daughters of John & Hannah Long

(Large)

The Whittlesey Genealogy gives only one child Ruth born to this marriage, which I believe is due to the fact that she is the only child whose birth is recorded in Saybrook. An old Bible of Capt. Ely Morgan's, preserved by Jessie Morgan Jones of Lyme, Conn., gives nine children of this marriage. Another proof of the nine children of Ruth and Josiah is the Bible of Amasa Perkins of Meriden, Conn. preserved by his descendant Ivan McComb of Alliance, Ohio. This family lived near the Saybrook-Westbrook line but for a short time lived in Wethersfield, Conn.

DIBBLE FAMILY

VanBuren Lamb, Jr.

To return to New England - Robert Deble and his son Thomas are mentioned in a land deed in Dorchester, Mass. Dec. 17, 1635, in which Thomas is ordered to build a house within a year. This he probably did not do, for Thomas went to Windsor, Conn. with Mr. Abraham who followed Thomas Hooker with the majority of his congregation.

In Hotten's "Original Lists" Thomas Deble age 22, husbandman, and Frances Deble, sister, leave England 1635 for Virginia. Pope reads "sister" as "soror", and Bank's record "husbandman and sister" and says they left Weymouth in Dorset Mar., 1635 under Rev. John Hull, and arrived May 5th at Wessaguscus, Mass. (This name was changed in May, 1635 to Weymouth, Mass.)

Robert Deeble's signature as of 1641 appears on the frontispiece of Blake's Annals of Dorchester, Mass., 1846.

The Windsor, Conn. records and Matthew Grant's Diary contain many references to Thomas Deble. In the latter for 1677 is a list of "those that came here with us from Dorchester and are still with us, - Thos. Deble Sen., sister Deble...." Town Votes 2-7 "Those of the Dragoners that have received pouches of Thomas Deble which he got made and is to be paid by ye town" MGD, p.88 "Persons who gave to the poor of other colonies, - Thomas Deble Sen. and Abram Deble." p. 146 Ratable List of 1686, - "house & land 3 acs yt was John Dibles 13:00."

In 1640 Thomas was granted land of the Plantation on which he built a house which he sold to Robert Watson. In 1670 he bought the William Hubbard house on the Palisado between Matthew Grant and _____ Phillips. There may be a connection between his wife and Thomas Ford whose daughters were Hepsibah, Joanna and Miriam, but no proof has yet been found.

From the dates of birth of John's children it can be supposed that he was born about 1620 which would make him the right age to have been a younger brother of Thomas and son of Robert. Many records say he died in Stamford, Conn. It must be remembered that in 1647 the town limits of Springfield and Windsor met at Warehouse Point. In 1646 the Widow Deeble was granted a house lot on the Street, Springfield so I say he died in Springfield. In Feb. 1665 his son Zachariah bought of Joseph Gillet 3 acres in Windsor bounded on the north by Thomas Deeble and the South by Israel Dibble. He sold this a year later to Ebenezer Dibble, and removed to Stamford. All records point to a close relationship between Thomas, John, and Abraham.

From the births of his children between 1648 and 1671 it would appear that he was born about 1625 and could easily be the younger brother of Robert, Thomas and John. He moved about more than the others having lived in Dorchester, Mass.; Boston, Mass.; Farmington, Conn; 1656 1665; Haddam, Conn. 1665-1673; Windsor, Conn. 1676; and Suffield, Conn. until his death. The spelling of his name consequently suffered many variations in the hands of various town clerks and ministers, being spelled Dyble, Dybble, Dibball, Diball, Diboll, and Dibol. The latter seemed to be used for many years by his descendants. The court records of Northampton, Mass. preserve the inventory and account of his estate. The settlement after a court fight divided land between Benjamin, Abigail alias Elgarr, Hannah, and Lydia. He was fined for traveling on the Sabbath.

Hannah Bayle of Sharon, Conn.

b. 1699 d. Dec. 19, 1792 Cornwall

The will of Lieut. John Dibble made Oct. 23, 1781 and pr. the next Jan. in Cornwall, Conn. mentions wife Hannah, mentions John (eldest son), Silas (youngest son), and sons Benjamin, Clemens, Zachariah deceased. Also daughters Lydia Wise, Deborah Abbott, Rebecca Cole, & Hannah Abbott. Cornwall Vital Records give the eldest John, 2nd Clement, and youngest Silas but these statements make the Wilton, Conn. church record confusing, "Removed John Dibble and wife Hannah 1745 with children, Benjamin, Zachariah & Lydia." It may be there are two Johns with same family names.

I hope someone in checking these lines has a better response from the family than I did when I sent 500 cards and received 9 replies, in Nov., 1943.

 Will dated May 4, 1786 Mar. 2nd June 15, 1769 Stamford probated July 28, 1786 Sarah () Nettleton, wid.

The will and settlement of this estate are confusing. Abigail, Jonathan, David, Solomon & Joseph are mentioned but I do not know whether they are Grey, Smith or Dibble. If they are Dibbles, several large lines I have not been able to complete will be placed: Solomon Dibble in the 1790 census of Stamford, whose parents and children I have never located; the Rev. soldier Jonathan Dibble of Poundridge, N.Y., on whom Mrs. Mabel Dibble Jordan of White Plains, N.Y. has worked for years, and has furnished me with a most complete list of descendants; and David Dibble of Pawling, N.Y., who named his seven daughters in his will but does not mention his four sons whose names are not known.

With the end of the fifth generation and the beginning of the sixth, I feel that it is a good time to show how this pioneer family had spread over the country in the first 150 years in this country. The following abstract of the first Federal Census of 1790 gives us this information. The first of the numbers shows males over 16, the second males under 16, and the third females. The numbers in parentheses are slaves.

 d. Apr. 14, 1800 " "

1755 Saybrook Congregational Church - Ruth the wife of Josiah Dibble, Jr. and his sister Annah joined the church. There is considerable disagreement as to parentage of his wife Ruth. Some contend she was Ruth May, but as four grandchildren were named Benjamin Pierce, it is my belief that she was born 1835 the dau. of Benjamin Pierce, housewright, of Charleston and Boston, Mass. and New Haven and Stratford, Conn. He was builder of the Congregational Church in Stratford and the last record of him there was in 1744. In 1748 Widow Pierce (believed to be his wife Mary) was living in the Lt. Miles home on the Green in New Haven, Conn. Benjamin owned land in New Haven before going to Stratford. There is another belief that Ruth was dau. of Thomas and Jennie Pierce of Westbrook, Conn. whose 7 children were baptized there 1751.

John Pierce Dibble and two Josiah Dibles appear on the lists of the Prison Ship "Jersey" in New York Harbour during the Revolutionary War. Family tradition, substantiated by these lists, states he and his two sons were imprisoned during the War. His will was drawn Aug. 10, 1789 and probated 1811.

These children are from a 1795 land record of Danbury in which 1, 3, and 4 sell to Peter their right in father Elisha's estate. There are probably others. Zar went to Ballstown, N.Y. and Peter to Mayville, N.Y. Elisha was admitted to the Congregational Church in Danbury in 1786, though this may refer to another son.

This Henry from L. I. is the only one I have found who was old enough to have had a son with 6 children in 1790. The Census for this year of Hillsdale, Columbia Co., New York gives Henry Sr. 2-0-2, Henry, Jr. 1-3-4, Patrick 1-4-3, and Joseph 2-2-3. Henry Jr. was believed by the family to have been born in Guilford (Conn., Vt., or Chenango Co., New York). Other tradition is that Henry Sr. was from Newtown, Conn. but after finding the marriage record in East Hampton this does not seem probable. Abigail is called Whetmore in the marriage record and Butman in other records. Mrs. Nathaniel Buckmaster, of Oakland, California quotes the Godfrey Genealogy and Chambers Family Records to prove that she and her sister Mary were children of Patrick and Mary (Godfrey) Bulmore.

The History of Delaware County, New York, 1880 by Munsell, p. 236 says Henry was the first settler of Kortright. Land records at Delhi, Delaware County, New York mention Henry Jr's children. Lists the first 5 omitting Joseph.

The migrations of this family are now complete from East Hampton, L. I., 1748 to Weston, Conn., 1758; but from then to 1790 in Hillsdale, New York nothing is known. That there were other children is definite--possibly Elijah born 1777 was one.

Henry, Jr., Mary were bapt in North Guilford Congregational Church, Conn. Patrick was bapt in Congregational Church Weston, Conn. (formerly Norfield Ch)

The Joseph with wife Abigail sold land in Danbury, Conn. in 1795 when they were called of Hillsdale. The 1790 Census does not make clear which had the 5 children. Bible records or Church records of Hillsdale have not been found.

Note: My supposition concerning the children of David was wrong. I just found the old file of David Dibbles estate in Stamford and find that the children Jonathan, Joseph, David and Solomon were Smith not Dibble. Also another puzzle for the land given son John was bounded by Aaron Dibbles land. It may be that all these unplaced Dibbles of Stamford were children of Davids brother Ebenezer (0-2-1-1-4) who lived in Greenwich for a time and was a member of the church of England. Notes:

This is the time I think for a notation I dislike making. Many members of the family before 1900 sent their family records to Mr. Ezra Dibble, Collector of Customs in New Haven, Connecticut who was attempting to write a history of the Dibbles. In two instances the pages of births, etc. were torn from old Bibles and sent to him. My mother was a descendant of most of the early New Haven settlers, and we lived there at the time I started my Dibble Genealogy. After about ten years work on my records I discovered the above through correspondence and finally located the early genealogy in the home of Ezra's granddaughter Miss Morse of New Haven. She refused to cooperate in any way, except for a price, to make these family records available to myself or a library where the family could use them. This same situation has happened in four other cases, two in Cornwall, Conn. and two in New York State, but I have done the best I could from public records and the complete opposite, most generous help from the majority of the family. I know there are many mistakes especially in Long Island, Stamford, and Cornwall records but feel that they may be corrected before the final instalment of this History.

Note: It has not been proved whether Ann or her sister Asenath married Martin Buel. Asenath's husband is given only as Mr. Grey. One supposition is that Mr. Grey and Ann died about the same time and Asenath married Buel as a second wife. This solution I do not agree with for in the probate of Josiah Dibble's will in 1811 both Anne and Senah are mentioned. In 1832 Martin Buel was a Revolutionary War Pensioner living in New Haven, Connecticut.

The son Luther is called "adopted son by previous marriage", which parents? Benjamin Pierce is one of the four grandchildren of Josiah Dibble to be so named, which has led me to believe that his wife Ruth Pierce was the daughter of Benjamin Pierce

Some David Dibble married August 21, 1785 Guilford, Connecticut Mahitable Stowe and I believe it was this David for to be a batchelor at 27 years of age in Revolutionary times was almost a crime. David Dibble 0-1-1-1-5-3-2 would have been only 16 years old, and I find no other David in the vicinity.
