COVERING THE TERRY-TORY

by Robert W. Terry
4900 Springdale Road Cincinnati OH 45247

We family tree searchers are occasionally grateful for an unusual given name bestowed upon a male of the Terry tribe by his parents. These names pop out at the searcher much quicker than the more common given names and give rise to the question:

"Is he the one in our ancestry?"

That leads to a more detailed and thorough investigation of available facts and the ultimate conclusion that the person with the unusual name is, or is not, important to the search being conducted.

In my case, I'm grateful for one ENOS TERRY, probably the eldest of five sons of my g.g.g.grandparents, John and Ruth Terry. Their second son was named REUBEN, again unusual enough to make the searcher pause, but the last three sons in order were ROBERT (my ancestor), JOHN and WILLIAM; much more difficult for the searcher to trace.

First mention of ENOS is in "Notes of the Terry Family in the U.S." which says he was a native of New Jersey, born about 1755. Based on other information, I feel that he was born some time later than that date.

ENOS not only had an unusual name, he had an unusual occupation. A book, "The Trans-Appalachian Frontier," reveals that he was not a hunter or a trapper, as many pioneer men were, but a potter. He is said to have fashioned trenchers, dishes and bowls to trade with the hunters for meat and pelts, in 1780 at Strode's Station, near present Winchester, Ky. He was listed as present at Strode's during the Indian attack of 1781.

In March, 1782 ENOS is listed as "AMOSS" Terry; in May, 1782 as "ENEAS" Terry, and in November, 1782 as "ENOUS" Terry, in the Lincoln County, Ky. militia. Also in the November was his father, JOHN, with both surnames spelled "TERREE" on that list. (I am curious as to the type of military duty performed by a potter not familiar with firearms -- could he have been a cook?)

The Madison County, Ky. tax lists of 1787 show ENOS as the owner of one horse and two cattle. His father, JOHN, is much more affluent with three horses and 16 cattle. The same county's 1788 tax lists say that both Terrys had moved to Fayette County.

My conjecture is that the families moved to a location near the Ohio River opposite Cincinnati in what later became Woodford County, Ky., extending north to the river at the time it was formed.

JOHN and son ENOS lived close enough to acquire lots in what is downtown Cincinnati in May, 1789. John received a gift lot from the developers and bought two other lots. ENOS made news by paying an unheard-of 80 shillings for a lot at Sixth and Main Streets. Even my ancestor, Robert, then a youth of 18, bought a lot.

Prior to the Cincinnati move, the name "ENES" Terry appears on a Kentucky petition in 1785, asking that two additional counties be created from Lincoln County, the division occurring two months later.

In Cincinnati proper, ENOS was listed with early settlers of the present Cumminsville community in 1790, but removed with others as the result of Indian threats. My guess is that he came back to Cincinnati and began to buy and sell real estate.

In 1794, ENOS gave $2 toward a new Presbyterian church (his own parents were Baptists); he appraised the oxen and wagon of a man killed by Indians. Since 1790, ENOS had filed for forfeitures of land in sections whose owners had not provided for settlement; he received forfeitures in several cases, and either sold the land or absented himself for another location. On one occasion, he bought a 100-acre tract and sold it at a profit five weeks later.

By 1803, ENOS was listed among organizing members of the South Bend Baptist Church formed west of Cincinnati. He had acquired in 1799 the 106-acres originally forfeited to his father, JOHN, in that community.

ENOS apparently left Cincinnati for Montgomery County, Ohio and by 1808 or 1809, had settled in Darke County, where he afterward became an associate judge of Common Pleas Court. The "History of Darke County" says that ENOS and Billy Wilson connived to win designation of their settlement, called Greenville, as the county seat in 1810, but the Ohio Legislature reversed the selection and re-established the county seat at the old military fort site.

As a judge, ENOS once inflicted unusual punishment on a man convicted of stealing a watch from a Fort Greenville soldier. ENOS gave him the choice of 40 lashes, OR divesting his clothes and climbing a thorny locust tree at Enos' home. The outcome has not been recorded.

In Darke County, Enos operated a mill near Greenville which the troops from the fort dismantled due to Indian dangers. He also operated a tavern.

There is no identification of his first wife, mother of his sons: Nathan, administrator of ENOS' estate, and John. His second wife was Elizabeth (Hole) Craig, widow of John Craig, of Montgomery County, and the mother of eleven children. They were married in 1816.

ENOS died May 1, 1826 at Greenville, Ohio. Because his parents gave him an unusual name and because he was a colorful character, I owe much of my success in researching Terrys to him.

NOTES ON TERRY FAMILIES OF
WARREN AND BUTLER COUNTIES KENTUCKY

by
Matilda Adams

Corona CA 91720

I have been to Salt Lake City twice to do research and hired a good researcher to help me and we could not find my George Washington Terry's parents. George was born June 1819 in KY and married in Warren Co. KY 1843 to Sarah Jane Sumpter. He then appears on the 1850 to 1900 Census in Woodbury, Butler Co. KY. Earnest Terry [of Meridian MS] thinks his parents were William B. Terry b. 8 Sep 1785 VA and Mary Bean Carter. William was the son of Obadiah P. Terry and Sarah Day. William died in Harrison Co. KY 12 Mar 1860. We could not find a will for William or any deeds to tie him to my George. I have quite a bit on William's family back to Thomas Terry Sr. b. 1732 VA....If you have any suggestions or places that I should do research please let me know and any Terry information that I find will forward to you.

He attended Winchester School in 1572 and graduated from Oxford in 1578 B.A. & 1582 M.A. He held strong anti-Roman Catholic opinions and wrote a number of books. Mary White was the sister of Rev. Stephen Terry came on the "Mary and John" in 1630 alone, at the age of 21. He first settled in Dorchester, Mass. where he applied for freemanship on

There he received 9 acres of land and was taxed on the basis of 200 pounds. He related, somehow to Nathaniel Cooke, of Windsor, who was named in the will of Stephen's mother, Mary (White) Terry, in England, who called him nephew. At a general meeting of the inhabitants of the County of Cumberland, in New Jersey held at Bridge-town, on Thursday, the 22nd day of December, 1774.

The articles of the Association entered into by the American Continental Congress being publickly read, were unanimously approved of; whereupon it was resolved, that a committee of thirty-five persons be appointed to carry the same into execution throughout the county; accordingly the following persons were chosen: viz.: Abraham Jones, Thomas Maskell, Ephraim Harris, Silas Newcomb, Ephraim Seely, Daniel Elmore, Jonathan Ayres, Elijah Hand, David Bowen, and Josuah Brick, Esquires; Messieurs John Wheaton, Benjamin Mulford, Abijah Holmes, Thomas Brown, Joel Fithian, Daniel Maskell, John Gibbon, Michael Hoeshell, Thomas Daniel, Jonathan Smith, William Aul, Joseph Sheppard, Isaac Preston, Samuel Leek, Mark Ryley, John Buck, Ezekiel Foster, Joseph Newcomb, Jonathan Lore, John Terry, Gideon Heaton, Richard Wood, Joshua Ewing, John Laning, and Thomas Ewing.

* * * * *

According to Chambers the surname TERRY appears very early in ["Early Germans in New Jersey] Southold, Long Island which was named after a town of the same name in Suffolk County, England. Some of these early settlers removed to Elizabeth, New Jersey.... "The township of Roxbury was formed ... December 24th, 1740. From it, the present townships of Chester, Washington, Mt. Olive and also a part of Mendham, Randolph and Roxbury were probably formed."

Chambers also notes that Richard Terry, from Southold, was the first of the name in Roxbury. He further states, Richard, of New Jersey, was probably the great-grandson of the first of the three brothers Richard, Thomas and Robert TERRY of 1635 fame.

THURSTON-TERRY CONNECTIONS

Submitted by Joel Terry

Canoga Park CA 91304

When my father, Carl Anthony Terry, Sr., died several years ago, he left for me a hard-bound copy of a very interesting book. It had belonged to his uncle, Edward Anthony Thurston (ref. page 594 copy). As you can see from the copies, it has become quite fragile.... [The book was published by Mr. Brown Thurston of Portland Maine in 1892.]

In reference to the copy of page 594 of the Thurston Genealogy, Dr. Charles Church Terry was my grandfather.... I understand that his marriage to my grandmother, Cora Belle Thurston, was his second marriage and that he had a son by his first. He was 52 when my father was born. He died shortly after as a result of a fencing accident. He had remained agile and enjoyed the sport of fencing. When very young, I had heard my parents say that there was some questions as to it being an accident. The only details I remember are that the tip of his opponent's foil fell off and the foil pierced his mask, entered his eye and pierced his brain.

Editor's note: This book on Thurston's is very similar to the book by Stephen Terry of 1887. It is interesting research because several of these TERRY-THURMOND citations are not found in Stephen Terry's book on Terry Families in the U.S.

The January 1987 issue has a short section on notes concerning STOKES AND ALLIED FAMILIES by none other than the Editor of the Terry Family Historian. Looks like a good start to me; it is $12.00 per year and well worth it! Send orders to Mr. Alton T. Moran, 10451 Classique Ave., Baton Rouge LA 70815.

Yes, it is true what they said, "Terry's Thicker than cotton in Lawrence County"? I guess it could all be summed up by saying, it really felt good to be one of "them Terry's in Lawrence County".

Page 86 -- James Allen b. 1775 - according to Todd County, Kentucky census -- m. about 1800 Molly Hagood, daughter of Buckner and Rosanna (Archer) Hagood. Mollie died between 1840 - 1850. James made his will October 10, 1855 and died by December of that year. He left his estate to his grandson, William, and his three daughters.

The couple had nine, perhaps ten children: a daughter, Nancy, b. 1807 in South Carolina never married but lived with her parents until their deaths; a son under ten in 1810 and born in Chester County may have died young or may be William H., whose will was recorded Sept. 22, 1835 in Todd County. He had moved to Nashville, Tennessee, married, and had a son by the same name; two daughters and a son born between 1810 and 1820 were not listed in the home in 1830 census; Elisha, born 1810-1820, married Caty Ann Faulks, December 10, 1827 and may have also married Jane Whitson October 18, 1847; James Kennedy Allen, born 1814, was probably a namesake of his father's maternal uncle. He married on July 2, 1837 Sally M. Terry, daughter of William Morris (Maurice) and Elizabeth Terry. Elizabeth b. 1812, married the first time _____ Allen, and then Isom Malone of Elkton, Todd Co. They had two sons, Bishop and Jim, latter a school teacher.

James Kennedy Allen was a farmer in Todd County until 1854 when he, his wife and three children migrated with Kentucky-Tennessee wagon train to Tarrant Co., Texas. Texas was being advertised in glowing terms not only by "developers" but also by friends who had migrated earlier. Alfred Johnson had left neighboring Tennessee in 1853 and settled in Tarrant County. He was largely responsible for the Allens migrating in November 1854. The trip took a month. J. K. Allen bought farms in the western part of the county. He was a charter member of the First Christian Church of Ft. Worth, Texas. He held elected and appointed public offices at the county and state level. When the Civil War started, he returned on horseback to join his Todd County neighbors to fight for the Confederacy. Though he received a gun-shot wound in the leg, he survived. Three children had been born in Todd County; William Terry born December 12, 1842, married Sarah Frances Grant and upon her death, her sister Theodocia; Mary Ann born May 17, 1844, married Richard King who had come in the wagon train; James Kennedy Allen, II, born November 4, 1848, married Elizabeth Jane Prewitt; Sarah Katherine Allen born Tarrant County married Gabriel Terry. The writer is a grand daughter of James Kennedy Allen II. sg. Frances Marion Allen.
