His brother, Thomas, of Cambridge, was one of the most useful and eminent citizens of the colony; selectman, 1645-71; town clerk, 1645-68; assistant, 1659-78. Deputy Governor, 1679-92, except during Andros' usurpation, after which, only the prolonged life of the venerable Gov. Bradstreet prevented his election as Governor. He was President of the District of Maine, 1681-92; member of the Council, 1691-9; Judge of Superior Court, after 1692; Treasurer of Harvard College, 1650-69; Treasurer of Middlesex County, and from 1648-86, Recorder. The acknowledged leader of the party which resisted the arbitrary proceedings of the King, and effected the counter-revolution in Massachusetts. He d. 1690, Nov. 5, aged 77. His brother, Samuel, grad. H. C., 1643; was ordained colleague with John Elliot, as pastor at Roxbury; d. 1674, Nov. 19, leaving an eminent reputation for scholarship and piety. His wife was Mary, dau. of John Wilson, Boston's first pastor.

Our Jonathan Danforth was of worthy stock, and in view of his long life and many and varied services, he might be recognized as the father of the town. His marriage was the first on our records, though it seems to have taken place in Boston, as it was also recorded there. His skill as a surveyor, gave him employment far and wide. For forty years he probably surveyed every land grant in Billerica, and must have explored every nook and corner of the ancient town. His descriptions fill some 200 pages, in his own, very clear and handsome hand-writing, in the CUTLER, ELIZABETH, a widow aged 81 years, executed a will, dated 16 Feb. 1662-3, proved 5 Ap. 1664, in which she declares herself to have resided for about twenty years with her dau. Barbary, w. of Elijah Corlett. She had three children who resided here: William; Richard; and Barbary, m. Elijah Corlett.

2. WILLIAM, s. of Elizabeth (1), about 1638, owned and occupied the estate at the S. W. corner of Dunster and Winthrop streets. He returned to England, and in 1653 resided at Newcastle-upon-Tyne; at which date he empowered Edward Goffe, Elijah Corlett, and Thomas Sweetman, of Camb., and Robert Hale of Chs. to collect debts due to him in New England. He probably d. without children; for Richard Cutter, by deed dated 10 June 1693 (six days previous to his own death), conveyed to his son William a house and lot in Camb. describing the premises as "formerly the right and proper estate of William Cutter, my brother, deceased, and from him descended to me as my lawful right of inheritance."

3. RICHARD, s. of Elizabeth (1), probably came here, when a minor, with his mother. He m. Elizabeth —, who d. 5 Mar. 1661-2, and he m. Frances, wid. of Isaac Amsden, 14 Feb. 1662-3. ## CUTLER.

JOHN CUTLER was born in Reading in 1705. In 1728, he bought the farm in the north part of the town now owned by Alfred Cutler. He was a cordwainer by trade, and held for several years the office of sealer of leather. He married in 1730 Hannah Plimpton (35), who died in 1766. In that year, he sold his farm to Jesse Ellis; and in 1772 he married Kezia, widow of Isaac Boyden. The year following, he bought the house and barn with one acre of land on High Street, near the South School-house. His second wife died in 1777, and he sold his place in 1791 to Lebbeus Smith. Soon after, he made over his personal property to his son and sons-in-law, and took from them a bond of maintenance. He died in 1793. He was active in the formation of the Baptist church here. Children:—

2. SYBIL, 1731-1796; m. in 1784 Asa Hamant (24).
3. NAHUM, 1733-1733.

5. NATHAN, 1736; m. in 1764 Abigail Smith (83); had one daughter here in 1765.
6. JOHN, 1738; m. in 1763 Abigail Richardson of Medway. He owned for some time the place on North Street where George Davis now lives; removed to Medway.

on account of his ready sympathy and his self-sacrificing efforts in their behalf. He served the town in various offices, and was representative to the General Court in 1860 and 1872. He was deeply interested in the publication of the history of the town; and, through his efforts, the sum necessary for the completion of the illustrations was obtained. By his will, besides other public bequests, he left the sum of $100 to each of the three churches, to be used in assisting the worthy poor of the parish. He died in 1886.

7. PRISCILLA, 1740-1827; m. in 1763 Asa Boyden (28).
8. JOH, 1743-1743.

was visited by the yellow fever and almost depopulated. He staid and attended to his duties but did not escape without a severe attack of the dread disease, from which he recovered; 1838 he was of the concern of Banister & Lanneau. The partners were W. A. Banister, Peter Lanneau, C. G. Memminger, W. I. Burnett. C. G. Memminger was later Secretary of the Treasury of the Confederacy. The concern was formed for the dry goods importing trade direct to Charleston, S. C. 1839 by the death of Lanneau the concern became Banister & Ravenel. While in business in Charleston he commanded a company of the State militia and was chief marshal of the ceremonies at a public reception given to John C. Calhoun. May, 1838, he went to Europe in the Great Western, the first steamer that crossed the Atlantic with passengers from New York. He arrived in London the day before the coronation of Queen Victoria and saw her as she was escorted to Westminster Abbey to be crowned. 1845, realizing in part the unsettled condition of affairs in the South he went to New York and became one of the concern of Petit, Banister & Harris in that city. 1849-59 he was a partner in the firm of Edward Lambert & Co. in New York. Having an extensive southern acquaintance he had many large customers in that part of the country. 1859 he retired from the concern as a partner but staid in their employ for two or three years, making in that time several trips south regarding the settlement of accounts with concerns there. His last trip brought him to Charleston the day of the bombardment of Fort Sumter followed by its surrender. The years following his retirement he spent part of the time in Newburyport, New York and Worcester. The Public Library Building, in which are the Pliny Merriek Fund Books, and the massive granite entrance gates to cemetery, are reminders of his public spirit and love for his native town. These two gifts and the general use of his family name (as Banister Common) to Brookfield Common make his name a household word. He was a member of the Union League Club of New York.
