THE NAME AND FAMILY OF COMSTOCK

The name of COMSTOCK is believed to have been derived from the residence of its first bearers at Culmstock, a village near Exeter, England, but the name is said to have died out in Great Britain. It is found in ancient English and early American records in the variant spellings of Columstock, Culmstocke, Culmstoke, Colmstoke, Colmstocke, Culmstock, Colmstock, Coomstocke, Coomstoke, Coomstock, Cumstocke, Cumstoke, Cumstock, Combstocke, Combstocke, Combstock, Combstocke, Combstock, Comstocke, Comstocke, Comstock, and others, of which the form last mentioned is that most generally used in America today.

Some historians state that the family is of German origin and that it descends from a family of the name of Von Komstohk. No record of any such family or name has been found, however, by those who have endeavored to determine the correctness of this statement.

Among the fragmentary records of the family in England are those of one Petro or Peter de Columstock or Culmstock, who was living at Exeter in the year 1241; those of Richard de Colmstoke, prior of Taunton (near Culmstock) in 1325; those of Ralph de Colmstoke of Taunton in 1331; those of Mariana and Joannes (Marian and John) Combstocke, who died at London about 1595; those of Johannes or John Comstock, who died in London about 1603; those of Thomas Coomstocke of Stoke St. Gregory (near Culmstock), who was the father in the year 1636 of a son also named Thomas and who was probably the father in 1646 of another son, named John; and those of Thomas Cumstoke of Stoke St. Gregory (probably the same as the first mentioned of that name), who died in 1658. These early bearers of the name appear to have been largely of the landed gentry and yeomanry of England.

One of the first of the name in America was William Comstock, who came from England to Connecticut before 1637 and settled for a time at Wethersfield, whence he removed in 1649 to New London, in the same colony. Some family historians state that William was the father by his wife Elizabeth of William and Daniel, while others assert that he was the father of John, Samuel, Daniel, Christopher, and Elizabeth.

John Comstock, probable son of the immigrant William, was resident at Weymouth, Mass., as early as 1639, at which time he was only a young boy. He later removed to Saybrook and thence to Lyme, Conn. By his wife Abigail, whom he married shortly before 1662, he was the father of Abigail, Elizabeth, William, Christian, Hannah, John, and Samuel.

William, son of the first John Comstock of Lyme, was married in 1695 to Neomy or Naomi Nyles. They were the parents of John, William, Abigail, Ruth, Samuel, Phebe, Mary, and Elizabeth.

John, son of the first John Comstock of Lyme, married Mary Lee before the year 1712. Their children were Jonathan, John, Esther, Joseph, Christopher, Jabez, Abner, Levi, and Asa.

Samuel, son of the first John Comstock of Lyme, was married in 1705 to Martha Pratt, by whom he had issue of Martha, Samuel (died in infancy), another Samuel, Daniel, and Abigail.

Samuel Comstock, probable son of the immigrant William, made his home at Providence, R.I., about 1660 and was probably identical with that Samuel who was living at Hartford, Conn., in the year 1648. This Samuel of Providence left issue by his wife Anne or Ann of at least two children, Samuel and Daniel, and probably of others. No further record has been found, however, concerning the son Daniel or his descendants.

Samuel, son of the first Samuel Comstock of Providence, was married in 1678 to Elizabeth Arnold. They had issue of Samuel, Hazadiah or Hezadiah, Thomas, Daniel, Elizabeth, John, Ichabod, and Job, of whom the last removed to New York, and there may possibly have been another son, named Jeremiah, Daniel Comstock, son of the immigrant William, was residing at Providence, R.I., as early as 1646 and made his home at New London in the year 1652. He married Paltiah or Pelatiah Elderkin and was the father by her of Daniel, Mary, Sarah, Hannah, Hope, Zipporah, Elizabeth, Bethiah, Anne, Rebecca, Kingsland, Patience, and Samuel.

Daniel, son of the first Daniel of New London, was married in 1700 to Elizabeth Prentice, by whom he was the father of Peter, Daniel, John, Thomas, James, Jonathan, and Elizabeth.

Kingsland, son of the first Daniel Comstock of New London, made his home at Montville, Conn., and was first married in 1699 to Sarah Douglas, who gave him two sons, Samuel and Christopher. Between 1704 and 1706 he married as his second wife Martha Jones Whittlesey, by whom he had further issue of Nathaniel, Gideon, Zebediah, Caleb, Sarah, Martha, and Jonathan.

Christopher Comstock, probable son of the immigrant William, resided at Fairfield, Conn., before 1661 and was married in 1663 to Hannah Platt of Milford. He later removed to Norwalk, Conn., and left issue there of Daniel, Hannah, Abigail, Mary, Elizabeth, Mercy, and Samuel, and probably of Moses as well.

Daniel, son of Christopher of Norwalk, married Elizabeth Wheeler in 1692 and was the father by her of an only child, named Daniel.

Samuel, son of Christopher of Norwalk, was married in 1705 to Sarah Hanford, by whom he was the father of Sarah, Samuel, Mary, Nathan, Lydia, Daniel, and David.

Moses, probable son of Christopher of Norwalk, married Abigail Brinsmade or Brinsmead about 1709 and left issue by her of Abigail, Hannah, Martha, Abijah, Moses, Sarah, Phebe, and Dinah.

On the whole the record of the Comstocks in America is that of a serious-minded, conscientious, and self-reliant race, of considerable intellectual ability and ingenuity. Members of the family have been particularly outstanding as educators, scientists, writers, physicians, and lawyers.

Among the Comstocks who served as officers in the War of the Revolution were Regimental Quartermaster Aaron, of Connecticut; Lieutenant James, of Connecticut; Lieutenant William, of Rhode Island; Lieutenant John, of Connecticut; Captain Samuel, of Connecticut; and Lieutenant Colonel Adam, of Rhode Island. There were also numerous others of the name in the ranks from the various New England States.

John, Thomas, Samuel, William, Jonathan, Daniel, Peter, James, Christopher, Moses, and Joseph are some of the Christian names most favored by the family for its male progeny.

A few of the many members of the family who have distinguished themselves in America in more recent times are:

Anthony Comstock (1844-1915), of Connecticut and New York, reformer.

Theodore Bryant Comstock (1849-1915), of Ohio, geologist.

John Henry Comstock (b. 1849), of Wisconsin, entomologist.

Anna Comstock (1854-1930), of New York, naturalist and engraver.

George Cary Comstock (1855-1934), of Wisconsin astronomer.

Alexander Barr Comstock (b. 1886), of Michigan and Massachusetts, lawyer.

Daniel Frost Comstock (b. 1883), of Rhode Island and Massachusetts, physicist and engineer.

Louis Kossuth Comstock (b. 1865), of Wisconsin and New Jersey, electrical engineer.

The coat of arms used by the American family of Comstock is described in heraldic terms as follows (Crozier, General Armory, 1904):

Arms.--"Or, a sword point downwards, issuing from a crescent in base gules, between two bears rampant sable."

Crest.--"Out of a baron's coronet or, jewelled proper, an elephant rampant proper."

Motto.--"Nid cyfoeth and boddlondeb."

WHY YOU HAVE A FAMILY NAME AND WHAT IT MEANS

Primitive personal names doubtless originated soon after the invention of spoken language, in the dark ages long preceding recorded history. For thousands of years thereafter first or given names were the only designations that men and women bore; and at the dawn of historic times, when the world was less crowded than it is today and every man knew his neighbor, one title of address was sufficient. Only gradually, with the passing centuries and the increasing complexity of civilized society, did a need arise for more specific designations. While the roots of our system of family names may be traced back to early civilized times, actually the hereditary surname as we know it today dates from scarcely more than nine hundred years ago.

A surname is a name added to a baptismal or given name for the purposes of making it more specific and of indicating family relationship or descent. Classified according to origin, most surnames fall into four general groups: (1) those formed from the given name of the sire;

(2) those arising from bodily or personal characteristics;
(3) those derived from locality or place of residence; and
(4) those derived from occupation. It is easier to understand the story of the development of our institution of surnames if these classifications are borne in mind.

As early as Biblical times certain distinguishing appellations were occasionally employed in addition to the given name, as, for instance, Joshua the son of Nun, Azariah the son of Nathan, Judas of Galilee, and Simon the Zealot. In ancient Greece a daughter was named after her father, as Chryseis, daughter of Chryses; and a son's name was often an enlarged form of his father's, as Hieronymus, son of Hiero. The Romans, with the rise of their civilization, met the need for hereditary designations by inventing a complex system whereby every patrician took several names. None of them, however, exactly corresponded to surnames as we know them, for the "clan name", although hereditary, was given also to slaves and other dependents. This system proved to be but a temporary innovation; the overthrow of the Western Empire by barbarian invaders brought about its end and a reversion to the primitive custom of a single name.

The ancient Scandinavians and for the most part the Germans had only individual names, and there were no family names, strictly speaking, among the Celts. But as family and tribal groups grew in size, individual names became inadequate and the need for supplementary designations began to be felt. Among the first employed were such terms as the Hardy, the Stern, the Dreadful-in-Battle; and the nations of northern Europe soon adopted the practice of adding the father's name to the son's, as Oscar son of Carnuth and Dermid son of Duthno.

True surnames, in the sense of hereditary appellations, date in England from about the year 1000. Largely they were introduced from Normandy, although there are records of Saxon surnames prior to the Norman Conquest. During the reign of Edward the Confessor (1042-1066) there were Saxon tenants in Suffolk bearing such names as Suert Magno, Stigand Soror, Siuward Rufus, and Leuric Hobbesune (Hobson); and the Domesday record of 1085-1086, which exhibits some curious combinations of Saxon forenames with Norman family names, shows surnames in still more general use. By the end of the twelfth century hereditary names had become common in England. But even by 1465 they were not universal. During the reign of Edward V a law was passed to compel certain Irish outlaws to adopt surnames: "They shall take unto them a Surname, either of some Town, or some Colour, as Blacke or Brown, or some Art or Science, as Smyth or Carpenter, or some Office, as Cooke or Butler." And as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century a similar decree compelling Jews in Germany and Austria to add a German surname to the single names that they had previously used.

As stated above, family names fall into four general classes according to their origin. One of these classes comprises surnames derived from the given name of the father. Such names were formed by adding a prefix or suffix denoting either "son of" or a diminutive. English names terminating in son (or the contraction s), ing, and kin are of this type, as are also the innumerable names prefixed with the Gaelic Mac, the Norman Fitz, the Irish O, and the Welsh ap. Thus the sons of John became Johnsons; the sons of William, Williamsons or Wilsons; the sons of Richard, Richardsons or Richardses; the sons of Neill, MacNeills; the sons of Herbert, FitzHerberts; the sons of Reilly, O'Reillys; and the sons of Thomas, ap Thomases (ap has been dropped from many names of which it was formerly a part). There are also German, Netherlandish, Scandinavian, and other European surnames of similar formation, such as the Scandinavian names ending in sen.

Another class of surnames, those arising from some bodily or personal characteristic of their first bearer, apparently grew out of what were in the first instance nicknames. Thus Peter the strong became Peter Strong, Rober of small stature became Roger Little or Roger Small, and black-haired William or blond Alfred became William Black or Alfred White. A few examples of names of this type are Long, Short, Hardy, Wise, Good, Gladman, Lover, and Youngman.

A third class of family names, and perhaps the largest of all, is that comprising local surnames--names derived from and originally designating the place of residence of the bearer. Such names were employed in France at an early date and were introduced into England by the Normans, many of whom were known by the titles of their estates. The surnames adopted by the nobility were chiefly of this type, being used with the particles de, de la, or del (meaning "of" or "of the"). The Saxon equivalent was the word atte ("at the"), found in such names as John atte Brook, Edmund atte Lane, Godwin atte Brigg, and William Atwood, and Atwater; in other cases the Norman de was substituted; and in still others, such as Wood, Briggs, and Lane, the particle was dropped. The surnames of some of the Pilgrim Fathers illustrate place designations. Winthrop, for instance, means "of the friendly village"; Endicott, "an end cottage"; and Bradford, "a broad for". The suffixes "ford", "ham", "ley", and "ton", denoting locality, are of frequent occurrence in such English names as Ashford, Bingham,

Burley, and Norton.

Commencing about the time of Edward the Confessor a fourth class of surnames arose--names derived from occupation. The earliest of these seem to have been official names, such as Bishop, Mayor, Alderman, Reeve, Sheriff, Chamberlain, Chancellor, Chaplain, Deacon, Latimer (interpreter), Marshall, Sumner (summoner), and Parker (parkkeeper). Trade and craft names, although of the same general type, were slightly later development. Currier was a dresser of skins, Webster a weaver, Wainwright a wagonbuilder, and Baxter a baker. Such names as Smith, Taylor, Barber, Shepherd, Carter, Mason, and Miller are self-explanatory.

Some surnames of today which seem to defy classification or explanation are corruptions of ancient forms that have become disguised almost beyond recognition. For instance, Troublefield was originally Tuberville, Wrinch was Renshaw, Diggles was Douglas, Sinnocks and Snooks were Sevenoaks, Barrowcliff and Berrycloth were Barraclough, and Strawbridge was Stourbridge. Such corruptions of family names, resulting from ignorance of spelling, variations in pronunciation, or merely from the preference of the bearer, tend to baffle both the genealogist and the etymologist. Shakespeare's name is found in some twenty-seven different forms, and the majority of English and Anglo-American surnames have, in their history, appeared in four to a dozen or more variant spellings.

In the United States a greater variety of family names exists than anywhere else in the world. Surnames of every race and nation are represented. While a substantial number are of English, Scotch, Irish, Welsh, and western European origin, brought to this country by scions of families that had borne these names for generations prior to emigration, many others have come from central and southern Europe and the Slavic countries, where the use of surnames is generally a more recently established practice. Some families had no fixed surname until after their arrival in America; and in other cases emigrants from continental Europe or their descendants have translated or otherwise modified their names. These factors contribute to the difficulties encountered by students of etymology and family history.

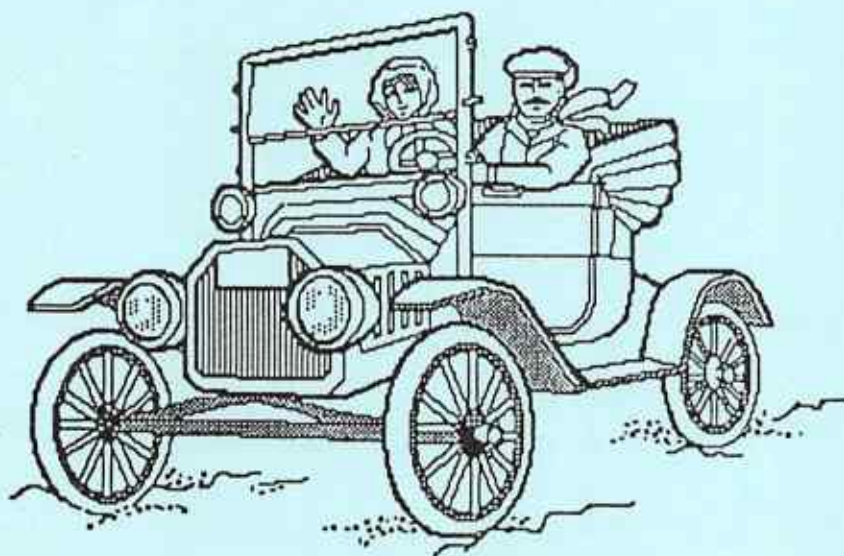

Those Americans who possess old and honored names --who trace their surnames back to sturdy immigrant ancestors, or beyond, across the seas and into the mists of antiquity--may be rightfully proud of their heritage. While the name, in its origin, may seem ingenious, humble, surprising, or matter-of-fact, its significance today lies not in a literal interpretation of its initial meaning but in the many things that have happened to it since it first came into use. In the beginning it was only a label to distinguish one John from his neighbor John who lived across the field. But soon it established itself as part of the bearer's individuality; and as it passed to his children, his children's children, and their children, it became the symbol not of one man but of a family and all that that family stood for. Handed down from generation to generation, the surname grew inseparably associated with the achievement, the tradition, and the prestige of the family. Like the coat of arms--that vivid symbolization of the name which warrior ancestors bore in battle--the name itself has become a badge of family honor. It has become the "good name" to be proud of and to protect as one's most treasured possession.

A PIONEER WEDDING

For a long time after the first settlement of this country the pioneers in general married very young & for those who were in their middle years it wasn't long usually after the loss of a spouse for a new spouse was courted & wedded. There was seldom a long term waiting periods but with the first signs of love resulted in marriage as soon as possible, and a family resulted with little labor & no cost.

The practice of celebrating the marriage at the home of the bride began almost from the very beginning; usually she had the choice of the person who performed the ceremony. The wedding drew the attention of everyone in the neighborhood; and young and old eagerly anticipated the events of the wedding day. It's easy to understand since a wedding was almost the only event which was not associated with some labor such as reaping, log-rolling, building a cabin, planning an hunt or campaign, etc. On the morning of the wedding day the groom & his attendants assembled at the house/cabin of his father so that they could arrive at the bride's house/cabin by noon, the normal time of celebration. Imagine the gathering of everyone young & old without a tailor or seamstress within a hundred miles; nor in the assembly of horses, mules, or oxen without blacksmith or saddler within the same radius. The men dressed in moccasins, leather breeches, leggings & linsey hunting shirts. The women dressed in linsey petticoats, linen bedgowns, stockings, handkerchiefs & buckskin gloves; buckles, rings, buttons, & ruffles were relics of parents or grandparents. Horses saddled, wearing bridles, halters, pack saddles, with a bag or blanket thrown over them, a rope or string or even a strip of leather as a girth.

The march in double file was often interrupted by the narrowness of the path for there were no roads. Often the ways were blocked by fallen trees or grape vines put there by neighbors for good or evil reasons. An ambushade might be formed with the discharge of guns so as to cover the wedding march with smoke followed by the sudden spring of the horses, the shrieks of the girls, & the chivalrous bustle of the young men to rescue the fallen. Sometimes despite all that could be done someone thrown to the ground sustained an injury, a sprain or broken wrist, elbow, or ankle was tied with whatever might be handy & little more thought was taken of it. Another ceremony took place before the party reached the house of the bride was the practice of whiskey making. When the party of the groom approached its destination, about a mile away two young men were selected to run for the bottle; the worse the path, the more logs, brush, hollows or obstacles the better since this afforded the opportunity to display their riding skills. In point of danger to the riders on the horses nothing this writer has experienced approaches this event. The start was announced by a rendition of the Indian war whoop then logs, brush, mudholes, hill & glen were speedily passed by the straining ponies. The bottle was always filled for the occasion, so there was no need for judges as to the winner for the 1st to reach the door was handed the prize to return in triumph to the approaching company announcing his victory with wild yells.

On approaching them he gave the bottle to the groom & his attendants who headed the party & then passed the bottle to each pair in turn to the end of the procession, giving each a swift swallow & storing the bottle in the bosom of his hunting shirt he reassumed his place in the line. The ceremony of the marriage proceeded the dinner, which was a substantial feast of beef, pork, fowl, & sometimes venison and/or bear meat; roasted and boiled with plenty of potatoes, vegetables and cabbage. During the dinner the great hilarity prevailed despite eating from a large timber, hewed with a broad axe, supported by four sticks in auger holes; on the table top some pewter plates intermingled with wooden bowls with a few battered pewter spoons or horns for ladling. Beside them no individual tableware; each person used his own scalping knife or equivalent usually attached at the waist inserted in a sheath. After dinner the dancing commenced and generally lasted until the next morning. Each dance was 3 or 4 handed reels or square sets or jigs. Often the jigs were interrupted by one of the parties, jiggling it off or cutting out, which meant they dropped out from the normal four who began without interrupting the musicians beat and thus the dance only ceased when the musicians paused to slake their thirst or assuage their hunger.

Towards the latter part of the night, if any of the company through weariness attempted to conceal themselves for the purpose of sleeping, their attempts were generally interrupted by the others who paraded them before the fiddler as they ordered him to play "Hang out till morning". About 9 or 10 o'clock a deputation of young ladies stole off with the bride & put her to bed; in doing this they had to ascend a ladder instead of a set of stairs, which led from the dining room to the loft. The ascent usually was hidden since it started from behind a door purposely left open for the occasion and with the candles being at the opposite side of the room, the exit of the bride was scarcely noticed. In this same way a deputation of young men in a like manner stole off with the groom. The dance still continued and since seats were often scarce the girls not dancing were obliged to use the lap of any obliging man. Pretty late in the night someone would remind the company that the couple might stand in the need of refreshments. Black Betty, which was the name for the bottle, was called for and delivered up the ladder, often as not accompanied by a variety of food enough for severally hungry young persons. Often the deputation were made thirsty by their task inquiring for "where is sweet Black Betty? I want to kiss her sweet lips" When Black Betty was passed to him, he would while raising her to his mouth, would say, "Here's health to the groom, not forgetting myself, here's to the bride, luck to her thumping big children." This was taken as an expression very proper and friendly since big children, especially sons, were of great importance in view of their scarcity in the midst of the hostile Indians, the end of which no one could foresee. Indeed, many seemed to suppose that war was the natural state of man & did not see a conclusion of it; therefore they considered every big son a young soldier. Returning to the party the activity sometimes continued for several days, at the end of which, everyone was so exhausted that it took several days longer to recover and resume their regular labors. Before we leave the description of events of the wedding perhaps those of Germanic origin would be interested in one game which generally accompanied those of German extraction. The groomsmen wore embroidered white aprons & as part of their duty was serving up the wedding supper and to protect the bride from having her shoe stolen while she was eating. If they failed they had to pay a penalty which was a bottle of wine was given to them but they were not permitted to drink until the bride's shoe was redeemed. One of the frolics also played was when the bride and groom were bedded the young people were admitted, a stocking rolled into a ball and given to each of the young ladies one at a time. She would go to the foot of the bed, face away from the bride & groom throw the stocking over her shoulder in an attempt to hit the bride's head. Should she succeed the young lady was the next to marry. In a like manner the young men did the same with the groom's head as their target.

Such were the simple and hardy folk by whom our country was found; and while for many years religion was almost a stranger to them, their children grew to adulthood without seeing the inside of a place of worship they were a moral and just people. They dealt out rude but effective justice among themselves before regular or formalized laws were legislated and which proved a more effective restraint of crime and vice than today's constituted policing personnel or regulations.

Colonial Life in America

The story of the brave men and women who sailed across the Atlantic Ocean from Europe, conquered a wilderness, and founded a new nation, is one of the greatest adventure stories of all time. Their courage and accomplishments took place in the remarkably short time of 168 years, beginning with the settlement of Jamestown in 1607, and ending with the start of the Revolutionary War in 1775. Most of the colonists were English but thousands of Dutch, French, Germans, Scotch, Irish, and Swedes were attracted to the new world. The English were late comers, but they were the first Europeans to live in the new world in large numbers.

In the beginning Spain had already developed a huge colonial empire in Central and South America; France controlled Canada and much of the Mississippi Valley. The French and the Spanish were interested primarily in returning to Europe with furs, gold, and other riches; secondly they wish to convert the Indians to Catholicism, consequently their settlements served as outposts for soldiers and traders, or as missions under control of the church and operated by the priests. On the other hand, the English colonies were settled by people from every walk of life who wanted to establish permanent homes. In making America their homeland, the colonists were sometimes helped by the Indians but often the Indians fought for their land. By working together the colonists overcame the wilderness and defeated the Indians. They produced plenty of food and other vital products on their farms and plantations, developed and carried on a thriving trade with other countries, built cabins, mansions, villages, and cities, established churches, schools, and local governments. They had to work hard, and they suffered many hardships, but during the colonial period they had better living conditions and more freedom than any other people in the world.

Most of the early settlements began as business projects operated by individuals or companies organized by merchants. These men obtained permits or charters from the king to colonize his lands in order to make a profit for themselves and to use the settlements to expand English trade and industry. They advertised America as a land of opportunity, and persuaded many to migrate to the colonies; in many instances providing the settlers with transportation, land, tools, and other supplies. Thousands of settlers knew they faced serious dangers and severe hardships but they had important reasons for accepting the challenge of taming the wilderness. Many could not find work in their homeland whereas everyone could find work in the new world where there was rich land to farm, and much timber to cut, and the waters and woodlands provided plenty of fish and game. Some came chiefly because they were promised freedom of worship. The Pilgrims were the first followed by other groups throughout the colonial period who came to escape persecution because of their religious beliefs, including Puritans, Quakers, Catholics, Huguenots, and Jews. Many others came because they were offered land free or at low cost. In those days, owning land gave a man a feeling of independence and the promise of a good life for his children; land ownership made a man a freeholder who had certain rights in the community, generally including the right to vote.

In 1585 the first English settlement was established by Sir Walter Raleigh on Roanoke Island off the coast of what today is North Carolina. These settlers returned to England and in 1587 another group came to the new world only to disappear mysteriously with scarcely a trace; history refers to this group as the Lost Colony. The first permanent settlement was established 14 May 1607 when the colonists, all men and boys, landed on Jamestown Island (now Virginia). ~~Many serious difficulties almost ruined the settlement one of which the region was swampy and unhealthy.~~ During the first year about two thirds of the settlers died of disease and starvation. More settlers were sent to Jamestown in 1608 but food was still scarce and so many died in 1609 that the year was subsequently known as the colony's "starving time". Indian attacks added to the difficulties but these stopped after the marriage of Pocahontas, Chief Powhatan's daughter, to John Rolfe resulting in a treaty signed in 1614. The treaty was broken in 1618 after Powhatan's death and many settlers were massacred in 1622.

The settlement survived when the Virginia Company replaced the traders and explorers with farmers and their families and also sent young unwed women who rapidly depleted the bachelors in the colony. The two chief reasons for the survival of the colony were that the colonists learned how to produce their own food and supplies and family life developed after the arrival of the women.

The second settlement of a permanent nature was by a group of men, women, and children who established the Plymouth Colony on the rocky southeastern shore of what is now Massachusetts. They were farmers and skilled workmen searching for religious freedom and called themselves Pilgrims. Their beliefs required them to work hard and live simply, and although they were quite different from the settlers in Jamestown, they suffered the same hardships and problems. Their "starving time" came during the first winter in 1620 when about half of the ninety-nine settlers died. In their relations with the Indians they were more fortunate. They signed a peace treaty shortly after their arrival which lasted for fifty years. Squanto, a friendly Indian taught them how to plant and grow corn and where the best fishing areas were located.

Indian Wars or battles between the whiteman and the redman resulted because of the different way of life of each group. The colonists refused to recognize the Indian's rights and regarded him as a savage without a soul. The Indians did not understand that when they signed a piece of paper they were signing away the land, not just the use of it. The Indians raised corn and vegetables and hunted wild animals for their food and clothing while the colonists made their living by farming. Usually this entailed clearing the land by destroying the trees and underbrush after which the wild animals could not survive. The Indian Wars were not like the wars we know of today. We would call them campaigns because the fighting generally took place within a small area and involved comparatively few people, usually between one tribe and the settlers nearby. Sometimes the fighting spread to include many tribes united against the whiteman. Most Indian Wars were little more than the futile attempts by desperate, poorly equipped Indians trying to keep their land and their way of life. A famous Indian fighter, Gen. Nelson Miles, said that "The art of war among the white people is called strategy or tactics; when practiced by the Indians it is called treachery".

Along the frontier there were many incidents of disagreement and distrust but some which developed into wars are worthy of note:

Jamestown (1622-1644) Virginia Colony

Pewquot War (1636-1637) Connecticut River Valley

King Philip's War (1675-1678) Plymouth Colony

The Pueblo Revolt (1680-1692) Spanish Colony

King William's War (1689-1697) New York and New England Colonies

Queen Anne's War (1702-1713) New England and Canadian Colonies

King George's War (1744-1748) north New England and Canadian Colonies

French and Indian War (1754-1763) Ohio Valley, New England, & Canadian

Lord Dunmore's War (1774) Ohio Valley

In each of the wars above there were hundreds of settlers and Indians killed and massacred regardless of the causes which precipitated the holocausts.

After the French and Indian War the Treaty of Paris in 1763 gave to England most of the land east of the Mississippi River and the French claims in Canada. Spain received most of the land west of the Mississippi River in exchange for their claims in Florida. After the English victory, they recognized the claims of the Indians to the lands to the west which the Indians occupied. A proclamation was issued which prohibited the colonists from settling west of the Appalachian Mountains and the land was reserved for the Indians. In this way they hoped to prevent further fighting between the colonists and the Indians. However the settlers who were ready to move to land beyond the Alleghenies refused to obey the proclamation of 1763 and this became one of the issues which led to the Revolutionary War.

Colonial society was made up of several classes. At the top were rich merchants and planters and their families. They were called the "gentry" or the "better sort". The gentry lived in mansions, traveled in comfortable carriages, used "Esquire" after their names and the women were addressed as Madam. They included ministers, doctors, and lawyers who had attended a university. Below the gentry were the "middling sort", most of whom were farmers or shopkeepers who owned property but were not wealthy. The lowest rank called the "meaner sort" consisted of poor people, including unskilled laborers, slaves, and indentured servants. The indentured servant was a person who came to the colonies under a contract to work for a master without wages, usually for a period of four to seven years. Instead of paying wages, the master paid for the servant's passage from Europe and provided food, clothing, and housing during the period of indenture. With the exception of the slaves the colonial society was the most democratic in the world, because members of the lower classes could easily rise to a higher class by hard work, education, or wise investment in property. Slaves, usually Negro, remained slaves unless their master freed them. If freed, work was usually hard to find and at low pay; if they left the neighborhood where they were known, they ran the danger of being arrested as a runaway slave and were sold back into slavery again. In the southern colonies most slaves worked as farm laborers or house servants while in the northern colonies they worked in homes or shops.

Each colony had a governor and a legislature; originally, in all colonies except Connecticut and Rhode Island, the governors were appointed by the proprietor. Those two colonies elected their governor. By the time of the Revolutionary War eight of the thirteen colonies had their governors appointed by the King. A colonial legislature was called an Assembly, except in New England, where it was known as a General Court. The people elected the members of the lower house in all of the colonies and in Connecticut and Rhode Island they also elected the members of the upper house. In Massachusetts, the upper house was elected by the lower house and in the rest of the colonies the King or proprietor appointed the upper house. Laws passed by a colonial legislature had to be approved by the King. Voting requirements differed and changed from time to time but usually it was founded upon property ownership, land being considered the basic property but other possessions could be substituted for it. A tenant farmer could vote if he owned valuable livestock, or a merchant who did not own his shop could vote if he owned valuable goods. Those who could not vote included women, indentured servants, slaves, and the poor. Most of the colonies limited voting and other rights of citizenship to members of certain religious groups. The rules governing citizenship and voting rights seem highly undemocratic today, but in colonial times these laws were broader than those of any other country, including England. Local government was administered in the south through county units and justices of the peace and in New England through town units or meetings and selectmen; in the middle colonies they utilized a combination of town and county units to administer local government. Law enforcement was the job of constables and sheriffs with death by hanging for such crimes as armed robbery, counterfeiting, murder, piracy, or treason usually adjudicated in the higher courts. In the lower courts such crimes as drunkenness, slander, swearing, theft, disturbing the peace, or breaking the Sabbath were tried and resulted in punishment including fines, public whipping, and suffering disgrace with the pillory, stocks, or ducking stool.

Colonial households were large because grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins generally lived with the family and included the servants as part of the family group. All members of the family worked toward the support of the household. The colonial father decided important matters affecting the household and his wife, children, and servants. They obeyed him without question since by law and by custom he was responsible for every member of the household.

¶ The first cottages built in Jamestown and Plymouth had thatched roofs like those in England but finding wood more plentiful than reeds or straw they were soon built with wood shingled roofs. In the northern climates, where the winters were very cold, chimneys of brick or stone were built inside the framework to supply warmth while in the southern colonies the chimney was generally built on the outside of the house because of the milder winters and to avoid overheating in the hot summer weather. A typical New England house had two stories in front, one in the back, and some were built of fieldstone that the colonists found in the neighborhood. In the Appalachian valleys, limestone was used for most houses; later during the 1700's brick was used in many houses but wood remained the least expensive and most popular building material throughout the colonial period. In the Delaware and Hudson River valleys many houses were of Scandinavian or Dutch design. In Delaware the Swedes built the first log cabin in 1638 which became the typical home of the pioneers as they moved westward. Furnishings were homemade except for a few possessions brought from Europe at first. The wealthy imported their furnishings until colonial cabinetmakers developed their craft, most of which were plain and strong in design and structure.

Life centered around the fireplace where the women prepared the food utilizing the utensils which hung nearby. The fireplace provided most of the heat and light for the family and everyone gathered in front to eat, work, relax, or entertain visitors. Clothing varied according to a person's occupation or position in the community. A farmer and members of his family wore rough, homemade garments while the wealthy had expensive clothing made of imported materials and designed in fashionable English styles. On small farms the women planted and tended a patch of flax, harvested the crop, spun the yarn, wove it into linen, and then made the clothing; she also wove woolen cloth from yarn spun from the fleece of sheep. Linens and woolens were colored with dyes made from certain barks, berries, roots, or walnut hulls. Cowhide and deerskin was tanned into leather from which shoes and leggings were made. A fashionable gentleman wore a wig that he sometimes powdered white; during the late 1600's these wigs were large and expensive and a man who wore one was called a "bigwig".

Food was plentiful after the first few years and the colonists ^{kept} themselves better supplied than any other people in the world. On the farms, they raised grain, cattle, hogs, sheep, chickens, fruit, and vegetables. In the fields and woodlands, they hunted deer, ^{bear, elk, moose} pigeons, ^{and} squirrels, wild turkeys, and other game. From the rivers and ocean they took clams, oysters, lobsters, and many kinds of fish. Corn was a basic food and was eaten in many forms mostly as corn bread known by various terms such as: ashcake, hoe cake, johnnycake, or corn pone. Meat or game was usually cooked with vegetables into a stew cooked in a large iron pot that hung over the fire on a pothook. Storing food was difficult for they had no method of canning or refrigeration. They salted or smoked some meats and dried or pickled certain vegetables; root vegetables and such fruits as apples or pears were kept in cool, dry cellars. Their meals in the morning and evening (breakfast and supper) were usually meat and bread and their heavy meal at noon along with beer, cider, rum, or wine. By today's standards their health was poor; mostly suffering from some type of sickness which they did not know how to treat or prevent, but no one in Europe or anywhere else knew how either and the general health of the colonists was no worse than any other group. Contagious diseases sometimes spread rapidly and took many lives when such epidemics as measles, smallpox, typhoid fever, bubonic plague, or yellow fever prevailed. Most took medicines made of barks, herbs, or roots and although they were believed to be powerful cures, usually failed. There were few trained doctors or nurses; most doctors studied medicine by helping experienced physicians until they were considered capable to treat patients on their own.

The colonists often gathered together to perform some task together and, at the same time, to enjoy games, contests, and other recreation. Raising a barn or house was an opportunity for the men and boys to stage foot races or have shooting and wrestling contests while the women and girls held quilting bees, spelling bees, etc.; sometimes they all joined together in singing. Weddings and holidays were important occasions for feasting, amusement, drinking, dancing, exchanging news, and gossip and sometimes lasted for several days. The tavern or "ordinary" and the church were the centers of the social life of the community where the children played many of the games that are still popular including hopscotch, leapfrog, London Bridge, hide and seek, prisoner's base, and blindman's bluff. Toys included balls, dolls, marbles, kites, tops, rolling hoops, and jump ropes. Most households had several cats and dogs for pets and many included various farm animals as house pets as well. The church greatly influenced the social and political life for most of the colonists were strongly religious having come to this country so that they could worship according to their beliefs. Most were known as Puritans, Quakers, Baptists, ^{Huguenots} Huguenots, or Jews and although they had fled to escape intolerance, they, for the most part, were intolerant of those whose religious beliefs were different than their own. In most of the colonies the church officials performed those services that are today generally the work of government agencies such as supervision of education, care of the poor, and records of ^{arrivals} births, deaths, and baptisms. Church laws were enforced by the courts which were particularly strict in the New England colonies; everyone had to observe the Sabbath from sundown Saturday until sundown Sunday. They could not cook, shave, cut hair, make beds, or many other tasks regarded as work; all their time during the Sabbath was supposed to be devoted to prayer. In the New Haven Colony of Connecticut the laws were bound in blue paper and consequently became known as the "blue laws". Many strong superstitions were brought with them from the old country including the belief that certain women had evil powers given to them by the devil. During the 1600's many women were persecuted as witches which reached the climax in the famous Salem witchcraft trials in the 1690's. Some of the women were imprisoned and a few were executed as a result of these beliefs.

In the early days there were no public schools and children were taught by the family. They learned obedience, religious beliefs, and the skills they needed in their daily life such as ~~farming~~^{how to}, ~~raising~~^{how to} cattle, ~~how to~~ handle a gun, ~~to~~ hunt, fish, ~~sewing~~, ~~spinning~~, ~~weaving~~, and ~~how to~~ cook and preserve food. Many of the poor were unable to read and write and it was not until the mid 1600's that public schools were established in New England. There were many private schools in New England called "dame" schools in which women or widows taught in their homes the alphabet, spelling, writing, and simple arithmetic. Usually only the rich could afford the private schools or tutors to instruct their children or wards but many of the poor children received their education by serving as apprentices (learners) to a master, craftsman, tradesman, or professional man. The master taught his skills to the boy and provided food, clothing, lodging, taught him to read and to write, and provided religious instruction. Girls were "bound out" by their parents as household servants, or apprenticed to become bookkeepers, cooks, or needleworkers. In return the boy or girl was to work hard, study faithfully, and be obedient and well behaved. Some children of the wealthy families served apprenticeships, especially in becoming lawyers. Harvard was founded at Cambridge, Mass. in 1636, the 1st college in New England

Travel in the 1600's and early 1700's was generally for short distances. Land travel was confined to foot paths which were widened in time to accommodate a man on horseback and still later widened further to accept a cart or wagon. Most of the early bridges could handle only foot traffic. Longer journeys were made by the waterways on oceans on many types of vessels such as sailing ships and boats, barges, ferries, rafts, and canoes. By the mid 1700's comfortable carriages were available for the rich and government officials. Until the 1750's colonists exchanged news by word of mouth and by letters given to a passing traveler or to post riders who traveled on an unscheduled basis along a certain route to a distant tavern where the letter was passed to another post rider or traveler and eventually reached the remote addressee. Villages had town criers who read official news or messages to the town people. In 1753 the first postal service was established connecting all of the colonies and by that time newspapers were being published in every colony except Delaware and New Jersey.

From the first, farming was the most important way of making a living.

The ~~first~~^{early} settlers had to produce food and the materials for clothing and shelter in order to stay alive. As the settlements grew they produced grains, tobacco, livestock, and other farm products for export. Industries developed in fishing, whaling, lumbering, shipbuilding, ironmaking, rum distilling, and flour milling; craftsmen made furniture, glassware, pottery, metalware of pewter, iron, and silver. Most farmers were successful because they worked hard and land was plentiful. By today's standards their methods were wasteful and unproductive for they planted the same crop repeatedly and except for some of the Germans did not fertilize and revitalize the land in any way. When an area became unproductive they simply cleared more land. Their tools were the axe, hoe, scythe, sickle, spade, mattock, and iron hoe, the latter two being respectively, to break up the soil or cut roots and a device to split logs into slabs. In spite of wasteful methods and poor tools, the farmer was as prosperous as any in the world. Even in New England where the growing season was short and the land rocky and difficult to have ~~a large farm~~^{large fields} the farmer produced enough vegetables, grain, and meat to feed his family and usually had extra for sale.

The New England colonies produced corn, timber, pitch, and tar; the middle colonies primarily corn, wheat, hemp, flax, beef, and pork; and the southern colonies corn, tobacco, rice, indigo, and later cotton. These products were exported to the other colonies or to Europe for other products or for the manufactured goods of Europe. The English system of protecting their national industries from competition from the industries of other countries was called mercantilism and this included the industries of their own colonies. Parliament tried to strengthen these controls by a series of laws which became known as the Navigation Acts. Some of these laws required the colonists to trade almost entirely with merchants in England or in other English colonies, and to use only English ships. The colonies got around these laws by developing trade routes with southern Europe, the West Indies, and Africa. In triangular routes the colonies shipped raw materials to these intermediate points, traded for other raw materials, and then sailed to England and traded for manufactured goods for return to the colonies. Fishing and whaling became important industries in New England because the land was not suitable for raising large crops and the ports were within easy sailing distance to the finest fishing and whaling waters of the northern continent. The principal fishing centers were Boston, Gloucester, Marblehead, and Salem where the catches of cod, halibut, herring, and mackerel were processed. Nantucket, New Bedford, and Provincetown were the main whaling centers where the oil was used for lamps and the whalebone as stiffening material in women's clothing. Lumbering was an important activity in all the colonies not only for export but for building houses, riverboats, shipbuilding, barrels, casks, and hogsheds; the last three were important in shipping fish, indigo, rice, tobacco, and whale oil. New England was the center of the shipbuilding industry.

because of the demand for fishing boats and merchant ships and because of the ready availability of good timber such as cedar, maple, oak, and white pine. By the end of the colonial period the colonies were producing over one third of the ships for the English merchant fleet. Iron ore was the most important metal found in this country and the hard woods need^{ed} to make charcoal, the chief fuel used to smelt the iron ore, was readily available. Other industries developed because of the need of products and services by the various communities. Almost as soon as a village was established someone set up a grist mill to grind grain into flour or meal. Next, perhaps a blacksmith built a shop to repair or make farm tools. As the community grew it needed coopers to make barrels, brewers, bricklayers, glassmakers, papermakers, ropemakers, tanners, etc.

The English government did not allow the minting of coins by the colonist but Massachusetts built a mint despite this restriction from 1652 to 1683 they made various silver coins including what is called the pine-tree shilling. Although Massachusetts and some of the other colonies were sometimes permitted to print paper money, coin or specie was chiefly used. Most of the coins came to the colonies through trade with the West Indies and were mainly gold or silver. Merchants weighed the coins on special scales because customers frequently clipped or shaved the edges to get the precious metal. In trade with each other the colonies sometimes used fur or wampum as part of the system of barter. In some instances crops, cattle, grain, or tobacco were used as money.

As has been ^{stated} noted the life of the colonists was filled with hardships, wars, disease, poor communication, transportation, and recreation in relation to life today. In relation to other peoples throughout the world of their day however they had more ^{religious & political} freedom, were better fed, had greater opportunity to better themselves, and they were laying the foundation for one of the best and longest forms of ^{Republic} government in the history of mankind. ^{Democratic govern-}ments had been tried in the past successfully but over a small ^{geographic} area. Today our form of government by the people is the envy of the world.

LEONARD ARTHUR COMSTOCK - MAHALA ANN (GEORGE)

Leonard was born on the 5 Jul 1864 on the farm of his father which had been purchased by his grandfather in 1836 when he had moved from Springfield, Mass. Len grew to manhood on what was known as the home place, 120 acres, which lay just west of 120 acres purchased by Henry Comstock, Len's uncle, in the same year 1836. Just east of that farm across the county line in Mc Donough Co was the farm of Phillip George, and his daughter Mahala. When Len and Mahala were almost 25 they married and settled on the Comstock farm where their first children were born. In 1891 Mahala's mother died and Len & Mahala moved to the George farm sometime between 1892 and 1896. Maude & Claude, twins were born in Nov 1896 & both died one died apart in Jan 1897, whether before or after their parents move hasn't been determined. Mahala gave birth to two more children in 1898 and 1901. Afflicted with sugar diabetes her health failed and in 1910 while in the hospital in Excelsior Spring, Mo. for treatment she died from complications. In a letter to her youngest son two weeks before her death she speaks of grandma and of Ruth, and Alf. Ruth was a 17 year old cousin, daughter of Henry Comstock, and Grandma was Phillip George's 2nd with Matilda S (Larson), from Sweden. When Len hired Belle Sights, seamstress, as a housekeeper isn't known; for she served to help raise the four boys ranging in age from 9-19. Belle had operated a millinery shop in the town of La Harpe had a crippled arm from a railroad accident as a girl. She remained as housekeeper for a number of years, probably until 1922. The farm was a picture of neatness and organization; everything freshly painted. In the thirties the large white pump house in the yard by the front door with the windmill projecting above & the large printed name Comstock in contrasting black. In 1940 the farm passed to the son Ross, & in turn today is owned by his son, Roger. This farm now has been in the family for 113 years owned by the same surname, Comstock, 92-96yrs. In 1939 or thereabouts Len moved to live with his other son, Ward, and his wife, May on a farm in Dallas City township where he spent the rest of his days. He died 1 Apr 1944. The children of this union were:

Charles William (55) was born 26 Jul 1828 in Springfield, Hampden Co., Mass. to Charles & Sophia (Bonner) Comstock. His father & older brother, Henry worked for the Armory in Springfield, Mass. In 1836 the two families moved to Hancock Co., Ill., bought adjacent farms on land just about 2 miles east of the town of La Harpe. Henry took the eastern most farm which was in Sec 24 La Harpe trap McDonough Co. and Charles' was in Sec 2. Charles Wm attended rural grade school for an undetermined period, but long enough that he knew how to write. He and Julia Ann (Haggerty) were married by a Justice of the Peace in Carthage, Ill. on 19 Dec 1852.

Julia was daughter of Joseph & Elizabeth (?) Haggerty who came to Hancock Co., Ill. in 1841. Julia was born in Ky. poss Harrison Co., between Dec 1835 & May 1836 second of four or eight children. Four children were born to this couple on the family farm before Charles Wm was drafted into the Union Army as private on 8 Oct 1864 at Quincy, Ill. He was assigned to the Co C 12th Regt. Ill. Infantry Volunteers. His physical condition was described as 5' 10", blue eyes, auburn hair, light complexion, farmer by occupation, 36 yrs. He served in North Carolina and Tennessee until Mar 1865 when he was temporarily attached to Co B 15 Regt Conn Inf Volunteers to participate for about 3 weeks detached duty under Gen'l Sherman's command at or near Beauford, North Carolina. During this period he participated in the Battle of Kinston which took place 10 Mar to 13 Mar in N. Carolina. In this engagement the Confederates failed to stop the Union from advancing from Newberne, N.C. to join Gen'l Sherman at Goldsboro, N. C. Gen. Sherman completed his "march to the sea" the following month while Charles Wm was returned and went to the hospital at Raleigh, N.C. on 13 Mar 1865, his condition described as "sick" through Mar and 30 Apr. On 10 Jul 1865 at Louisville, Ky. Charles Wm was mustered from the rolls of Co C 12 Regt. Ill. Inf. A week later he was in Camp Butler, Ill. and honorably discharged two days later on 20 Jul '65 at Springfield, Ill. with pay due from day of enrollment of $36.43 (about $3/month).

Home again the last child was born to Charles and Julia in 1871. Between mid July '65 & enumeration day in '70 Charles acquired the management of his father's farm. Ownership of acreage acres included a farm house, barn and accouterment passed to Chas. before the enumeration of the 1870 census when his father was listed as living in the Chas. Wm household. Believed to have been 120 acres. On 21 Apr 1883 Charles made application for a pension which was granted for $6 per month for rheumatism & resulting disease of the heart. After his death a claim for increase was allowed in Jan 1897, the rate being increased to $10 from 16 September 1891, to the date of his death. The accrued pension which became due was paid to the widow Julia. Chas. was a member of the Masonic order, a registered Republican, & in 1880 appointed School Trustee, a Congregationalist at the time of his intestate death 3 Feb 1893 at 64 yrs 4 mos 13 das. On 19 Oct 1893 the widow Julia filed claim for a widow's pension which was rejected in Jan 1897. In Aug 1897 she refilled for a widow pension under the old law which was rejected in Jan 1898 which was appealed that although his medical records so indicate there was sufficient affidavits and evidence to establish that was treated for acute bronchitis during the latter part of his service; and that he had suffered from this said disease continuously up to the time, e of his death. At the time of Julia's death in 1910 she was drawing a widow's pension of $12 per month. The census records do not indicate that either was incapable of reading or writing. But the number of years of formal schooling remains unknown. The signatures of both appear on the documents pertaining to the pension from his service during the Civil War. Chas. was bur. in the La Harpe Cem. Lot 43 Bl 3 with his wife beside him after her death Jan 1910. Both plots were purchased by Julia at the time of Chas. burial. Children of this marriage were

CHARLES COMSTOCK - SOPHIA (BONNER)

Charles was born 9 Jan 1800 Saybrook (now Old Saybrook), Middlesex Co., Mass. died Jan 1880 La Harpe, Hancock Co., Ill. m. 24 Jan 1825 in the 1st Church (Congregationalist) of Springfield, Hampden Co., Mass. Shortly after his birth his parents moved from Conn. to Springfield where his father built and managed a large hotel. Like his older brother, Henry, George became an armer in the U.S. Army at Springfield. Sophia was born probably in Springfield where she was baptized in the 1st (Congregational) Church on 9 Mar 1803. Her grandfather had settled there from London, Eng. in the 1740's & her parents were still there when she married. In 1836, about 11 years after their marriage Charles and his family along with Henry and his family moved to La Harpe, Hancock Co., Ill. They settled on adjoining farms in Sec 23, La Harpe trap. located 1 1/2 miles east of La Harpe. Henry's on the most eastern Charles on the west on 120 acres. (In 1972 Henry's farm was known as the Charles Hart farm. Charles' farm was known for three generations as the "home place" to the Comstock family. In 1880 the price per acre was $80.00). Charles & Henry were amongst the earliest settlers in the county. They were able to assist each other in the development of their individual farms. Charles was listed with wife & son in the 1840 census next to Henry & wife with 8 children. In 1850 Charles with wife & two children next to Henry. In 1860 Charles, Sophia, & daughter, Abigail, next to son, Charles William on one side & Henry, wife Lucy, & 4 children, Richard, George, Albert, and Armenia on the other. Sophia died 1867 probably at home on the farm. Charles turned the management of the farm over to his son, Charles William with title to the land passing some time later. In 1870 Charles was retired & living with son, Charles Wm. & wife, Julia next to Henry & Lucy who were living alone. In Jan 1880 Charles died on the family farm at the age of eighty. The children of Charles & Sophia were:

JOSEPH HAGGERTY - ELIZABETH (?)

Joseph Haggerty was b. in Ky. about 1807 of unknown parents or heritage. He married Elizabeth (?) in the early 1830's. From the census her birth was Virginia about 1806; her parents and heritage remain unknown. At least five possibly seven children were born in Ky, probably Harrison Co. where the Head of House, Joseph Haggerty, white male 30-40 was living in the 1840 census. Also a white female 30-40, one white female & one white male 15-20, one white female 5-10, and 2 white female 2 white males under 5 each. About '41 or '42 the family migrated to Ill. In the 1850 census they were living in Hancock Co., Ill. with 4 children, Hiram 15, Julia A 14, Sarah 12, & Clementine 7. The eldest 3 born in Ky the youngest born in Ill. By comparing the 1840 to the 1850 census 2 persons in the 15-20 ages are not accounted for, nor the white female 5-10 and the one white female under 5 and the one white male under 5. In the 1850 census Joseph's occupation, farmer, all of the 4 children attended school during the previous year. In the 1860 census the family was still intact living on a farm in Pontoonac township, Hancock Co. with one unmarried daughter, Sarah and married daughter, Clementine with her husband A.S. Carper, a barber living in the same household. No additional record of Hiram or Sarah has been found. The daughter Julia, our ancestor, had married Charles W. Comstock lived in the nearby township of La Harpe. In the 1870 census Joseph and Elizabeth lived in the household of their son-in-law, Adam S Carper in Dallas City, Pontoonac township, who had 3 children. Joseph had apparently retired from farming although his occupation was described as farmer. In 1880 only Joseph 73 was listed living in the household of A S Carper. Elizabeth had died between 1860 and 1870. Joseph died 6 Oct 1880 and was buried the following day in the Dallas City Cemetery, Hancock Co., Ill. The children of this marriage were:

Three brothers were all born in the Hesse province of Germany near the end of the eighteenth century. John, said to be the eldest, was disinherited by his father when he married Catherine (Kube) against the wishes of the father. The mother attempted to help financially but the young couple left Germany in 1839 to settle in Augusta Co., Va. Henry, our ancestor & brother to John was born in Kassel, Hesse province, Germany on 25 Jul 1793. He married Elizabeth Dora (Schäfer) prior to 25 Jun 1825 when the first of their seven children was born, all in Kassel. Henry & his family, & the third brother Justice sailed to America in 1848 landing at Baltimore, Md. then settling near Waynsboro, Augusta Co., Va. until 1854 when they removed to McDonough Co., Ill. arriving in 1855; a short visit with their son, Jacob, in Ross Co., Ohio accounting for the small delay. Two of their youngest children, Philip & Andrew remained unmarried upon their arrival in Tennessee transp. McD. Co. Henry, Elizabeth, and the two boys began farming, the following year on 21 Dec 1856 Philip married and left home. On 8 Jan 1869 Elizabeth died followed by Henry on 30 Sep 1856. X. DAVID BONNER-ABIGAIL MORGAN

David was born about 1757 in Springfield, Hampshire Co., (now Hampden Co.) in the Massachusetts Bay Colony; he was baptized there on 13 Mar 1757 in the Congregational First Church of Springfield. Upon his death in 1815, David's age was given incorrectly as in his 55th year; ergo this would make his birth as 1760-61. Conversely his military records give his age as 28 on the 16th of Jun; the year was not shown but is believed to have been 1778 or at the latest 1780 thus David was born 1750 to 1753. The records of the 1st Church of Springfield are quite clear on the baptism date, as they are arranged chronologically, so that David's date of baptism is in sequence; additionally David's parents were married in the same church on 18 Sep 1755 & had David been born before the marriage the moral code of the community and church would have created such an outrage that they could have been ousted from the colony or put into the pillory, etc.

David was the first of seven or eight children of David & Mercy (Hancock) Bonner who grew to manhood in the Springfield area. When he was in his 21st year he enlisted in the Continental Troops, in the 3rd Mass. Regt. commanded by Col. John Gorton; in the early years in Capt. Charles Colton's Co. & then later Capt. Joseph William's Co. He served several enlistments of 6 or 9 months each as a Private and was discharged finally on 10 Dec 1780; his earnings were $6.67 per month.

After his release David next appears in Springfield in Dec 1787 when he married Abigail (Morgan) in the 1st Church there. Abigail had been born in Springfield and was baptized in the 1st Church on 23 Mar 1767, the daughter of Samuel & Abigail (Cooley) Morgan. She was the eldest of eight children, all of whom were born in and baptized in Springfield, the latter in the 1st Church there. Abigail grew to womanhood in the same community & when she was 20 she married David. They settled in Springfield and there Abigail gave birth to nine children. One, our ancestor, Sophia is known to have survived to raise a family of her own; five are known to have died before reaching their majority or in infancy; three others may have survived to marry but no information has been found to establish this as fact. David & Abigail are listed in the 1810 census, David as head of household and white male over 45, Abigail as white female over 45; the under ten female is our ancestor Sophia still at home with her parents; there are two under ten males also in the same household which I have been unable to identify. They are perhaps children of relatives living with David & Abigail. David died 28 Jul 1815 in Springfield; whether Abigail died before or after David is not known. The children of this marriage are:

X. SOLOMON WELCH-BARBARY ANN (HUFFMAN)

Solomon Welch was born after 1790 probably about 1791 since consent was required at his marriage in 1811 from his mother, Jane "Hudy" (?) Welch Jones in Nelson Co., Ky. A month after the bond above, on 19 Aug 1811 in the next county, Shelby, Solomon and Barbary Ann (Huffman) were married. They settled in Nelson Co. and there first child was born 26 Jun 1812. Solomon enlisted 3 May 1813 and according to affidavits for a land warrant in his name he was gone from home for 18 months. His 2nd child of record was born 22 Sep 1814 which suggests that he must have been home in Jan-Feb 1814 for conception to have occurred. By family tradition he participated in the Battle of Tippecanoe & the Battle of New Orleans-the first took place before his enlistment & the 2nd after his discharge on 3 May 1814. His military records show he enlisted as a private at Frankfort, Ky 3 May 1813, served in Joseph C Betts Co. 28th Infantry. Solomon's death was in the fall of 1818 in Nachez, Adams Co., Mississippi. His widow Barbary remained in Nelson Co., for some 30 years or until 1848 when she removed to McDonough Co., Ill. with her sons. In Sep 1858 Barbary or "Pevy" as everyone called her died in McDonough. The two children of this marriage are:

THE SWEASY FAMILY LINE

JOSEPH SWEASY - / / NANCY (BATMAN)

Joseph Sweasy first appears in records of Nelson Co., Ky. when he married Nancy Bateman of that county, 18 Dec 1806. Census records give New Jersey as the birthplace of Joseph (probably Sussex or Warren counties); further proof of his heritage have been unsuccessful; however, it is most certainly sure that his parentage rests with those Swaseys who moved to Roxbury, New Jersey from Southold, Long Island. Originally the patriarch, John Swasey/Swaze/Swezey & his sons, John & Joseph, arrived from England and settled in Salem, Massachusetts as early as 1632. A few years later in 1640 he had acquired land there; in 1660 because of religious differences with the Puritan leaders of the colony/plantation John & John Jr moved to Southold, Long Island with other Quakers. It is said that the 2 brothers made an agreement that those who remained with Joseph would continue to use the spelling of the family name in all business & family matters as Swasey; those who were moving would use the spelling Swezey with no difference in pronunciation. In 1737 Samuel Swaze (4th generation, John, John, Joseph) moved to New Jersey settling in Roxbury, Morris Co. It is probable that this Swaze/Swaze was more dedicated in his Quaker views than his predecessors who had emigrated from across the ocean to Salem because of their religious views. And then to Long Island & New Jersey in their search for search for religious freedom. With the acquisition of land the growing political preference of the as Loyalist was the minority viewpoint. Judge Samuel Swaze bought 800 acres of land in the town of Hope, New Jersey in 1743 & divided the land equally between his 2 sons, Barnabas & Israel. To his sons Rev. Samuel & Richard he set off part of his own land. Before the Revolution began, in 1773, they sold their land & went to Mississippi (then Western Florida). To his son Caleb he gave another portion of his own farm; during the Revolution War Caleb was amongst the first of the family to emigrate to Canada. Barnabas & Israel remained near Hope in Warren County, New Jersey where they reared their families and they in turn raised their families. It is to this last generation that the father of Joseph "Grandpappy" Sweasy appears to have come from. The book "The Swasey Family" by B. F. Swasey (1910) does not show Joseph or his brother, William but males descendants of either Barnabas or Israel are not complete and show the best possibility as the father.

On 18 Dec 1806 Joseph in Nelson Co. Ky. married Nancy (Bateman), daughter of John & Jenny Jenet (Braun). Jenny's parents had married in Nelson Co. in 1788 and appears to be the only child of that marriage, she was born about 1789. They settled in the extreme northeast portion of what is today's Nelson County, just north of Chaplin. In the 1810 census Joseph was shown as head of household 16-25yrs with 1 white female 16-25yrs (his wife Nancy), 2 white males & 2 white females, each under 10 (Elizabeth, Nancy, & Valonius & an unidentified male under 10). Three more children were born to Nancy who appears to have died after the birth of the last (Margaret) on 25 Jul 1814 & before 15 May 1816 when Joseph married in Washington County, Ky. Mary (Hungate).

Mary, according to the census, was born in Pennsylvania between 1776 & 1780. One child was born to this union, Thomas, probably in Washington County, Ky. where Joseph had bought land in 1819. He was also listed there as head of household in 1820 26-44yrs, white male, and a white female 26-44yrs (Mary, his wife) 2 white males 10-15yrs, 3 white males 1-9yrs, 2 white females 16-25yrs, and 4 white females 1-9yrs. According to the 1830 census of Nelson County Joseph was head of household, a white male 40-49yrs, a white female 50-60, 1 white male 15-19yrs, 2 white males 10-14yrs, 1 white female 20-29yrs, 2 white females 15-19yrs, & 1 white female 10-14yrs. Only four of the added children have been identified (Jesse, Mary, Margaret & Thomas the sole issue of his 2nd marriage). There are several possible solutions to the unidentified minors of the 1920 census. Whenever Joseph & his new family returned to Nelson Co. they settled about 3 miles north by northeast of Chaplin where he remained for the next forty years. When the 1840 census was taken all of the children had left home to marry and start families of their own except Thomas who was 20 & would marry in 4 years. Sometime between the 1840 & 1850 census, Mary, the 2nd wife of Joseph died.

Joseph's nephew, Levi was living in Anderson Co., Ky. with his wife & 3 children when he died at sometime in 1848 or 1849. The widow, Mary & her 3 children, moved into the household of Joseph prior to the enumeration date of 1 Jun 1850, where Joseph 67, Mary 29, Wm. A. 9, Sarah L. 4, James M. 2. All were born in Ky. except Joseph who was shown as born in New Jersey. His wife Mary F (Hughes) Sweasy married Joseph as his 3rd wife in Nelson Co. on 12 Aug 1850. Mary, the daughter of William Hughes of Virginia was born in Ky. 1 Aug 1821 probably in Anderson Co. She & Joseph settled in his home near Chaplin where the 1860 census listed Joseph 78; farmer; born New Jersey can't read or write; Mary, 39 born Ky. can't read or write, the step children Wm. 18 born Ky., Sarah 13 born Ky., James 12, born Ky.; & the children of this union Joseph 8; born Ky.; Mary 6, born Ky., Nancy 5 born Ky.

On 12 Jan 1 1867 Joseph died and was buried in the Green Chapel Methodist Cemetery at Chaplin, Ky. at the age of 86. Joseph died intestate and settlement was not made until 1875. The estate was $118.22 to be divided among nine named heirs as follows: Joseph, Valorus, Jesse, Thomas, Nancy Hamilton, Mary Welch, Margaret Sorten, Sweasy, & Sweasy. Elizabeth was not mentioned although she was alive & living in Anderson Co. Nancy & her husband William Hamilton had moved to Anderson Co. for the 1840 census & had he had signed a bond for the marriage of Margaret Elizabeth Sweazy to Martin B Salamon in Jul 1846 in Nelson Co. & does not appear in the 850 census of Ohio, Ill, or Ky. Valorus & Jesse lived in Nelson Co., Thomas had moved to McDonough Co., Ill. in 1859. Mary Welch had moved with her husband & family to McDonough Co. in 1848 where she died in 1857. Margaret Sorten had moved with her husband & family to McDonough Co. in 1849. Joseph G was living in Anderson Co. The two un-named Sweasy heirs remain unexplained; why was the widow, Mary not included in the settlement? For that matter why was Joseph G included and his two minor sisters, Mary & Nancy Ann who were both still living in 1875, not named as heirs?

Mary continued living in the same place and in 1870 was there with the 3 children of Joseph; her children by Levi having married and establishing their homes nearby. Mary's age was shown as 40 instead of 49. In 1980 Mary was living in the home of her son, Joseph G. in Nelson Co. with his wife & 2 year old son. This time her age was shown as 55 instead of 59. On 9 Dec 1884 Mary died as was buried in the Green Chapel Methodist Cemetery at Chaplin.

X. JOSIAH COMSTOCK-LUCY PRATT

Josiah was born 1770 in the Connecticut Colony, possibly in Saybrook township Essex parish; the third child and son of Samuel & Laura (Merritt) Comstock and a sixth generation in this country ~~and in this locale~~ (about 135 years). Josiah's early years were on a colonial farm, ~~where~~ ^{known to have been} when he was 7 his eldest brother was killed in the Revolutionary War (age 12), his father was serving 6 years until Josiah was 13, his next older brother Samuel served in the RW for a period of time as well. When he was about twenty-two Josiah married Lucy Pratt who apparently was related to one of the Pratt families in the immediate area, of which there were several. Her relationship however has not been established; only her birthyear 1771 is known. After their marriage Josiah & Lucy apparently set up housekeeping in Saybrook and purchased land there for on 19 Jun 1801, Josiah mortgaged to Robert H Ely, 12 acres on the north end of Mares' Hill in Saybrook. Four of their eight children were born prior to that date two ~~established as~~ born in Saybrook and the other two presumed to have been born ~~there as well~~. Shortly afterwards Josiah, Lucy & their children moved to Springfield, Massachusetts which was up the Connecticut river about 80 miles. There Josiah built and operated a large hotel for many years. Four additional children were born ~~to this family~~ in Springfield. On 14 Dec 1825, the eldest, Harriet was murdered by her husband, Samuel Leonard, who then committed suicide. Lucy died 22 Apr 1846 in West Springfield; Josiah after her death & probably within a few months or a year or two removed to Hancock Co., Ill. where his sons Henry & Charles with their families lived. On 28 Feb 1829 he passed away in La Harpe, Ill. at the age of 89. The eight children of Josiah & Lucy are as follows:

1. Harriet b. ca 1793 m. Samuel Leonard; no issue-murder & suicide
2. Henry b. 9 Jan 1794 m. Lucy Crocker 15 Aug 1815; 12 Ch

THE BATMAN FAMILY LINE

JOHN BATMAN - JENET (BROWN)

John Brown first appears in the records of Nelson Co., Ky in the list of Tithables, on Capt Roger's Co in 1788 which was located in the NW part of Bardstain area. He was list as male, white, over 21. He also married in that year on 17 Apr 1788 to Jenny (Brown) daughter of Samuel Brown. The tithables was also a list of the militia for the county and he appeared in addition to 1788 on the 1789, 90, 91, 92, and 95 lists. There were no lists taken for 1793 or 94. On 27 Jan 1795 John bought from Paul Foman & wife 75 acres for 35 pounds located on Simpson Creek and Camp Run. In Jul 1798 John and wife sold the 75 acres to Charles Donsey for 100 pounds. The will of Jenet's father, Samuel was probated on 7 Jul 1799 leaving her the value of one horse. On 25 Aug 1800 John Bateman was listed on the tax list for Shelby Co., Ky, which lay just to the north of Simpson Creek. No additional information has been found for the time being. The children of the marriage are:

X. JOHN WELCH-JANE (?)

According to family tradition John Welch was born in Wales and came to Va. in 1770; he married an Irish lady in 1782 and in 1787 while enroute to Nelson Co., Ky. he was killed by Indians at Limestone, Ky. (today known as Maysville, Ky.) His widow is said to have continued on with 2 daus & a son to Nelson Co. Not until 18 years later on 1 Mar 1805 has there been any records found of Jane (?) Welch; on that date she married John Sturday Jones

X. SAMUEL COMSTOCK-LAURA MERRITT

Samuel was born 1734 in Saybrook, Middlesex Co., Connecticut Colony, the eldest child of Samuel & Inera (?Pratt) Comstock of the Saybrook area. It appears Samuel as eldest son remained in or near the farm land his ~~father~~ acquired from his grandfather upon his death in 1643. Samuel's five younger brothers are found in later years in New London & Woodbury, Conn. ~~so they may have left for better opportunities.~~ Samuel when he was 84 describes himself as a farmer. Samuel married Laura (Merritt) about 1763 based upon the birth of the first recorded child of this couple in 1765. The 1790 census also listed a Samuel Comstock in the town of New Milford, Litchfield Co., Ct. Samuel and Laura may have moved there and returned to Saybrook prior to 1818 when Samuel applied for a pension from Saybrook. Samuel enlisted 4 Mar 1777 serving three years in the 6th Regt. Conn. Line, commanded by Col Return J Meigs; Samuel was in C Company, Capt. Martin Kirkland. He served as Pvt. drawing 2 pounds/mo. or about 40 shillings. He served at Pecks Kill on 21 Jun 1778, White Plains 21 Jul 1778, at Round Hill 1 Sep 1778, New Milford 4 Nov 1778, Reading 12 Dec 1778, Norwalk 1 Apr 1779. He was honorably discharged after three years in 1780; he re-enlisted for three years in the same unit, then under command of Col Butler & served to the conclusion of the Revolutionary War.

Samuel's wife ^{was Laura Merritt} Little is known of ~~Laura Merritt~~ other than her name; ~~her age, parentage, and place of birth have not been located.~~ ^{her age, parentage, and place of birth have not been located.} It is believed that she ~~was~~ ^{may have been} descended from one of the four sons of Thomas Merritt, who came to this country in 1670; he settled in the Connecticut Colony where he became a deputy to the General Court in 1699. Five children are known to have been born to Laura & Samuel, the youngest, William was born in 1765, so Laura was probably born no later than 1752, most probably in the 1740's.

In 1818 after the children had grown and were raising families of their own and apparently after the death of Laura, Samuel made application for a pension, declaring that he was living with his son who was just able to provide subsistence for his many children; Samuel stated that his net worth was $2 cash and a chest worth 67 cents, and that he was no longer able to provide for himself. He was awarded a pension of $8 per month to be sent to Saybrook where he was living on 15 Jun 1820 age 85. Samuel is said to have died in 1823 at the age of 88-89 years.

The children of this marriage are:

1. William b. 1765 never married; killed in 1777 @ Fort Trumbull in Conn. in a raid lead by Benedict Arnold; a WW Vet
2. Samuel b. 24 Jul 1768 m. Rebecca Carter; had 10 Ch; served in WW

X. DAVID BONNER-MERCY HANCOCK

David Bonner was born in London, England about 1732; ~~at the present time there is no information available concerning any of his ancestors.~~ He sailed to the colonies sometime prior to 1755 when his marriage took place to Mercy (Hancock) in Springfield, Massachusetts Bay Colony on 19 Sep 1755 in the 1st Church of Springfield, a Congregational church. Mercy was the daughter of John Hancock & his 1st wife Anna (Webb); b. 25 Aug 1735 in Springfield, Mass. Bay Colony, the fourth generation born in this country of the immigrant Nathaniel who emigrated from England to Cambridge, in the Mass. Bay Colony in 1630. Mercy was the fourteenth of fifteen children, all of whom except perhaps the last ~~child~~ grew to their majority and at least eleven married, nine of whom, ~~at least~~ had children. (Mercy's third cousin once removed was John Hancock, the signer of the Declaration of Independence).

David & Mercy settled in Springfield where seven children were born, all of whom were christened in the 1st Church of Springfield, except the 3rd who died before being christened. The Daughters of American Revolution Lineage Book, Vol 15 (1896), p 110, identifies an eighth child, John, who married Sarah Brooks. Their authority in these matters is based upon verified & proven records. The eighth child is not listed amongst the records of the 1st Church of Springfield, as all the other children of this couple are, and further the church records includes the parent, David in 1804. (The record ceases after mid~1809).

David served in the Massachusetts Militia for a period of 5 months from Jul 1777 to Jan 1779 at 2 pounds per month. He was in what was known as Burt's Co. Guards. The seven or eight children of David & Mercy were:

- X. 1. David jr. b. ca 1757 bap. 13 Mar 1757 m. Abigail (Morgan) Dec 1787; had 9 Ch

THE MORGAN FAMILY LINE

SAMUEL MORGAN - ABIGAIL (COOLEY)

Samuel Morgan was baptized 2 Feb 1740 by Rev. Robert Breck in the 1st Church Parish of Springfield, Mass. Bay Colony, the younger of two brothers plus four younger sisters. His great grandfather had been second in command to Wm. Pynchon, the founder of the settlement of Springfield. Since then each generation was involved in civic duties as well as colonial farming. When Samuel was about 26 he married Abigail (Cooley) daughter of David & Abigail (Chapin) Cooley.

Abigail was baptized 16 Nov 1746 by Rev. Robert Breck in the 1st Church at Springfield. She probably was born in that part of Springfield that later came to be known as Longmeadow. Her parents Jacob & Abigail (Chapin) Cooley had lived there as had predecessors, the first Benjamine Cooley, an original proprietor in 1636. Samuel and Abigail remained through the births of 9 children. Abigail died 22 Mar 1819 and Samuel died after 1810 probably in Springfield (Longmeadow). The children were:

THE WELCH FAMILY LINE

JAMES WELCH - MARY (SWEASY)

James was born 2 Jun 1813 in Nelson Co., Ky. His father, Salomon died in 1818 when he was 5 years old; somehow his widowed mothered, James, and his younger brother, John survived until he was old enough to take on the responsibilities of head of household. When he was scarcely 18 he married Mary (Sweasy) who was six months older than he. She was daughter of Joseph Sweasy, b. 30 Nov 1812 in Nelson Co. Their marriage was on Christmas Day in 1831 and they settled down in Nelson Co for a number of years. After thirteen children had been born eight surviving the family of ten moved to Hire township in Mc Donough Co., Ill in 1848. Four more children were born to Mary none of whom survived to marry, before Mary died in 1857. James had been a farmer until 1859 now moved into the town of Blandinsville where he first engaged in the mercantile business and the operation of a general store. In 1858 he had taken unto himself a 2nd wife, the widow Mahala (Chamberlain) Kink. Mahala was daughter of Thomas Chamberlain from Marion Co., Ky. which lies adjacent to Nelson Co. It seems probable that the Welch family and the Kink family were acquainted in Ky., and possible Kink was in the mercantile/general store a business. After a few years James bought The Empire House (a hotel on Main St) and was "known as the popular and attentive proprietor of that hostelry". James died 28 July 1878 of Diabetes in Blandinsville followed on 26 Oct 1899 by Mahala. The children of James' marriages were:

X. GEORGE HUFFMAN-KATY (SHERMAN)

George Huffman was born about 1757 probably in the Pa. Col. possibly the Va. Col. of parents who were born in Germany. By family tradition he entered the army when he was eleven (eighteen-LAC) & served seven years; he served under George Washington & was present at the surrender of Lord Cornwallis, was honorably discharged at the end of the Revolutionary War. After the war around 1797 he is believed to have settled in Va. until about 1810 when he removed to Nelson Co., Ky. with a family including a wife & eleven children. He was married about 1778 to Katy (Sherman); she was born about 1760 possibly in Pa. & appears to have established a home for her growing family with her husband in Pa. until 1797, in Va. until 1810 and thence Ky. The children of this marriage were as follows:

X. JOHN HANCOCK-ANNA WEBB

John Hancock was born 1 Aug 1688 in Farmington, Hartford Co., Connecticut Colony & removed to Hartford in the same county in 1691 with his parents one older brother and a younger sister and brother. John was baptized along with his younger brother on 1 Jan 1692/30s in the Congregational 1st Church of Hartford. Apparently his elder brother had died before that event perhaps before the move of the family to Hartford. John was the first cousin once removed of his namesake, the signer of the Declaration of Independence. John's father, Thomas Hancock was one of the original proprietors in Farmington & a prominent citizen who apparently had moved to Hartford through which the economic, civic, & political activity flowed for the county and the colony. For reasons unknown and at sometime prior to 19 Nov 1713 John moved up river (Connecticut) to Springfield just across the boundary in the Massachusetts Bay Colony, a distance of 25-30 miles. It was on that date that John married Anna (Webb), daughter of John & Hanna/Anna (?) Webb of Northampton, Hampshire Co., Mass. Bay Col. Anna was born 24 Feb 1695/60s in New Hampshire according to one source. New Hampshire had settlements as early as 1623 and for a short period 1641 to 1679 was actually part of the Massachusetts Colony; boundary disputes with Mass. & New York continued through until 1764, however the western boundary was the Connecticut River. Here most of the early settlements were created by settlers from the colonies to the south (Mass., Conn., New Haven, & Plymouth).

John & Anna settled in the Springfield area and in the next twenty-nine years they had fifteen children all of whom survived to adulthood except perhaps the last one. Eleven are known to have married & four are uncertain and 66 grandchildren in 8 of the 11 families. Anna lived many years after her last child was born, long enough to see all of them to their adult years & at least five of them died before she died 7 Jul 1771 at Springfield at the age of 74yrs 3mos 13das.

Almost two years later on 1 May 1773 the marriage intention of John Hancock and the widow, Martha (?) Olmstead of Belchertown, Mass. was filed in Springfield; John was 84 plus at the time. On 10 Jul 1775 John Hancock passed away in Springfield at the age of 86yrs 11 mos 9das. There were no children of this second marriage.

1. Mary b. 22 Feb 1715/60s m. Nathaniel Hitchcock 27 Jul 1743

Jacob Cooley was born 18 Nov 1720 in Springfield, Hampshire Co., Mass. Col. the son of Obadiah & Dorcas (Hale/Hiale/Helde) Cooley. He married about 1642 to Abigail (Chapin) who was born in 1722 in Springfield also. They settled in that part of Springfield which later became Longmeadow & here 8 children were born to this couple. On 12 Jan 1785/60s Abigail's death was recorded in the 1st church of Springfield, and in which all of their children had been baptised. Jacob continued living in Springfield until his death on 24 Sep 1807. The children of this marriage were:

THE MORGAN FAMILY LINE

EBENEZER MORGAN - SARAH (WARNER)

Ebenezer Morgan was born in Springfield, Hampshire Co. (now Hampden), Mass. Bay Col. 7 Mar 1692 the tenth child of eleven born to David & Mary (Clark) Morgan. His grandparents, Miles & Prudence (Gilbert) Morgan had come from England in 1636 where they settled in Springfield. Ebenezer's grandfather had been a butcher and plantation/colonial father, one of the founders and leaders in the community. Ebenezer's occupation has not been established, but in view of the preferential treatment in land holdings, his grandfather had, it is probable he continued in the colonial farming at least. Ebenezer married Mary (Horton) of whom there has been no additional information found other than her death 6 Mar 1735 in the 1st Parish of Springfield. Although the church was founded in 1636 the earliest records are dated Mar 1736. Ebenezer married Sarah (Warner) 1 Jun 1737 in the 1st Church of Springfield whose background is unknown. Her birth date is judged to be about 1710 based on the baptisms of her 6 children from 18 Jun 1738 through 11 Feb 1750. A seventh "infant child" died 13 Mar 1750. Ebenezer & Sarah had all their children baptized in the Congregationalist 1st church at Springfield. Those children were:

X. DAVID MORGAN-MARY CLARK

David Morgan was born 23 Jul 1648 in Springfield, Mass. Colony and christened in the First Church there, a Congregationalist church. David attained his manhood in the community of his birth and on 16 Jan 1671/20s married Mary (Clark) daughter of John & Elizabeth (Stebbins) Clark who had immigrated to the colonies probably in the 1630's or 1640's. Mary the last of their four children was born in Springfield 31 Mar 1659. After her marriage to David they settled in Springfield and over the next twenty-four years their marriage was blessed with eleven children. On 30 May 1731 David just short of his 83rd birthday died followed on 22 Apr 1755 by Mary at the age of 96. The children of this marriage were:

X. SAMUEL COMSTOCK-MARTHA PRATT

Samuel Comstock was born 6 Jul 1678 in Lyme (today Old Lyme), Conn. Col. the 7th child of John & Abigail (Chappell) Comstock. Samuel's father died when he was 1 to 2 years of age; he was reared by his mother & her 2nd husband, Moses Huntley. Lyme, where Samuel was born and reared lies at the mouth of the Conn. River on the east bank; lying on the west bank is the settlement then known as Saybrook. When he was 27, Samuel married Martha Pratt, daughter of John & Mary (Andrews) Pratt; Martha born 16 Jan 1679 in Saybrook where, probably the marriage to Samuel took place, on 5 Jul 1705. Samuel & Martha settled at first in Lyme where their five children were born during the next 13 years. Later Samuel & Martha moved to Saybrook, probably about 1733 when land was confirmed to Samuel by Richard Ely and others on 28 Jul. On 20 Feb 1735/6 Samuel Comstock of Saybrook deeded to Richard Ely his head right in Lyme. Samuel's will dated 3 Aug 1743 & proved 27 Jan 1743/44os, gives to son, Samuel half the lands & the other half after his decease; two pounds to daughter Martha Corbitt; to son Daniel wearing apparel. Samuel died therefor sometime between Aug 1743 and the following Jan. No mention is made about his wife Martha or his daughter, Abigail who had preceded him in death apparently. The children of this marriage were:

1. Martha b. 2 Jun 1706 m. John Corbett/Corbit 12 Feb 1794
2. Samuel b. 14 Oct 1709 d. 1 Dec 1709

X. SAMUEL COMSTOCK-IRENA ?PRATT/?PLATT

- Samuel was born in 1711 in Lyme, Connecticut Colony, the son of Samuel and Martha Pratt of the same community. Samuel reached his majority at the mouth of the Connecticut River in the two communities on the east and west bank, Lyme & Saybrook. His profession is unknown but probably was either as colonial farmer or in connection with the sea. When he was twenty-two he married Irena, whose maiden name may have been Pratt or Platt. There were three different families of Pratt in the neighborhood but no record of an Irena in any one of them. She most probably was related, as a cousin or such to one of the families and had come from another birthplace. She was born in 1708. She and Samuel settled down for a time at least in Saybrook where the first of their seven children is known to have been born. Irena was alive when the census of 1790 was made along with Samuel; Samuel's death is recorded as Oct 1797 although the location is not stated, probably Saybrook where he & Irena were located in 1790. Irena presumably survived to a later date but probably died in Saybrook before the 1800 census. None of the children had a female living with them of her age in the New London area where three of them were then living. The children of this marriage of Samuel & Irena were:
- X. 1. Samuel b. 1734 m. Laura Merritt ca 1763; had 7 Ch
 2. Jarus b. 1736 d. 26 Oct 1822
 3. Phineas b. 1740 m. Susannah (?); had 4 Ch

THE HANCOCK FAMILY LINE

THOMAS HANCOCK - RACHEL LEONARD

Thomas Hancock was born about 1647 in Farmington, Connecticut Colony son of Nathaniel and Joanna (?) Hancock, the great grandparents of John Hancock who was to be the signer of the Declaration of Independence. Thomas was one of the original proprietors of Farmington (founded 1640) and a prominent citizen in civic & ecclesiastical affairs; described as "one of those who sat in the square body of the church". Thomas took the "Oath of Allegiance" by order of the General Court along with 91 others on 8 Feb 1678; the oath was administered in Hadley, Conn. Colony. He married Rachel (Leonard) 16 Mar 1685 in Springfield, Mass. Bay Col.; her parents had emigrated from England in the 1630's. Thomas & Rachel settled in Farmington where 4 of their 8 children were probably born. Rachel became a member of the church in 1690. The family of 5 or 6 moved to Hartford, Conn. Col. about 1691 where the rest of their children were born. All of the children except Thomas were baptized in the 1st church of Hartford; Thomas appears to have died in Farmington prior to 1691. John & William were baptized 1 Jan 1693; Rachel & Abel were baptized 27 Mar 1692; Daniel baptized 24 Dec 1693; Jonathan baptized 29 Dec 1695 & Mabel baptized 5 Dec 1697. Thomas' death is recorded as 11 Jul 1734 at the age of 87. The children of this union were:

X. JOHN PRATT (TAYLOR) - MARY ANDREWS

The first information we have been able to find is the marriage of John Pratt to Mary Andrews on 10 Aug 1676 in Saybrook, Connecticut Col. In the records of that settlement he is referred to as John Pratt-Taylor to distinguish him from John Pratt-Smith, a blacksmith, in the same settlement at the same time. John was a tailor by profession and probably was of English heritage & perhaps related to the John Pratt-Smith family. Other than her name, Mary Andrews as the bride of John there is no further information on her ancestry or place of birth. Her age is estimated to have been between 16 & 31 when she married John. This from the fact that she gave birth to 6 children between 1677 & 1691 and that she was no younger than 16 at the birth of her first child and no older than 46 when her last child was born. Marriage records have been found on only the 3 oldest children; whether the younger children survived isn't known. John Pratt and Mary settled in Saybrook where their children were born. No further information on John or Mary has been found after the birth of their last child; whether they continued to live in Saybrook until their deaths or removed to another settlement isn't known. The children of this marriage are:

1. Mary b. 24 May 1677 m. Eliphalet Whittlesey 1 Dec 1702; 3 Ch
- X. 2. Martha b. 16 Jan 1679 m. Samuel Comstock 5 Jul 1705; 5 Ch
3. Daniel b. 13 Jan 1680 m. Mercy Doty 13 Nov 1713; 7 Ch. Mercy was the granddaughter of Edward Doty, one of the Puritans who came over on the Mayflower
4. Jonathan b. 25 Dec 1682

X. GERSHOM HALE/HEALD/HELDE-ANN (VINTON)

Gershom was born 23 Mar 1647 in Concord, Middlesex Co., Mass. Bay Col. the 2nd child & eldest son of the immigrants, John Hale/Heald/HELDE by a woman, probably the 2nd wife Dorothy (Andross). Gershom married in Concord Ann (Vinton) born in Lynn, Essex Co., Mass. on 6 May 1673; she was the daughter of John & Ann (?) Vinton. The couple settled in Concord where four of their children were born, then they removed to Stow, Middlesex Co., Mass. where a fifth child was born in Dec 1687; in in Aug 1698 the sixth and last child was born in Springfield, Hampshire Co., Mass. Within 2 weeks the mother, Ann died there probably as a result of her weakened condition due to childbirth. Gershom remained in Springfield where his death was recorded in 1717. The children of this marriage were:

THE VINTON FAMILY LINE

X. JOHN VINTON-ANN (?)

The name Vinton is believed to have originated in England where it has geographic roots; there is a town Venton in Cornwall, a Winton in Suffolk & Allwinton in Northumberland. Vinton, Venton, Venton, Allwinton, etc. are all from a common source; Vinton is the Latinized Winton, Wintonia was the Roman Winchester and which the monks refer to as Winton; Wint or Vint comes from the word "went" which is the Celtic for river. As early as 1275 there was a Peter de Wintonia in England; in 1226 there was a Petrus de Vindonne in Rheims, France. Some believe the Celts from Britain crossed the channel at some distant time to establish the France branch then returned at a later time to England.

John Vinton was born 1605 in France; although his parents are un-named he was Gallicized in thought & habits for his tongue was Huguenot when his Anglasized name appeared 1st in 1648 in the records of Lynn, Essex Co., Mass. Bay Colony. It was there with the birth of his 1st child by his wife, known to us only as Ann who was born probably 1615-1631. They remained in Lynn where their 7 children were born through Sep 1662; in 1663 John was in New Haven, Conn. Col. where his death was recorded; his orphaned children were returned to Lynn no doubt to relatives or close friends to rear. The children of this family were:

X. JOHN HALE/HEALD/HELDE-DOROTHY (ANDROSS)

John was born probably in Berwick-on-the-Tweed, Northumberland Co., Eng. near the end of the 16th or very beginning of the 17th. Some authorities show children of John who would have been born prior to those recorded in Concord and most probably of a 1st marriage. John came from Eng. to Cambridge, Mass in 1635, settled in Concord. His wife was Dorothy (Andross) whose name is about all that has been determined. There were 6 children of this marriage born all probably in Concord, Middlesex Co., Mass. Col. John's will was written 15 Apr 1662 and proved 2 months later on 16 Jun 1662. In that will he identified three of his children by name and five more un-named as his heirs. The children of this marriage were:

X. JOHN WEBB-HANNA/ANNA (?)

John Webb, the third so named in this country, was born 8 Jun 1667 in Northampton, Hampshire Co., Massachusetts Bay Colony. At some time prior to 1694-5 John may have moved into the colony of New Hampshire which had been part of the Massachusetts colony from 1641 to 1679 but there were so few settlers that only about thirteen towns were settled before 1700; it wasn't until 1769 that any counties were formed. The thirteen towns were all located on or very close to the Atlantic coast line; seven of them were located on Portsmouth Harbor. Fear of the Indians kept the settlers from moving inland; the soil was not immediately suitable for farming as the land was heavily forested and/or the soil needed to be cleared of the abundant rocks mostly granite. Early farm lands were by necessity small and by the nature of the land remained small. Mostly the heavy woods contributed to the shipbuilding and the livelihood was associated with the sea, particularly with the discovery of the large fishing barks so near to the New England shores. John Webb, our ancestor then may have come up the Connecticut River to New Hampshire where it formed the western boundary of new colony, separating it from what was to become Vermont but in those days was claimed by the French. Or he may have gone south to the sea and moved north along the coast of Connecticut and Massachusetts to the extreme southeast corner of the colony. On the other hand he may not have left at all for the one source which identifies ~~the~~ birthplace of John's first two children shows it as New Hampshire (town or community) (no county listed) Mass (state or colony). John's birthplace in Northampton, Hampshire county, Mass. suggests there may have been a community/settlement initially called New Hampshire from which the county derived its name; subsequently the community/settlement may have changed its name or the settlement didn't survive. (No such community/settlement has been found, so the last is pure speculation)

The John Webb above then at sometime prior to the birth of his first child in 1694-5 in "New Hampshire" moved from the place of his birth. His marriage to a Hanna or Anna (Surname unknown) took place in 1693 but whether before or after his journey is not known. The couple settled in "New Hampshire" long enough for a second child to be born in Feb 1695/60s. After that birth and prior to 1702 the family moved to Springfield, Hampshire Co. (today Hampden Co.), Mass. Bay Colony. The family remained in Springfield and their fourth and last child was born in 1704. On 27 Jan 1711/20s John Webb died at age 45yrs 19 das. followed by Anna/Hanna on 11 Sep 1719 whose age was about 45. No cause of death found in either instance. The children of this marriage are as follows:

1. Correlius b. ca 1694-5 m. Mary Osband 3 Dec 1719; d. 7 Jun 1777
- X. 2. Anna b. 24 Feb 1695/60s m. John Hancock 19 Nov 1713 had 15 Ch; d. 7 Jun 1771
3. Sarah b. ca 1702

OBADIAH COOLEY - REBECCA (WILLIAMS)

Obadiah was born on 27 Jan 1646/7 in Springfield, Mass. Bay Col. The first recording found of him in the town records was when he was assigned a seat in the Meeting House in 1662/3, when at the age of 16 he sat "Below ye Pillars on ye North Side". No record has been found of him in the militia during the King Philip's War (1675) although he was about 28. He was the son of the Englishman, Benjamine Cooley, who came to this country about 1636, and to Springfield about 1642. The father was a proprietor in Springfield when he moved to that part of the settlement which later became known as Longmeadow about 1660. Obadiah first acquired 35 acres of property in 1664, but he never lived there. His home was a tract bounded on the north by "way to the Lower Wharf" on the south by the Mill River, on the west by the Connecticut River. Married in Windsor, Conn. Colony on 9 Nov 1670 to Rebecca (Williams), daughter of John & Mary (Bunley) Williams of Windsor, Conn. who had come to this country from Newbury, England in 1633. Originally settling in Newbury, Essex Co., Mass. he became one of the founders of Havenhill, Essex Co. Rebecca was born 20 Aug 1649 in Windsor, Berkshire Co., Conn. It appears that at sometime prior to Rebecca's birth John & family removed to Windsor, where he was probably still located in 1670 at his daughter's wedding. Obadiah acquired additional acreage in Springfield by will from his father in 1684 which adjoined his prior holdings but had been occupied previously. This additional acreage became in turn the home property of Obadiah II. It is known that the Cooley house was not a log cabin; they were practically unknown in the "New England" area where trees were widely scattered, and the English pioneer had never seen or heard of such a construction. The first were cottages like in England with thatched roofs; later to protect from the cold winters chimneys were built inside the framework after wood shingles had been added. Wood was more plentiful than reeds & grass. In later years red brick was added to replace the frame work when brick became more plentiful than wood. The additional acreage comprising 8 parcels of land were deeded 1 Oct 1684 to Obadiah totaled about 71 acres. Obadiah was referred in town records as Ensign in "Feb 12 1671" (1672ns) in a meeting of Select men, appointed Surveyor of the "high wayes" for the "yeere ensueinge" (1679ns); "viewer of ffence (1680ns)"; "surveyor for Country high way for the year ensueing Febr: 3d 1679" (3 Feb 1680ns). At a town meeting in 1682 Obadiah & Jonathan Morgan were chosen Surveyors for repair of the town high ways; In Feb 1685 Obadiah was made & "sworne" as Constable and in April he along with 3 others to extend the line from Hadley on the east to Springfield. A week later it was further concluded to provide additional funds (3 pounds) for repair to the "Long Medaw Bridge on the Country Rhode". In Feb 1687ns Obadiah & 3 others were given fishing rights on "Chickuppi River as far as Schonungamuck fall on Bar for making & erecting Wares for catching Fish", & to supply the town with fish as desired at reasonable terms. On 3 Sep 1690 Obadiah died at the early age of 44. Over a year later on 26 Nov 1691 Rebecca married John Warner, Rebecca being his fourth wife; his third wife, Sarah (Terry) was sister-in-law to Rebecca's daughter, nee Mary Cooley, Mrs John Terry. Rebecca gave birth, stillborn, to John in 1695. The estate of Obadiah was not settled until 1697 by his widow, Rebecca and John Warner. Rebecca died 18 Oct 1715 and John passed away 21 Jan 1723/4 both in Springfield. The children of the Obadiah & Rebecca were:

2/JOHN WEBB - SUSANNA (CUNLIFF) COLE

John was born about 1642 probably in Boston, Mass. Bay Colony the 2nd of 8 children of John Webb & his 1st wife, Anna (Bassett). John's parents came to the colonies settled for a time in Boston, then Hartford, Conn. & in 1654, the family removed to Northampton, Conn. There the father was town blacksmith, ordinary keeper, and colonial farmer.

When John was about 23 he married on 12 Dec 1665 to Susanna (Cunliff) Cole, widow of Matthew Cole and born 15 Dec 1645 in Dorchester, Suffolk Co., Mass, Bay Col. the only child of Henry & Susannah (?) Cunliff, emigrants from England in 1644 or earlier. Susanna had been betrothed to Eldad Pomeroy, who died in 1662 of unknown causes. In 1663 she married Mathew Cole who was killed by lightning 28 Apr 1665. No children are recorded of her 1st marriage. John's occupation was not blacksmith or ordinary (Inn) keeper, as his father had been, which were highly respected by profession and by appointment (License by the community). As noted he was probably a Colonial Farmer in Northampton where he & Susannah had the following children:

John Comstock-Abigail (Chappell)

John Comstock was born in England, possibly in London, about 1624. When he was about ten with his parents, 2 brothers & 1 sister, John sailed across the Atlantic. The family probably landed in the Mass. Bay Col. where they stopped for a short while in Watertown, before moving to the south with many other dissatisfied colonists. Pastor Thomas Hooker was the leader of a group of many families who blazed a trail through the virgin forest which became known as the Connecticut Path. This new territory, was beyond the boundary of the original Bay colony, was christened the Connecticut Colony (aka River Colony); in 1638, Hooker preached a sermon in which he called for a government based upon the will of the people. Hooker's fundamental principles were put into practice the following year when the Fundamental Orders were adopted into law. (This gave the voters the right to elect government officials). Sometimes this enactment is referred as the first written constitution. John may not have moved south with the family because in 1639 he was apprenticed to Henry Russell of Weymouth in Massachusetts Bay Colony. In Jan 1640 Weymouth's will was written and probated in Oct 1640; John's time to serve was left to Weymouth's wife. It was not unusual for young boys of to be apprenticed to learn a trade or profession. In 1645, John, 21, was a proprietor in East Saybrook located on the east bank at the mouth of the Connecticut River (known later as Lyme and later still as Old Lyme). John was a defendant in an action for debt in Mar 1656 for ten pounds against Mathew Griswold & in 1663 a plaintiff against a Mathew Griswold for slander for fifty pounds. Both suits were recorded in Hartford, jurisdictional court for East Saybrook. In 1666 John was a signer of the Articles of Agreement to the separation of the town of East Saybrook & Saybrook. In 1667 the name of East Saybrook was changed to Lyme. About 1660/61 John married Abigail (Chappell) b. 1 Sep 1664 Wethersfield, Conn. Cal. She was daughter of George and Christian (?) Chappell. (See George and Christian Chappell). The children of John and Abigail (Chappell) Comstock were:

X. NATHANIEL HANCOCK-JOANNA ??

Nathaniel Hancock was born in England about the year 1610 and emigrated^{nted} from there to Boston in the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1630 as a young man of 20. Nathaniel is said to have been one of the first company when Cambridge, was founded in 1630 in the Mass. Bay. Colony; however the earliest known date of his presents in Cambridge is 1634. Nathaniel married Joanna probably about 1632-33 based upon the birth of their first child. Joanna's may have been from Boston or Cambridge; although her parentage is not known it probably was English since a large share of the early immigrants were English. Her age estimated to be born between 1604 & 1616 probably about 1611.

Nathaniel & Joanna settled in Cambridge on the east side of Dunster street, between Harvard & Mount Auburn streets. There seven of their eight children were born, the last on 5 Apr 1647; the last child, Thomas our ancestor, according to a family genealogist was born in Farmington, Hartford Co., Connecticut Colony about 1647 or 1648. Nathaniel died in 1648 at the age of 38 or thereabout, possibly in Farmington. Joanna survived Nathaniel for she was named administratrix of his estate in 1663 in Farmington; no explanation for the long delay between Nathaniel's death and the settlement of his estate. Joanna's death date is also unknown at present but was after 1663 probably in Farmington. The children of this marriage were:

1. Mary b. 3 Nov 1634
2. Sarah b. 3 Mar 1636
3. Nathaniel b. 18 Dec 1638 m. Mary Prentiss 8 Mar 1663/40s

NATHANIAL HANCOCK - JOANNA (?)

Nathaniel was born about 1610 probably with English ancestors. He was a young man of 20 when he crossed the ocean about 1630 to Boston in the Massachusetts Bay Colony. He was one of the "first company" in the settlement of Cambridge, Mass. Bay Col. (founded 1630) where he lived on the east side of Dunston St., between Harvard & Mount Auburn in 1634. He married Joanna before the birth of his first child in Nov 1634; her name is the only recorded information found. Her birth was probably 1604-16 across the ocean probably in England; her death was after 1663 when she was administratrix for Nathaniel's estate in Farmington, Conn. Col. Nathaniel's death is sighted by one authority as 1648. According to another authority all of the children except the last were born in Cambridge, the last, Thomas, was born in Farmington about 1647. Nathaniel then died in either place. The children of this marriage:

MILES MORGAN - 11 PRUDENCE (GILBERT)

Miles was born about 1615 in Wales, probably Llandonff, Glamorganshire. He was named according to family tradition after Miles Morgan, Capt. of the British Army who perished with Sir Humphrey Gilbert, half brother to Sir Walter Raleigh. Miles was son of William Morgan of Divern & Elizabeth (Morgan), daughter of Sir William Morgan, on Tredegar, Knight & Member of Parliament. Miles with his parents moved to Bristol in 1616 where his father was a merchant. Miles, the youngest of three brothers all remained in Bristol until Mar 1636 when they set sail for the new world. James, the eldest settled in New London Col. (later Conn.), John went to the Virginia Col. & Miles became one of the youngest settlers of Springfield in the Massachusetts Bay Col. being not yet twenty-one.

Miles married as his first wife Prudence (Gilbert) of Beverly, Essex Co., Mass. at Salem in 1643. During the voyage to the colonies Miles had made the acquaintance of Prudence who settled with her parents in Beverly. After Miles had built a house in Springfield he pressed his suit with the maid who was some 45 miles away as the crow flies, not by letter for he could not write but by mutual friends or personal visits over the narrow trails through the wilderness. When his proposal of marriage was accepted, Miles with two neighbors and an Indian made the trip in 1643, all duly armed. After the ceremony Miles and the three attendants walked all the way back from Beverly, with the bride and some "household effects" ~~were carried~~ ^{traveled} all the way on the only horse available for the unique bridal journey. In Springfield the bride and groom established their first home in the new house Miles had built.

Next to Col. Pynchon, Miles was the most important man in the settlement; appointed the second in command although he was the youngest in the company. He drew land for his home lot on the south side of Ferry Lane (Cypress Street in 1899) next to Main Street which was the lane to the upper wharf. (In 1910 the site of the original Miles Morgan building was occupied by the repair shop of the Conn. River Railroad) Miles was commissioned, along with George Cotten in 1646, to get a "Smith for the town" and in Apr 1647 he was appointed one of the surveyors for the upper part of the town. In civil life Miles was a butcher and tiller of the soil, while Col. Pynchon was the grocer. Miles opened an account with Col. Pynchon on 30 Aug 1652. He apparently made several trips to the falls at Enfield, Conn. carrying goods for Col. Pynchon who seemed to have placed confidence in Miles' accuracy for Pynchon frequently entered in his books "By worke as in Miles his booke and their accounts were balanced accordingly. From time to time Miles bought time, shag, cotton, calico, venison, razors, lace, raisins, sugar, "1 qt of sack", & gunpowder and he balanced his account by carting, slaughtering and selling produce. He slaughtered as many as twenty at a time for the Col. He was Constable for one year & chosen as Selectman five times in 1655, '57, '60, '62, & '68. He was also a brave & intrepid Indian fighter in the frequent conflicts on the frontier. On 25 Oct 1675 during the King Phillip's War the Morgan house was attacked by Indians, but so bravely was the home defended by Miles and his sons that the Indians retired after the unsuccessful attack.

In 1673, Hannah, the unmarried daughter of Thomas Mennick, accused Jonathan, Miles' son of the paternity of her child. Miles and his brother, David paid his bail; during the trial Jonathan convinced many of his innocence, but the court, the following year, issued a decree of child support of 2 shilling 6 pence per week for four years. Jonathan brought a slander suit against Hannah father which he lost. Eight years later Miles' daughter, Lydia, who worked in the household of Samuel Gaines of Hartford, gave birth to an illegitimate child by Gaines. The suit by Miles against Gaines resulted in a decree of maintenance of the child against Gaines. On 14 Nov 1660, Prudence died having given birth to eight children:

Eight years passed before Miles married again to Elizabeth (Bliss) daughter of Thomas Bliss by his 2nd wife, Margaret (Laurence) in Springfield on 15 Feb 1669. One child was born to this union in Boston Mount, Mass. Bay Col. Elizabeth was about 46 when she died 2 Oct 1683 in Springfield. Miles lived to be 83 when he died 28 May 1699 in Springfield where he was no doubt buried. In 1879 in testimony of the services of Miles Morgan in settling the town a monument was erected in Springfield. The monument was in recognition also for governing the colony, fighting the Indians in 1675 when Springfield was sacked & burned & many of the little settlement were killed.

Its not known when he came across to the colonies but he is the first of the Clark family name to be recorded here in 1647 in Springfield where he was recorded as a landowner. His marriage in Springfield is recorded as 2 Mar 1647 to Elizabeth (Stebbins) daughter of Rowland & Sarah (Whiting) Stebbins who had arrived in the Mass. Bay Colony in 1634. Elizabeth was born about 1628 probably in England. They settled in Springfield, and raised four children. In 1684 John died followed by Elizabeth on 28 Oct 1700. The children were:

William Morgan - Elizabeth (Morgan)

William Morgan was born in England, possibly in Divern; he is referred to "... as traveling from Divern to Bristol in 1615..." in the earliest record found. He was married at the time and had 3 sons at least so that he was born 1591 or earlier. He married Elizabeth (Morgan) who may have been related but it would have been a remote relationship as Elizabeth's parents were Sir William Morgan of Tredegar in Carmarthenshire, Wales & his 1st wife Elizabeth (Winter); William Morgan's are unknown but he was or became a merchant when he arrived in Bristol. The ancestry of Sir William has been traced back 15 generations to Cadivon-Fawn, died 1089, & Elen in Carmarthenshire, Wales and Glamorganshire, Eng.

The three sons, James, John, & Miles departed together for the colonies in 1636. Two years later, in 1638, the mother, Elizabeth died in Bristol, Gloucestershire, England followed in 1648 by William in 1648 in Bristol. The children of this union were:

MY CHILDREN'S ANCESTORS by L. A. Comstock 4211 W 1st St SP96 Santa Ana, Ca 92703 Nov 1987

X. JOHN LEONARD-SARAH HEATH/HEALD

John Leonard first appears in the records of the colonies in Springfield, Hampshire Co., Mass. Bay Colony; when Hampden Co. was formed in 1812 Springfield became part of the newly formed county. John was named in 1639 there & the following year he married; based upon this and that he fathered some 15 children over the next 25 years he was probably born between 1615 & 1620. John's ancestry has never been established although some authorities have claimed his parents have been identified; unfortunately they don't agree who those parents are. All agree however that the Leonard were originally of Saxon or Germanic descent; early records identify various Leonards as "forest smiths" in the seventh century. Some of these Saxons (Leonards) left the continent & settled in Kent and Sussex counties among the iron hills. When the mines in those hills ran out some of the descendants (Leonards as some now spelled the family name) moved to the west into the hills along the Wales & English border. The Domesday Book of 1086 mentions the existence of iron works in the counties adjacent to the Wales border. It is from the mining districts of Carmarthenshire, Wales that the branch of Leonard/Lennard family came to the New England colonies and settled eventually in Taunton, Mass. in the years 1625 to 1650 according to some genealogical authorities. Others believe the ancestors of John first came to the District known as Avalon in Nova Scotia where one became Governor for a period of time; skilled as an iron master in Wales they found the weather too cold and migrated south. Some settled in a settlement which became known as Leonardstown in the Maryland Colony & some settled in Taunton, Mass. Each of the authorities claim that James & Henry were among those descendants. John ~~Heard~~ whose name first appears in the colonial records in 1639 at the settlement of Springfield in the Mass. Bay Colony, is supposedly the brother of James & Henry of Taunton according to both authorities but they don't provide any proof of this statement. A third authority, a daughter of the James above, & niece of Henry above stated in Feb 1732/30s that her Uncle John never left England. No records have been found here or in England to prove or disprove her claim, however according to the book "Annals of the Leonard Family" by Fannie (Leonard) Koster in 1911, James' daughter (Hannah (Leonard) Deare) erred about John in that he had come to the colonies. Until proof is found however it can not be proved whether our John is truly brother to Henry & James of Taunton.

As stated John Leonard's name first appears in the settlement of Springfield, Mass. Bay Colony in 1639. (Later, in 1643 this community would be included in the county of Middlesex, then in 1662 in Hampshire when that county was formed, and today in Hampden which was formed in 1812). On 12 Nov 1640 he married Sarah (Heath/Heald) of Springfield. Sarah may have been ~~daughter~~ ^{sister} of John Heald by his 1st wife, or Sarah may have been John's sister. John came from Berwick-on-Tweed, Northumberland, England to Cambridge & then to Concord, Mass. as early as 1635. Sarah age is judged to be about 21 when her 1st child was born in 1641 & about 45 when the last was born in 1665, ergo born 1620 or perhaps later about 1623. John & Sarah settled in the Springfield area and began raising children; fifteen were born to Sarah by John, twelve of whom survived to marry. On 24 Feb 1675/60s John was killed by Indians; no additional details have been located at this time. John was perhaps 55 or 60 years of age at his death leaving a widow with 7 children at home ranging in age from 10 to 21.

A year later on 21 Feb 1676/70s Sarah married a widower, Benjamin Parsons who had nine children ranging in age from an infant to a daughter of nineteen. They settled in Springfield; no children were born to this union. About 12 years later on 24 Aug 1689 Benjamin Parsons died at age about 62.

About a year later on 3 Nov 1690 when she was about 67-70 years Sarah married a third time; her husband was Peter Tilton of Springfield. No children resulted from this marriage. On 23 Nov 1711 when she was 88-91 Sarah passed away.

Sarah's children by John Leonard were as follow;

*By family tradition, John Keep, his wife Sarah, and baby Jabez were on their way from Longmeadow northbound to Springfield to "meeting" (church service) on the Lord's day along with some neighbors. When they were just north of Pacousick Brook they were attacked by Indians. "Seven Indians & one without a gun, caused Capt. Nixor & 40 men to run". John Keep was said to have been mortally wounded but managed to keep his seat on his horse until he reached Springfield. Sarah, his wife sprang from the horse and was carried away with her child by the Indians to Hadleigh (Hadley) and there both were killed. Sarah's father had been killed by Indians only the month before.

THE GILBERT FAMILY LINE

THOMAS GILBERT-LYDIA (?)

Thomas Gilbert was born in 1632, probably in England. The first record finds him in Braintree, Mass. Bay Col., married prior to Lydia (?) in the year 1639-40. In 1634 he was in Windsor, in the Connecticut Col. Thomas & Lydia are believed to have been parents of a daughter, Prudence. She and who is said to have come to the colonies in 1636 & while enroute had a shipboard romance with Miles Morgan. The parents of Prudence were living in Beverly, Mass. Bay Col. in 1643 when the dau married Miles. Thomas was in Wethersfield in 1654 where Lydia is believed to have died; Thomas lived until 1669. Children of this couple:

THE COOLEY FAMILY LINE

Benjamin Cooley - Sarah (?)

Benjamin Cooley was born in England 1620 to, Earl Cooley by an unknown woman. He came to the Colonies in 1636. However he was not recruited by Cal. Pyncheon to join the settlement at Springfield. In 1647, Pyncheon charged each of the 42 inhabitants a pro rata share of the articles delivered to the Indians in exchange for the land. Benjamin was charged for 40 1/2 acres, his assessment eleven shillings two pence on a bit over three pence (six cents) per acre. This acreage comprised of a 4 acre home lot on the town street, together with the adjoining 6 acres of wet meadow & woodland on which he established his 1st home, 5 acres "over Agawam river", & 5 acres "in the Neck over the river", and nine acres on the long-meadow grant acquired in 1645. The community had been originally planned to include only forty families as was written in 1636 in one of the clauses,.... "our town shall be composed of forty families, or, if we think meet after, to alter our purpose, yet not to exceed the number of fifty families, rich or poor." From the beginning Springfield was meant to be an industrial community rather than agricultural. For survival some agricultural activity was necessary the main enterprise was to be fur trade, specifically beaver. Beaver for felt hats, the finest in the world was to be the mainstay for almost two hundred years. Of the original signers of the selected proprietors by Cal. Pyncheon only he and his son-in-law, Henry Smith became permanent settlers. Pyncheon recruited from nearby towns and obtained young men through his agents in England who were indentured to him for a number of years. To join was a privilege and usually required a bond while undesirables were winnowed out of town. Just so was Benjamin Cooley, weaver, was desirable and recruited to join the community in 1642. In 1643-45, a determined effort was made to recruit the artisans & tradesmen necessary to make the town independent of outside sources of supply. With the arrival of a cooper, a tanner, & a brick maker one year and newly erected shop for a smith who arrived the following, the population almost doubled.

It was under these conditions that Benjamin & Sarah arrived probably in 1643 for their eldest child, Bethia, was born 16 Sep 1643 at Springfield. It is believed that the family came from one of the Connecticut towns for all others approaches were by water. Arriving about the same time was George Colton who was closely associated with Benjamin in many events during the next forty odd years. The relationship has raised the possibility of a closer relationship of blood bondage, that Sarah, Benjamin's wife, may have been a sister of George Colton. George & Benjamin both took the oath of fidelity together; in 1668 when the General Court appointed George a quartermaster in the county troop it also appointed Benjamin as Ensign in the foot company in the same session. On 12 Jan 1667/8 Benjamin sold his town lot to Sykes, his next door neighbor, and moved to Longmeadow just down the road from Springfield. Benjamin was on all the important committees participating in almost all of the affairs of the town. Benjamin died 17 Aug 1684 & a week later Sarah died 23 Aug 1684. There were 8 children to this marriage as follows:

THE STEBBINS FAMILY LINE

RAWLAND STEBBINS - SARAH (WHITING)

Rawland Stebbins was born in 1594 probably in England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth I; he was the son of Thomas of Bocking in Essex. Rawland may have come from Essex on the adjoining Suffolk each of which had a town or parish named Stebbing or Stubbing. The records of England spell the name as: Stebing, Stebbinge, Stubing, Stubbinge, etc. The terminating "ing/inge" may be of Saxon origin, meaning field or meadow; in this instance a stubble field or meadow. A study of the first settlers of New England shows that there are as many families with as good a claim to "gentle blood" as the boastful Lees, Rainsfords, or Fairfaxs. As to the Stebbins family few of England's most haughty nobles can trace their lineage to a period so remote. In this country with their descendants of Jamestown, settlers and the Pilgrims of the Mayflower, none can boast of an earlier immigration. The earliest mention in the records of England are in the county Essex regarding a John de Stubing in 1201 and in New England in 1634. There seems little doubt that the family stems from the ancestor de Stubing, however the exact blood line has not been established.

Rawland married in England in 1618 to Sarah (Whiting) who was born in 1591 probably in England. They established their first home in Essex where 4 children born to them before leaving England, probably in the county of Essex. The family of six departed England in 1634 and landed at Roxbury. In the 1639 they were located at Springfield, Mass. Bay Col. Sarah died there on 4 Oct 1639. On 11 Dec 1671 Rawland died in Northampton, Hampshire Co., Mass. Bay Col. This was during the time of the Salem witchcraft trials. A jury of inquest was held and reported "...several hundred spots, small ones, as if they had been shot with small shot, which when scraped revealed holes which were into the body..." The information was laid before the court in Boston, but no prosecution followed. Children of this marriage:

X. WILLIAM COMSTOCK-ELIZABETH DANIEL

William born about 1595 probably in England and possibly from Devonshire which is located in southwest England where a village named Culmstock and the river Culm are located. William married Elizabeth Daniel about 1620-25 probably in England. Four of their five children are believed to have been born before the family sailed to the new world in or about 1635. Which vessel and the actual dates of arrival and departure have not been located, however William and family appear to have arrived in the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1635. They settled for a short time in Watertown but shortly moved to Wethersfield, to the south on the Connecticut River; they may have traveled with the group of settlers from the Massachusetts Colony who were not happy with the religious policies of the Bay colony. Lead by Pastor Thomas Hooker through the virgin wilderness to three locales which became Windsor, Hartford, & Wethersfield in 1636 and became known as the Connecticut Colony; the path they followed became known historically as the Connecticut Path. An Indian attack on these three communities resulted in colonists from each of the three communities attacking the Pequot Indian Fort at Mystic (New London, Conn. today). In that attack over 500 hundred Indians were massacred including men, women, and children, breaking the power of one of the strongest & most aggressive tribes in the region. William was one of the twenty-six men from Wethersfield lead by Capt John Mason, which participated in that raid on 26 May 1638. In Apr 1641 William bought 2 acres of land with "a barre with 2 cellars & other buildings"; the following year he bought an acre adjoining. In 1643 he sold the 3 acres and in 1644 moved to Hartford which was within ten miles up the Connecticut River. In 1649 William transferred to the settlement at Pequot where he received a grant of land. Pequot was the name of the region which today encompasses the communities of New London, Moravia, Waterford, & Groton. In 1650, William, with others was selected to make a dam at 2 shillings per day; the following year he "...wrought(worked) on the mill dam..." (Today that corn mill is a tourist attraction in New London.) In 1655, "Goodman Comstock is chosen to be grave maker for the town, & shall have 4 shillings for women's & men's graves, & for children's graves, 3 shillings..." On 25 Feb 1661 "...Old Goodman Comstock is chosen Sexton, to order the youth in the meeting house, & to beat out the dogs, at 40 shillings a year, to dig all adult graves, & have 4 shillings each, & 2 shillings for each child, to be paid by the survivors." William's death is not recorded but he is said to have lived to an old age; he died about 1683 in New London probably. Of Elizabeth her death is unrecorded as well. It appears she was born about 1608 and was alive in 1663 according to one source, a "foreigner" which would mean in this English Colony that she was not born in England. There are some authorities who believe she may have been the second wife of William because of the use of the phrase, "my row wife" in a document in 1659 regarding the sale of property. This phrase was not uncommon during this period to indicate a condition at the time and not some previous condition. The children of this marriage were:

X. GEORGE CHAPPELL-CHRISTIAN (?)

George Chappell was born 1615 in England & departed from London on 16 Mar 1634 with 26 others aboard the Chrystian, John White, Master. He traveled as a servant to Francis Stiles to whom he was indentured. They settled at the settlement which became known as Windsor in the Connecticut Colony. On 28 May 1637 the court ordered that F Stiles teach George & 2 others ".....his servants, in the trade of a Carpenter, according to his promise for their services of terme behinde....". It would appear that George then completed his indenture on that date or shortly before. In 1642 or 1643 George married his first wife, Christian. Other than her name there is little additional information on her, other than she lived long enough to bear 4 children between 1644 & 1649; she apparently died shortly after the birth of the fourth child in Wethersfield, in the Conn. Col. where they had established their home. The children of this marriage were as follows:

- X. 1. Abigail b. 1 Sep 1644 1m. John Comstock ca 1660; had 7 Ch. 2m Moses Hurttley ca 29 Jan 1681; had 3 Ch
2. Mary b. ca 1646 m. John Dariels 19 Jan 1664/50s;
3. Sarah b. 21 Sep 1647 never married
4. Rachel b. 10 Oct 1649 m. Thomas Crocker;

George married as his 2nd wife Margaret (?) about 1651 probably at Wethersfield. Of Margaret our information is as sparse as about George's 1st wife, her given name and the rest is speculation. Shortly after this 2nd marriage George & Margaret with the 4 children of his first moved to Pequot (New London area of today). On 25 Feb 1650 George had made application for a new house at Pequot which was granted a year later. After their move to the Pequot/ New London locale 7 children were born to this union. George and Margaret remained in this location until George's death in 1709. Margaret survived George but when and where her death occurred is unrecorded. The children of this 2nd marriage were:

5. John b. ca 1652; lived in Flushing, Long Island
6. George b. 5 Mar 1653/40s m. 1st Alice Way 2nd Mary Douglas
7. Elizabeth b. 30 Aug 1656

X. JOHN WEBB-ANNA BASSETT

John Webb was born about 1615 in what was probably England and immigrated to this country prior to 1640, probably to Boston in the Mass. Bay Colony; it was 1640 possibly in Boston that John married as his first wife Ann Bassett, daughter of John & Margery (?) Bassett. Ann was born about 1618 probably in England; in 1624 she with her parents and siblings sailed from England aboard the True-love to Boston in the Mass. Bay Colony where she grew to maturity. John was a blacksmith and shortly after their marriage he & Anna settled in Sandwich, Barnstable Co., in the Plymouth Colony (later Mass.) which was south of Boston. Their first child was born there on 24 Mar 1640/00s (the last day of the year under the old style or Julian calendar then in use); the following year in 1642 their second child was born in Boston. The family moved south into the Connecticut Colony where a third child was born, possibly in Hartford for their 4th & 5th child were born in that settlement, and possibly the 6th whose birth took place in the Conn. Col. about 1650. The following year the family suffered the loss of the 6th child, Susanna, on 17 Oct 1651 & on 30 Oct their 3rd child, Richard died as well. Whether it was in the Conn or Mass Colonies is certain for about 1652 a 7th child was born in Boston. In 1654 the last child was born either in Boston or Northampton for during that year the family moved for the last time.

On 23 Sep 1653 the land comprising the present towns of Northampton, Easthampton, Westhampton, & part of Hatfield & Montgomery were transferred by deed to John Pynchon by the Indians. John & Anna were among the first twenty colonial farmers who settled in the spring of 1654. The little group settled on the fertile land of the Norotuck Indians and founded the settlement which became the town and later the city of Northampton. Each settler was assigned a home lot of four acres; he also was granted a meadow, upland, or plain land for his animals and his crops. In 1659, at the first court ever held in Northampton "...the town finding a necessity for someone to keep an ordinary for entertaining strangers, they (Commissioners) made a choice of John Webb for that service & a license was granted him..." John ran the ordinary (tavern) from his home which was located near the present (1954) site of Baber's Inn. The ordinary was the focal point where the colonists gathered to gossip, to discuss the problems of the settlement, to exchange news with travelers who passed through the town. Northampton's first military organization was the "train band" which was formed to protect the community from the Indians. All of the able bodied men belonged to and drilled frequently on the green adjoining John's ordinary. In the early years the ordinary was also used as a meeting place for the courts until a court house was erected in 1737. The ordinary and those who ran them became a very important part of the ebb and flow of community living; the heartbeat and pulse of the community in civic, military, judicial, and social activity was present daily.

In 1661, John Webb sold his blacksmith tools & the job of blacksmith was taken over by one Joseph Parsons. Several years later on 26 Aug 1667, Anna died in Northampton at the age of 49 or thereabouts. Scarcely six weeks later John married as his second wife, Elizabeth Swift. Her name is about all that we know of this woman. Two children were born to this union in Northampton, the 2nd and last wasn't born until after the death of the father, John, on 19 May 1670 when he was about 55 years of age. Elizabeth subsequently married again to Robert Darks but no details have been sought concerning offspring dates etc. The children of John Webb by each of his two wives is as follows:

THE BASSETT FAMILY LINE

JOHN BASSETT - MARGERY (?)

+ De Bas is a well known French surname; the Anglo-Saxon form being Basse/Bass/Bassite/on Bassett. It is a popular tradition that it was derived from the French word bas meaning "short of stature". Thurstine de Bassett is on the roll of Battle Abbey, grand Falconer of William the Conqueror accompanied him and from him are descended all the English Bassetts (the extra "t" was not added until the 15th century). Cornwall & Devonshire are have the heaviest concentration of this surname, many of whom were owners of the rich Cornwall mines. Two distinguished members were: Sir Francis Bassett Vice Admiral under King Charles I, Sir Francis in the reign of George III was made Baron Bassett, Baron of Duntsville. Under Henry I, Osmond Bassett was judge of all Britain, as was his great-grandson under Henry III. Allan Bassett's name appears in the Magna Charta as one of the councilors. Peter Bassett was biographer of Henry V. Fulk Bassett is recorded because of his generosity to St. Paul's Cathedral.

The first to have crossed to the Colonies was William Bassett/Bassite who arrived in 1621 aboard the Fortune. By tradition he intended to join the "Mayflower" pilgrims but waited for his bride. He was an educated man who brought his box of books with him. He was a freeman in 1633; for 6 years representative to the old colony court; helped to lay out Duxbury and served in the Pequot War.

Our patriarch, John Bassett was born in England about 1588 and married there in 1610 to Margery (?); presumably her heritage was also English. There in England they settled & began their family until they sailed to New Haven, Conn. Col. in 1624. There was a Thomas Bassett who arrived aboard the Christian in 1634, Samuel Bass who settled in Mass. in 1630 (his son, John m. the dau. of John & Priscilla [Mullins] of the "Mayflower").
