WILLIAM HILLARD OF DUXBURY, MASSACHUSETTS

by Victor Grant Hillard Jr.

The Hillard, Hilliard, and Hiller families all descend from one immigrant, William Hillard, who arrived in Massachusetts Bay Colony on 9 May 1635 on the ship Elizabeth and Ann that sailed from London. He was listed as a carpenter, age 21.^[1]

1. WILLIAM HILLARD was born circa 1614 in England by his age upon arrival. William was married to ESTHER (--?--) likely between 19 and 29 October 1640.^[2]

William did not stay in Massachusetts Bay Colony for long as he, again as a carpenter, purchased five acres of land from Richard Wright "at fishing poynt towards the Eele River" in New Plymouth Colony on 24 March 1637 for £4 5s.^[3] William served with "honest and lawfull men" of New Plymouth Colony for the inquisition into the death of John England. They decided on 5 June 1638 that it was an accidental canoeing death.^[4]

On 12 March 1638/9, William was brought before the court for not "keepe[ing] the peace" by Richard Clough. This action was continued to the next meeting of the court, though no further account of this action could be found.^[5] William sold his land at Eele River bounded between William Dennis and Thomas Clark to Mark Manlove on 6 November 1639 for £4 and 20

William Nelson and Martha Forde married the xxixth of Octobr, 1640.
No records show Hiller's wife's surname but her first name is believed to be Hester or Esther. A search of known residents of Duxbury in 1640 failed to reveal any possible "Father."

bushels of Indian corn.^[6]

The next appearance in the records found William forming a partnership with George Pollard. They agreed to build and operate the first grist mill for the town of Duxbury on the condition of certain guarantees and promises of land from the town. On 7 November 1639, Rowland Leighorn (i.e. Lahorne) sold to the partners his house, garden place, ten acres of land, and one acre of meadow for £18 to be paid the following August. The same day, the inhabitants of Duxbury voted to agree that George Pollard, late inhabitant of Stokeclerc, England, yeoman, and William Hiller of New Plymouth, carpenter, would build a grist mill and stampers [i.e. the crushing of corn] at "Stony brooke lying by the house of Phillip Delanoy." For that, the town would not allow another mill to be erected so long as this mill could grind all the corn for the town in a timely fashion. The town would also try to "procure" all the common lands lying on the north side of the brook and the lands of John Irish and Henry Wallis for them. The town will also provide land outside of the village for use of their cattle. The partner's fee for grinding each bushel of corn was set of one "pottle."^[7] The town's agreement was signed by William Collier, Jonathan Brewster, Christopher Waddsworth, and Myles Standish.^[8]

The court granted a 40 acre parcel of land lying on the north side of Stony or Mill Brook to William Hiller and George Pollard on 6 April 1640, and on 5 May 1640, granted the use of that part of the brook for the mill based on a report presented to the court by William Collier, Myles Standish and John Browne. More land was granted to the partners on 6 July 1640, being 3 or 4 acres on the highway at Stony Brook on which to build the mill. They were at liberty to mow the 2 acres of marsh meadow lying in between Rowland Lahorne and Edmond Chandler's marsh.^[9]

On 11 June 1641, William Hiller mortgaged his dwelling house and garden (apparently George Pollard did not live at the mill) for 10 acres of land on the north side of Stony Brook adjoining his land on the east and the adjoining a 2 acre meadow from John Irish.^[10] The mill was a wooden frame building, and William Hiller mortgaged his half of the mill to pay Robert Carver for planks on 2 August 1642. This mortgage was apparently sold to Nathaniel Sowther on the same day and eventually paid off.^[11]

The mill was a success. However, the town did order them to "Keep his Mortars clean and the Dogs from out his milne."^[12] The court ordered Hiller to pay John Holmes, the messenger, 53s 4p in corn for his wages on 5 January 1640/1.^[13]

In August of 1643, William Hillier was on a list of eighty Duxbury men submitted to the Court, who were between the ages of sixteen and sixty and able to bear arms in the Indian wars. It is not known if William was ever called to serve.^[14]

William bought 10 acres of upland and 2 acres of meadow from Thomas Clarke on behalf of Robert Mendum for a "dutch cow" valued at £6 as shown in the court case of Arthur Howland versus Robert Mendum on 5 November 1644.^[15] William sold the same land to William Ford, but now estimated at 9 acres total, on 12 June 1645.^[16]

William of Duxbury, carpenter, sold everything he had to Constant Southworth of Duxbury, planter, on 10 November 1646 for £60 with the consent of his unnamed wife. The payment was £20 in money and £10 in cattle. The remaining £30 was to be paid in wheat at Boston, in Massachusetts Bay, at £10 per year in 1647 through 1649. What he possessed was his house and one-half of the interest in the mill upon Stony Brook that he owned with George Pollard, late of Duxbury, and the 3 or 4 acres upon which it stood. The other land was described as 2 acres of meadow lying between Rowland Lahorne and Edmond Chandler's marsh; 40 acres abutting Stony Brook; meadow lands before the 40 acres and on Stony Brook; 10 acres of upland lying on the north side of the brook with 2 acres of marsh meadow adjoining it; 10 acres of upland and 1 acre of meadow. "To have and to hold the said halfe of the mill, and all the halfe of all ye afforesaid upland & meadows, and all the housing, fences, and all." Constant was also freed from all accounts concerning the mill or its premises in the partnership between Hillier and Pollard.^[17]

This family was next seen baptizing their three children at Hingham, Mass., on 25 February 1654/5 by Rev. Peter Hobart.^[18] There is no mention of the family in the published Massachusetts Bay Colony records.

The earliest known owner was Ethel (Scott) McEwen of Plymouth, Mass., daughter of Manuel and Joanna (MacDonald) Scott, wife of Thomas Gilbert McEwen, and was born about 1900. The title page reads The HOLY BIBLE: Containing the Old and New Testaments: Translated out of the Original Tongues, with the former translations diligently compared and revised, By the Special Command of King James I. of England (Philadelphia, 1808). 1717.^[193] Susannah, daughter of Samuel and Mary (Abell) Luther, was born in Swansea, Mass., in 1686, and died in Little Compton, R.I., on 6 April 1777.^[194] She was buried in Old Commons Cem., Little Compton, R.I., in her 91st year.^[195]

David served on a jury in Bristol, Mass., in 1718, 1722, 1724, 1733. He was chosen a surveyor of highways in 1721-1722. He was elected a town representative in 1730 and 1733. He was the keeper for the town's ammunition from 1739 to 1749. He was the town moderator in 1739.^[196]

David wrote his will on 1 August 1748 and it was probated 6 February 1748/9. He named his wife Susannah; sons William, Benoni, Oliver, deceased Joseph (with four unnamed children), Joshua, and David; daughters Deborah Wheaton, deceased Priscilla Palmer (with four unnamed children), Hannah Wilbor (wife of John), and Abigail Hillard; and Negro girl Kate. He listed land in Little Compton and Stonington.^[197]

David owned land in Stonington, Conn., Swansea and Little Compton, Mass. In Stonington, he sold one lot in 1718 (while of Little Compton) and held the mortgage for 95 acres for his son William as mentioned in David's will.^[198] David received land of his father in Little Compton through his brother Jonathan Hillard and wife Abigail in 1718. David increased his land holdings by buying a 15-acre lot in 1724; a salt marsh and ledge land in 1726.^[199] David sold two 10-acre lots in Swansea, Mass., that was his wife's inheritance from her father Samuel Luther in 1727. David bought more land in Little Compton in 1729 while selling off some in 1731 and 1734.^[200] He continued buying there in 1734, 1737, and 1745-1746, and received a division of land in 1739. He sold his last parcel in 1745.^[201]

CORRECTIONS

From MD, 50: 51, in the Presho article, Prescinda S. Witherell, who was born in 1833, was married in 1840. That obviously cannot be true. The source was rechecked and that is what it read. This is likely a typographical error.

From Alicia Crane Williams of Hingham, Mass. (ACWCrane@aol.com).

From MD, 50: 65, a calculation was given to determine a birth date from an age at death. There is a caveat to that rule. If the result gives a month between 1 and 12, and a day between 1 and 31, there is no adjustment needed. The magic number "8870" is based on months having 30 days. If the preceding month has 31 days, then use "8869." If the preceding month is February (i.e 28 days), then use "8872" and "8871" for a leap year.

Examples:

|-------|-----------------|---------------|-----------------|-------------------|
| Date | 1889 05 06 | (6 May 1889) | 1889 03 06 | (6 Mar. 1889) |

| Birth | 1818 03 02 | (2 Mar. 1818) | 1817 96 98 | |
| | | Subtract | 88 72 | (instead of 8870) |

64. Amos B. Carpenter, A Genealogical History of the Rehoboth Branch of the Carpenter Family in America (Amherst, Mass., 1898), does not recognize the existence of a John Carpenter who married Sarah Hillard and mistakenly places their three sons, Barnard, John, and Warren, in the family of John and Sarah (Thurston) Carpenter. The latter couple had removed from Rehoboth to Norwich, Conn., by 1720. Warren Carpenter was likely named after his grandmother, Deborah Warren. Which John Carpenter was the son of Benjamin and Renew (Weeks) Carpenter? The John Carpenter who married Sarah Thurston died in Stafford, Conn., on 23 Feb. 1766 aged 74, which would imply a birth year of 1691, and might lead one to believe that he was the John born in Swansea, Mass., 25 Mar. 1691 to Benjamin and Renew (Weeks) Carpenter. But the inventory of Benjamin Carpenter suggests that the John who lived in Swansea – i.e., he who married Sarah Hillard – was the son of Benjamin and Renew. "In the inventory taken of Benjamin Carpenter's estate in 1727, a referral is made to the land and house of John Carpenter in Swansea." "In the distribution, John Carpenter receives the above land as part of his share in addition to adjoining land." [Bristol Co. Probate records, 6: 3, 47-49.]

William¹ and Esther Hillard may have had other children, among them the father of the Ambrose Hillard who settled in New London Co., Conn., near William¹'s known descendants.

12. AMBROSE HILLARD was born circa 30 September 1694, died in Stonington, Conn., on 2 October 1769 aged 75 years and 3 days,^[180] and was buried in the Great Plain Cemetery, North Stonington, Conn.^[181] Ambrose was married to MARY _____,^[182] who survived him.^[183] Was she the Mary Hillard who died on 24 January 1795, aged 79?^[184]

Ambrose was probably he who, for a time, was of North Kingston, R.I., and later of North Stonington, Conn. He purchased land in Groton, Conn., from Stephen Billings, but resold it to Billings within a year.^[185] Letters of administration were granted on 7 November 1769 to John Hillard and Henry Jones, both of Stonington, Conn. Ambrose's inventory includes a house and farming equipment. One debt was to William Hillard Jr. for £4:18:1.^[186]

HILLARD CORRECTIONS

MD, 50: 126:

David Hillard, probable son of Benoni and Martha (Lord) Hillard, was indeed a son of Benoni. John Hillard, cousin, was granted administration for the estate of David Hillard 2nd of Stonington, Conn., on 4 May 1773. John and father Benoni signed administration papers at Saybrook, Conn.^[236] The David Hillard who married Lydia Hudson as mentioned in footnote 184 perhaps is the son of Joshua and Esther (Burgess) Hillard found on MD, 50: 128-129.

MD, 50: 128-129:

Esther (Burgess) Hillard, widow of Joshua Hillard, married second Joseph Edmonds in Cornish, N.H., on 25 Nov. 1790.^[237] Esther's children Samuel and Luther Hillard were buried in Cornish; Samuel at Johnson Farm Cemetery and Luther at Edminister Cemetery.^[238] Luther married first Elisabeth York of Claremont, N.H., on 27 Feb. 1783.^[239]

235. The Will of Edward Tinker [Stonington Probate Dist., New London #5311 (1800)] mentions sons: Daniel, Jeremiah, Josiah, and Edward; and daughters: Sarah Fowler, Charlotte Comstock, Rebecca Keeney, Elizabeth Owens, and Mary Rogers. Edward did not name daughter Lucy Darrow or son John, but did name grandson, James Darrow, (parents not mentioned but is son of daughter Lucy, deceased), and grandson, John Tinker (parents not mentioned but assumed that he is the son of John Tinker, deceased, and Desire Hilliard). Edward did have another grandson named John Tinker by his son Josiah. This John was born on 1 Jan. 1791 and died 27 May 1797 before the death of Edward. Josiah had a second son named John Harris Tinker but he was born on 12 Oct. 1801 after Edward died. Winifred Lovering Holman presented this theory in "John Tinker and His Family" (typ., 1934).
