St Paul of the Cross Roman Catholic Cemetery

—by NoLo

This cemetery is in the Town of Dayton, just over the Cattaraugus county line. On LDS microfilm # 1292994 was what seemed to be (reconstructed) burial records. On microfilm #1437514 were "notes" in the possession of the Perrysburg Town Historian, probably gathered by the late Lorraine Marvin. Here we have merged the two; information from the record is in regular type and that from the notes in italic.

This is a great site - lots and lots of interesting and unusual information - not just genealogy but mostly related to it. History etc. I love this one.

<http://homepages.rootsweb.com/~sebring/index.html>

This address will take you to a war information site. Covering WWII, Korea and Vietnam. There is a place to access those soldiers who received the Purple Heart and if anyone in your family received same - you may submit their name to this site.

This is a Civil War Interactive site and contains many pages. A trivia question of the week is featured. Check out "The Cook Book" - for some historic recipes - which appear to be pretty modern. A new recipe is added daily to those already on the site. Happy cooking and Enjoy!!

Additionally, a 1963 map entitled "Plan of the Burying Ground of the Union Cemetery at Elm Creek" was found with the following notations:

Lynn Stoughton of Elm Creek has a map which is a copy of the original map of Elm Creek Cemetery. His copy was made for him by Marion Snow of Falconer, NY, dated Oct. 7, 1950.

This (1963) map is a copy of the Lynn Stoughton map except the lots are drawn to scale according to the measurements given on the map. Lots #3 and #38 still have their original iron fences.

This map was made in Sept. 1963 as the result of the work of Kent and Clara Burroughs.

"Elm Creek Cemetery" "Union Society of Elm Creek" organized July 15, 1844 (minutes at county clerk's office, Little Valley, NY). Was a cemetery for a few years previous to 1844. Land from Calvin Hills. Became an "Abandoned cemetery" and now in 1963 is cared for by the Napoli Town Board.

This copy of the burials and the map will be donated to the County Museum.—Dawn Westfall

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Olean

The following is taken from the Oleander Review and Outlook, published in 1922:

The Episcopal Church, St. Stephen's, of Olean, was incorporated in 1830 by David Day, William W. Penfield, Horatio Orton, S. Russell and Rev. W. W. Bostwick, a missionary. In connection with these names on the early record appear also those of Ebenezer Lockwood, David Bockes, William Lowe and Nathaniel Goodspeed.

In the year 1833 a plot of land on North Barry Street was given by Frederick A. Norton, to whom Olean owed many of her earlier improvements, on the condition that a church building should be erected within five years. Accordingly, the Episcopalians went to work to complete their organization and erect their own church, which was well under way in 1836. During the building the congregation worshipped in the school house, which was blown down by a memorable tornado in 1834. After this disaster they met in an unfinished second floor room in the home of David Day--afterwards the Barse residence--located where the present beautiful home of the late Governor Higgins was constructed in more recent years.

In its early days the parish was small, but comprised earnest workers, and after tireless efforts the required amount, ($3,882.00) was raised, and, on Sept. 7th, 1839, a new church entirely free from debt was duly consecrated by Bishop DeLancy of Western New York. In 1842 a bell for the church was purchased in Troy, N. Y., being brought to Olean on a canal boat. It is related that the elevation of the bell was a great event in the village, for nearly everyone in the community took part in observing it.

In 1862 during the rectorship of Rev. G. W. Dunbar, the seating capacity was increased and eight pews added. Then in 1839 a recess chancel was added; this was during the rectorship of Rev. G. B. Seibt. From October, 1878 to November, 1882, during Rev. J. J. Andrew's rectorship, alterations were made in the church by removing the gallery, adding new pews, building an organ room, and installing a new organ.

In 1883 the Church debt was generously cancelled by Mr. G. V. Forman. The building was renovated and redecored, and in 1884 the ladies of the church purchased a site for a rectory on Clinton Street. Later it was reported that a sum of $25,000.00 had been subscribed for a new church building, and in the spring of 1885 the old church structure was removed to the Clinton Street lot previously purchased for a

Honoring Our Ancestors

Regarding her ancestors, debut novelist Karen Fisher wrote in the August 2005 issue of Book Page magazine how she had "...the ability to speak for those whose lives had been reduced to names in the backs of Bibles, a saved lock of hair, old pages lit to fire kindling." We do the same when we research the lives of our ancestors and make that information available for others. --Editor
