JOHN HENRY VICK, ORANGE COUNTY, FLORIDA

by Willa VICK GRIFFIN

John Henry VICK, a Georgia native, was born February 10, 1853, in Brooks County.

John and his wife, Caledonia (Donia) DODD, were brought up in the tragic era preceding and following the War Between the States.

In the fall of 1880, after having been married a little more than three years, John and Donia VICK, with their two small daughters, May and Ollie, set forth on a great adventure -- to found a home and seek a fortune while pioneering in Florida. In the cavalcade which they organized were several young men who rode their horses. Donia and the children rode in a buggy while their entire possessions were carried in a wagon. After more than a week's traveling without mishap they reached the Lodge, now Apopka, where John's younger brother, Ezekiel, had already arrived with his bride, the former Catherine Sarah RUTLAND, and were there to greet them.

John bought land on the southeast shore of Lake Apopka, which he cleared. He then secured all the dropped oranges from a nearby grove and planted a nursery. In the course of time, he developed a large orange grove.

The life of a pioneer is never an easy one. It has hardships which are undreamed of today. Often two months would pass without there ever having seen or spoken a word to any person except the men in their employ. Insects were not only annoying but were also a menace to health. Once John made a wooden frame large enough to house two beds and which he covered with mosquito netting, and in which the family slept; to touch the netting with any part of the body brought swarms of mosquitoes to the spot.

On January 24, 1883, their third daughter, Willa, was born in Crown Point. She was named for her grandfather, William VICK.

Perhaps those who suffer most from pioneer life are the young children, and Willa was no exception. In later years her father, half jokingly, would tell her that many nights he was torn between fear that she would die, and fear that she would not.

The only son of John and Donia VICK, John Earl, was born in Crown Point on June 18, 1891.

Lean years were ahead for the people of central Florida; in 1893 the bank in Orlando, the only one in the county, was closed. Then in December, 1894, a severe freeze destroyed the orange crop, and to make matters almost hopeless, another and even more devastating freeze killed the trees to the ground. John sent to California for choice budwood, he heretofore having sold such to them, and grafted several into each orange tree stump. With large root systems, the trees grew rapidly so that the obstacles were eventually overcome and prosperity returned.

In 1901, the Governor appointed John VICK to the office of Sheriff of Orange County to fill the unexpired term of one who died in office. John filled the office with honor and justice for a period of eight years. He then returned to his orange groves and also to become a realtor, handling large tracts of timber land, in both of which he was successful. Upon the urging of his wife they gave to each of their children an orange grove, feeling that they would most enjoy seeing their children have the benefit of their inheritance during their own life times.

Always a lover of nature, John early learned the ways and haunts of wild creatures. He once brought home a young fawn, its mother having been crippled by the hounds. When a wild turkey graced the table, he would tell of the early dawn wait near a roost high in a tree top which had been located at dusk the day before. Also, he would tell of the chase through the scrub and swamp for a wounded bird, for neither bird nor beast should ever be left to die a lingering death. He would tell of that rare sight, the courting dance of the cranes, which he had spent many hours watching, forgetful of the hunt.

Twice a year, with some old crony and his deer hounds, he would take himself off to the best deer-hunting grounds and be gone for several weeks. He would bring back snake skins, alligator eggs, huge wasp nests, moths, butterflies and other trophies of his hunting trips.

In his later years, when failing strength and eyesight kept him from hunting, he purchased a cabin cruiser, and with his mate and some member of the family, or a nurse, he would sometimes be gone a month or so. His grandsons called him "Skipper" which pleased him greatly.

Sometimes John kept his boat at Sanford, on Lake Monroe, and from there would cruise the St. Johns River to Jacksonville; then down the Intercoastal Waterway, stopping at Daytona, New Smyrna, Eau Gallie, and Stuart for supplies and mail. From Stuart he would go up the canal to Lake Okechobee, cross that inland sea and follow the Caloosahatchee River to Fort Myers, then on to the Gulf of Mexico.

Those were the days that he really lived. For one of his children or a grandchild to be invited to be his guest on one of these cruises was a great honor and pleasure. Such bids were anxiously sought. John was, in every way, the Skipper of his craft, and woe to anyone who dared interfere. He would sit on deck for hours guiding the helmsman by a movement of the hand to the right or left. From his vantage point, he would watch the one who was fishing; when the catch was too large or too small to suit him, back into the water it would go, even over the protest of the frugal soul who felt that a "bird in the hand was worth two in the bush."

Many rivers and creeks were explored; many nights were spent with the cruiser tied to the limb of an overhanging tree. To be awakened by the noisy chatter of the birds and the strange cry of beasts in the vast swamps just outside one's window was a more thrilling experience than all the sights of man-made cities.

Donia did not wholly share with her husband in this call of the wild. She would go down the St. Johns River and over to Salt Springs where they would tie up to a huge overhanging live oak and perhaps stay a week. In this sulphur spring, far inland, was to be found mullet (the choice fish of any native), as well as crab and other delicacies native to salt water. Adjoining was the Ocala National Forest, where in former years, John went to hunt, and on these occasions, he would re-live those hunting days. Donia would get a doubtful pleasure from hearing these reminiscences.

Another favorite cruise was up the Oklawaha River to the famous Silver Springs where they would laze out over those vast caverns which send forth millions of gallons of water every minute, yet remain almost placid. Occasionally, they would join the throng of spectators in glass-bottomed boats to gaze into those depths which spew forth not only water, but also legends of romantic Indians ever seeking their princesses deep within those caverns.

The later years of John and Donia were happy ones. They made their home in Orlando, where they had all the comfort that a home could give. They were active in political and civic affairs. They had the knowledge of well-spent lives, with no regrets for the past nor dread of the future. They had built well for this world and eternity.

The VICK children lived out their lives in Florida. Ollie, married J. T. EZZARD, Sr. and taught third grade in Marks Street School in Orlando for over thirty years. May married Rev. Henry Fletcher HARRIS and lived in St. Petersburg. Willa, who, in 1956, wrote most of this article, was a genealogist with a keen interest in history and lived all her life in Orlando. She was married to Samuel GRIFFIN. Earl was a prominent citrus grower until his sudden death while still in the prime of life.

Many VICK descendants still live in Orange County.

THE YESBECK FAMILY

George YESBECK was the owner of a Printing Press. While away on business in Damascus, his head employee printed some item against the Turkish Regime (as Syria was under the Turkish rule at that time). He was put in prison and then killed by putting poison in his coffee. His wife, Efdukia HABIB was the daughter of a rich Merchant of Mazraha (suburb of Beirut, Syria) near the famous Pine Forest from which King Solomon built his Temple, as it is located at the foot of the first range of mountains of the Lebanon called Beit Murray.

George and Efdukia had six children. Three boys and three girls.

Assein and Emily were sent to the Protestant Sister's School (German) called the Order of the Diaconess until they were 16 years old, as borders. They both learnt German and Arabic.

Elias and Lutfallah (which means Grace from God) were sent to the Jesuits in Damascus. Elias learnt the trade of shoemaker making ready made shoes. Lutfallah a cabinet maker, both brothers lived in Egypt where they died (in Mansourah Upper Egypt).

Aunt Emily (our beloved Aunt) left soon after her sister Assein, for Alexandria, Egypt to help bring up her children. She left after her sister died in 1914 for Syria to take care of her aged ailing Mother, where she also died 1922. After leaving school, she taught here and also in Alexandria in the Government School for Girls. When she returned to Syria, she taught again this time English. Syria was taken by France during World War I.

THE VICK FAMILY

This history of the Vick family goes something like this:

Seems that there was a LaViecke in Northern France who was run out of the country for reasons that seem obscure at this date. He made his way to Virginia, where, with American contraction of names and Frontier spelling, he was known as Joseph Vick. We know from history that he had sons, one of which was named William, and, this son had a son named William. I estimate that he was born about 1728. Now this William was the Father of Newitt, Burwell, William, Thomas, Sally, Rachel, Dorcas, and Patience. Newitt, of course, is the one that settled Vicksburg, Miss. Now, this William, the father of these boys, also had several brothers. Joshua Vick must have been one of these brothers. We know that he was born in Southampton County, Virginia; the same county as Newitt and the others. Joshua Vick was born in 1762. It seems that before 1790, all the Vicks picked up and left Virginia. We find them in the Carolinas in 1790 and shortly thereafter, we find them in Georgia, Tenn., Alabama, and Miss. We find Newitt, Thomas, Burwell, and Hartwell in Mississippi. We find that this group traveled through the Carolinas, through Georgia and into Alabama, following the Tennessee River to Mussell Shoals. There, they acquired a flat boat and floated down the Tenn. River to the Ohio River and thence to the Mississippi River and South to a place near Fayette, Miss., where they settled a plantation which flooded out by the river rise. He thence moved to near Vicksburg, where he had better luck.

Joshua and his clan lived in Georgia for four years and moved to Tenn. and lived most of the rest of his life. About 1829, this clan scattered to the four winds. Joshua going with part to Illinois and William, the son, going to Ala. This group lived in Ala. about 25 or 30 years and then on to Clarke County, Miss. There were several families of Vicks in North Ala., which may or may not be of this clan.

THE VICK FAMILY

Joshua Vick was born in Southampton County, Virginia on the 20th day of May in the year of 1762. At the age of sixteen, he entered the Service to fight in the Revolutionary War. At that time, his country was divided up into divisions, too, and these divisions took turns serving active fighting. His division was the 307. His Commander was Captain Jesse Whiting. The Regiment to which he belonged was the command of Colonel Wells and Gen. Mulenburg was the commander of the detachment. By the way his service record reads, Joshua served a couple months on some sort of patrol duty and then returned home. Several months later he was called back out for another 2 or more months and then sent home and then after a couple of months, he was called back out for another tour. His records show no big battles that he was in, but lots of small encounters with both English and Indians.

Joshua went back to his home in Southampton County, Va. after the war was over and resided for a while. He then moved to Nash County, North Carolina; there he lived twelve or thirteen years. He thence moved to the State of Georgia. He resided there about four years and moved to Smith County, Tenn., and resided there until the latter part of 1829. He thence moved to Union County, Ill., where he shortly died. Joshua Vick died 25 Feb. 1833 at the age of nearly 71 years. At the death of Joshua, certain legal papers were filed with the Federal Government concerning pension papers stating that the following persons were his children:

(1) Lewis Vick

(2) Milly Vick, married to Benjamin McGravens

(3) Fiatty Vick, married to John Palmer

(4) Sarah Vick, married to Moses Houtson

These people stated that they were the only son and daughters of the said Joshua Vick, but surely they meant the ones there in Illinois.

THE VICK FAMILY

Other interesting things about the Vick family have been turned up by my searches. One thing in particular that is interesting turned up in Bay Springs, Miss., the second county seat of Jasper County. Most of the court house papers were burned in a fire at Pauldin, Miss., the other county seat, nearest to the Hudson and Vick families, so I was surprised when I found out that one old will book and a couple of land books were saved from the fire by being in the court house at Bay Springs on loan. I thumbed through this book and came upon a recorded will of J.E.W. Vick, my great grandfather. He states in his will that his youngest son was to receive the home place and to look after Susan M. Vick, his wife, and then wills the other boys, one at a time, large sums of money, which he says that they owe him from loans they have made. In other words, he had loaned them all money that they had failed to pay back and he was calling everything even with them.

Then down in one paragraph to itself was the following:

"I further will and bequeath to my daughter, Sarah L. Hudson, a tract of land described as the Southwest Fourth--SW $\frac{1}{4}$ --of the Northeast Fourth--NE $\frac{1}{4}$ --and all that portion of the North West $\frac{1}{4}$ of the North East $\frac{1}{4}$ which lies South of the Middle Line of the Pauldin and Pachuta Road, being in all, 60 acres more or less of Section 11, Township Two, Range 13 East (T2R13E).

The deed was dated 30 day of June, 1897. It was filed August 23, 1897. I questioned my mother about this and she stated to the best of her knowledge, Grandmother did not receive any land, but instead received a cow.

THE VICK FAMILY

William and Elizabeth F. Vick had nine children that I have found. Isaac, the oldest, and J.E.W. Vick, my great granddaddy, I have mentioned before. They were born in Tenn., Isaac in 1813 and JEW in 1823. From the family Bible and from various legal papers in the courthouse of Clarke County, this family can now be put together without much guess work. The family Bible, however, gives the age of J.E.W. Vick as Mar. 6, 1817, and in the Cemetery and census reports and legal papers it gives it as 30 Mar. 1823. I believe the Bible was copied incorrectly on this date. Susannah Vick, the oldest girl was born in 1829. She later married a John McLemore who was mentioned in the legal papers, etc. William B. Vick was born in 1830. Elizabeth R. in 1832, James A. was born in 1834, Richard A. in 1839, Moses F. in 1841, and Martha in 1845. I have no further mention of William B. Vick and Richard A. Vick and assume that they left the family earlier or passed away at an early age.

James A. Vick died during the Civil War and left two small children, Thomas and Augustine.

William Vick died 3 Oct. 1860 and his wife, Elizabeth, lived until 1 Oct. 1864. There issued a long court fight then concerning the estate of William and Elizabeth. From what I can learn, they died without leaving a will and the courts appointed Isaac H. Vick, the oldest son, administrator of the will. I find in the Chancery Clerk's office, Estate of Elizabeth Vick, No. 149, File 7, Clarke County, Miss., Court-house, that the remains of the estate were sold and divided, but since the money obtained was Confederate, which was declared shortly afterwards not legal tender, then some of the children accused the Administrator of handling the estate illegally. There seemed to be quite a battle, but in the end, nothing seemed to be done; the estate was gone and no one the richer but those that purchased it with the Confederate money. One fact worth mentioning was the fact that Rebecca had died and left six children. She had married Daniel Shotts and the children were named Sallie A., Martha J., Mary, Julia V., William, and Robert.

Augustine Vick had died and left two children, Thomas and Augustine. Their mother, Martha, was appointed legal guardian for their share.

In another legal paper, Mose F. Vick, youngest son of William was declared legally incompetent to manage his affairs and a C.W. Boykin was appointed his guardian. I think this all came about after a Dan McLemore had filed a suit to take all of the possessions of Mose Vick for a debt that he owed him. I understand there was 80 acres of land involved and cows, etc. I was told by my mother that she remembers some of this and that they visited Mose after this suit was settled and he seemed quite rational. Possibly he had become very old and maybe childish, but, in her opinion, he was sane. This happened when he was about 75 years old.

John E. W. Vick, my great granddaddy, was mentioned a couple of times in these lawsuits, but he wasn't one of the ones pressing the charges. I think he possibly did some of the buying of the estate. Apparently, he was a good manager, and, in his later life, became in fairly good shape financially. The story was related that as a very young man, John worked in some sort of public work, saved his money and purchased a small Negro boy. Together, they homesteaded the place which was to be the Vick homestead, cleared the land, and built the house. I understand that the Negro stayed with the Vick family all his life, even after being freed by the Civil War. John E. W. worked as an overseer of a plantation most of his life. This occupation, of course, had its dangers and he kept in his possession a walking cane that had a long slender knife attached to the handle.

JOHN ELLIS WILLIAM VICK married SUSAN MARGARET QUINNELLEY and had seven children, Sarah Letisha Vick, my grandmother, was the oldest child, born in 1859. She was born in Clarke County, Miss., not far from Pachuta, Miss. She married James M. Hudson and raised a family of which my mother was one of the members. She will be discussed later in this article.

John J. Vick, the oldest son, was born in Clarke County, Miss., in 1861. He married a Sue Nickelson and had children John, Agnes, Minnie, Lee, Eula, Bryan, and Ruby. John left Clarke County as a young man and went to Texas. Very little contact was had with this family due to the distance away from the remainder of the family.

William Ellis Vick, the third child, was born in Clarke County, Miss. Feb. 24, 1866. He married Olivia Stevens and they had six children that survived childhood. They were Virgie, Maybelle, Roger (who has the family Bible), Foster, Forest, and Ruby. Uncle Billie, as I knew him, was a small person, and in his later life wore a large mustache. My grand-mother certainly thought a lot of him because he was the only one of the brothers that came to see about her and seemed to be concerned. Uncle Billie died Aug. 29, 1957, and is buried in the cemetery at Pachuta, Miss. near his father, mother, wife, and daughter.

THE VICK FAMILY

Isaac M. Vick, born after 1870, married Ludie Price and had three children, Gully, Pearl, and _____. Uncle Ike worked for the railroad and so does his boy Gully. This family lived most of their life in Meridian, Miss. I have visited in the home of Aunt Ludie several times. One time in particular, I got very sick at my stomach on candy and did considerable damage to the bed. I heard about that from my folks for some time. I remember Aunt Ludie coming to see our family and us going to see Meridian and Laurel football games together.

Frank B. Vick was the youngest child and was born after 1870. He was born in Jasper County and lived there on the old home place until after the death of John and his wife. Frank was a bachelor for many years until he finally married Aunt Claude _____. They, too, lived in Meridian, Miss. I believe that Aunt Claude is still living at this writing. They did not have children.

SARAH LETISHA VICK, my grandmother, previously mentioned above, married James Moffet Hudson, Sarah was born June 10, 1859, in Clarke County, Miss. Sarah (Sallie) and Jim had six children that I know of. The oldest, John Albert, was born in 1879 in Clarke County, Miss., and married Katie Scoggins. They had three children, Vera, Christine, and Howard. After all the children were raised and in the later years of their life, Uncle Johnny and Aunt Katie separated and divorced. Uncle Johnny, much later, married his cousin, Daisy Miller for a short time. Uncle Johnny lived the later years of his life on a farm near Service, Miss.

Mattie Terresa Hudson was born Nov. 17, 1882, in Jasper County, Miss. She married Charley Dunnigan and had six children to reach adult life. They were Otha, Raymond, Charles, James, Leslie Loma, and Arthur, all of which are still living at this writing except Charles, who was killed in the Pacific as a Marine officer in WW2. They all lived their life in Hattiesburg, Miss., and most of the children remain in and around there at this writing. Aunt Mattie died long ago with cancer, 16 May, 1965. Uncle Charley still lives in their home on Mabel St., at this writing.

William Ellis Hudson was born in Jasper County on the 6 Oct. 1888. He married Bertie Mitchel and had three children, Billy Jr., Sam, and Harold. They raised their family in Laurel, Miss. Uncle Billy worked at the post office all his life and retired from that job. He died the 25th of Oct., 1957, of a Heart Attack. He is buried in the Laurel Cemetery near where the old church used to be, on the southeast corner. Aunt Bertie still lives in Laurel and is in good health at this writing.

Luther Hudson, born next, died as a baby, in the arms of his father, James M. Hudson. I have heard Granddad tell about this many times; of how he held the baby in his arms, trying to do something to help and watching him die. It made a mark on his memory the rest of his life.

Lou Ada Hudson, my mother, was born 6 Oct., 1895, at Clarke County, Miss. She married Murrel Frederick Knipp and had four children. They were Sarah Elizabeth Knipp, Murrel F. Knipp, Jr., yours truly, Clinton Hudson Knipp, and Ada Marion Knipp. Our family will be discussed later on in this book.

Arthur James Hudson was born 9 May, 1898. He was the youngest child of Sallie and Jim. He was born in Clarke County, Miss. He married Hassye Jackson and had two children, Arthur J. and Kaye Jackson. Uncle Arthur died in the prime of his life as a result of blood poisoning, caused from lancing a boil on his arm. His wife and children are living at this writing in Mobile, Alabama.

Clifford Karp

Joseph Augustine Vick, was born in 1869, in Jasper County, Miss. He married Lillie Boyd and had four children. They were Shirley Lee, Lorette Lois (who helped me considerably on this information), Joseph Cook, and Odis. Gus Vick died many years before his wife and Odis died as an infant.

Andrew J. Vick was born after 1870 at Jasper County, Miss. He married Sue Easterling and had five children, Carl, Ruth, Frank, Solon, and Helen. Andrew came down with T.B. in the later years of his life, I believe, and came to Laurel from Hattiesburg, Miss. and stayed with my Grandmother a while and later went to Texas, where he died. Lorette Vick (Buttrey) has corresponded with Helen Vick, who is now Mrs. Eugene Orenski, 7000 Walton Rd., Walton Hills, Bedford, Ohio.

PLANS FOR THE VICK REUNION ON 8 and 9 June 1985

The Reunion will be held at the Ramada Inn in Vicksburg. Since I have not heard from many of you, I have asked for only fifty rooms for Friday and Saturday nights, 7 and 8 June. The cost will be $40 (plus tax) a night for a single or double room. I am enclosing reservation cards to be sent directly to the Ramada Inn. Please note that the organization is "Vick Reunion" for the reduced rate and the "blocked off" rooms. The Ramada Inn must have your reservation before 17 May. Of course, other rooms will be available after that date, but not at the Convention rate. I have meeting rooms reserved for Friday night and Saturday morning. Please return the Convention Registration Form as soon as possible. I am looking forward to seeing all of you. Bring your family histories to share with others at the Workshop Saturday morning.

DUES FOR THE NEWSLETTER

Some of you have shown real interest in the Newsletter and have paid your dues. The additional names and addresses you have sent are greatly appreciated. However, for those of you who have not paid your dues or shown any interest will be regretfully dropped from the mailing list after this issue. So, please, let me know if you want to continue to receive the newsletter. I would hate to lose track of any of my cousins. Please send your dues ($3) and information as to whether you plan to attend the Reunion to:

VICK BIBLIOGRAPHY

In this section, we will begin an annotated bibliography of books and other sources which contain valuable information on the Vick family. We begin with two genealogies by Col. Robert Arthur (b. 1886, m. 1909 to Sarah A. Fee, a descendant of Newit Vick).

VICK OF VICKSBURG, Robert Arthur, New Orleans, 1953, 87 pages, typescript.

This genealogy begins with the immigrant Joseph Vick, d. ca. 1695, who was an early settler in Isle of Wight County, Virginia, and traces over 580 of his descendants. Although there are some errors in editing such as seen on page 53, and some expected typographical mistakes, this is a good volume containing a great deal of original research by Col. Arthur. Copies of this work may be obtained for a fee from the Old Court House Museum, Court Square, Vicksburg, Mississippi, 39180.

VICK, Robert Arthur, New Orleans, March 1959, 70 pages, typescript.

This work is a revision of the earlier Vick of Vicksburg genealogy prepared in 1953. Important differences between the 1953 and 1959 editions include a re-assessment of the possible marriage between Joseph Vick and Lucy, daughter of Hodges Council; the inclusion of many additional Vick descendants in Northampton and Nash counties of North Carolina; and a four page section of chronological notes concerning Vick families from 1776 to 1863. Copies of this worthwhile genealogy can be obtained for a fee from the Howard Tilton Memorial Library, Tulane University, New Orleans, La., 70118.

ELIZA W. VICK MORSE, War of 1812 Pension Application as widow of Henry A. Morse, 13 pages. Copies are available for $5 from the Military Service Records (NNCC), National Archives, Washington, D. C. 20408.

Application dated 29 May 1878. Eliza W. Morse, age 75, a resident of New Orleans, declared that she was the widow of Henry A. Morse, who served from Mass. in the War of 1812. Henry Morse was described at the time of his enlistment as being about five feet, four inches high, light blue eyes, sandy hair and fair complexion. Eliza married Henry Morse near the city of Vicksburg by Rev. John Lane on 10 Dec. 1822. A copy of the marriage record is enclosed in the file. Neither Henry nor Eliza were married to anyone else during their lives. Henry died 21 Feb. 1857 in New Orleans. Since Henry's discharge from service, Eliza and Henry lived in Vicksburg, Texas, and New Orleans. Eliza listed her residence as the corner of Camp and Second streets in New Orleans. Witnesses to the application were: John G. Parham, age 51, residence 66 Barrone; and Eugene F. Parham, age 37, residence 135 Canal Street.

When Eliza's claim was questioned because of lack of evidence, she wrote her attorney that her husband had been dead for over twenty years and she had no information about his unit or commanding unit. Eliza stated that Henry had been captured by the English and kept in Dartmoor Prison in England for two years. Because Eliza could not produce any evidence of Henry's military service, the claim for pension was rejected 30 August 1879. This claim, like most pension applications is a valuable source of genealogical data concerning the applicants.

THE VICK FAMILY NEWSLETTER

This initial issue of The Vick Family Newsletter is intended to serve as an aid to those researching their Vick ancestors and to impart to the present generation an understanding of the lives and times of our predecessors.

The newsletter will be issued in January, April, July, and October. Material of interest to Vick descendants such as census, Bible, tombstone, and court records, along with queries, will be included in each newsletter. Let us know what type of material you would like to see included in the newsletter.

Readers are asked to contribute Vick material for inclusion in the newsletter. All of us know part of the story of this fine American Family and by sharing our material we can learn even more. Your support of our family organization and newsletter is sincerely appreciated.

VICK REUNION PLANNED FOR 8 AND 9 JUNE 1985

What a pleasure to hear from so many of my cousins. Of course, I realize that I haven't been able to get current addresses on all of those at the 1975 Vick Reunion and I am sure that there are many more who were not there. But with the help of all of you to whom I am sending this Newsletter we can reach many more if each of you will check with any Vick descendants that you know to see if they were on my mailing list. Additional addresses surely will be appreciated.

Plans are being made to have a reunion of the descendants of Joseph Vick, our immigrant ancestor, in Vicksburg, Mississippi on 8 and 9 June 1985. I hope to hear that many of you are coming. Let me hear from you soon so that I can have definite plans in the April Newsletter.

I am advancing the money necessary to publish and distribute this Newsletter pending receipt of additional dues. The Vick descendants who attended the dedication of the Newitt Vick graves in Vicksburg in October 1984 decided that $3.00 dues should cover the initial costs of planning a Vick Reunion. Many of you have sent your $3.00 (some more than $3.00) but I have found addresses for many more. Please send your dues and information as to whether you plan to attend the Reunion to:

SOUTHERN CLAIMS COMMISSION

The Southern Claims Commission was established by Congress after the War Between the States to receive and judge claims against the United States as a result of the war. For a claim to be approved a claimant had to prove that he had suffered property damage at the hands of the United States and that he was a loyal citizen of the United States during the war. Many Southerners who had supported the South during the war, later filed claims with the commission in hopes of receiving some compensation for the losses suffered at the hands of the Yankees. The vast majority of all the claims submitted were rejected.

JOHN WESLEY VICK (1806-1888) File No. 14279, 51 pages, 1873-1874

John W. Vick, of Vicksburg, testified that on 15 October 1864, Union forces under the command of General McPherson took property from his Anguilla Plantation. The plantation on Deer Creek in Issaquena County, Mississippi, consisted of 1,200 acres of land in cultivation and 1,300 acres of woodlands. The Union Army took four yoke of oxen, nine mules, 325 sheep, thirty beef cattle, and two wagons. The value of this property was estimated to be $4,550.

Vick claimed that he was a loyal citizen of the United States and was due payment on the property taken by the Union Army. Vick admitted that after the Emancipation Proclamation was issued in 1863, he did not wish for a Union victory that would eliminate the value of the slave property he owned. The Rebel archives, which had been captured by the Union forces at the end of the war, showed that Vick had sold over $30,000 worth of supplies to the Confederate government. Vick's claim was rejected on the grounds that he had aided the forces in rebellion against the United States.

HEIRS OF EDWARD M. LANE (1821-1860) File No. 18966, 119 pages

Dr. Edward M. Lane was the son of Rev. John Lane and Sarah C. Vick Lane of Vicksburg. Edward M. Lane married Laura Lum, daughter of William Lum, in 1847. Laura inherited from her father an 800 acre plantation called Panola on Canal Bayou in Madison Parish, LA. Edward Lane purchased from his mother in 1857, the 1,360 acre Oak Grove Plantation in Madison Parish, 124 slaves, stock, etc. In the fall of 1862 as the war moved closer, Laura and her children left their plantations and fled to Shreveport, LA. They took 40 wagon loads of their most valuable property and almost all of their slaves. In June 1863, Union troops took corn, fodder, and stock from Lane Plantation.

The heirs of E. M. Lane filed a claim of $32,525 for the property seized by the Yankees. Testimony by the former slaves on the Lane plantations indicated that Laura Lane had aided the Rebels by providing money and clothing. The claims commission rejected the damage claims from the Panola Plantation because Laura owned the plantation in her own right. The commission granted the heirs $1,693 for damages from the Oak Grove Plantation holding that the Lane children were too young at the time to have formed any political opinion. The heirs of Dr. E. M. Lane were Louise, b 16 Dec 1849; William, b 23 Mar 1851; and John Lane, b 10 Sep 1855. Laura Lum Lane is said to have died about 1865.

my nieces and nephews, everyone of whom I am very fond and proud of, and they are so thoughtful of me.

I have not given this little epistle a name, but I think anyone can realize that it is "Love and Happiness," which was what my home life was to me.

Now I will list my sisters and brothers. The oldest (I called her Sister) was Imogene. She married Dabney Tolson from Virginia, and they had the two little girls I have mentioned. I really loved playing Mama with these little ones, and I enjoyed rocking Little Sister, (as we all called the baby) singing "Mr. Froggy Went a-Courting." Little Sister's name was Imogene, Jr.

She passed away at the age of five, after a simple tonsillectomy. This was really the saddest day of my life. She died in my arms, begging me to take her home and see the dog ("Mike"). The older girl, Betty, still stays close to me, and I am happy to say she is happily married to Ralph Woodruff. They were never able to have a family, but they have a complete life, with many friends.

The next child was Mitchell, my mother's family name. Her mother's maiden name was Harrell; Lucy came next. She married Bernie Harper. I think I have mentioned one of her children – the son. Then she had a daughter – Lucy Katherine – always called Tachy – Tachy married McCloud Sicard, and they had three children, all married, except the oldest boy.

The next was Eva – named for my mother's sister who died before Eva was born. Eva always said I stole her name, as the family Bible lists her as Eva Elizabeth – then the Elizabeth was scratched out after I made my appearance. Eva married Marshall Yantis, a very successful, self-made man. Four children were born to them – Johnnie the oldest, is just like his Dad in a businessway. He too, quite successful, and we are all proud of him. He married Julia Ann Welch of Michigan and four children were born to them. The second Yantis child (Eva's & Marshall's) was Sydney. He passed away at age two.

The Vick Family

Descendants of Ransom Emmett & Bettie Mitchell Vick

Compiled by James Bailey Parker

The Vick family has been in the New World for well over 300 years, having migrated to the Virginia Colony in the 1600's. The family seems to have originated in Scotland from whence branches became established in England and Ireland. It is not known where the Virginia-bound branch was living when they decided to emigrate. "Vick" was a simplification of several versions of the name – Vickers, Vicors, Vicars, etc. – but exactly when and where Vick became the legal surname is unknown.

They settled in Southeastern Virginia in what later became Isle of Wight and Southampton Counties, an area then inhabited (sparsely) by Iroquois Indians. Records indicate that the Vick family was settled in this area of Virginia before 1675. Place-names in the area (Isle of Wight, Southampton, Portsmouth) indicate that the original settlers came from Hampshire, but this is only speculation.

The apparent founder in America of our branch of the family was one Joseph Vick, who died about 1695 in Isle of Wight County.

The records of the two counties, Isle of Wight and Southampton, contain numerous references to Vicks who seem to have been substantial citizens, if not grandees. Examples: Joseph Vick (see above) was in 1682 granted a patent for 320 acres of land. John, his son (see below), received from the Royal Governor in 1715 a patent for 100 acres in Isle of Wight County. Another son, Richard, received land patents in 1706 and 1711. Records show that one Josiah Vick served as Justice of the Peace in Southampton County and that a John Vick of Brunswick County, Virginia, neighbor who was a physician, and we heard that he performed operations on his kitchen table, so we would slip off and try to peek in the window to see the event. In those days doctors carried medicine to the patient's houses, in a bag. On home visits he would mix various powders, liquids, etc. which, of course, saved drug bills, as we have them now.

We had other nice neighbors, all very nice to me. There was Mr. Cuire(?), who sold candy, travelling around in a horse-drawn buggy. I was so thrilled when he would ask me to ride with him. Of course I'd eat stick candy all day. Then across the street was Mr. Bourland. He travelled for a shoe co., and "Buster Brown" would visit him from time to time, and would take me on his lap, and tell me stories. Down the street was my friend "Lucille." About once a year, from some unknown reason, she would get mad at me, and quit speaking to me. I'd tell Mama, "Lucille won't speak to me." Mama would explain that there was no reason, and that I was not to blame, so I finally got over being hurt and worried.

I never did see much of my father's relatives, though his oldest sister visited us sometimes. All I remember about Aunt Sally was that she dipped snuff. She would sit in our "library," as we called the back living room, and use her tooth pick stick, with her can beside her. She would give me a can with cinnamon and sugar, and a little brush made of a matchstick so I would dip with her and spit in a can she provided. My sister Eva was very popular with the boys, and they would pretend that I was their "girl" which irked me, no end. One time, one of her beaux came. She had given me instructions as to what I should tell him. So I said "Eva's in the bath tub. She'll be down as soon as she puts on her hat."

As I mentioned, my parents were quite religious, so we never missed Sunday school. On Saturday night, Papa would shine all of our shoes, and line them up in the upstairs hall. We hated to see the preacher come for Sunday dinner, because that meant we had "to wait" as was the custom in those days, when important guests were there. Papa was the Church Treasurer, so each Sunday after dinner we would sit around the dining room table and count the money. Often Papa was disgusted about the small collection. After counting the money we usually played Church or some other game, hoping the preacher wouldn't come and catch us. Sometimes the game was "Slippery Ann" and my brother, Harrell, delighted in catching me with old Ann. I never liked checkers, as he always beat me, and gloated about it. My older brother, Emmett, let me beat him, which was typical of Emmett. When a child, Emmett swallowed (or inhaled) a tack, so he was never well – in fact a lung abscess was the cause of his death, the head of the tack still embedded, years later.

We had a cow, as everyone did, even though we lived in town. It was Emmett's job to care for her, and I would never go with him because I was afraid of her (I am still afraid of cows). He would tell me if I didn't behave, I'd have to milk the cow, so I tried to be a "good little girl." When asked what I wanted to be when I grew up I would say "a lady with a white house, and a baby buggy on the porch." Well, my wish came true, I am happy to say. Now I have two fine children, and I feel that I own my sisters' and brothers' children, as I "babysat" quite often, and loved each one (I still do).

On Saturday afternoons I had 15¢ to spend – 5¢ for the street car to town, 5¢ for a picture show, and 5¢ for popcorn.

One Saturday I decided to go to the park instead of to town. So I walked all the way (about 2 miles) to save that nickel. My parents and the sisters and brothers were quite upset about my walking this far. We just loved to go to the park, where they had a balloon ascension about once a year. There was a "merry-go-round," and a picnic area, so Mama packed lunches, and we made a day out there. We especially liked the open street cars, and all wanted to sit on the outside. Eva usually had this seat, because she said the inside ones made her "sick at her stomach."

Our high school was only a few blocks away. One night it caught on fire, so we all went over to watch the excitement. Eva said she was glad she didn't waste her time getting her algebra lesson done, because there would be no school the next day.

Mama was very afraid of storms, so if one came up in the night, she would get us all out of bed, and go to the basement. We would carry our pillows, since it was thought the lightning could not strike if you had feathers near you.

For some reason my father did not stress college for the boys but he wanted the girls to go east and learn to be "lady like." Lucy went to Georgia to a girls' college and when she would come home, we really had to watch our manners at the table. Lucy was very pretty and always genteel. She had a rather sad life later, but she was strong and brave. Her husband was ill a long time, and her son was killed in World War II. His widow leaned on her, and she consoled her and her little boy. Lucy had visitors from the South, and they petted me and giggled when I tried to help with the blessing (as I have told about earlier).

I am writing this at the insistence of my daughter. (Perhaps she was tired of hearing "I remember when" so she wanted some one else to hear the stories.) She thought some of my nieces and nephews would like to hear about their parents.

I am the last living child; both parents have been gone a long time. But there are a number of furnished supplies for the Continental Army in 1789.

The Vicks in Southeastern Virginia were indeed a "fruitful vine." It is of interest that a present-day check of the telephone directory for this still sparsely populated area shows no less than 79 Vicks listed; (and this does not include the nearby metropolitan areas of Norfolk, Portsmouth, and Newport News) – whereas only 29 Vicks are listed today in the directories of the five boroughs of Greater New York City. In Southampton County there is still a little town called Vicksville.

Joseph Vick (see above) had one daughter, Lucy, and four sons: Richard, Robert, John, and William. The Vicks for whom Vicksburg, Miss. was named descended from William. Our line, Ransom Emmett Vick, evidently descends from the third son, John, born 1688, died 1742, among whose progeny were several Ransom Vicks.

The Vicks were originally Anglicans and were members of Nottaway Parish and St. Luke's Parish in Isle of Wight and Southampton Counties – the Church of England, of course, being the Established Church in Virginia until the Revolution.

In the late Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries there was considerable migration from the Virginia settlements to neighboring North Carolina and to west of the Blue Ridge Mountains, and, after the Revolution, to Kentucky and Tennessee and later on to Alabama and Mississippi. The Vicks were well represented in these movements South and Westward. John Vick, for example, moved to Bertie County, North Carolina, on Albemarle Sound, where he died in 1742.

One of John's descendants, probably his grandson, was William Henry Vick, born 1795 in Wake County, North Carolina.

William Henry's son, Ransom Anderson Vick, born August 13, 1822, was another "westward mover." Born in Chatham County, North Carolina, he went with his mother to live first in Tennessee and then in Vicksburg, Mississippi. Later he moved to Holly Springs, Miss. and subsequently further West to Arkansas, presumably with his son and daughter-in-law, our R.E. Vick grandparents. He died in Searcy, Ark. on June 28, 1897. On February 28, 1856, he married Mrs. Sarah Ann (Sallie) Abington Whitaker, born May 27, 1827, died July 7, 1864. Her maiden name was Abington; this was her second marriage.

Ransom A. and Sarah Ann Vick were the parents of Ransom Emmett Vick, born in Marshall County, Miss. on October 1, 1861. He grew up in Holly Springs, the county seat. On November 7, 1883, he married Bettie Temperance Mitchell from Collierville, Tennessee (now a Memphis suburb); she was born on November 25, 1864 in Fayette County, Tenn. Grandmother Vick was the daughter of John H. Mitchell, born in Fayette County, Tenn., died in Ft. Smith March 27, 1891, and Lucy Alice Harrell, born in Fayette County, Sept. 19, 1843, died in Ft. Smith March 20, 1921. Both the Mitchell and Harrell families, like the Vicks, came to Tennessee from North Carolina, probably Nash County.

As in earlier days, members of the Vick family joined in another general migration westward, this time in the post-Civil War decades when many from Mississippi and Tennessee moved to Texas and Arkansas. Sometime between the birth of their first child, Imogene, in Collierville in September, 1884, and the birth of their second child, Mitchell, in Ft. Smith in December, 1886, Ransom and Bettie Vick moved to Arkansas. They were joined in this move by other members of the Vick and Mitchell families, while some remained east of the Mississippi.

All of the other children were born in Ft. Smith. Grandfather and Grandmother Vick are buried in Ft. Smith along with all of their seven children. Five of the six grandchildren now deceased are buried there.
