PREFACE

This work does not pretend to be a complete genealogy of the Long families in Massachusetts. The compiler hopes in a later work to include all the data he has collected on the several Long families in Massachusetts, and will be glad to receive from such families any corrections or additions to be included in this later work. The data included in this paper has been collected from many authorities and records to whom credit can not be given specifically, but the compiler has been greatly indebted to Thomas Bellows Wyman's "Genealogies and Estates of Charleston, 1629-1818," published in 1879, for the valuable information contained about the early Charleston Longs.

The general plan has been followed in this genealogy of arranging the family by generations, and indicating the generation from the original ancestor by a Roman numeral in capitals. Each individual in every generation is indicated by an Arabic numeral, and in addition the several children in each family are identified by a Roman numeral, lower case. Thus "IV.14.vi.Norton,b.1666," would indicate that "Norton" was in the fourth generation from John the Sidesman, the fourteenth person named in that generation, and the sixth child in his family, and he will always be referred to by this number, and will be the only person in this work with that number. Where an individual's family is given in the next generation, his name is written in Italics.

A LONG GENEALOGY

A Partial Genealogy of the Longs of Charlestown and Nantucket, Massachusetts

CHAPTER I

Introduction

There are many families with the surname "Long" in the New England States, many of whom are not related, as this is a rather common surname wherever English is spoken. The meaning of the name can be readily perceived, and there were probably many persons who were given this appellation, when surnames first crystallized into family names, and began to be used without regard to their fitness as descriptive terms. The families using the spelling "Long," formerly "Longe," originated mostly in England, altho some are known to have come immediately from Ireland, and a few may have come from other parts of Europe. Those families using the spelling "Lang" or "Lange," which form of the name is often confused with "Long," seem to have come mostly from Scotland or Germany, altho a few originated in England. The name, originally a descriptive epithet, is often spelled in the old records as "Longe," "Lange," "le Longe," "Laingh," et cetera. This word has the same spelling in French as in English, but is spelled "Largo" in Spanish and "Lang" in German. The Latin word was "Longus," becoming "Longo" in modern Italian.

This genealogy is confined to the probable ancestors and descendants of Robert Longe, who embarked in 1635 for Charlestown, Mass., and whose progeny settled in that vicinity, in Cape Cod, Nantucket, and probably other parts of New England. The records of Boston and Charlestown are incomplete after the first few generations, and altho many of the Longs around Boston probably belong to this family, the compiler has been unable to establish their connection with this line. Considerable data has been collected about other Long families in New England, some of whom are referred to in the next paragraph, which the author hopes to include in his later work.

The Longs in Essex and adjoining counties are many of them descended from Deacon Robert, who was married in 1643, at Salisbury, or from Richard, a probable connection of his, who was married in 1680, at Salisbury, and both of whom left many descendants. There was also a Richard Long at Weymouth in 1635, and a Robert Long at Plymouth in 1623, of whom nothing further is known. John Long of Hartford, Conn., in 1640, is probably the ancestor of many of the Connecticut Longs. Joseph Long of Dorchester was married by the Governor in 1661, and his descendants settled in Hingham, Martha's Vineyard and Greenwich, R. I. Phillip Long of Ipswich and Boston, 1647, had descendants who settled in East Greenwich, R. I. There was also a Samuel Long at Ipswich in 1648, of whom nothing further is known. Thomas Long, Jr., was born in Roxbury in 1688. William Long, who married in Charlestown in 1670, may have been a connection of Robert of Charlestown, and he left descendants in the vicinity of Boston. There was a Nathaniel Long who married in Boston in 1649, and a Henry Long who arrived with his family in Boston in 1685, of whom nothing further has been recorded. Many of the Longs in the central part of the state are descended from John Long from North Ireland, who settled with his family at Upton, Worcester Co., about 1728. Governor John D. Long was descended from Miles Long, who came to Plymouth from North Carolina about 1770, and whose descendants settled in Maine and Eastern Massachusetts. The compiler has noted that Myles and Robert were both common names among the Longs of Sleaford, Bonnington and Sudbrooke, England, between 1638 and 1717, as shown by the Lincolnshire visitations for those years, but has not attempted to trace any connection. Many of the Longs in Eastern New Hampshire are descended from Pierse Long, who came to Portsmouth from Limerick, Ire., in 1730.

The name is quite common in Old England, families being found in most counties. The most prominent family would appear to be the Longs of South Wraxall and Draycott, whose pedigree is given in the Wiltshire Visitations for 1578 and 1623, and other published works. Their coat of arms as described by Stokes' pedigree is "Sable, semee of cross-crosslets, a lion rampant argent." Their crest was a crown with a demi-lion rampant holding a glove in his mouth, granted one of them who fought with Henry VIII on the field of the Cloth of Gold. Their motto was originally "PIEVX QVOIQVE PREVX," which can be translated as "Pious altho Gallant," some branches later used the motto, "FORTUNE SOIES HEUREUX," which may be translated "Fortune should be happy." Their original patronymic was "le Preux," and they are descended from Henry le Preux or le Longe, a member of the train of Lord Hungerford about 1400, who was "tall and stout." They were landed gentry, many of them being knights, sheriffs, members of parliament, cabinet officers, et cetera. Viscount Walter Hume Long, of Rood Ashton, who was born at Bath in 1854, a member of parliament and first Lord of the Admiralty, and who died in 1924, was a member of this family. Viscount Long lost his only son, General Walter Long, in 1917, he being killed in action in the World War, and all his honors and 20,000 acres of landed estates in Wiltshire and Northamptonshire going to his only grandson Walter, born about 1914. The family of Robert Longe of Charlestown can be traced back to St. Albans, Hertsfordshire, England, and altho Robert is a common name in both families, no actual connection has been found between this family and the Longs of Wiltshire.

CHAPTER II

Line of Robert of Charlestown, 1635

The first record of Robert Long, who embarked for Charlestown, New England, in 1635, is the record of his first marriage in 1614 at St. Albans, Hertfordshire, Old England. We know the year of his birth from his age given in 1635, but the name of his father or of his birth-place is not given, altho he appears to have been a son of John Longe, a sidesman or assistant church-warden at St. Peters, under the Archdeaconry of St. Albans in 1583. Quite a few Longs are shown on the St. Albans records about this date, and probably belong to this family.

Among those shown on the records are John Longe, vicar at Ardley, under the archdeaconry of St. Albans in 1564, and John Longe "straye," who was baptised and died in 1583, one of whom may have been an ancestor of Robert of Charlestown. Henry Long, Esq., sheriff of Hertfordshire in 1714, may also have belonged to this family. The following Longs appear to have belonged to the same family, and are arranged in this genealogy, with notes showing when the arrangement is based upon an assumption and not upon an absolute record.

FIRST GENERATION

I. 1. i. JOHN LONGE, shown by the cathedral records to have been a sidesman at St. Albans, Herts, in 1583. The records show the birth of only two of his children, viz:

- II. 1. i. Marie, b. 1594, St. Albans, m. Richardson.
- 2. ii. John, Jr., b. 1596, St. Albans, issue follows.

However, in addition to the above, the following who are shown by the records at the cathedral, but whose births are not recorded, appear to have been children of John the sidesman, born prior to the above. It should be noted that both John, Jr., above, and Robert, following, named children "John," "Robert" and "Anne."

- II. 3. iii. Alice, m. Stanton, St. Albans.
- 4. iv. Steven, d. 1617, St. Albans.
- 5. v. Richard, m. abt. 1607, St. Albans, issue follows.
- 6. vi. Anne, m. 1606, Newes.

- II. 7. vii. ROBERT LONGE, b. 1590, in England, probably s. John the Sidesman, St. Albans. The first definite record of him is his marriage October 5, 1614, to Sarah, bp. 1595, D. John and Margaret (Willmote) Taylor. His first wife died in England and he married (2nd), Elizabeth, b. 1605, in England, who came with him to New England. His first eight children were born at St. Albans, or vicinity, and in about 1629, he removed to Dunstable, Bedfordshire, where he kept an inn. He embarked at London on the ship "Defense" for Boston, New England, July 7, 1635, and brought with him a certificate from the minister and justice of the peace at Dunstable giving the names and ages of himself, his wife, ten children and one servant. In 1636 he purchased the "Great House" at the foot of Town Hill at Charlestown, which had been built a few years previously as the second building occupied by the First Church at Charlestown, and which was then being used as the town hall for Charlestown. Here he opened an inn, which he named the "Three Cranes" (some authorities say the "Two Cranes"), which is usually referred to in the old records as the "Grand Ordinary" or "Grand Taverne." This inn remained in the possession of his descendants for nearly a century, and was burned on June 17, 1777, when the town was burned by the retreating British during the Revolutionary War. He died January 9, 1663, at Charlestown, and his will names his widow and eleven surviving children. His issue as given by Wyman were as follows:

In 1834 there had been three of this name graduated from Harvard, and eight of this name graduated from other Northeastern colleges, who may have been descendants.

CHAPTER III

Line of Robert of Nantucket, 1707

Nantucket was settled by colonists from Essex and other Eastern Counties of Massachusetts, in 1669, led by Thomas Macy and Tristram Coffin. The people were mainly sea-faring, and whaling became their principal industry, being introduced by Capt. Ichabod Paddock of Yarmouth, Cape Cod, about 1690. A few of the Longs on this island are descended from Richard Long, born in England in 1771, who married on Nantucket, but most of the Longs in that vicinity are descended from Robert Long, the "first who came to Nant," who is shown to have been a land-owner there in 1707. He married Sarah Skiff of Sandwich, Cape Cod, about 1695, and may very likely have come to the island from Cape Cod, in connection with the introduction of whaling. The Nantucket records state that he was born on December 6, 1669, but do not give his birth-place. Referring to Chapter II, on the Charlestown Longs, it will be noted that his birth on the above date is shown at Charlestown, Mass., the son of Samuel and Elizabeth (Pinkham) Long, and that further record of him was lost at Charlestown. I am therefore including him as the fifth generation of this Charlestown family.

 23. ii. John, bp. 10/30/91.
- VIII. 23. i. PELEG LONG, s. Robt. and Sarah (Gardner), b. Aug. 10, 1768, Nantucket. His marriage to Sarah, D. Joseph and Elizabeth (Jillings) Coffin, is shown by the records of the 1st Methodist Church at Nantucket, and he is also shown in the 1790 Census at Nantucket as the head of a family of one man and one woman. No further record has been found of him at Nantucket or elsewhere, but tradition among the descendants of Caleb Long of Roxbury, state that they are descended from a Peleg Long of New Hampshire. Caleb of Roxbury married a Phebe Caswell, prior to 1810, and it should be noted that Levi Caswell, b. 1764, Dartmouth (New Bedford), who married a Phebe, is listed in the 1790 Census at Sherborn (Nantucket), as the head of a family of one man, two boys and two females, and that he also had a daughter Lydia, b. 1799, at Nantucket. This is the only Peleg Long found in the Massachusetts or New Hampshire records, and it is probable that he went to New Hampshire, and was the father of Caleb, and that Caleb's wife, Phebe Caswell, was a daughter of Levi Caswell above. I am therefore listing as a son of Peleg Long, the following:
- IX. 24. i. Caleb, m. prior to 1810. (See line of Caleb of Roxbury for his descendants, Chapter IV.)
- VIII. 24. i. NATHAN LONG, Jr., s. Nathan and Lydia (Pinkham), m. Mary, D. Brown and Mary Folger, issue:
- IX. 25. i. Nancy, m. George Dow.
 26. ii. Lydia, m. at Hudson.
- VIII. 29. iii. VALENTINE LONG, s. Abraham and Mary (Marshall), b. 1787, m. Nancy, D. Obed and Desire Luce, issue:
- IX. 27. i. Mary, b. 9/23/1813.
 28. ii. Valentine C., b. Aug., 1819, m. Elizabeth, D. George and Elizabeth (Hosier) Abrahams.

CHAPTER IV

Line of Caleb of Roxbury, 1810

The first record found of Caleb of Roxbury is the birth of a child in 1810, the daughter of Caleb and Phebe Long. His grandson, Rev. Joseph M. Long, recalls having seen a family tree, prepared by Jonathan D. Long, tracing the descent of his family from a Peleg Long, who is thought to have come from New Hampshire. The maiden name of Caleb's wife is thought Nantucket. There are several Phebe Caswells recorded, but none married a Long, and it is surmised that she was a daughter of Levi and Phebe Caswell of Nantucket. This Levi Caswell was born 1764, at Dartmouth (New Bedford), and in 1790, had a family of two sons and one daughter at Nantucket, and another daughter, Lydia, born in 1799. (See note under Peleg Long, VIII.23.i.) While our information is not as definite as could be wished, all known facts about Peleg of Nantucket and Caleb of Roxbury, are consistent with the supposition that the former was father of the latter, and I am therefore listing Caleb of Roxbury, as the ninth generation from the Charlestown Longs, thru the Longs of Nantucket.

CHAPTER V

Line from Richard Long of Salisbury, 1671

Since the printing of the prior chapters the birth record of Caleb Long, 1784-1825, has been found in New Hampshire. He was not a son of Peleg Long, b. 1768, in Nantucket. Peleg, m. 1789, Sarah Coffin, d. 1836, and the "Sinnott Families" states that they left no surviving issue. The death of an unnamed infant in 1794 is recorded in Nantucket.

The correct lineage of Caleb Long is given in this chapter, which is a correction and addition to the material printed in 1926.

1. RICHARD 1 LONG, house-carpenter and yeoman, is found on the records of old Norfolk County, Mass. (including what is now Essex County), from 1671, as living in Salisbury, Mass. On Sept. 4, 1694, he and Joseph Pike were killed by Indians near Amesbury, on the way to Haverhill. He married 21 July, 1680, Ann, b. 1659, daughter Jos. 2 and Susan French, who after his death m. (2) Thos. Mudgett, and perhaps (3) Alexander Magoon of Exeter N. H. In 1696 James Brown was appointed guardian for his three minor children. See settlement in 1697, of will of Edward 1 French, d. 1674.

Record of his arrival in New England or of his birth has not been found. Hoyt's Salisbury says he was recognized as relative by family of Deacon Robert Longe, 1621-1690, of Newbury. A Richard Long is found in Weymouth in 1635, of whom nothing further is known. The records of what is now Essex County show the following unidentified Longs: Philip, Ipswich, 1647-8, Samuel, 1648, Benjamin, Haverhill, 1650-1, and Roger, c1650. In Hotten's lists is found a Richard Longe, aged 33, with wife, Alice, aged 23, in 1624 on the Virginia muster for Basses Choyse who had son Robert, born since their arrival in 1620 on the ship "London Merchant". In Chapter II, it will be noted that Robert Longe of Charlestown, 1590-1663, seems to have had a brother and a nephew named Richard in St. Albans, England, who are not further traced. Any of the foregoing may be clues to the origin of Richard Long of Salisbury.

The town records at Salisbury show the following children, born there to Richard and Ann (French) Long:

- i. Elisabeth, b. 1680, m. 1700/1, John Clough.
2. ii. William, b. 1682, family in Kingston, N. H., follows.
3. iii. Richard, 1683-1762, family in Salisbury.
 - iv. Susanna, b. 1685, perhaps m. Eaton, to Kingston.
 - v. Joseph, b. 1687/8, died unmarried a1712.
 - vi. Sarah, 1689-1691, d. infancy.
 - vii. Elinor, b. 1690, living 1766. m. Nathl. Mason.
 - viii. Sarah, b. 1692/3, living 1712; m. Wm. Russell.

2. WILLIAM 2 LONG, (Richard 1), born 25 June, 1682, Salisbury, Mass. Recorded in Kingston, N. H., 1712-1738; estate administered Jan. 1754; m. (1) 1 Jan., 1713/4, Ruth Eastman, 1687-1718; (2) 21 Dec. 1719, Sarah Shepard, d. 1720/1; and (3) 11 Jan. 1721/2, Deborah Young, at Kingston, N. H., who survived him. She was b. 1687, dau. Stephen and Mary (Payne) Tongue.

The records of Kingston show births of six children, and he is perhaps the William shown as having a son born in Portsmouth in 1738, as follows:

- i. Ann, 1716-1716, d. infancy, Kingston.
4. ii. Richard, b. 1717, family in Kingston.

5. v. Ebenezer, b. 1727, family in Kensington, N. H., follows.
6. vi. Steven, b. 1731, family in Sandown, N. H.
- vii. William, s. Wm., baptised 1738, Portsmouth, N. H., no other record; perhaps the Wm. who signed the N. H. test Sandown, 1776.

3. RICHARD 2 LONG, (Richard 1), b. 3 Jan. 1683/4, Salisbury, Mass., and d. there 3 Apr. 1762; m. 1717, Newbury, Mass., Sarah Coker, daughter Adam. The records at Salisbury show the following issue:

- i. Ruth, 1744-1746, d. infancy.
- ii. Lydia, bp. 1745, no further record.
- iii. Ruth, 1747-1747, d. infancy.

5. EBENEZER 3 LONG, (Wm 2 Richard 1), b. 23 Oct. 1727, d. 2 Apr. 1808, Kingston, N. H. On Kingston land records, 1748-1750; grant Stevenson, N. H., 1749; N. - i. Mary, bp. 1753, unmm. 1799, m. Jona. Leavitt.

 - vi. Abigail of Kingston, m. 1787, Ephraim Flanders, Sandown, N. H.
 - vii. Lucy, unmm. 1799.
 - viii. Annah, unmm. 1799.
- 6. STEVEN 3 LONG, (Wm 2 Richard 1), b. 10 Sept. 1731, Kingston, N. H.; N. H. test 1776 Sandown, N. H.; 1790 Census Sandown, 1-1-3; m. 1755, Judith Howell. Sandown records show following issue:

(A) INTRODUCTION

THE Long family has been prominent in the British Empire and in America, its members having played important rôles in war and in peace. Family pride is a commendable trait and should be cultivated. All Longs have just cause to be proud of their family history and traditions.

One authority says, regarding the name Long: "We find such names as Long and Short (and Shorter) but we cannot predicate that Long or Short are not contractions of some place-names, such as Longacre and Shortridge. Norman-French—De Longa; De Longues. 'Long' and 'Lang' represent a similar difference of pronunciation."

Unless otherwise plainly shown, the persons in this volume whose names are accompanied by three figures are sons or daughters of the immediately preceding persons bearing immediately preceding consecutive numbers. All persons in each group, bearing the same letter as a part of their respective numbers are directly related. The generations of the descendants of those bearing numbers of three figures are represented as follows:

Generations.....	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	5th
Symbols.....	(I), etc.	(A), etc.	(a), etc.	1, etc.	A, etc.
Generations.....	6th	7th	8th	9th	10th
Symbols.....	a, etc.	(I), etc.	(i), etc.	I, etc.	i, etc.

Abbreviations: ad., address; b., born; ch., children; coll., college; d., died; d.y., died young; d.w.i., died without issue; dau., daughter; grad., graduated; l., lives, lived; m., married, moved; s., son; univ., university.

The data in this volume are gathered from reliable sources at great expense. Those desiring further information are advised to consult volumes mentioned in list of references given in the back of this volume. The writer and his associates will be glad to give their co-operation to any members of the family who may be interested in having a complete genealogy of the family published.

Many old American families have formed Associations and some of them hold annual reunions. Local reunions have been held by various branches of the Long family from time to time. There is some interest in the forming of a National Long Family Association and the holding of a National Reunion.

Information regarding the Long Coat of Arms will be found in Chapter (O). Attention is also invited to Chapter (Q).

The compiler hopes that, in producing this volume he is bringing to the Long Family of the world information which will be of interest and value to them, and that he is rendering an important service to the public.

(H) AMERICAN LONG FAMILIES

One branch of the Long family emanated from the Prieuxwof, France, in 1400. It is well known that the Longs were at the defense of Londonderry. They closed the gates, December 1688, in face of King James' Army until August 1689. Henry Long was Mayor of Londonderry shortly after the siege. For political reasons the Longs, with others, were dispossessed of their property, the king giving same to his favorites along with titles of nobility. Those newly made lords were generally absentees who spent their time in London and on the Continent. As years passed the Longs became again prosperous. The agent of the absentees who spent their time away called to collect the rent. "On hospitable thoughts intent," a fine dinner was served to which he was invited. At the close of the meal, he arose and said, "You seem to be prosperous in every way and you can afford to have silver on your table (which was rare in those days) so your rent will be increased." The reply was, "No, we will go to America." Samuel, James, and Andrew sailed for America and settled in Cumberland Valley, Pennsylvania. Samuel, the forefather of Crawford Long, the discoverer of ether as an anesthetic, went to Georgia in 1788.

The first descendants of the Longs were John and Jennie Long who came from Ireland in 1726. They had issue: John, Mary, James, Elizabeth, and David. John Long married Mary Taft and had issue: John (III): b. Sept. 1747; James: b. June 27, 1749; Betsy: b. Dec. 11, 1750; Anna: b. June 14, 1752; Matthew: b. May 8, 1756; Sarah: b. April 2, 1754; Robert: b. Oct. 14, 1759; David: b. August 10, 1761; Aaron: b. Sept. 18, 1760; Mary: b. Aug. 6, 1765; Abner: b. Sept. 28, 1767; Reuben: b. Sept. 14, 1769.

David Long (1st) stated the Longs emanated from Scotland. John and Jenny Long and sons, John and David, landed at Taunton, Mass. A copy of David's will dated Feb. 10, 1784, gives his children as David, Stephen, William, and John, also Martha, Jemima, Anna, and Sarah, and speaks of John as a minor. He married Martha Woodward, Dec. 17, 1747.

To secure an estimate of the "Long population" of the United States, we figure as follows:

	Multiply
	by
Only about half the names were taken from each directory consulted.....	2
Half of the Longs reside in the rural districts or in small towns having no printed directories which were available to us.....	2
There are an average of more than four persons in each American family.....	4
Since Long daughters marry and have as many descendants as the Long sons, there are as many descendants of "other names" as there are bearing the name Long, though it is much easier to locate the latter.	2

By multiplying each figure of column (a) into the preceding figure, we have a total of.	32
Conservative estimate of the Long population of the United States, one-half of whom bear the name Long and one-half of whom bear other names.	333,952
The estimated Long population of any of the states may be obtained by multiplying the figures shown by 32. There are Longs in every state of the Union. The Long population of the British Empire is probably equal to that in the United States.

(M) RELIGIONS OF THE LONGS

For several centuries nearly all the Longs lived in England, Scotland and Ireland. Most of the Scotch and, likewise, the Longs were and are of the Presbyterian faith.

There are a few Longs of the Catholic faith in the British Isles, but it is estimated that their number does not exceed two per cent of the entire Long population.

The Longs who came from the British Isles to America continued in the faith of their fathers, for the most part, though their descendants in this country today will be found in the memberships of practically all the various churches. It is estimated that of all the Longs in America who are church members, at least ninety-seven per cent are of the Protestant faith.

Biographical sketches of Longs appear in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. Their religious faiths are shown as follows: BAPTIST, 2; EPISCOPAL, 2; CATHOLIC, 0; PRESBYTERIAN, 4; CONGREGATIONALIST, 1; METHODIST, 1; OTHER, 4; RELIGION NOT STATED, 15; TOTAL, 29.

(O) THE LONG COAT OF ARMS

A Coat of Arms is an emblem which is displayed by titled persons, persons of royal blood, and their descendants.

Coats of Arms were originally used for purposes of identification and recognition on the field of battle as well as in civil life.

It is claimed by some writers that Coats of Arms, in a crude form, were used by Noah's sons after the flood. There are records of other Coats of Arms, in one crude form or another, at different periods of ancient history. Heraldry, however, as we know it today, did not become of much importance until soon after the invasion of England by William the Conqueror, A. D. 1066. Heraldry became of general interest at about the time of the Crusades.

The Long Coat of Arms shown on the cover of this volume has been in use by the Long Families for many centuries. It was used by the Long family of Wraxall, Wiltshire, which goes back to JOHN LONG, who died A. D. 1597. (See Chapter (C)—A101.)

This Coat of Arms is described in references 2, 4 and 6, and in other reliable works on heraldry (in heraldic parlance) as follows:

Arms: Sa. within two flaunches and semeé of cross-crosslets or, a lion rampant argent.

Crest: A lion's head arg., erased or, holding in the mouth a dexter hand erased gu.

Motto: Pieux Quoique Preux. (Pious though valiant.)

Sir Bernard Burke, of Heralds College, London, said, "Heraldry is prized by all who can show honorable ancestry or wish to found honorable families."

Many Americans are today displaying Coats of Arms which have been adopted by their progenitors in Europe.

Besides its Family significance the Long Coat of Arms makes an excellent mural decoration and inspires the admiration and comment of all who see it.

Being a member of the Long family, it is quite appropriate that you should display this Coat of Arms, in proper colors, on the wall of your home or office, and use it on your stationery. This would be visible testimony to your friends and to the world of your justifiable pride in your family history, traditions and standards.

So far this has all been present day chatter and I need to answer some questions brought up in your last and other recent letters. About LONGS in Rowan County, for one. From Rev. Jethro Rumlpe's Rowan County History: About 1756 John Long purchased 627 acres in Rowan Co. and in a few years expanded his holdings to about 3000 acres. His wife's name was Hester. Court minutes show that John Long had some transactions with William and Joseph Long of Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. Tradition says that John Long was killed by Indians. Probably the only child of John and Hester Long was Alexander Long, b. Jan. 16, 1758. He inherited all his father's land and when he became of age he added to the estate. Alexander Long had a ferry at the mouth of Grants Creek to cross the Yadkin River between land he owned on both sides, and he was licensed to operate as a public Ferry. It was when Mr. Long had a misunderstanding with Lewis Beard, who owned land on both sides of the Yadkin and also operated a Ferry, that Beard hired Ithiel Towne to construct a covered wooden bridge across the Yadkin on his land at a cost of $30,000 in 1818. ----- The story relates marriages of Alexander Long's descendants and it appears that all settled in and around Rowan for several generations. Another source has practically the same data, but mentions that a kinsman of John Long, Matthew, was granted 652 acres on Second Creek in 1761, Rowan County.

THE COPPOCK-ROBINSON-LONG FAMILIES

The first ancestor we have located on this particular line is Bartholomew Coppock, who was born in the Parish of Wilmslow in Cheshire, England, and was christened in the parish church on October 20, 1610. Of Bartholomew we know little else than that he died in 1669 in the village of Nether Leigh in Cheshire. Bartholomew's wife's name is unknown, but it has been determined that Bartholomew had a son named John Coppock, who was christened at Wilmslow on August 17, 1636. John was married in the same place to Susan Lowe on June 4, 1662. Among their children was a son named Aaron, christened February 6, 1666 in the neighboring parish of Moberly.

Aaron was born into and was christened soon after birth a member of the established Church of England. At some point in his childhood, however, his parents joined the Society of Friends, or Quakers, becoming members of Pownall Fee Monthly Meeting. Unfortunately no record of Aaron's marriage has been located. It must have taken place about 1688, and it was to a fellow Quaker whose first name was Mary. Some researchers have suggested that she was Mary Oriell, but this is uncertain. They became the parents of five children, two of whom died in infancy.

Confirmed 7-92 this day of M. east-mon or Sarah Scarborough Oriell

In 1701 Aaron Coppock and his family left Cheshire for America. It is uncertain whether Mary Coppock accompanied them or was already dead and buried in England. After his arrival Aaron bought a farm of two hundred acres in Marlborough Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania. There Aaron found a second wife in a twice-widowed neighbor, Miriam (Short) Thompson White. The remainder of Aaron's life is recounted by a memorial penned by fellow Quakers and published in Philadelphia many years after his death.

It appears that he was born in Cheshire in Old England, the 25th of the tenth month 1662, was convinced of the truth when a young man, came to America soon after and lived near Chester; about the year 1714 he, with his family settled in Nottingham in said county; being a man of exemplary conduct and much esteemed by Friends, he was chosen an elder for the particular meeting in East-Nottingham, until he appeared in a public testimony, and therein was often concerned to exhort Friends to a life of self-denial, watchfulness, and prayer, which he did in great sincerity, zeal and innocence. In the forepart of his last illness he complained of much poverty, but before he died had a prospect of happiness, and a sure hope of obtaining the same. He departed this life on the 10th day of the tenth month 1725, and was buried in Friends burying ground in East Nottingham the 12th of the same month, aged sixty-three, and a minister seven years.

ORANGE COUNTY CALIFORNIA
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

Aaron Coppock was the father of eight known children, five by his first wife and three by his second.

1. Sarah Coppock, born July 12, 1690, died in Kennett Township, Chester County, Pennsylvania. She was married in 1716 to Alexander Frazier.

2. Martha Coppock, born September 3, 1693, died in East Nottingham Township, Chester County. She was married about 1715 to John Robinson.

3. Aaron Coppock, born March 31, 1696, died February 25, 1697.
4. Aaron Coppock, born January 1698, died March 11, 1698. (It was common in this period to give children the names of previously deceased brothers or sisters.)
5. Mary Coppock, born November 3, 1699, married August 12, 1721 to Robert Sinclair.
6. Miriam Coppock, born in 1706, died in Chester County. She was married August 12, 1727, to Richard Jones.
7. Lydia Coppock, born circa 1707, apparently died unmarried.
8. John Coppock, born July 1, 1709, died in Maryland, May 18, 1789. He married Margaret Coulson. 16 January 1731

We are descended from the second daughter of Aaron and Mary Coppock, Martha Coppock who married John Robinson. Of the Robinsons we know little. Nothing has been found that tells of John Robinson's ancestry, whether he was born in Pennsylvania or back in England. All that can be said of him with certainty is that he was, like his wife, a Quaker, and that he purchased a farm of 100 acres in West Nottingham Township in Chester County in 1724. He lived on it until his death. By his will, written April 15, 1744, John stated that this land was to be divided between his two sons John and Aaron, with them supporting their sister Mary, whom he described as "non compos mentis." John Robinson died the same year. After his death Martha remarried and moved out of the township.

John and Martha Coppock Robinson were the parents of six known children.

1. John Robinson, married Alice ?.
2. Aaron Robinson, died before age 21.
3. Mary Robinson, never married.
4. Ruth Robinson, died young.
5. Ruth Robinson, married ? Brown.
6. Martha Robinson, born circa 1722, died in Randolph County, North Carolina, married first Peter Rich and second, Tobias Long.

We are descended from the daughter Martha Robinson. She was raised a Quaker, and was married in Nottingham Meeting April 24, 1742 to Peter Rich, the son of Joseph and Elizabeth Beeson Rich. Peter died about 1747, leaving Martha with two little girls. In January 1748 Martha married again. This marriage was a source of consternation to the Nottingham Quakers. In January 1748 the monthly meeting complained that she "hath been lately married out of unity with Friends to a man named Long." Martha tried to make peace with the meeting, but it remained suspicious, ordering that some time be allowed to pass before her apology was accepted and she was restored to full membership. Their skepticism was well-founded. A year later, in January 1749, the meeting noted that "Martha Long who offered a paper condemning her marriage out of unity about a year ago, appears to have been guilty of fornication when she offered the paper; she does not deny it." Two months later Nottingham Friends disowned her. She never rejoined Friends.

Martha's second husband was Tobias Long, who lived in nearby Cecil County, Maryland, which bordered Nottingham on the south. Tobias was a grandson of Edward Languet, an Englishman who was living with his wife Sisley in Brandywine Hundred, New Castle County, Delaware, as early as 1693. He subsequently moved to Cecil County, where he died in 1735. After their marriage, Tobias and Martha lived on Tobias' plantation in Cecil County until 1771, when they sold out and moved south to Guilford County, North Carolina. Tobias took up land in the southeastern part of the county, very near the current boundary with Randolph County. There he apparently died late in the 1770s. It is not known when Martha died.

Tobias and Martha Robinson Long appear to have been the parents of six children:

1. John Long, born circa 1750, died in what is now Alleghany County, North Carolina in November 1836. His wife's name is uncertain.
2. Eleanor Long, born March 14, 1752, died in Randolph County, North Carolina, March 14, 1794. She married George Julian.
3. Israel Long, born circa 1755, died in Stokes County, North Carolina. He married Rachel Jackson.
4. Sarah Long, born in 1755, died in Milroy, Rush County, Indiana, in 1845. She married Isaac Julian. A grandson, Congressman George W. Julian of Indiana, was the first U. S. Representative to introduce a constitutional amendment giving women the right to vote. He was also nominated for vice-president in 1852.
5. Solomon Long, born circa 1758, died in Randolph County, North Carolina. He married Catherine Julian.
6. Reuben Long, born circa 1760, lived in Stokes County, North Carolina.

We are descended from the apparent oldest son of Tobias and Martha Robinson Long, John Long. The evidence for this conclusion is circumstantial but nevertheless strong. We know that there was a migration of several interrelated families from the section of Guilford County in which Tobias Long lived during the Revolution into the mountains of what is now Alleghany County. More striking is our ancestor John Long's choice of names for his children. He named his oldest daughter Martha, his oldest son John, and his second son Tobias. Names found among descendants of Tobias Long - Tobias, Martha, Solomon, Anne and Eleanor -- appear again and again among descendants of John Long.

We also have no record of the wife of John Long, not even her first name. We do know that they were married well over half a century, since when John wrote his will in 1825 he indicated that the woman to whom he was married was also the mother of his children. Some Long descendants have theorized that she was a Vannoy, perhaps a daughter of John and Susannah Anderson Vannoy of Wilkes County, North Carolina. More recently another theory has been proposed, which I find compelling, that she was a Phipps, the sister of Benjamin and Isaiah Phipps who came to the mountains from the same area of Guilford County where old Tobias Long lived. We may never know with certainty.

Of the early years of John Long's life we know almost nothing. The first record we have of him comes in 1782, when he was named an ensign in the militia company that then included what is now Grayson County, Virginia. John owned land in Grayson County until his death. By 1790, however, he had moved a few miles south into what was successively Wilkes, Ashe, and, after his death, Alleghany County, North Carolina. Here he took up land on New River where he lived the rest of his life. He farmed in typical mountain style. A significant part of his income came from his apple orchard: apples were made into cider and brandy, easily transported out of the mountains and sold for ready cash. As he prospered in this way, John Long put his profits into the only two investments available to him: more land and a slave named Bill.

In March 1825, about seventy-five years old, John Long felt a need to make his will. The original handwritten copy was found in the Ashe County Courthouse in West Jefferson in 1968. Since the original has apparently since disappeared, and since it is written in a style unique to John, it is reproduced here in its entirety.

John Long

John Long still had eleven years of life ahead. He and his wife are found in the 1830 Ashe County census living near their sons, both aged between 70 and 80. Sometime between 1830 and 1836 John's wife died. And in the early fall of 1836 John himself followed. At the November term of the Ashe County Court, John, Jr., and Tobias presented their father's will for probate. Soon after John's personal property was sold at auction. The sale bill shows that most of the goods were sold to relatives. The household was well supplied with livestock, farm implements, furniture, linen, plates and "puter ware." Among the more interesting items were "one book," "one pr. specicles," and "one negro man," valued at $75. The purchaser of the last was John's son, Isaiah. One can only hope that Isaiah remembered his father's injunction to treat Bill "with humanity Justice and Respect." The sale of John's extensive landholdings took much longer. It was still going on in 1849.

John Long was the father of eleven children who lived to maturity.

1. Martha Long, born circa 1775, died in Alleghany County, North Carolina, between 1860 and 1870. She married John Taylor, Jr.
2. Leah Long, born May 5, 1779, died in Alleghany County, North Carolina, July 13, 1862. She married John Jones, Jr.
3. Eleanor Long, born January 11, 1781, died in Alleghany County, North Carolina, March 12, 1821. She was married about 1801 to Daniel Jones.
4. John Long, born September 30, 1783, died in 1876 in Gallia County, Ohio. He married Susan Stamper.
5. Tobias Long, born circa 1785, died in Wilkes County, North Carolina May 20, 1862. He was married first to Frances Stamper and second to Susan Vannoy.
6. Anne Long, born circa 1788, died in Owen County, Indiana. She married John Tolliver.
7. Jesse Long, born July 5, 1789, died in Owen County, Indiana, September 1, 1866. His wife's name is unknown. He married Louisy STAMPER. This is my line
8. Mary Long, born circa 1790, died in McLean County, Illinois. She married Solomon Landreth.
9. Benjamin Long, nothing else known.
10. Owen Long, moved to Owen County, Indiana. He had a reputation there as an outlaw, and had two sons hanged for murder.
