Maple Grove/Overman/Raypholtz Cemetery

This cemetery is directly north of the town of Sweetser. The stone with the earliest date is that of Francis Hume who died Nov. 9, 1833, age 5 months. The land on which this cemetery is located was entered sometime during the Presidency of Andrew Jackson by Isaac Raypholtz. The original grant is in the possession of Mr. Milton E. Overman who now owns the farm. The deed for a half acre of ground was made to the Commissioners of Grant County by William Raypholtz and his wife Eliza the 16th day of Aug. A.D. 1873 and was recorded the 2nd day of Sept. 1873 by A.M. Baldwin, recorder. The deed is recorded in Deed Bk. 11 and states that this ground is to be used for "a burial ground of the citizens of said Grant County. The cemetery is now five acres in size and is owned by a company of stockholders. Two Revolutionary Soldiers lie in this plot of ground, James Campbell and William Grimes. These graves have had cement covers placed over them by the General Francis Marion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Soldier markers designate their last resting place. A school building south of this cemetery was called the Grimes School house in honor of William Grimes. This building still stands but is no longer used for school purpose.

The above was written by the DAR in the 1940's, The following was written by Sheila Watson.

In Oct. 1994 I read this cemetery. Many stones were missing, but later I found several stacked in the back of the cemetery. They had been broken and piled in a neat stack behind the sign that reads Maple Grove Cemetery. Francis Hume was one of these stones, it was in very good condition, only broken off at the base. The date on this stone was Mar. 9, 1883 not 1833 as previously recorded. There are many older stones than this one in this cemetery. The oldest I found was that of Mary Rhoads wife of James Rhoads, died Mar. 7, 1849 aged 25y. 9m. 5d. This cemetery is still in use today. The last lot was sold in 1993, according to the township trustee. After William and Eliza Raypholtz first gave the original 1/2 acre for a burying ground, the Overman's also gave land for additions to this cemetery. Two of the transactions I was given were Nathan H. and Mary Ann Overman gave land on 14 Dec. 1895, and Milton and Florence Overman on 4 Dec. 1933. This cemetery was then in the hands of the Maple Grove Cemetery Association. Since that time the cemetery has been handed over to the township trustee for its care. This cemetery is located in Section 29 Township 25 Range 7 E. of Grant County.

Whiteneck Cemetery

The Whiteneck Cemetery is in Pleasant Township section 7, four miles north of Sweetser and one mile west of Jalapa. Located on two small hills which jut out into the low land of Cart Creek, this forgotten and forsaken place has one of the most beautiful situations in all of Grant county. It is in the beautiful Indian country within sight of the Battle Ground near Jalapa. Pioneer families from both Richland and Pleasant Township are buried here. Because of the difficulty in reaching the ground its use has been discontinued for many years. Old fashion roses, lilies and a carpet of myrtle struggle with the weeds, briars and shrubs for possession. A complete abstract of the place was impossible because of the danger from snakes, insects and deep holes made by sinking graves and groundhogs.

Mrs. Seltha Dawson now past 80 yrs. old writes to me as follows "John Whiteneck bought this farm for his son John Samuel. The Whiteneck child was the daughter of John and Lucy Kingery Whiteneck. Sarah died Sept 24, 1852 aged 2y. & 6m. Catherine Whiteneck-Mattox was born in Va. in 1796 and died in Grant Co. in 1867 aged 70 yrs. She was buried in the White neck Cemetery. She was the sister of John Whiteneck."

The Grant Co. Atlas of 1877 says "Mary E. Potter was the first white child born in Richland Twp. Her parents were William and Sallie Potter." We find that Sarah the wife of William Potter and two of their children are buried here. This Atlas also states "The first death (Richland Township) was Rebecca Freeze in 1842 and she was buried in the Whiteneck Cemetery. "Her father was John Freese." The spelling is not the same but it may be presumed that the name fees as copied from the stone is the same family name.

The following was written by Sheila Watson

The DAR listed 68 people. So far I have not found 25 of these 68. Although I did add 23 more people to the list that they had not found in the 1940's. I spoke to the present owner of the land this cemetery is on, in May of 1995. He mentioned that his deed and abstract shows this cemetery. He told me previous owners had pigs fenced in this cemetery, and later cattle was pastured there. This must have occurred between the time the DAR read this cemetery and now. Very little can be seen there today. He also told me a few years ago, a man made several trips back to this cemetery trying to recover the stones that have been rooted up and trampled into the ground. This is evidenced by neat stacks of a few stones leaning against trees here and there.

I made two attempts to read this cemetery, hoping I could find more of what had been there in the past, but to no avail. It has been destroyed too long for 2 people (my husband and myself) to go in there and unearth the secrets of this sacred ground.

Access may be obtained by asking at the first farmhouse (trailer in the rear of this farmhouse) at 5055 N.500 W. There is a drive leading back to the cemetery. In good weather you can drive all the way. It is about 1/4 of a mile back on the west side of Cart Creek.

Indian Cemetery

"In the early day each Indian tribe observed its own particular burial customs. Burial underground seemed to be foreign to their thinking. When they finally adopted this custom they dug shallow graves. In these they placed a warrior's favorite blankets, war accouterments and weapons. Having killed his dog or best pony it was placed upon the grave. A squaw was given cloth or other things she would appreciate in the spirit world. When TawaTaw's wife died her daughters bought a bolt of silk cloth which, with her jewelry was buried with her."

From Cora Straughn's Lest We Forget

Baptist records say that Rev. Isaac McCoy sent by the Baptist Foreign Missionary Society to Fort Wayne in 1829 probably reached the banks of the Mississinewa. Old records show that on June 1, 1861 Union Church was reorganized. The entry reads as follows; Consistent members of a regular Baptist Church of our Lord Jesus Christ situated on the Indian Reserve in County of Grant and State of Indiana, Union Church was reorganized June the 1, 1861. The number of "consistent members" was twenty three all marked "native" except seven and two of these, Joseph Havens and P.L. Carter were marked as having died in the army.

"In the rear of the church and on the north end of the tract belonging to it is a graveyard in which only Indians are buried. This plot is a portion of what was once a large reservation granted by the United States Government to the Miami tribe of Indians. Its proximity to the battle field of the Mississinewa will in time insure it the proper recognition history." Whitson's History pp.626-627

Louise Miller Winters was an adopted daughter of Chief Meshingomesia. Her mother was murdered by a jealous Indian. Because the old chief had two sons and no daughters he wanted this motherless baby for his own. He adopted her and was true to his promise until she married Joseph Winters. Their little child was the first person buried in this burial ground called "The Indian Cemetery." The last Chief of the proud Miami Tribe is also here with his wife and their family. "Lest We Forget"

An Indian cemetery-another mark of the white influence on the life of a fine race. Each Indian tribe had its own custom for disposing of their dead. This cemetery is not in accordance with the practices of the Miami Tribe, but is the result of the Christian influence. The Chief with his three wives belonged to the Baptist church. The building is almost a wreck made so by long disuse, vandals and the elements. It stands on a hill overlooking a beautiful and fertile valley sloping down to the Mississinewa River. It also permits a view of the site of the Battle Field where in 1812 the American forces put the Indians to rout. To the rear of the little Church is the Cemetery. Some pine trees keep vigil over the resting places of the once powerful tribe of the Miamis. A tangle of myrtle, roses and other old fashioned flowers vie for supremacy but are fast being overcome by the weeds and underbrush permitted by long neglect. The names are Anglicized to a degree. The varied spelling is probably due to the whims of the one who did the carving in the stones.

The above was written by the DAR in the 1940's

The Following is written by Sheila Watson

I read this cemetery in October of 1994. The flowers and roses no longer exist in this place. The weeds and underbrush are gone now, too. The cemetery is well cared for by a custodian. The gate is kept locked to keep vandals out, except during the time of the Re-enactment of the Battle of 1812. Then thousands of people visit this cemetery.

In the past many times this cemetery was the victim of vandalism. Many of the stones are gone or broken. At some time in the past much repair work has been done. The pieces have been put back together and lined up in rows. They are probably not where they were originally set. They have done a nice job in fixing and keeping this cemetery in good shape.

The following is from the Combination Atlas Map of Grant Co. In. pub. in 1877 by Kingman Brothers. "Me-shin-go-me-sia was born near the mouth of Me-to-cin-yah Creek, Wabash Co., about the year 1782. He was married about the year 1815, to Tac-ka-quah, daughter of So-a-nah-ke-kah. On the death of Me-to-cin-yah, Me-shin-go-me-sia became chief. He was the father of two sons, Po-kung-gah and Ataw-ataw, both of whom are now living and are heads of families. Po-kung-gah is the father of six children born as follows: William, Robert, Mary, Jacob, Thomas and Peter. The children of Ataw-ataw are Nelson, Anna, Ellen, Lucy, and John. of these children, William, Robert, Nelson and Anna are married. Robert has two children; Nelson has six and Anna, who married James M. Prickett, a white man, has two. These children all have Indian names, but are known by the English as given above."

Prickett Cemetery

Located on the Francis Slocum Trail a few miles north-west of Marion, this old cemetery is pastured by the present owner of the land. Many markers are broken and the inscriptions cannot be deciphered. This cemetery was a part of the Indian land and overlooks the beautiful and fertile valley now owned by the Matter estate. Joaquin Miller spent his boyhood near here and some of his relatives and pioneer friends lie in this forsaken spot.

The above was written by the DAR in the early 1940's

The following is by Sheila Watson. I worked in this cemetery July of 1994. What I found was a totally different picture than what the DAR reported in the 1940's. The cemetery is now fenced in. To the west is a stockyard full of cattle. At least now they can't destroy any more of this lovely little cemetery. It sits on a hill surrounded by a field on the north, and what is left of a swamp on the east. The Francis Slocum trail runs beside it on the south. I can only guess at what has happened here. It appears that after the DAR read the cemetery someone or a group of people fenced it in, reset the stones, and cleaned it up. Many of the stones are set in cement, the kind that is very rocky, and falls apart easily.

On the second trip to the cemetery, it was apparent that many stones that the DAR listed, were now gone. Just as we were about to leave, my husband was checking out a brush pile along the fence. Under this brush pile were about 30 stones, headstones and foot stones. All the headstones were broken, and just thrown in a pile in the back. Brush was piled on top of them, so as to hardly know they were there. We cleared as much brush as possible and dug out the stones that were there. All of these pieces are now resting against or beside a tree that was probably not there when these people were being buried here. This cleared up a lot of the missing stones, but not all of them.

ORANGE COUNTY CALIFORNIA
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

This cemetery was a total read. The DAR recorded 77 people. I found 90 people, 92 if you count 2 footstones that I didn't find headstones for. I also added 2 Prickett graves, taken from an older reading and combined family records of this cemetery. I did not locate these 2 graves. This cemetery is located in the north west corner of Section 23 of Pleasant Township 25 N.R.7 E., on the original part of the Frances Slocum Trail. This trail used to be, many years ago, the only way from Marion to Peru.

This poem was found on a piece of stone under the brush pile. No other information was on it.

"A light from the household is gone, The voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our heart(s) That never can be filled"

Massey/Dunn Cemetery

The Massey or Dunn Cemetery is located a mile northwest of Marion and probably a quarter mile off the Wabash Pike. It is over run by briars and only a few stones can be deciphered. A number of bodies were disinterred and placed in other cemeteries where better care could be insured. The earliest date is September 3, 1839. The names are here given in alphabetical order since family lots were unknown in Indiana at this early period. The marker of any note is one recently erected by Miss Emily Goldthwaite in memory of her great-grand mother Martha Taylor Rose. (written by the DAR in the 1940's)

I visited this cemetery in June of 1994. Let me say here I have never seen so many Mosquitoes, ants and spiders in any other cemetery I have ever been in. I believe I had more mosquito bites than I had skin. I suppose the reason for there being so many mosquitoes, is the cemetery is completely surrounded by woods, and I believe there may be a swampy area nearby.

The cemetery sits on a slight hill, with steps leading up to it. It is rectangular in shape, and there appears to be a diagonal road cut across the middle of this cemetery, probably a buggy path, to bring in the funeral procession. I could not locate any stone that read the early date of 1839. But this does not mean they did not exist. At the entrance of this cemetery are two stones, totally obliterated of any information. They are, in all probability, the two people I did not locate. The DAR listed 21 people in the 1940's. I listed 39 people. Of these 39 people, 18 were infants, almost half of the total number of people. The pioneer life was awfully hard on the babies. One can only imagine what life may have been back then, when all of this land was wooded and swampy.

This cemetery is mowed now. The briars and small trees, that once were allowed to grow rampant in most of these abandoned cemeteries, are cut down now. When you enter this cemetery it is like leaving the busy world behind. It is a very pretty little place. Here and there you can still see some of the flowers that used to bloom here profusely. Now the mower keeps them in check. (this was written by Sheila Watson)

Null Cemetery

Some say this is not the Null Cemetery while others are just as positive that the name is correct. Be that as it may it is another of the rapidly disappearing family burying grounds of the early day. Located a mile or more north west of Marion on the Wabash Pike, a few rods to the west on the Lawson farm. The roadway is several feet lower and one would little suspect that another of God's Acres lay above, surrounded by trees and shrubs. Many graves are in this plot but few stones can be seen. (The above was written by the DAR in the 1940's)

Written by Sheila Watson, This cemetery is located on the Lawson Road, just west of Indiana State Rd. 15, in Pleasant Township 25 N.R.7E. in the N.E 1/4 of the S.W. 1/4 of Section 25. You leave Marion on Ind. 15, go to the Lawson Road, turn left on Lawson, proceed about 1/4 of a mile west you will see a drive heading back south. Just west of the drive is a bluff or knoll rather high above the road. This is the Null Cemetery. I have been to this spot a couple of times without finding it. It is not very obvious. I only found one gravestone here. I believe at one time there probably were many stones on this knoll. The DAR - 50 years ago-only found four graves. I spoke to the owner of this plot of ground. He gave me the impression he didn't know the cemetery was there. I persuaded him to get his abstract out, and the whole top of this hill is designated as a cemetery. He promised to look into, getting it cleaned up and designated as a cemetery.

Cain, Mary E. wife of J.A. Cain died Jan 6, 1872 aged 27y. 11m. 9d.

Harmon, Mary C. wife of J.N. Harmon died Nov 10, 1861 aged 33y. 9m. 18d.

Lamar, Henrietta, dau of T.J. Lamar died July 31, 1851, aged 1y. 1m. 13d.

Lewis, Joseph K. so on J. & B. Lewis died March 12, 1851 aged 11y. 6m. 25d. (note, this is the only stone I located in this cemetery.)

Conner Cemetery

This small burial plot is on the hillside to the west of where David Conner built a grist mill on the Mississinewa River. He is said to have been the first white man to have come into Grant County except the soldiers or French explorers and traders. A thick native stone wall about four feet high surrounds this plot. The slab erected first at the Conner Grave is eroding and has been replaced by one of modern design. The above was written by the DAR in the 1940's

The following was written by Sheila Watson, Recently there was an article written in the paper about the Conner Cemetery. I am including information from this article as well as what I found when I visited the site in June of 1994. This cemetery is now located in a subdivision called Avondale. Located in the S.W. 1/4 of the N.E. 1/4 of Section 24 in Pleasant Twp. 25 R. 7 E. The street address is 1515 N. Michael Drive. The cemetery is located in the rear of this residence. The stone wall is gone now, as well as the original stones that marked the graves. One could only guess now exactly where they were. One stone marks the graves of four people who are buried here. The newspaper article says there are six people, all members of the Connor family, but only four names are on the stone.

"David Connor was the first white man in Grant County. He built a small house in this area and had J. Connor's Trading Post along the river, where he traded with the Indians. He'd take the furs to Fort Wayne. The big legend is that he never gave any of his money away. He's said to have taken it and buried it somewhere." "People would come out and dig for the money, but it apparently was never found. In addition to his trading post, Conner also built a grain mill along the Mississinewa River about three miles northwest of where he is buried. He took a heavily forested area and built a dam out of stone and earth." This second mill would have been the one close to the area of the Mississinewa Battlefield. This also has been changed so much as to hardly be able to recognize it as a mill site. There was a bridge here that went across the river into Jalapa. These pioneers were remarkable people. Not many people could stand the hardships, toll, and disease these people went through.

Sheila D. Watson is the host for Grant County's Gen Web page. She does a wonderful job. Of all the county web pages I have visited I believe that Grant County's is the best. She and her husband have read most of the cemeteries in Grant County. She has posted all of these on the Gen Web pages. She has also put copies in the Marion Library. If you do not have access to the internet, and would like a look up, the library would be glad to help you, or you can contact me. Jackie, 827 E.N. "F" St. Gas City, In. 46933

PLEASANT TOWNSHIP IN HISTORY
HISTORY OF GRANT COUNTY, BY J.O.SPURGEON

Dec. 18, 1912, was the centennial anniversary of the Battle of the Mississinewa, and the Grant County Historical Society erected a century milestone along the highway of progress by holding a meeting. It had been planned that Pleasant--the historic township--should end the series of township papers considered before the society, although the historian claims so many "first" for his township that it is clearly a case of the first being last. One hundred years from the day the battle was raging there was a quiet "camp fire" in the Marion Library, and Mr. Spurgeon's paper follows:

The name, Pleasant twp. carries us back in time more than four-score years. what is now Grant co. was formerly a part of Knox county, and later of Delaware county, but was organized into a separate county in 1831, with but two townships' Pleasant, embracing the present townships of Van Buren, Washington, Pleasant, Richland, the north half of Sims, Franklin and Monroe, and all of Center excepting the south six sections. The other part of the county was named Union township, but that name has long since been dropped, and so Pleasant is the oldest township in the county. In 1834 a change was made, leaving Pleasant with what is now Van Buren, Washington, Pleasant, and Richland townships, In 1836 another change was made, taking from Pleasant the two congressional townships on the east. In 1845 Richland twp. was organized by taking from Pleasant a territory six miles north and south by five miles east and west. In the general reorganization of the county into townships, in 1855, Pleasant township gained a one mile strip from Richland township on the east, and lost to Washington township that part of sections 24 and 25 lying east of the Mississinewa river. This change from Pleasant to Washington was made for the convenience of the voters east of the river, as the township elections were then held in the spring of the year, when the river was usually high, and sometimes impassable, since there were no bridges at that date.

This township is crossed from southeast to northwest by the Mississinewa, sometimes called the "Beautiful River," and this, together with Pipe Creek, Cart Creek, Badger Creek, Curtis Creek, Metocina Creek, and some other smaller streams make the township so varied in features as to provide a home for all classes of people. The river in its course across the township has in general a narrow channel, more so than in any other part of the county, and in this township are the highest river banks. The northeastern part of the township is generally varied in surface, affording excellent opportunities for farming, grazing and stock raising. In a few localities cultivation is hindered somewhat by boulders, deposited in the glacial period. The southwestern part of the township has a rich soil and yields abundant crops. The western part of the township remained almost an unbroken wilderness until as late as 1845. About two-thirds of the township lies west of the "old boundary line," and so was a part of the "Indian Reserve."

The first inhabitants of this township of whom we have any authentic history were the Miami Indians. In 1828 Samuel McClure built a mill in section 24, the second mill in the county. In 1838 a man by the name of Baker was drowned by the wreck of a raft, and on Sunday, May 12, 1844, David Hamaker was drowned here, the mill at the time being owned by a Mr. Dalrymple. In 1845 a boat in attempting to pass the McClure dam, was completely wrecked, and further traffic by this method was abandoned. County records tell us that in 1823 a man by the name of Gilbert established a trading post near what is now Sutton's Ford. His business was trading, and he made no attempt at improvement of any kind. On the 19th day of Oct. 1825, David Conner purchased the store of Gilbert, and entered the west half of the northeast quarter of section 24. Mr. Conner died in 1844, and lies buried in the field just a short distance west of where his store stood. The original tombstone has been replaced by a monument containing the following inscription: David Conner, Aug. 8, 1771-Aug. 9, 1844.

A Mrs. Harter, the youngest child of David Conner, is at present a resident of the town of Sweetser. The Conner farm now belongs to David Cretsinger.

On the 19th of October, 1825, Martin Boots bought one hundred and eight acres in the southeast quarter of section 24. The next year Henry Renbarger bought the east fraction of section 24, and shortly after three brothers, Jeremiah, Jephtha and Platt Sutton came and settled just north of the river, at the ford which now bears their family name. David Conner early built a mill, now known as the Barley mill, which was burned down by incendiaries in Dec. 1836, but was rebuilt the next season. George Walker was found guilty of arson in burning the mill, and received a six-year sentence at the May term of court, 1837. Samuel Bigger was judge; Samuel W. Parker, prosecutor; James Rariden, defense.

The following is a list of some of the early landowners: Margaret Housden, Juliet Ann Hummel, Henry Hummel, James Prickett, Benjamin Prickett, Ed Fox, Robert Hurley, Zadok Prickett, Jacob

FAIRMOUNT TOWNSHIP CEMETERIES

Back Creek Cemetery

Back Creek Cemetery has been used since 1830, when Exum Newby's wife was buried there. A total of over 2400 have been made in this plat. Burials were made in no special order and for many years markers of any kind were not used. Several hundred quarry stones were placed at the head of graves at the direction of the Northern Quarterly Meeting of Friends according to Whitson's History of Grant Co., Pg. 580. The stones used in recent years are very modest and many of the inscriptions cannot be deciphered. Only an occasional interment is made here in these later days. Among the number resting here are many who had a great deal to do with the early life of the county, the Baldwin, Harvey, Newby, Hill, Davis and Broderick families are all represented. The cemetery is located near a church house by the same name according to a custom of pioneer days.

Two miles north of Fairmount the Society of Friends built their first Meeting house in 1831. The first sermon was preached by Nathan Morris. the church and Cemetery were given the name of the creek which flows just west of them on its journey to meet the Mississinewa. (This is what the DAR wrote in the 1940's)

Weston Cemetery

This cemetery is located in Fairmount Township, section # 26, Range 8 E. T.23. The Jesse Holloway farm was the southwest 1/2 of the southwest 1/4 of Section #26. In the 1990 Plat book there is still a G.Holloway on part of this land. but at this time I am unable to determine exactly where this monument is. (Written by Sheila Watson)

Fairmount News, 29, Oct. 1932, page 4.

"Fairmount, Oct. 19, One hundred years ago, John Weston, one of the first settlers of fairmount twp. built a cabin on what is now the Jesse Holloway farm, two miles east of this city, to which he brought his wife and children. One year later, walking in the woods near the cabin with a woman companion, Mrs. Weston saw what appeared to be a bright light in the sky. She interpreted this as an omen, foretelling her own death within a short time, and told her companion that she wanted to be buried on top of a ridge, constituting the only high ground in that vicinity, and even went so far as to designate the exact spot for her grave. In just a day to the year Mrs. Weston died and was buried on the ridge on the eastern border of what is now known as the "Prairie" The casket which consisted of a large log split with the center chopped out sufficiently to contain the body. A vault was constructed in the ground, to which the log casket was consigned and across the top of this vault, handhewn clapboards were placed to provide the lid of the crude rough log.

Yesterday W.J. Lewis, David G. Lewis, of this city and J.a. Lewis, living east of town, went to the lonely grave on the Holloway farm, erecting a marker, suitably, to the memory of their great aunt, who for years has slept above what at one time was the farm of Lake Galatia, several miles northeast. All of the above historical facts came from these men through family tradition, and the erection of the marker for Mrs. Weston is a culmination of a plan which they had in mind for some time. The marker, constructed of cement, is a sturdy design and so erected that it is expected to remain in place. It is said that nearby in after years, some six or seven other bodies of pioneers were interred near Mrs. Weston, but all trace of them have been lost in the intervening years.

The monument was erected 16, October, 1932. Mrs. Nellie Weston was the wife John Weston, and she was a sister to David Lewis, Jr.

Union Chapel Cemetery

A United Brethren Church known as Union Chapel was built on the Solomon Thomas farm. This is three miles south-east of Fairmount and on land which is now (1944) owned by David L Payne. Mr. Thomas laid out the grave-yard which comprises about a half acre and donated it to the Union Chapel Church. The church building was erected in 1843 or 44. Many of the pioneers of that section of the county

FAIRMOUNT TOWNSHIP

GRANT COUNTY HISTORY

Probably, the first death known was a child of Charles Baldwin. The first person buried in Back Creek grave yard about 1832 was the wife Exum Newby. The next was Mary, infant daughter of John and Mary Smith, Aug. 1, 1833.

On March 11, 1829, the wife of Robert McCormick gave birth to Julia McMormick, who was the first white child born in the township.

Fairmount twp. stands among the foremost townships of the county. She has many fine farms in a high state of cultivation, with substantial dwellings, that speak in a very creditable manner of their owners. There are in the township at present seven churches, three of which are Quaker, two Wesleyan Methodists, one Methodist Episcopal and one United Brethren. Eight school houses, six hundred and ninety eight enrolled school children, including the corporation of Fairmount, with population of one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five.

Fairmount is the only village in Fairmount twp. Through it passes the C.W. & M.R.R., affording splendid advantages for transportation. The town was laid out Dec. 28, 1850 by David Stanfield. at first, only four blocks were laid out, but six additions have since been made, five by Jonathan Baldwin and one by David Stanfield.

Joseph w. Baldwin was its first settler, as well as its first dry goods merchant. James Cammach was next, who built the first sawmill.

Its business houses at present are about as follows: Dry goods, boots and shoes, hardware, etc, William Osburn; stove and tin shop, A.B. Bryan; grocery, D. Thomas; dry goods and groceries, Robert Bogue & Co.; dry goods and notions, Nathan Johnson; Nathan Johnson; Tailor, John Lilibridge; grocery, John Bussing; boot and shoe shop, Thos. Baldwin; marble shop, B.S. Payne; shoe shop, ___ Elliott; Hotel, ___ Fleming, Proprietor; drug store, Dr. Wright; Hardware, dry goods, boots and shoes, J.P. Back Creek

Grant County History

This creek was named by Joseph Winslow, after the name of the creek where he lived in North Carolina, Randolph County. It enters the township in Section 6, Twp. 22, Range 8, and has a generally northerly course, bearing a little east, and enters the township of Mill a little west of the half-mile corner on the north side of Section 17, Twp. 23, range 8. The upper portion of this stream was very flat and rather marshy, and was cut wider and deeper about the year 1856, being the first work of any extent done in the county, and it is worthy of note that it was done by private enterprise, with process of law. It far exceeded expectation as to its benefits to lands and the public generally. It was a series of beaver ponds and when a channel was opened it was rather astonishing to see bits of timber with the marks of the teeth of these animals in them, and shells of different kinds, and in particular those of the mussel, of large size, which indicated that when these creatures were here that permanent water was held by their dams. Drainage has enabled the farmer to raise grain and grass on these lands where cattle "mired" in the first settling along the creek. The higher lands and those farther down were first choice for farming and were settled first, mostly by a number of friends from North Carolina, but others soon came, and at an early day the settlement on Back Creek was quite dense for a new county.

FAIRMOUNT TOWNSHIP CEMETERIES

are buried in this cemetery but there is only one stone to bear evidence of the fact. The inscription reads: Alvah, son of elijah and Rachel Herold, died May 25, 1844 age two yrs. 8mo. 25d. Others who are known to have been interred in this cemetery are: Anna Brewer, wife of Aaron Brewer, Martha Creek (daughters of Solomon Thomas), James Montgomery, Esaiiah Edgerton, Thomas Edgerton, William Edgerton and Harmon Lytle.

This plot is covered with a tangle of shrubs, vines and briars. Several large native trees and some pines keep mute vigil over the pioneer dead. The church house which was erected north of this cemetery has long since been gone.

Referring to Grant County Marriage Records - 1832 - 1854 - we find that Martha Thomas married Isaac Creek June 30, 1842. In 1849 he married Martha Moor. Our conclusion is that the first wife died sometime between June 1842 and Dec. 27, 1849. Feb. 1, 1849, license was granted to Aaron Brewer to marry Anna Thomas, James Lytle was given license to marry Nancy Wilson, Aug. 26, 1843.

Whitson's history says that the second husband of Hannah Thomas Montgomery was Jehu Moore, but the marriage records show that on Nov. 12, 1846, John Moore was granted a license to marry Hannah Montgomery. (This was written by the DAR in the 1940's)

The following was written by Sheila Watson: This cemetery is located on what was the Indianapolis to Fort Wayne Road, established in 1823. Much of this road has long been gone, but there are still portions of it, improved for transportation, left in our county in 1995. The 1860 plat map shows a very small section of this road passed through Sec. # 4 in the extreme N.W. corner, cutting off perhaps 20 acres more or less. Today (1995) you will find the cemetery on county road 1100 S. just a few rods west of 200 E., on the John Vetter farm. He tells me he grew up in this area, and when a young boy there were a few stones left at this sight. Although there is nothing there now, he still leaves it alone when he farms the fields surrounding this cemetery. When you go down his road and look south-west of his home, there is a small patch of ground right down his fence row that is not plowed up and that is the sight of what was the Union Cemetery. The graveyard was just south of the church. Not much can be seen at this sight today. The roads have almost all been moved prior to 1912 to the section lines, leaving hardly any remnants of the past left. The church was erected in 1839, by Solomon Thomas, and deeded to the United Brethren in Christ on 1 October, 1843 "for the consideration of free god will and esteem and confidence that I have in the Church United Brethren and Christ." Charter members were Solomon Thomas and his wife, Isaac Anderson and wife, Carter Hasting and wife, Wm. Hall and wife, John Buller and wife, and John Smith and wife. Mr. Vetter tells me they had intentions of having a town at this sight at one time. There were several small businesses in this area, a store and a blacksmith shop, to name just a few before the turn of the century. When they abandoned the Fort Wayne to Indianapolis road it destroyed all possibilities of ever having a town there.

McCormick/Fankboner Cemetery

Robert McCormick settled at the junction of the old Fort Wayne, Indianapolis and Muncie Town Trail in 1826. He built a large cabin which was known far and wide as McCormick's Tavern. He also handled the mail and the Post office was called Greenberry. On a beautiful, wooded knoll southwest of his home he found evidences of an Indian encampment and the grave of an Indian. Here on this knoll in 1830 the baby of Thomas and Mary Coleman was buried. Later, in 1836 Robert McCormick was buried.

This place is protected by a wire fence and is reasonably free of weeds and briars. Burials have been made within the past ten years but it is not generally used.

In this cemetery lie William and Celia Payne who were the parents of Capt. David L. Payne. Capt. Payne was the moving factor in having the Territory of Oklahoma opened to the public for white settlement. Celia Payne was a daughter of David Lewis who came to Grant County in Nov. of 1834.

Jane McCormick the daughter of Robert and Ann McCormick was born in 1829. She married William Roush in March 1841. Their daughter Mary C. married Joel Duling in 1868. Catherine, the daughter of Robert and Ann McCormick married Joseph Jones Nov. 26, 1839. Catherine and Joseph are buried in Bethel Cemetery. (Written by the DAR in the 1940's)

FAIRMOUNT TOWNSHIP CEMETERIES

(The following was written by Sheila Watson) Robert McCormick came to the Mississinew River site in 1826. and entered land on the 15, Aug. 1829. His delay in entering (purchasing) the land is that there were few people in the area that was to become Grant County and therefore a contest for land was highly unlikely. He came from Fayette Co., Ind. (Connersville being the county seat) He established McCormicks Tavern near the crossing of the state road and the Muncie Pike.

I visisted the McCormick Cemetery, also known as the fankboner Graveyrd, in May of 1997. It is located in the S.#. 1/4 of the N.E. 1/4 of Sec. 14, twp. 23 N. Range 8 E. The road address is 7136 Wheeling Pike, Jonesboro, Indiana. It is about 1/4 of a mile back from the road and access can only be gained by asking at his residence and walking back. Behind this home is a very deep ravine and a creek which flows into the Mississinew River about a 1/2 mile north of the Wheeling Pike. This creek seems to originate on this property and appears to be spring-fed. Just south of the creek is an old logging road, but back in the early days of this area the road could have been the main buggy road to this cemetery. At the top of the hill is the main gate into the cemetery.

The oldest marked grave that I found was that of Nancy, dau. of Thomas and Mary Coleman. She died Sept. 6, 1830 a the tender age of 1y. 2m. 22d. She is listed on the same stone with 2 of her siblings. the most recent marked burial was that of Merrell Steelman, son of Samuel and blanche steelman, 1907-1923

Park Cemetery

The Fairmount Park Cemetery Association was formed April 6, 1889 and the first ground was owned April 11, 1889. It was bought from Ruth Elliott and James N. Elliott. A sinking fund was created and is maintained by the sale of lots and by gifts. This fund maintains and protects this 75 or 80 acres as a suitable gound for the burial of the dead . There are at this time over 3500 persons buried here.

The above information was taken from the abstack of this land. The records are kept by Mrs. Tony Payne for the association. They contain information asked for at the time of burial and are not copied from the stones . The information is correct in all particulars. (This was written by the DAR in the 1940's)

(The following was written Sheila Watson)

This is Dec. 1994, and the amount of graves at this cemetery has more than doubled since then. I have decided to copy this cemetery as it is, just in case I don't get the chance to read it. the mimeograph copies of the work of the DAR are in such bad conditon, much of the reading has to be looked at through a magnifying glass. This is no fault of the DAR, what they had to use in the 1940's was state of the art back then. Mimeograph copies were usually blue ink and whn copies are made of this work much of the print is lost. I can remember as a child, making copies with a mimeograph machine. Then the teachers would make the entire class go over the sheets and fill in what would be missing or illegible at the time. With our new computers, and state of art copiers now, we are able to get much better work. And hopefully 50 years from now people won't be struggling to read what we have done. I have corrected any typo's, I found, and anything I was not sure of, I went to the cemetery and checked for a stone. In most cases what is recorded in the records of a cemetery is the burial dates and not the actual date of death. This one reads as the actual date of death, but beware, it is always better to check out the death record or the actual stone to make sure.

What has been recorded here is burials up to and including the year 1900. Many of these people are recorded as having died before this cemetery was established in 1889. We must assume that they were moved in from other cemeteries after the Park was established. If the record shows the place of birth I put it in. But keep in mind most gravestones do not tell the place of birth.

Selby Cemetery

This cemetery is located in Fairmount township Section # 22. The 1860 plat maps of Fairmount Township show Selby's owning much of this section then. The 1990 Plat Maps show they still do 135 years later. It is believed 3 children of the Selbys are buried in this cemetery, which for many years was only marked by field stones. Recently the Selby family erected a single monument and enclosed the area by a chain link fence. the area is about 8 feet square and has no entrance.

This cemetery is located on the west side of an improved public road which is a portion of the old Indianapolis to Fort Wayne road established in 1823. the road no longer goes all the way through the section and runs northeast from south west. I hope to later find out a little more about this forgotten graveyard. (Written by Sheila Watson)

Bethel Cemetery

" The old Coleman homestead of pioneer days is now the home of Mr. & Mrs. Dan Payne. It is on the Muncie Pike, 3 miles south-east of Jonesboro. Here lived Daniel & Mary Coleman in those early days. The land for Bethel Cemetery was donated by them. A church was built there by the Methodists in 1835 but has long since been gone. the cemetery is used by memebbers of the older families of the community but burials are becoming less frequent. In this place lies the remains of Isaac Suddeth a slodier of the Revolutionary War and the father of Mrs. Coleman." From The Making of a Township by Edgar Baldwin"

Many other representatives of pioneer families are buried here, Dulings, Johnson, Bates, Baldwin, and many others. (This was written by the dAR in the 1940's)

In the early 1990's this cemetery was located behind a hog barn, but easily accessible. (written by Jackie C. Thomas)

Sheila D. Watson is the host for Grant County's Gen Web page. She does a wonderful job, of all the county web pages I have visited, I believe that Grant County's is the best. She and her husband have read most of the cemeteries in Grant County, she has posted all of these on the Gen Web pages. She has also put copies in the Marion Public Library. If you do not have access to the internet, and would like a look up, the library would be glad to help you, or you can contac me. I also have the readings of a few of the cemeteries that Sheila hasn't gotten to yet, I plan on giving them to her to put on the internet Jackie C. Thomas, 827 E.N. Poems for Everybody by Milton Winslow

For Sale

(written on the event of the introduction of gas into Fairmount)

My wood is on the market right away
Its hickory, beech and ash, they call it gray
Not made of limbs and trash; its real dry;
Yes, hickory, beech and ash, who wants to buy?
My saw-buck and my buck-saw both may go
For many years I served them, bending low
And now my friends adjure me on the street,
To straiten up again, each time we meet
But no! Alas! for me it came to late;
For neither gas nor rest, could make me straight
My wood-box and my shovel will be sold
And terms of sale on the day will be told
My ash box and poker cannot stay
I'll give you them, to take them both away
The product of the sale will cover all
And turn my wood house to a parlor hall
And this bay window which, thank God is ours
In Winter's winds we'll decorate with flowers
But not a day will be allowed to pass
Forgetful of the one who gave us Gas

ELISHA OVERMAN

Grant, Blackford History, 1914

Elisha Overman. One of the most interesting and best known families in Grant Co. is the Overman family, several generations of whom have been identified with the growth and progress of this section of the state, and many of whom have done more than the average citizen toward the upbuilding and advancement of their communities.

Elisha Overman, whose name introduces this brief family sketch, comes of Pennsylvania ancestry. His grandfather, one Elijah Overman, came from that state to Ohio in the early days of Clinton county and there he settled upon and improved a farm. He passed the remainder of his life there and when he died he was but little beyond middle life. He left four children, Jesse, Benjamin and two daughters whose names do not appear in this record. All grew to years of maturity, all married and all reared families. All are now deceased. After the death of Elijah Overman, his widow married Amos Davis, and they came to Grant Co. and located in Center twp. There they passed the remainder of their lives on the farm they settled upon. Amos Davis being about seventy-one when he passed away, while his widow survived him a few years. All were members of the Friends church. Mr. Davis was a Whig and later was a Republican, and was always an excellent citizen in his community. He and his wife had two children. Henry married and lives on a farm in the vicinity of Weetser, in Grant Co. and is without issue. Melissa became the wife of Reuben Small and lives in Anthony, Kansas. They have four sons.

Benjamin Overman was born in November, 1814, and died in March, 1906, when a young man he came to Grant Co. and located in Franklin twp. but he had lived for some years prior to that with his mother and step father in Center twp. He was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Burson, who died a few years later in Franklin twp. where he settled soon after his marriage. She left his one daughter, Melissa, who is now married and who lives in North Marion and has two sons. The second wife of Benjamin Overman was Clarissa Marshall. She was born in this county and was here reared, for the most part, and she died in Franklin twp. while she was yet a young woman, death coming to her in 1857, thus was Benjamin Overman widowed a second time in his young life. She was mother of three children, Henry, deceased; Elisha our subject; and Riley deceased.

A third time did Benjamin Overman marry, and the woman of choice was a half sister of his second wife. Her name was Rebecca Marshall, and she too was a Grant Co. girl. She did some few years after the passing of her husband, her death occurring in 1908, when she was about fifty-three years of age. She was the mother of the following children: Elizabeth, who married Albert Brown and lives in Mill twp. they have two children, Della and Birgil. Dora, the wife of Abe Gross, lives in Wabash county; they have three children. Mahala, the wife of George Shaw, lives in Mill twp., and is the mother of seven children.

Elisha Overman is the son of Benjamin and Clarissa (Marshall) Overman, and he was born in Franklin twp., Grant County, on May 28, 1853. After the death of his young mother in 1857 he lived at the home of his Grandfather Davis, and was educated in the common schools of that period. When he reached young manhood he married in Mill twp. Martha Enterminger, who was born in Mill twp. in 1865 and died at her home in this twp. in 1886. She was the mother of three children. Leland died in infancy. David E. was born on November 9, 1884. He now owns and operates his own farm of 124 acres in section 27, Mill township, the place being a well improved and productive one. He is unmarried and lives at home. William died at the age of twelve years.

Mr. Overman was married a second time in White county, Ind. to Miss Minnie McGinnis, who was born in Carroll Co. on December 29, 1869, near Delphi. she is a daughter of Freeman and Hannah (Snethen) McGinnis, natives of Indiana who were engaged in farming in White, Carroll and Cass counties in later years of their lives. Late in life they took up their residence in Gas City, and they died in this place—the father in 1906, when he was sixty-two years of age, and the mother in 1904, at the age of fifty-eight, they were long members of the Christian church, both having been baptized at the same time, but later in life, as a matter of convenience, they united with the Baptist church. They had five children. Willard, a resident of Gas City, is married and has a family; Andrew lives in Gas City, in Gas City, and he also is married and has six children; Mrs. Overman was their third child; Elijah, a resident of Cass county, married and has two daughters; and Mary, who died after her marriage as the result of a gas explosion at the Soldiers' Home on Jan. 21, 1904. Her husband, Charles O. Beitel, was killed at the same time. The explosion caused a falling of the walls of the place, and both were crushed in their beds. They left two children. Orval C. lives in the home of his aunt, Mrs. Overman and Harry R. lives with Mrs. Rose, in Madison county.

This reading and recording of the Walnut Creek Cemetery was done by Jackie C. Penrod Thomas, and Patricia J. Revis Roth, in the summer of 1995. At the time the VFW of Gas City was keeping it mowed, so it was in fairly good shape. I am still not sure just why it is called Walnut Creek Cemetery, as Walnut Creek lies about a half mile to the north. I grew up in the area, and my mother, grandparents and G-grandparents have all lived in the area. There was never any mention of a church standing at the site.

Jackie Thomas

The following was written by the DAR in the 1940's, following that is a list of cemetery readings also done by the DAR in the 40's. some of our readings are different. I will include these.

This old cemetery a little north and a half mile east of Gas City dates back to the very earliest days of the county. Silas Parks came to the county in 1835 and in 1837 his little daughter, Caroline died of croup and was buried here. The history of 1883 names her and "ason of Isaiah Roberds as being the first deaths and both were interred in Walnut Creek cemetery.

Diligent inquiry did not reveal any one who could remember that a church ever stood here. A grand-daughter of Silas Parks said that she remembered hearing her mother say that her grandfather preached in a little log church that stood near this cemetery, but she has no knowledge of what happened to it. Silas Parks was a minister for the Disciples Church and a man prominent in County affairs.

Record Book B. page 186. in the Grant Co. recorder's offices says " From John Adamson to the trustees of C. Church this indenture is made and concluded this faourteenth day of Feb.. in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and thirty eight --by and between JOhn Adamson and the society stiled (styled) by the name of the Christian Church in said county on Walnut Creek and lying in said county" ---Then follows a description of the land --"for express purpose for burying ground and meeting house. Sarah Adamson, wife of John Adamson doth hereby relinquish her right of dower to the abouve described tract of land.

William Roberds
Geo W. Heltin

On Page 187 of Record Bo. I. John Troxel and his wife Anna deed " a parcel of ground" to this same church for the sum of twenty five cnets. John Adamson received the sum of one dollar for his land.

This cemetery is sometives referred to in the History books. as the Lower Walnut Ck. Graveyard.

"Witness our hands and seals. JOSEPH W. HILL, 'JONATHAN P. WINSLOW, 'DANIEL WINSLOW.
"Subscribed and sworn to before me this 30th day of July, 1883, "ALFRED BARNARD,
"Justice of the Peace."

On Aug. 1, 1883, JONATHAN P. WINSLOW purchased of DANIEL WILSON, administrator of the estate of JESSE E. WILSON, thirty-eight shares of stock. At about the same date eleven shares of stock were assigned to NIXON RUSH, JR.

JONATHAN P. WINSLOW continued to serve as President and secretary of the company until July 17, 1886, when he was succeeded by CHRISTOPHER HILL.

On May 14, 1892, JONATHAN P. WINSLOW was again elected president. Z.M. GOSSETT was chosen secretary. On July 12, 1892, forty one shares were assigned to Dr. A. HENLEY.

For the month ending Aug. 1, 1892, the receipts for toll were as follows: Gate No. 1, $30.00; Gate No. 2, $52.66, Gate No. 3, $42.21, sept. 1892, the receipts reached high-water mark. The report of receipts on Oct. 1, for the preceding month, was as follows: Gate No. 1, $50.05, Gate No. 2, $98.62, Gate No. 3, $39.72, making a total for the month of $188.39.

On April 27, 1893, one hundred and twenty shares were assigned to SULLIVAN T. WAITE. In 1899 the Interurban line connecting Marion and Anderson had been completed and was in operation. It was doubtless partly due to this new and more convenient means of travel and partly to the fact that other gravel roads had been constructed that the income from tolls became almost negligible.

The records show that on Sept. 0, 1899, the receipts for two months, July and August combined, amounted to but $25.25. At this date SULLIVAN T. WAITE was president and Adeline Wright, Secretary. The JONESBORO 7 FAIRMOUNT TURNPIKE was taken over by the county on Jan. 9, 1901, at which time the officers of the company gave a quit-claim deed for the property to the county commissioners.

'Any one riding over Fairmount Township at the present day will note the very level surface of the land," writes Dr. A. Henley, under date of Melbourne, Florida, April 14, 1917. "It does not look nearly so level now as it did to the first settlers, before the forest trees and underbrush were cut away and the fallen timber removed that obstructed the natural drainage of the sloughs. I think it would be safe in saying that fifty per cent of the landed surface was wet land, covered with water a portion of the year,, too wet to cultivate until late in the spring, and was an uncertain proposition even then. For this reason the first comers selected land some what rolling, land that had the best natural outlet for the surface water, erected their cabins, but out roads on the ridges and the driest ground and as direct from one neighbor to another as was practicable.

COREY CEMETERY, VAN BUREN TWP., GRANT CO. IN.

Van Buren Township lies in the north east corner of Grant County and is drained by Black Creek and Little Black Creek which flow to the east and empty into the Salamonie River. The land in this township is generally low and in the early days had swamps which were named McCowen's Prairie, Kirk's Prairie and Tippy's. These prairies were covered with tall grass in the summer and with deep water in the spring.

The early comers selected the higher ground for the sites of their homes and proceeded to drain the swamps which gave them the fine farms that their descendants are enjoying today.

Stephen Corey came in 1839 and settled in section #11 of this township. He built his home on a bluff overlooking Black creek. Michael Roush entered land in the same section in 1836. His little daughter, Mary, died March 8, 1840 and was the first to be buried in what is now called the Corey Cemetery.

In the early days the famous Fort Wayne, Indianapolis Road passed through Grant County. It passed the Corey cemetery to the east. Black creek is near by. This is one of the beauty spots of the county. It is off the main highway and the serenity of the spot make it such as one loves to find when the heart is bowed down. Native trees surround it and a deep carpet of grass prevents even a footfall from being heard.

Burials have been made here for more than a century. The pioneers of the township lie here in peace and their descendants are still being brought back to their fathers and mothers home.

Lavanner Corey was one of the early doctors of the county. In April of 1879 he and his wife and Lewis Landess and his wife deeded two and eighty-five hundredths acres to the Corey Cemetery Association.

The Corey Cemetery was read by Jackie C. Penrod Thomas and Patricia J. Revis Roth in the summer of 1995. The whole cemetery has been vandalized over the years, and was very difficult to read, many stones are missing, including Jackie's great grandparents stones. William and Katherine Storts Penrod and one of their sons is known to be buried in Corey Cemetery. * denotes a stone not found at this time, and () denotes a difference in the readings. Many stones were found in 1995 that were not included in the DAR's reading.
