

MT. PLEASANT BAPTIST CHURCH

Mildred Dodd

Drive four miles west from Willard, Missouri, turn left on a Greene County highway marked "UU," take the first left-turning road and come to a full stop when you find the first small, insignificant, right-turning road. Shut off the motor or hitch your horse to the nearest tree, look back over your left shoulder and watch the world going on its troubled way. Give yourself a moment to relax, then make the right turn.

Where are you? On a more than half-forgotten wilderness road which undulates a mile or so through a world primeval where the canopy of trees shields all beneath from the sun's bright glare. On the floor of the second valley is a small fretted bridge which calls you back to reality. Top the hill and you are at Mt. Pleasant, a Southern Baptist Church organized one hundred forty-one years ago--a little less than seventeen years after Missouri became a state in August of 1821.

The church historian gives the following account of the organization.

"On the third Saturday of January, 1838, a group of people met at the home of Brother John GILMORE by appointment for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church. In this group were Brother David COFFMAN and John GILMORE, both ordained deacons, and Elijah WILLIAMS, an ordained preacher.

"Elijah WILLIAMS was chosen moderator and John GILMORE clerk pro tem. After this, the following persons presented letters and their names were enrolled as members: William and Rebecca TATUM, Andrew, Thomas and Rebecca SIMMONS, Agnes, John and Margaret DAVIS, Bessie GILMORE, Elizabeth GRANTHAM, John C. and Appy JOHNSON, Charles L. and Saria PECK.

"Then the articles of faith and rules of decorum were adopted.

"The next recording meeting was March 1, 1838, at which meeting John GILMORE and Lucinda GILMORE were received by letter and the church chose the name Mount Pleasant. In April of that year Brother Lot HACKNEY was received by letter and Brother Charles L. PECK was chosen as clerk. This completed the permanent organization.

"Elder James RUCKNER became the first preacher. The first Communion Service was held in June and in August the church petitioned for admittance to the Union Association.

"By the July meeting in 1839 the church had decided to erect a building of hewn logs. The house to be 20 feet square with a suitable height. Brother Charles L. PECK became the first church treasurer in 1841 but it was not until the June, 1842 meeting that mention was made of a collection to defray church expenses and then it was set for a month in advance.

"October, 1842 meeting stated that the members agreed to build a framed house of worship 50 by 25 feet. In August, 1843 it was agreed to instruct the trustees 'To procure nails for the meeting house and was also agreed to assist in paying for them.' In 1848 the church voted to fill the house with seats."

Margaret KELSO, a member of the early church, states: "Uncle Jimmy MURRAY homesteaded land around where Mt. Pleasant Church now stands. He had quite an estate and gave land to all of his children. I was in church the day he told the members he wanted to make a deed to the church for land to be used as a cemetery ground. He was devoted to the church and was always in his place in the corner next to the pulpit as long as his health permitted him to attend."

"The church planned a dinner for him one Sunday and I was to go by and take him to church and to get the preacher to detain him after services until the crowd could get to his house and set the table. I waited around until the preacher thought they were ready for dinner, then Uncle Jimmy invited the preacher home so they could finish their discussion. When we came in sight of his home and he saw all the buggies and the large crowd he said, 'Something is up, something is up!' And when he saw the long tables he said, 'Land of Canaan, Corn, and Wine! It's my children, my neighbors, and my neighbor's children.' By the time we got down to the table he was almost shouting he was so happy."

So was Mt. Pleasant's early life. The little church has survived physical destruction by fire and again by tornado, but the driving spirit rose again, rebuilt to quietly stand today.

Before you go, wait yet another moment here beside the old grey stucco building and look out over its cemetery which holds the grave of James BARHAM, Revolutionary War veteran, graves of veterans of the War of 1812, and graves of Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and North Carolina pioneers. Listen to the still small voice saying, "Be still and know that I am God." . . . Now, depart in peace.

OLD SPRINGFIELD CEMETERY

John D. Gifford

MD
Springfield
11

In the first issue of Ozar'kin', (Spring 1979; Vol. I:1, p. 41) we printed an article entitled "Disinterment, Removal, and Reinterment of Bodies." Included was the text of an ordinance passed on March 10, 1888 by the Springfield City Councilmaking it mandatory for the removal of bodies from a small cemetery at the corner of Campbell and Atlantic Streets. Perhaps this ordinance was the eventual outcome of an editorial appearing five years earlier in a Springfield newspaper. The writer decried the presence of an abandoned tract "five minutes walk from the center of business...the reproach of a city...broken stones scattered here and there" (Springfield Weekly Patriot, #983, August 9, 1883, p. 4). The editorial lists the following tombstone inscriptions which were decipherable at that time:

The early French explorers left several reminders of their presence in Missouri, in the form of place names. Some of these felt strange on Ozark tongues and ears--Pomme de Terre (literally, earth apple--potato) was sometimes written Pommada Tarr (as it sounded); likewise, Sac (River) was often spelled "Sock". And, of course, we have Roubidoux, Marais des Cygnes, Bois d'Ar^t, etc. Those with Spanish connections enriched our language with Ponce de Leon, Avilla, Bolivar, Nevada, El Dorado. A Germanic touch is obvious in Freistatt, (New) Hamburg, Westphalia, Weingarten.
