THE MARRIAGES OF PIKE COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

( The contents of this book are taken from an original copy of The History of Pike County, Mississippi, c. 1909 by Luke Ward Conerly.) This book was printed by the Brandon Printing Company of Nashville, Tennessee and is now out of print, a copy of portions of the book was made by E. Russ Williams in the 1950's, but this too is out of print. The original copy of this book from which this is extracted is in the Birmingham Public Library, in Birmingham, Alabama. Because the Pike County Courthouse was burned in about 1876, most all of the records were lost; therefore, the importance of this book is tremendous. The census of the year 1830 is not available. Pike County was formed from the County of Marion in the year of 1811.

The author has a great interest in this book, since his great grandmother was Mary Jane Conerly ( she married William Fletcher Sandel.) Mary Jane Conerly's father was Dr. John R. Conerly, his wife was Elizabeth Tynes... Dr. John R. Conerly was a son of Owen Conerly, who was a brother to the older Luke Conerly...

My hope is that this material may help you in your research, as much as it has helped me in mine. I am also a direct descendant of Henry Sandel and Catherine Nobles mentioned in this book.

In the year, 1799 John Warren and his wife Priscilla settled on the Otopasas (pronounced Topisaw), which is located below the junction of East Fork and on the west side of the stream of water. They became the parents of Sally Warren, wife of William McCollough. He had come to Pike County in the year 1814, at the age of 15. His father was Alexander McCollough, and he came from Ireland into Georgia. The wife of Alexander was a Miss Marshall from Scotland. After William McCollough married Sally Warren, they settled on the Topisaw River and became the parents of Winston, Jasper, Olive, Sarah and Melinda.

Jacob Kean married Keziah Gates on February 13, 1816, Pike County.

Daniel Sandell (also spelled Sandal, Sandall, Sandle), was the son of George Henry Sandell and Catherine Nobles, who lived in the Orangeburg District of South Carolina, where he was born in 1792. He married Charity Eleanor Corley, the daughter of Jeremiah Corley, from the Barnwell District, South Carolina, September 17, 1815. They became the parents of Gabriel, Walter, Rev. John Wesley Sandell ( a Methodist Minister), Samuel Murry, Monroe, Mary Ann and Martha.

(Author's note: Mr. A.S. Salley's book on Orangeburg District, South Carolina, records many baptisms and other material on the Henry Sandel and other families, who later migrated to Pike County, Mississippi ).

Peter Felder came from Barnwell District, South Carolina in 1811, and settled what is known as the Vaughn place near Magnolia, Miss. Peter was the father of John Felder, who was also born in Barnwell District, South Carolina, and married Elizabeth Sandell October 15, 1812. They were the parents of Mary Catherine, who married Seaborn Alford; and Wyatt Westley, Elizabeth G., Gabriel Nally, Levi Darius, Robert Henry and Simeon Noble.

Authors' note: (Elizabeth Sandell was the daughter of Henry Sandell and Catherine Nobles,) who are the author's great, great, great grandparents. Catherine Sandel is buried in the Felder Cemetery and she died in 1846.

Alexander McCollough emigrated from Ireland to Georgia. His wife was Miss Marshall of Scotland. They were the parents of William McCollough, .....They were the parents of Winston, Benjamin, Jasper, Olive, Melinda and Sarah.

Matthew and Archie McElwen came from Carolina in the year 1800 and they settled also on Topisaw Creek. James a son of Matthew, married Nancy Barnes, widow of John Barnes, ( she was a Bearden before she married J. Barnes and was the mother of Pinkney and W. Clinton Barnes)

Clarke's 1860 Vicksburg Directory

1.3

H. C. Clarke's 1860 Directory of Vicksburg provides some interesting glimpses of the daily life of a city poised on the brink of chaos. Within the next five years, all of the people, professions, businesses, and institutions listed in the Directory would be intimately involved in the conflict known as the Civil War.

It is a matter of historical record that the voters of Vicksburg and Warren County were overwhelmingly opposed to the disunion and secession in 1860. When the democratic process had run its course, however, Mississippi was out of the Union.

In Vicksburg emotion and personal loyalties quickly overcame political theory and the city enthusiastically enlisted for the duration. In some more fortunate areas, the hardships and suffering ended in 1865, but Vicksburg was a particular target of the Radical Republicans and reconstruction forces. As a practical matter, Vicksburg's war continued until the late 1870's.

That Vicksburg was able to survive at all was due in large part to some of the people whose names appear on the list of residents in Clarke's Directory. Against almost incredible odds, they endured, they persevered, and eventually they succeeded in rebuilding a bankrupt and devastated community.

What Is A Document?

Abstracted from Dorothee Hughes Carouso, L.H.D., F.G.S.P., C.G., "What Is A Document," The Pennsylvania Genealogical Magazine 31 (November 1980).

In genealogy, the only conclusive proof of a blood line is contained in a document. One very succinct definition of a genealogical document is: "A piece of written evidence, written by a person who,
or in an era which, could not have foreseen this eventual use of it."

Undocumented genealogical publications are suspect and useless for reference. Today applicants to hereditary societies must prove, beyond any doubt, that he or she has a straight blood line descendancy (in some cases, legitimate descendancy through all generations) from the ancestor he claims.

A good genealogist works from the present to the past, collecting evidence for each generation.
Examples of sound documentation are as follows:

- Birth or baptismal certificate
- Death certificate
- Marriage license
- Bible records of births, deaths, marriages
- Newspaper notices of death, birth, marriage
- Wills, probates, letters of administration, inventories, final accountings of administrators, census records which show the husband and wife in the same household for several successive decades after 1850. Lists of taxpayers, muster rolls.
- Deeds, mortgages, court records
- Diaries, journals, and letters depending upon the date they were written.
- City Directories

Published genealogies are seldom considered
"documents," with a few exceptions, i.e., the published archives of a state, published church histories with lists of baptisms, births, marriages, burials, and the well-documented and annotated genealogy. ■
