New Englanders in the West Indies

by Henry B. Hoff, C.G., F.A.S.G.

The importance of the sea to the New England economy and patterns of international trade jointly created a strong connection between New England and the West Indies. There seem to have been five principal reasons for the sizeable migration of New Englanders to the West Indies (and the lesser migration of West Indians to New England): occupation (usually as mariner or merchant), war or civil unrest (Loyalists escaping the American Revolution; French refugees fleeing the effects of the French Revolution or the uprisings in St. Domingue), education (100% in New England), family (joining a spouse or other relatives), and health (often a fatal reason).

For this series I have listed a reasonable number of New Englanders in the West Indies and West Indians in New England, all before 1850. For families like the Vassalls with connections that continued for several generations, I have shown only the earliest generation. Many entries below are records of marriages or deaths, and for most of them I have made no effort to pursue further genealogical data. Some potential entries were intentionally omitted, and a few classes of entries I have barely touched on (diplomats, soldiers, French refugees, black sailors). Entries from New England sources with indexes of places have usually been included; however, many deaths from Providence, R.I., newspapers have been omitted as many New England men died in the West Indies. I have simplified some of the entries by omitting details such as occupations and specific locations on smaller islands.

Most of the locations in the West Indies are self-explanatory, with one exception. Place names on the island of Hispaniola (now divided between Haiti and the Dominican Republic) have not been identified; they are Port-au-Prince, Aux Cayes, Cap Haiti, Cap François, and Cap St. Nicolas Mole. Haiti was formerly St. Domingue, usually referred to as St. Domingo.

New Englanders in the West Indies

by Henry B. Hoff, C.G., F.A.S.G.

The first part of this series appeared in NEXUS 14 (1997): 111-15, with an introduction on page 111 explaining the scope of the article. A third and final installment will appear in the November-December issue.

Francis James Dallett, F.A.S.G., points out that Cap François, on the island of Hispaniola, was more accurately Cap Français.

Nathaniel Fellows, of Cuba, married by 17 Oct. 1825 Lucy Lambert, daughter of William Lambert, of Roxbury, Mass. [136].

Joseph King Fenno, baptized First Church, Middletown, Conn. 6 Aug. 1780, son of Ephraim and Mary (King) Fenno, and brother of Mary Fenno who married Henry Mansfield. He had a borgerbrev on St. Croix dated 26 Apr. 1800, but died and was buried on St. Croix within the next few months [137].

Rev. John Feveryear, born Boston 28 Mar. 1731/32, son of Grafton and Sarah (Pierce) Feveryear, Harvard 1751. He was on Bermuda 1755-66, and married there 27 Apr. 1758 Elizabeth Butterfield. He died in Beaufort, S.C. 26 June 1766 [138].

John Fibenzen, from Boston, age 14, buried Port-au-Prince 11 Mar. 1792 [139].

John Field, born Providence 1708, son of Zachariah and Abigail (____) Field, married Providence 12 Jan. 1735 Elizabeth Snow, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Field) Snow. He died St. Eustatius 5 Apr. 1738 [140].

John W. Fisher, of St. Croix, married Providence 16 or 18 Sept. 1811 Mary Whiting [141].

Mr. Flagg, of Boston, buried St. Eustatius Anglican Church 4 July 1773 [142].

Thomas Ferguson, late of Rhode Island, made a power of attorney in the Bahamas 9 Oct. 1749 [143].

Thomas Foster, from Ipswich, Mass., age 33, buried Port-au-Prince 1 Dec. 1793 [144].

Alex Frazer, of Guilford, Conn., married Mary Ann _____ of Farmington, Conn. He died St. Croix 16 Apr. 1767 [145].

Rev. Calvin Galpine, son of Calvin Galpine, of Marblehead, Mass., Harvard 1715, later of St. Catherine, Jamaica. He died Jamaica 1749 [146].

John Gardiner, born Boston 1731, son of Dr. Silvester and Anne (Gibbins) Gardiner, Harvard 1755. He became an attorney in England and married 25 Sept. 1763 Margaret Harries, daughter of George Harries. He lived on St. Kitts 1767-83 where he was Attorney General. In 1783 he returned to Mass. She died St. Kitts 22 Apr. 1789; he died at sea Oct. 1793 [147].

Henry Gardner, born Salem, Mass. 17 Oct. 1747, son of Samuel and Esther (Orne) Gardner, Harvard 1765, shipowner, married 19 Oct. 1769 Sarah Turner, daughter of John and Mary (Osborne) Turner, of Salem. He had a burgherbrief on St. Eustatius 8 Jan. 1781, but was back in Salem in May 1781 [148].

William Gerrish, son of Dr. William Gerrish, of Charlestown, Mass., was of Montserrat in 1704 [149].

Jotham Gibbons, born Boston 6 Oct. 1633, son of Edward and Margaret (____) Gibbons, married Susanna _____. He was of Bermuda in 1655, and died by 16 Dec. 1658 [150].

John Gilbert, born New Haven, age 22, buried Port-au-Prince 13 Oct. 1793 [151].

Joseph Gilbert, late of Boston, now of Jamaica, was a defendant in Boston in 1707 [152].

AGLL, Inc. has launched its new line of Heritage Quest products on CD-ROM. Known for its precision accuracy, AGLL is producing an entire series of genealogical resources. The Heritage Quest line is driven by the powerful Windows®-based WordCruncher™ software—the same software which was used to publish the Dead Sea Scrolls. Look for several new titles as this series evolves.

The US Marriage Record Index, 1691-1850, contains 584,537 marriages from 18 states and the District of Columbia, all before 1850. The names of the grooms and the maiden names of the brides are listed, for a total of some 1,169,074 names. Each entry includes groom, bride, marriage date, county, and state. This every-name index has combined data from four previous CDs into one and is value priced at $39.95.

SEARCH FOR WEST COUNTRY PLANTERS TO NEW ENGLAND BY 1643

For the past ten years the MARY & JOHN CLEARING HOUSE has been trying to identify the 140 passengers who came to New England on the ship Mary & John in 1630. We have also conducted extensive searches in secondary sources in the U.S. and in primary sources in England to compile their English ancestries. Since 1990 we have expanded our searches for English ancestries to the 3,000 to 4,000 people who we believe came to New England from the West Country (counties of Dorset, Somerset, Devon and Cornwall) by 1643, the period of the GREAT MIGRATION. We have now published four volumes in the Search For the Mary & John series that include nearly 400 families who came from the West Country by 1643. Some families have only been identified in a given town, sometimes only the parents have been found but sometimes we have traced the ancestries back two, three, four or more generations and sometimes to royalty. Following are about one-half of their names that appear in these four volumes. The numbers in parenthesis are the volumes in which their ancestries appear.
