FEARFUL SITUATION

A Man Spends A Night in the Middle of a Lake. Mink, Muskrats and Wolves for Bed Fellows.

Mr E Fuller gives us the following interesting story: On Sunday night, November 28, about 9 o'clock, Mr Raber, living on the Elkhorn, heard cries as of a man in distress. He immediately set a light in a window of his residence, so as to be able to find his house again, and started out to ascertain from whence the cries proceeded. The sounds of distress seemed to come from a lade about a mile west of his home, and thither he wended his way. It will be remembered that the night was very dark, and stormy, rain falling slowly, but urged on with the hope of aiding a fellow being in need, Mr Raber kept on till he reached the vicinity from whence he supposed the cries came, and suddenly they ceased; he yelled and shrieked at the top of his voice but could receive no response, and after wearying himself by his efforts was compelled to return home from a fruitless search.

DODGE COUNTY, NEBRASKA

CENSUS

This census contains the names and or widows of the soldiers who served in the Civil War 1861 - 1865., and were living during the time of the census. The original census was burned and this is a reconstruction of the Veteran records. It can be helpful in the knowledge they received pensions and sometimes the state from which they served.

HISTORICAL MONUMENT TO BE DEDICATED JULY 5th

On Friday, July 5, 1928, there will occur on the Jacob G Shaffer farm, about 4 miles south of Hooper, an event of historical interest to this section of the state. We refer to the unveiling that afternoon of a monument commemorative to the 69th anniversary of the assembling at that point of Omaha, Fremont and Fontanelle volunteer soldiers in the Pawnee Indian war of 1859. This monument is the last of four erected in 1928 by Dodge county to mark historical places in the county, the others having been The Lincoln-Overland Trail Monument at Ames on May 30; the Major Long Monument north of Fremont on June 7, and the Purple-Cane-California Route Monument at Purple Cane on June 8.

This monument also marks the site of the Jalapa post office, which according to U S Government date was established January 18, 1859, with Henry C Campbell as the first postmaster. The site of the monument is about a quarter mile north of the present Jalapa school house, and on the east side of the road. The land, now the property of J C Shaffer, was at that time owned by Mr Campbell who settled on it in May 1858. The post office was located in the Campbell home, which was a pretentious one for those days, it being described as a "frame house 24 x 36 in size, 1 ½ stories high, shingle roof and board floor." This house was torn down a few years ago by Mr Shaffer. The monument is erected

OLD-TIMER RECALLS EARLY EXPERIENCES IN SAUNDERS COUNTY

Irvin Benjamin Flees From Nebraska Blizzard Across Treacherous Platte.

When Irvin Benjamin first drove into Fremont from Illinois back in 1870, it was in a covered wagon drawn by a span of long-horned oxen, with a milch cow tied on behind. In the wagon with him was his young wife and their child.

As one can readily imagine, this was a far different Fremont, back there in that remote day 56 years ago, than it is today. And this was a far difference country in every respect. This was, in fact, in that day, a very vivid part of the famous "wild and wooly" of the past.

Mr Benjamin went over into Saunders County and bought an 80-acre piece of the best soil that ever laid out of doors, for less than a dollar an acre. He paid $75 for it – and that, he attests was about all the cash he had.

First Taste of Blizzard

And that fall of 1870 the Benjamin's got their first taste of a Nebraska blizzard. Only by sheer good luck Mr Benjamin is alive to tell it. For three days while the terrific storm raged, he and his young wife and babe, together with another man and wife who were living with them, existed on a half peck of potatoes and a little salt. Mr Benjamin testifies that he did not eat a bite during those three days, lest the scant supply of food might give out and his wife and baby starve.

And, when the storm broke, Mr Benjamin, as is customary with a careful farmer, hastened to his stable, which was a mere hay shed he had rigged up near his sod shanty, to make his horses (he had traded his oxen in on the land) as comfortable as possible. As he made his way to the stable he remembered that he had failed to benefit by good advice of settlers and did not have a cloths line stretched from house to stable.

He could not see his hand before his face, Mr Benjamin says. The snow froze his eyes shut. But he groped his way to the barn, made his team as safe against the storm as possible and then started to return to the house, which he thought he could reach without any trouble. But he had never been put in an old-time Nebraska blizzard before and did not know the tricks of the blinded human with reference to distance and direction. Only by a mere chance, after he had wandered about for a time, his groping hand came in contact with the walls of his sod dwelling and he got within its sheltering walls again.

So soon as the storm passed Mr Benjamin and his wife decided they had had enough of the Saunders county country, and they hastened to Fremont, where

Why Is It?

You finally find your ancestor's obituary in an old newspaper and all it says is "Died last week."

Claire loves the old obits on her family with no dates or the name of the newspaper...but those are frustrations of a family history buff!
