

Charles Friend, Elusive Son

By Corinne Hanna Diller

Israel Friend (1693-1750) lived along the upper Potomac River all of his adult life, owning land on both sides of the river. His will, dated 12 August 1749, in Frederick Co., Virginia, names his widow Sarah and three sons Jonas, Jacob, and Charles, and leaves land and slaves to all three.(1) The first two sons have been well-researched. However, finding his third son, Charles Friend, is a demonstration of the lengths to which we must sometimes go to prove an ancestor.(2)

In the 1761/63 minute book for Frederick Co., Va., is found the following entry: Charles Friend, "orphan of Israel Friend" came into court to make choice of John Valentine Howe (sic) as his guardian, with John Smith as bondsman.(3) This record has opened up a controversy among researchers. The widow Sarah had apparently married fellow Indian trader John Valentine House (Jr.) shortly after the death of Israel Friend. Tradition says that this was by prior arrangement, because she was a Native and she would need the "protection" of a white husband. Some have assumed that both Israel and Sarah had died, hence the designation "orphan". Some have claimed this means that Charles was still a minor at this date. Some have even said that this means that Charles had died.(4)

Where does speculation end, and where do the facts begin?

The "eldest" son Jonas (so designated in his father's will) was born circa 1725. The "second" son Jacob was born circa 1727. For Charles to have still been a minor in 1761/3, he would have to have been born significantly later than his brothers, though before the 1749 will of Israel. It is necessary to outline the next couple of generations in order to address the age of this Charles Friend.

There is a long gap in the records of Charles Friend. His temperament seems to have matched that of other Friend family and kin, in that he lived most of his life on the frontier where few records were created. However a suit was entered on 17 Dec. 1796 in the circuit court of Augusta Co., Va., whereby Henry Lee sues Charles Friend and Abel Westfall for clear title to land.(5) In these documents we learn that Charles Friend "of West Augusta Co." sold 120 acres in 1776, but that the deed was never recorded. The land had subsequently been sold two more times, and the present owner, Henry Lee, wanted to secure a clear title. The documents go on to further state that in 1778 Mary Friend, sister of Charles was living on the land. The suit recites the will of Israel Friend, dated 12 August 1749 and it's particulars. Apparently Charles had allowed his sister to live on the land, and in case she might have a claim, the suit named her, too. It was not till October 1805 that an answer was received from Abel Westfall, of Ross Co., Ohio, the husband of Mary (who had died).

This suit proves that Charles son of Israel was still alive, and that he had gone to "West Augusta Co." Virginia. Augusta County had been created in 1745 out of Orange County, and contained all the land west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, south of the northern neck grants, and north of the Carolina line. Till 1781 it had claimed the south-western corner of Pennsylvania, too. In the 1770's more counties were carved off from West Augusta County, including Greenbrier County in 1778. The West Augusta District Court was held at Staunton, Va., where the 1796-1805 lawsuit was filed.

How do we locate and identify the Charles Friend who was party to the 1796-1805 lawsuit? The logical step would be to search the 1800 census of Virginia. However that census no longer exists.(6)

I next consulted published marriages of Virginia, and found a Charles Friend married in Greenbrier Co., Va., in 1794.(7) Further research showed that Charles Friend is on the personal tax lists in Greenbrier County, Virginia from 1783 through 1798.(8) The area where he lived was set off as Monroe County in 1799, and he is taxed there from the first extant property tax list in 1800, through 1817. Thereafter the property tax list designates the same property as "Charles Friend Heirs" through 1831. Had I stopped when no 1800 record was found, I would have been lost. By searching further, and consulting the films of the original tax records, I found him.

The question remains: how old was he?

His eldest son Abraham Friend was taxed on the Greenbrier Co. personal lists from 1782 through 1787. From 1788 through 1802 Abraham Friend is found on the tax lists in Washington Co., Va. In 1805 he appears in the records of Miami Co., Ohio, where he lives continuously per deeds, taxes, and census till his death in 1829.

Abraham had returned to Virginia where his daughter Rebecca Friend was married on 1 January 1812, in Monroe Co., to Nimrod Tackett.(9) That they are the same people is shown by a deed dated 15 November 1814 in Miami Co., Ohio, whereby Abraham Friend makes over all his household possessions "to my son-in-law and daughter Nimrod Tackett and Rebecca P. Tackett."(10) Abraham is found again in Monroe Co., Va. in 1816 at the settling of the estate of Charles Friend.(11) At the estate sale, Abraham purchased small, easily transportable items such as candlesticks.

These connections are important because the first two children of Abraham Friend have death records which evidence their ages and parentage. Alice Friend Crabtree died on 23 June 1854 in Lee Co., Va., age 78 years, 10 months, and 8 days, born in Greenbrier Co., a daughter of Abraham Friend.(12) His second child, Sarah Friend Lee died 25 May 1834.(13) She was 56 years, 7 months, and 20 days old. Sarah was originally buried in the Old Kepper Cemetery, in Bethel Twp., Miami Co., just north of Abraham's land, but that cemetery was subsequently moved; her resting place is now the Old Jackson Cemetery, Bethel Twp., Miami Co., Ohio. The other children of Abraham Friend all appear to be younger.

This means that Alice was born in 1775, and Sarah was born in 1777. Counting backwards, this would place Abraham's birth around 1750-1755. Counting backwards further still, Charles Friend was probably born circa 1730-1735.

Which means he was not a minor in 1761/63 when he asks his step-father John Valentine House to be "guardian" of his property. Investigation of the customs of the colonial era shows that guardians were not usually appointed for minors. Guardians were appointed to protect property, or to act on behalf of someone who was absent. Charles owned land from his father's will, and judging by the lack of his name in records where his father had lived, and where his brothers lived, he had gone elsewhere by 1761/63. Guardians were also used to protect a dower right if a woman was absent or incapacitated.(14) Well into the 19th century, an "orphan" was any person, even a young adult, who had lost at least one parent.

Which brings us to the rest of the legend about Sarah, alias "Bokavar". Friend descendants have said that Sarah, widow of Israel Friend, was married off to friend and fellow-trader John Valentine House Jr. after the death of her first husband. Nothing more was known about Sarah. Recently I came across "The House Family Tree"(15), which says:

OCCGS REFERENCE ONLY

WHERE DO YOU LIVE?

My husband's parents E. J. and Carrye (Spahr) Seiler moved to their newly purchased farm on Route 571, west of Greenville, in the middle 1930's.

The buildings were all white with green trim. There were numerous springs on the farm land so the farm was named The White Springs Farm. The chickens and the cats were all white. They also raised pure bred white collies.

E. J. designed and built The White Springs Golf Club and later The White Springs Tavern. He also operated The White Springs Tree Nursery.

E. J. came to Greenville in 1926 to open the J. C. Penny Company store on Broadway and continued as manager until he retired in 1956.

Upon retirement he decided to lay out the remaining farm land into lots and called his sub-division White Springs and the first road cut out was White Springs Drive.

Jim and I built our home in the orchard of the farm.

When people ask where I live I tell them in the White Springs area.

This is nothing new!

People for years used churches, mills, schools, crossroads and neighborhoods as guides to their homes.

Many of those areas known to our ancestors are gone as are the names of some of the Post Offices and towns.

Going through old newspapers, histories and the help of some of our elder citizens has enabled me to find many of the lost names.

While I found many of the names I could not pinpoint some of the location's,

As I never claim to be perfect, I am sure there are some errors.

Forgive me - I tried my best.

- iv. LILLIE F., b. July 8, 1872

69. LEMUEL⁸ FRIEND (Lemuel⁷, Richard⁶⁻⁵, James⁴, John³, James², John¹), son of Lemuel and Betsey (Thomas) Friend, was born January 31, 1808 at Gloucester and died there January 6, 1867 and was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery, Gloucester, a mariner and fish trader (Gloucester VR). He married December 4, 1831 Hannah Ober Friend at Gloucester, daughter of Solomon A. and Belinda (Durham) Friend, born at Thomaston, ME about November, 1818 and died September 9, 1889 at Gloucester or Beverly of heart disease and was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery (Gloucester VR). Children, born at Gloucester (Gloucester VR):

- i. HANNAH MARIA⁹, b. Nov. 11, 1832; m. June 18, 1850 Daniel Douglas, 21, mariner from Scotland.
- ii. LEMUEL HENRY, b. Mar. 20, 1835; d. Jan. 21, 1836
- 105. iii. JULIA FRANKLIN (1837-1867)
- 106. iv. LEMUEL (1838-1920)
- 107. v. SOLOMON AUGUSTUS (1840-1888)
- 108. vi. BELINDA RICHMOND (1844-1925)
- 109. vii. GEORGE HOWARD (1846-1920)
- viii. FLORA T., b. Nov. 27, 1851; m. Nov. 12, 1884, a clerk at Gloucester, John Webster Perkins, 29, farmer b. Topsfield, s. Dudley D. & Mary A. Elliott) Perkins; rem. to Topsfield.

70. WILLIAM HENRY⁸ (Lemuel⁷, Richard⁶⁻⁵, James⁴, John³, James², John¹), son of Lemuel and Betsey (Thomas) Friend, was born October 21, 1812 at Gloucester and died there December 2, 1873 and was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery (Gloucester VR). He was a fisherman. He married December 9, 1837 at Gloucester, Ann Wilson, daughter of James and Anna () Wilson, born October 12, 1818 at Gloucester and died there of consumption, June 27, 1846. Children, born at Gloucester (Gloucester VR):

- 110. i. WILLIAM HENRY⁹ (1839-1914)
- ii. prob. ANN MARIA, b. Oct. 9, 1840; d. June 19, 1841.
- iii. JULIA ANN, b. July 10, 1843; m. July 10, 1861, the Rev. R. G. Miller, pres., Sam Gibson, mariner from Kittery, ME, s. Isaac & Lucy (Perkins) Gibson.

71. ELIZA⁸ FRIEND (Lemuel⁷, Richard⁶⁻⁵, James⁴, John³, James², John¹), daughter of Lemuel and Betsey (Thomas) Friend, was born October 7, 1814 at Gloucester and died there July 16, 1876 of heart disease. She was buried in Oak Grove Cemetery. She married June 12, 1831 at Gloucester, Joseph Herrick, son of Joseph and Thankful () Herrick, born February 27, 1807 at Gloucester. While no death record has been found, he evidently died before 1876, as Eliza is described as a widow in her death record (Gloucester VR). MARTHA EDWARDS, FIRST WIFE OF WILLIAM CLEAVES OF BEVERLY, MASSACHUSETTS

By Donald S. Kenney, P.O. Box 446, Waitsfield, VT 05673

While developing a genealogy of the descendants of Rice Edwards of Wenham and Beverly, Massachusetts, it became obvious that most of the published genealogies as well as the vital records of Beverly and Wenham to 1849, published early in this century, contained errors and omissions. Once errors like this are in circulation, it is difficult to convince people that it may not be correct.

The Vital Records of Wenham for the years 1687 to 1695 are lost, and those for the years prior to 1687 are incomplete. Beverly was a part of Salem until 1668 and records prior to this date are also incomplete. It is necessary to rely on other sources such as church and court records, deeds and probate records.

Rice Edwards, the progenitor of a branch of the Edwards family, received a grant of land in Wenham in 1642 (Salem VR, 1:116). On 18 April 1681, an agreement was filed in Essex County Probate Court between Rice Edwards and his son Benjamin regarding the estate of Rice Edwards. On 15 June 1683, an amendment was signed by the children of Rice Edwards regarding the 1681 agreement with their brother Benjamin. The children who signed this amendment were: sons John and Thomas Edwards, and the husbands of the daughters: John Knowlton, John Leach, John Coy, William Cleaves and Richard Lee (Essex Probate, 8629; Copy Book 307:133-135).

The only marriage record extant of a daughter of Rice Edwards is that of Elizabeth Edwards, who married John Coy at Beverly, 23 June 1679 (Beverly VR, 1:104). Lacking any vital records confirming the marriages of the other un-named daughters, it became necessary to find alternative sources.

The Register of Baptisms of the First Church in Beverly 1667-1710, with annotations by Augustus A. Galloupe, states "The object in copying the baptisms in the First Church is to add the maiden surnames of the mothers of the children baptized. The list is not complete, owing to a transient residence of many members of the church. But as far as can be determined, the list is fairly full in regard to the early membership. The editor of the Register of Baptisms states: "Mr. Galloupe placed the maiden name of the mothers in parentheses. These are not part of the original record, but were obtained by careful investigation and comparison with various existing records"

On page 16, under the year 1681, is the following entry: "24 March Bapt. John, Eleanor and Martha of William and Martha (Daug... of Giles Cory) Cleaves (1st wife)." On page 21, it states: "21 Nov. 1686, Bapt. of Margaret (Corey) Cleaves. (2nd wife. Both wives daughters of Giles Corey -- Salem Witchcraft). This data has most likely been the source of determining the name of the first wife of William Cleaves, although it is not a primary source. There has been no primary or other definitive source found which names a "Martha" as a daughter of Gyles Corey or having married William Cleaves.

William Cleaves (or Cleeves) was born between 1650 and 1654, and was in Beverly in 1671 (Beverly Town Records, 1:21). He married Martha Edwards about 1675-6. Their first child John was said to have been born 11 October 1676 (Eleanor V. Spiller and Emery N. Cleaves, The Progeny of William Cleaves of Beverly [1987]). Martha (Edwards) Cleaves died before 18 May 1683, when William Cleaves married at Marblehead, Margaret Cory, daughter of Gyles Corey (Marblehead VR, 2:99; also Beverly VR). In both sources, William Cleaves is recorded as William Clements. This is unquestionably an error. In the records of the First Church of Beverly, William Cleaves is called the husband of Margaret Corey. In the will of Gyles Corey, signed 25 July 1692, he named as sons-in-law, William Cleaves and John Moulton. Gyles Corey was pressed to death as a witch at Salem, Mass., 19 September 1692. Three days later his wife Martha (Corey) (stepmother to Margaret) was hanged on the same charge.
