NORTH CAROLINA NEWSPAPER PROJECT

Newspapers from North Carolina's past can assist genealogists and local historians in providing the material needed to answer many of our questions. The North Carolina Newspaper Project has been formed to make newspapers more accessible and to preserve the information contained in them. It is initially a joint project between the State Library of North Carolina and the Duke University Library with cooperation from archives and libraries throughout the State. The North Carolina Newspaper Project consists of three phases. The first phase is to identify and locate all available issues of newspapers located in North Carolina. The second phase involves cataloging the newspapers and making that information available to an internationally accessible database. The third and final phase is to microfilm all newspapers which have not yet been filmed or were unknown before this project.

The first phase, currently underway, will take the project staff all over the State surveying public, private, university and college libraries, historical societies, genealogical societies, newspaper publishers, and any other institutions which may hold backfiles of American newspapers.

This exhaustive survey is of vital importance not only because of its usefulness to those interested in North Carolina's history, but also because newspapers published after the mid-1800's are deteriorating due to the acidity of the paper on which they are printed. Unless they are microfilmed, the information they contain will be lost forever. In order to preserve this historical record, the project needs everyone's help in locating issues of any and all American newspapers because newspapers are not just found in libraries. They may be found in attics, barns, or storage sheds.

If you wish to contact the North Carolina Newspaper Project because you have newspapers or if you would like more information, the North Carolina Newspaper Project Coordinator, Ashley for Raleigh, & upon their return here (Elizabeth City) will make their home at the Duke Inn.

Tues. 1 March 1932: Harbinger, NC. The Hezekiah Owens home place on the shore of Currituck Sound near Harbinger was destroyed by a fire which occurred between 7 & Sunday night. The fire had its origin from a defective flue, it is believed, and gained such headway that the families of Ellis & Hodge Owens, who were occupying the place, and neighbors were able to save but little of the furniture. Mrs. Hodge Owens was slightly burned when her hair caught fire in attempting to rescue some of her belongings. The loss is estimated at about $5,000 partially covered by insurance.

Nags Head, NC. Former Nags Head man runs for State office. Boone Tillett, an attorney of Charlotte, who recently announced his candidacy for nomination by the Republican party for Lt. Gov. is a native of Nags Head, where his parents Mr. & Mrs. Erb Tillett now reside. He is an alumnus of Duke University & prior to going to Charlotte about three years ago had practiced law in Durham. He has many relatives in the county including an uncle, W. C. Saunders of Wanchese. There are many Republicans in Dare and it is thought Mr. Tillett will receive strong support here.

Rev. J. C. Wicker speaks to Rotary on Concentration.

Motorcycle officer W. P. Twiford of the local Police Dept. shoot tire off rum runner's car.

Indiantown, NC. Funeral for Mrs. Fannie K. Sawyer, age 66, who died at her home Tuesday & has been in ill health for some time. Surv. by one son, Rev. D. H. Sawyer, Step-daughter Mrs. T. G. Bray of Norfolk, & sister, Mrs. Annie Tatem of Norfolk.

Mon. 7 March 1932: CURRITUCK NEGRO, LAST SURVIVOR OF MONITOR IS DEAD. Putnam, Conn. Thomas L. Taylor, 85, who was born a slave & served as "powder monkey" on the Iron Clad Monitor in its engagement with the Confederate Merrimac died today. He is believed to have been the last survivor for the Merrimac-Monitor engagement. He was born in Currituck Co., NC.

SORRY THAT NAMES & ADDRESSES OF FULL MEMBERSHIP COULD NOT BE INCLUDED IN THIS ISSUE! You will note distortions that the copy machine put in blank spaces, which is out of my control, on pages 4 & 6, & maybe other places.

NEWSLETTER: Feed back and involvement from membership has been great & I appreciate it. Members have come to rely on the newsletter for notice of meetings which are held on the 2nd Tuesday in the months of January, April, July & October. Since April 1986 Jean Spencer, who has membership list on her computer, has done the addressing and mailing of them to you. In 1986 Jo Anna Bates was able to run off the copies and in 1987 I have made the copies at the library after working hours, and Jean has still mailed them to you. I thank you for each note of encouragement I have received and that has enabled me to meet the task of another deadline against all odds. When another member takes on this position, I hope that you will keep up the encouragement and involvement.
