buried in the Hamilton Cemetery, Mercer County, Missouri, beside Martha Jane and Cally Wayne.

Between 1950 (when Mrs. Simms' husband died) and 1972 (when Mrs. Simms would have been 98 years old) 27 November was on Monday in 1961, 1967 and 1972.
