NEIGHBOURS, NEIGHBORS, NABOURS, NABORS, NABERS

Written by Ben F. Ray, 710 Massey Building, Birmingham, Alabama
December, 1955

A visit to the New Berry District, South Carolina, will reveal the history of the Nabours family that lived there following the Revolutionary War. There you may read the contents of a will executed by Nathan Nabours on October 2, 1834. A copy of this will was disclosed this year (1955) through the efforts of some of the descendants of Samuel Nabours who later settled with his family in Alabama. The terms of the will are full of human interest and for that reason, a copy is attached to this story containing information related to the descendants of the Nabours clan.

Nathan Nabours² had a brother James Nabours², who reared a large family in south Carolina. While this story is based on the contents of the will of Nathan Nabours, it should not be overlooked that Samuel Nabours³, the son of James Nabours, was the father of James Allen Nabours⁴.

From the evidence at hand it becomes clear that my great grandfather, Samuel was the connecting line between my grandfather, James Allen Nabours, and my great-great-grandfather James Nabours of New Berry District, South Carolina.

James Allen Neighbors⁴ (Nabors now by some members of the family) was born October 10, 1831, in Laurens County, S.C. He was the son of Samuel Nabours³ and Jane Wright Nabours. His mother died when he was young, leaving her three children who were : Mary, James Allen, and John. Their father, Samuel went with the children to Newberry, S. C. where they lived a few years. Then he moved to Alabama and reared several children by a third marriage. On March 29, 1855, at the age of twenty-three, James Allen Neighbors was married to Mary Jane Gipson, then fifteen years of age. To them were born twelve children (six sons and six daughters).
