FORT OMAHA

One of the largest and best appointed military garrisons in the state is located on a government reservation four miles north of Omaha, in Douglas County. Officers' and soldiers' quarters are substantial and commodious, the main building cost $30,000 and the parade grounds resemble a fine park. Several companies, with band, of U. S. troops and regimental headquarters are located here, ready for duty on the frontier, to which unsurpassed railroad facilities made a ready transfer convenient. A fine road leading to the fort from the city of Omaha and the daily dress parade held, make this a favorite drive of the people in summer.

SOUTH OMAHA

A town on the UP RR in Douglas county, four miles southwest of Omaha, has a population of 600. The B & M and Missouri Pacific Railroads have tracks to this point, also the Omaha P ___ railroad. The FE & M V railway, contemplates extending its line to this point via Fremont the coming season.

The stock yards located here at present permit the handling of 10,000 head of cattle, 6,000 hogs and 3,000 sheep at one time, which will be increased one-third during the present year, and the Stock Co. will also commence the erection of two large packing houses as soon as the weather will allow, with a capacity of 1,000 hogs each day. A new brick hotel is being erected and will be opened early in the spring.
