December of that year, Studebaker announced the closing of their local operation and the membership was again hit hard.

The move to the current location at the corner of Laurel and Cleveland Roads was begun in the early 1980's. A decision to seek a location on the north side of South Bend resulted in the purchase of the Laurel and Cleveland Road site in 1984. Current Pastor Gregory Fiechtner was installed on August 13, 1989. The church was built under his leadership and dedicated in October 1990. The Harrison & Van Buren property was sold in 1991 to Grace Community Baptist Church, which still worships there today. The "Gethsemane" and "Good Shepherd" Windows and Chancel furnishings were moved to the new location, along with the bells.

The relocation of the Church has been good for the congregation. Preschool and Kindergarten classes were begun in 2000, with second grade added in 2002. The Sewing Circle, organized in October 1906, still serves under the name "St. Paul's Lutheran Women's Circle".

51490 Laurel Road at Cleveland, South Bend
Three bells purchased in 1891 for $529.14 to call the faithful to worship and note special times within the Service.

Baptisms at St. Paul's German Lutheran Church in South Bend, 1879—1903

Correction: The current location of St. Paul's Lutheran Church is at the corner of Laurel and Auten Roads, not the corner of Laurel and Cleveland Roads which was reported in the January Quarterly.

Traugott Thieme is listed as the Pastor for many of these baptisms. The following article is from The Bremen Enquirer, September 7, 1905, page 5.

Rev. Traugott Thieme, of South Bend, well known to Bremen people, was given a delightful surprise, Monday, by his congregation, in honor of his 25th anniversary in the ministry. The church was specially decorated for the occasion, and the entire congregation assembled without the pastor or his wife knowing anything about it. When they were taken to the church they were astonished at the sight. An appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. Mr. Jungkuntz, and the congregation, after congratulations to their pastor, presented him with a nice sum of money and other presents.

This issue completes the Baptisms listing published in the October 2004 and January 2005 Quarterlies.

School Records of Saint Joseph County, Indiana—1917

Contributed by Irv Morse

This index was created from an original book located in our office at the Mishawaka-Penn Public Library. This volume (Book 57) is part of the collection of original school records recently filmed by the SBAGS. Besides the names of the children and parents, the records include an address. The books do not list a description to allow us to understand the significance of the wards listed. The student's name and the parent's name are next to each other on the page. To date, it is the only volume that has been completely indexed.

Key to records: Lastname, Firstname, Ward, Student or Parent, page number

1910 Index of Heads of Households for River Park, Indiana

In 1910, the town of River Park was still an incorporated area between the cities of South Bend and Mishawaka along the northern shores of the Saint Joseph River. The town had grown rapidly since 1900 as developers became involved in the area and the farmland was turned into a residential area. The location of River Park provided residents with easy access to their places of employment in both South Bend and Mishawaka.

The following index provides a street by street listing of the heads of household, number of occupants and the occupation of the heads of household. It can be noted that all of the major industries of both South Bend and Mishawaka of the time were represented in River Park.. 227 entries are included in this issue with the remaining entries and additional photos to be included in the next issue of the Quarterly.

tive of Plymouth, Daniel McDonald delivered an eloquent speech before the Indiana House of Representatives outlining the history of the Potawatomi Indians in the vicinity from earliest times until their removal in 1838. In it he eulogizes Chief Menominee as a great leader and he asks that the state erect a monument to the Pottawatomie at Twin Lakes in Marshall County, Indiana. The motion to build this monument did not pass the legislature that year, but it was re-introduced in 1907 and was signed by the Governor on March 12, 1907.

Along U.S. Highway 31 south of Plymouth, Indiana, travelers notice a small sign at a county road pointing westward to the "Chief Menominee monument". Following this road westward for seven miles and then turning north onto Peach Road brings the traveler to a point just south of the town of Twin Lakes where a small park displays a statue of Potawatomi Chief Menominee. This is the site of Menominee's village and the place where the Trail of Death started. Plaques are placed at strategic locations along the entire route to Sugar Creek Mission in Kansas. The Plaques were placed in 1997 by the Fulton County Historical Society, by Howard Kline of Florissant, MO and by Tom Hamilton of Leesburg, IN, both descendants of Trail of Death survivors.

In his speech before the House of Representatives Mr. McDonald asks the members to remember the Indians who had all passed away by that time. Not one lived to tell the story of the chiefs and Indians with the strange sounding names. They are gone from everywhere except from our hearts. And so we do remember, names like Maxinkuckee, Wana-tah, Kewanna, and Tiosa in Indiana, and Pokagon, Tecumseh, and Pontiac in Michigan, and in the entire USA we encounter more Indian names, names like Milwaukee, Manitou, Chicago, Minneapolis, Mishawaka, and Elkhart, names like Illinois, Iowa, Mackinaw, Mississippi, Ohio and Wisconsin. The list is almost endless.

And there is the storied Wabash. It might be called the Hoosier Father of Waters. The name reminds us of what was, and what might have been. The Hoosier song writer Paul Dresser wrote of the Wabash,

"Oh, the moon is fair tonight along the Wabash,
From the fields there comes the breath of new-
mown hay,
Through the sycamores the candle-lights are gleaming
On the banks of the Wabash, far away."

1910 Index of Heads of Households for River Park, Indiana

In 1910, the town of River Park was still an incorporated area between the cities of South Bend and Mishawaka along the northern shores of the Saint Joseph River. The town had grown rapidly since 1900 as developers became involved in the area and the farmland was turned into a residential area. The location of River Park provided residents with easy access to their places of employment in both South Bend and Mishawaka.

The following index provides a street by street listing of the heads of household, number of occupants and the occupation of the heads of household. It can be noted that all of the major industries of both South Bend and Mishawaka of the time were represented in River Park.. The following list is the continuation from our July, 2008 issue of the Quarterly.
