THE MAVERICK FAMILY.

SOME twenty years since, looking over the late Col. Joseph L. Chester's MS. catalogue of Oxford graduates, my attention was drawn by him to the name of "John Maverick, 1595, Exeter College, from Devon, Minister."

Foster's Catalogue, much fuller in details, reads as follows :

"Maverick, John of Devon, cler. fil., Exeter Coll., matric. 24 Oct. 1595, aged 18; B.A. 8 July 1577; M.A. 7 July 1603; then in orders, rector of Beaworthy (s.w. of Hatherly), Devon, 1615. (See Foster's Index Eccl.)."

This was undoubtedly "the godly Mr. Maverick," whom Roger Clap, born on the Devonshire coast, at Salcomb (between Sidmouth and Branscomb), speaks of as living "forty miles off," and who, after establishing a congregation at Dorchester, N. E., died Feb. 3, 1636-7, being, according to Winthrop, "near sixty years of age."

Though we hear nothing of his wife, she is alluded to in 1665, by Col. Cartwright, in his "Memorial" concerning the Massachusetts," who observes :

"If any of the commissioners think it more convenient for them to stay in those parts, that they may have leave to do so. For Mr. Maverick hath his mother, wife, children & brothers living there, and nether estate, nor employment here."

And Samuel Maverick, writing from Rhode Island Oct. 9, 1668, to Secretary Sir William Morice, says that his mother "presents her humble service." (See Sainsbury's Calendar of Colonial Papers, vol. 3, p. 415, No 1288). This Secretary Morice, who died in Dec. 1676 aged 74, was son of Jevan Morice, fellow of All Saints College, Oxford, of an ancient Welsh family, doctor of laws and chancellor of Exeter, Devon, in 1594, and ancestor of the extinct Baronets Morice of Werrington, Devon, on the borders of Cornwall, a few miles s.w. of Beaworthy.

• Clarendon Papers, N. Y. Hist. Soc. Coll., 1809, p. 108.

The widow Maverick, in 1668, must have been well advanced in years, since by his own deposition,* taken in December, 1665, her son Samuel was then "aged 63 yeares or therabouts."

Samuel, the eldest son of the Rev. John Maverick, born about 1602, had settled in New England as early as 1624,† near the confluence of Charles and Mystic Rivers, where with the help of his neighbor, David Tomson,‡ he had built a small fort. He was an episcopalian and loyalist, and frequently embroiled with the colonial government; finally, after one of his several voyages to the old country, he was, in April 1664, appointed one of the four Royal Commissioners to visit the colonies and inquire into grievances. For his services he received from the Duke of York, through a grant from Gov. Lovelace, a certain house and lot in New York City, on the Broadway. This gift he acknowledges in a letter of Oct. 15, 1669, to Col. Rich. Nicolls, his associate in the Commission, and we hear not of him again till in a deed of Mar. 15, 1676 (recorded Albany, L. 1, p. 133), his trustees, John Laurence and Matthias Nicolls, of New York, confirm to William Vander Scheuren this same property on Broadway, which the latter had bought from the Deacons of the City, by whom it had been purchased at a public sale made for the benefit of Maverick's daughter, Mary, wife of Rev. Francis Hooke of Kittery. Neither the time nor place of Maverick's death, nor the depository of his will have been, as yet, ascertained. No records of so early a date are preserved by the Dutch Church, who evidently held the lot for a short period, but, after a careful examination of conveyances in the City Register's office, the writer has satisfactorily located the position of the Maverick Lot. May 30, 1667, Gov. Nicolls granted a lot on Broadway to Adam Onckelbach, which is described in later deeds as bounded south by house and lot of William Vander Scheuren, and which finally in Oct. 1784, when known as No. 52 Broadway, was sold to John Jay, Esq., the future governor, who here erected a fine stone mansion. At this time the lot adjoining to the south was in the tenure and occupation of John Slidell, save some 64 feet on the easterly or New Street end, which had been sold in 1683 by Vander Scheuren to William Post (L. 13, p. 8; L. 35, p. 170). Slidell's sons in 1819 sold the greater portion of the lot, facing on Broadway, with a frontage of 21½ ft., and a depth 110 ft., to Robert Lenox; while the remaining few inches, with a lot adjoining to the south, known as No. 48, was sold by them on the same date to David Gelston. From the foregoing facts we gather that the original Maverick Lot was 26½ feet wide, located on the easterly side of Broadway, running through to New Street, and beginning 125 feet south from the Church Street (afterwards Garden Street, and now Exchange Place); and that it corresponded with the present No. 50 Broadway.

Though extinct in the New England States, the Maverick family has existed for the past one hundred and fifty years in New York City, where Andrew Maverick, a young painter, 24 years of age, was admitted a freeman July 17, 1753; his name occurring on the Poll List of Feb., 1761. He was baptized at the New Brick Church, Boston, Feb. 9, 1728-9: one of the numerous family of John⁴ Maverick (Paul³, Elias², Rev. John¹), an importer of hard woods on Middle Street (now Hanover St.), at the sign of the "Cabinet and Chest of Drawers," John's grandson Samuel (son of Samuel deceased), an apprentice of Mr. Isaac Greenwood, ivory turner &c., was mortally wounded, March 5, 1770, in the Boston Massacre. Andrew, who came to New York, married about 1754 Sarah, dau. of Peter and Bethia Ruston or Rushton, and Mr. Rushton; in a will of 1765, proved Aug. 14, 1767 (L. 25, p. 534), leaves his entire estate, after the death of his wife Bethia, to his grandson Peter Rushton⁵ Maverick.* The latter, born in the city April 11, 1755, a silver-smith, etcher and engraver, was in Aug. 1775 an Ensign in Capt. M. Minthorn's Co., of Col. John Jay's 2d Reg't of N. Y. Militia, and on July 23, 1788, represented the Engravers in the N. Y. Federal Procession; he died in Dec. 1811, and was succeeded by his three talented sons, Samuel,⁷ Andrew⁷ and Peter.⁷

The name Maverick, one of unusual occurrence, is akin doubtless to Morris, Morrice, or Maurice; we get nearer to it in the original Welsh Mawr-rwyce, "a valiant hero."

Nath. Maureick, † chief clerk of the Town Clerk, London, died 24 November, 1630, and John Mavericke was a settler located in Charleston, S. C., in 1672.

One other entry to the name is given by Foster:

"Maverick, Radford. ‡ of Devon, pleb., Exeter Coll. matric. 17 Nov. 1581 aged 20; rector of Trusham (n. of Chudleigh), 1586, and vicar of Islington, Devon(?) 1597. (See Foster's Index Eccl.)."

NOTE.—In reply to inquiry, F. A. Willis, LL.D., Rector of Beaworthy, writes under date of March 3, 1894, that no mention of the name "Maverick" occurs on the parish registers.

* Dr John Greenwood of N. Y. writing in Nov., 1803 to P. R. Maverick, alludes to a lot on Middle St., Boston, belonging to estate of his late father, Isaac G., and which adjoined land of Maverick's grandfather.

GOV. SIMON BRADSTREET'S ANCESTRY.*

A MANUSCRIPT volume of personal memoranda by the Rev. Simor Bradstreet of New London, Conn., second son of Gov. Simon Bradstreet, contains this entry:

"March 12, 1670-71, I baptized my child. He was named Simon, it being my own and my Father's name and Grandfather's."

Going back another generation, we learn from Mather and Hutchinson, that the governor's grandfather was "a Suffolk gentleman of fine estate," whose son Simon was, under Dr. Chaderton, one of the earliest fellows of Emmanuel College, Cambridge. Afterwards, he was a minister of Lincolnshire, and a non-conformist at home, as well as when preaching abroad, at Middleburgh. The latter's son, Simon, born in Horbling, Lincoln, March, 1603, was also for a brief period at Emmanuel College, whence he removed to the family of Theophilus Clinton, fourth Earl of Lincoln, serving as his steward, and living subsequently, in the same capacity, with the Dowager Countess of Warwick.

Thomas, Earl of Lincoln, father of Theophilus, died in January, 1618-19, æ. 48. He was father of eight sons and nine daughters, of whom the Lady Arbella, together with her husband Isaac Johnson, sailed for New England in the Spring of 1630, on a ship named in her honor; Bradstreet himself being a passenger on the same vessel. Johnson's mother, Elizabeth, was daughter and heir of the Rev. Laurence Chaderton, D.D., Prebendary of Lincoln, above alluded to; who was also one of the translators of King James's Bible, and the first master of Emmanuel College. This institution was built in 1584 by Sir Walter Mildway, whom the Queen greeted, on his coming to Court, with the remark, "Sir Walter, I hear you have erected a puritan foundation."

The Horbling parish register, not beginning till 1653, has heretofore barred further investigation, as to the family in that locality. Fortunately the Bishop of Lincoln's transcripts have been recently examined with the following results:

written—Simon Bradstreete—James Lamley, Robert Taverner, Thomas Wright.

Probatum fuit temōi testam' apud Lincoln' xiiij^o die Aprilis anno dñi 1621 coram veñli vira Rogers Parker sacre theolōg' Profess' Decano et Surr' veñlis viri croferi Wivell ñ dñoris R^{at} pñis dñi Georgij p'viden' diā Lincoln' Epi vicar' geñlis &c Commissūq' fuit onus execuōis liusdem testam^a Executrici in eod' nōiat' prius vigore Comiss' &c iurāt' saluo j^ure &c.

The name Simon has long continued in the family, and is still preserved in the line of the Irish Baronets, whom Hutchinson alludes to as connected. However, contemporary with Simon, the Vicar of Horbling, was the Rev. Symon Bradstreet of Hasset, co. Suffolk, living 1630,* and Symon Bradstreete, citizen and grocer of London, who died in February, 1627-8, as we learn from his proof of will given in Mr. Waters's Gleanings.† The latter leaves all his property to his nephew and executor, Samuel Bradstreete, and apparently discards his daughter Margaret, who, without his "love, leave or consent," had married Edmund Slater, citizen and mercer of London. Slater, in his license of 23 May, 1625, for a marriage at Lamborne or Birchanger, Essex, is called of St. Magnus (London); his wife of Bishop's Stortford, Herts., and her father as of Brainford, Middlesex, brewer. Four years later, 7 May, 1629, Edmund Slater, gent, of Bishop's Stortford, Herts., widower, aged 30, has license of marriage at St. Bennet, Paul's Wharf, to Grace Glascocke, aged 21, with consent of her father, Henry Glascocke, gent, of Farnham, Essex. Bishop's Stortford lay some thirty miles north of London, close to the westerly border of Essex, with Farnham and Birchanger just above it.

If we may judge from what can be gathered in the MSS. of the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's, the family name of Bradstreet is of pure cockney origin, originating in Bread Street, that locality in the metropolis where was anciently established a bread market. Thus in 1273 Master Thomas de Bread Street, clerk, received the grant of a quit rent issuing from a tenement in the parish of All Hallows, Bread Street. His name also occurs as "de Bredstrate," and "de Bradstrat," till in 1294 we find him Rector of Tollesbery, Essex, acting as deputy of the Bishop of London, for collecting from the neighboring church of Heybridge, the tenth lately granted King Edward I. at Ely. In 1293 Walter de Bredstrete received a tenement in the parish of All Hallows de Bredstrete, under the will of Peter, son of John le Long (see Cal. Husting Wills); and William de Bredstrate, bokeler, had a grant in 1243 of land in Wood Street, parish of St. Alphege.

Immigrated to the U.S. on the Mary and John May 1630, Lived in Dorchester, Mass and died Boston.

John requested freemanship 19 Oct 1630 and admitted 18 May 1631 (Mass. Bay Court Record 1:79, 366) Dorchester town officer, 21 Jan 1632/3 (Dorchester Town record 1); of Beaworthy Devonshire (NEHGR 9a6 1942 232-4)

John entered Exeter College, Oxford in 1595 at age 18 where he received his bachelors degree 1599 and a masters degree in 1603. John took Holy Orders in 1597, being ordained in the private chapel of the Bishop's Palace in Exeter. John probably served as a curate in Ilsington, Devon to his uncle Rev. Radford Maverick, Vicar of Ilsington and brother to Peter Maverick.

The marriage of John Maverick and Mary Gye on 26 Oct 1600 in Ilsington, Devon, was performed by his uncle Rev. Radford Maverick.

John Maverick was the curate at South Huish, Devon where 5 of his children were baptized between 1606—1613. The church of South Huish is in a little valley almost in sight of the English Channel. In 1824 it was in Ruins, the tower nearly falling down and the grounds were overgrown with weeds. Services had not been held there for over 60 years (1864) except for once a year to hold the property for the church.

In 1615 John was instituted to the rectory of Beaworthy in North Devon, near Dartmoor. The Beaworthy records during the time John Maverick was there are lost.

In 1603, Whitgift, Archbishop of Canterbury drew up a number of rules for the Church and required that they be read aloud in every church and the clergy sign their assent. Many ministers throughout the country refused to sign, including 41 in Devon and Cornwall. This was not a large number since in Devon alone there were over 500 parishes. In 1607, some opposing ministers in the Exeter Diocese published a treatise, further defending their opposition by saying "the weight of episcopal power may oppose us but cannot convince us." By this time, Whitgift and Queen Elizabeth were dead and James I was on the throne. James I declared "I will make them conform or I will hurry them out of the land." Little did he realize the effect of this declaration on the history of the whole modern world. Some Puritans sought refuge in Holland, until that country's friendship with James was not compatible with sheltering his rebellious subjects. The exiles, seeking another haven, turned their eyes toward the new world.

John married (1) Mary GYE, daughter of Robert GYE and Grace DOWRISH on 28 Oct 1600 in Ilsington, Devon, England. Mary was born 1580 in Sanford, Devon, England. She died after 1666 in Rhode Island.

They can also join the Barons of the Magna Charta under the name of Robert De Vere, Earl of Oxford, in line from Mary. Descendants can also join Crown of Charlemagne as Mary Gye can trace ancestry back to Charlemagne via several lines. Charlotte Carpenter Smith has gone into these societies under this name and so if you are a descendant you can check her papers.

Mary Gye was related to the Monck family via Frances Monck or Monke of Powdrige, Devon (Aunt of Duke of Albermarle. She married Sir Lewis Stukeley and Stukeley is a kin of Mary via the Stukeley-Farrendon line. Frances Monk married Lewis Stewkley(Stukeley) of Farindon(Farrendon). Mary's son Maverick became Royal commissioner in the colonies and no doubt this connection made that possible.

John and Mary had the following children:

- 19 M i. Samuel MAVERICK was born 1602 in Devon, England.
- Came to America in 1624.. This oldest son of Mary Gye and John Maverick came to New England ahead of the rest of the family in 1624, returned to England shortly before the restoration of the monarchy in 1662. He came back to New England in 1664 with the appointment of a Royal Commissioner. In a letter dated 9 Oct 1666, addressed to Sir William Morice, the secretary of state he wrote his motherⁿ presents hr humble service.. hence Mary was alive at that date.
- Thre is little doubt but that Mary Gye acquaintance with the Monck family of Devonshire accouts for her son's influence and position af royal commissioner. George Monck, Duke of Albermarle, to whom Charles II owed his restoration, was patron of Sir William Morice. Frances Monck, Aunt of the Duike married Sir Lewis Stukeley who was a kinsman of Mary Gye, while Sir Lewi's sister Katerhine married Thmas Dowrish, counse germain to Mary Gye.
