Gravestone Art: A Language Of Symbols

Ever wonder why the carvings on so many old gravestones feature the same images time after time?

It's because they're part of a symbolic language that was used by gravestone artists to comment on those interred below.

Here are a few of the many motifs from early American gravestones and the commonly held interpretations of their symbolic meanings, as provided by the North Carolina Division of Archives and History:

Angel: Flying: Rebirth;

Trumpeting: Call to the Resurrection;

Weeping: Grief

Arch: Victory of life;

or victory in death

Arrow: Mortality

Bird: Eternal life

In flight: Flight of the soul

Breasts: (also gourds, pomegranates):

The church, the ministry, the nourishment of the soul

Candle Flame: Life

Columns, Doors: Heavenly entrance

Crown: Glory of life after death

Dove: Purity, devotion

Figs, Pineapples, Other Fruits:

Prosperity, eternal life

Flower: Frailty of life

Severed blossom: Mortality

Garland: Victory

Hand Pointing: Heavenly reward

Heart: Love, mortality, love of God, abode of the soul

Hourglass: Time's inevitable passing

Lamb: Innocence

Pall: (cloth covering coffin)

Pick, Spade: Mortality

Rooster: Awakening,

The Resurrection

Scythe: Death, the divine harvest

Shell: The Resurrection and life everlasting. Life's pilgrimage

Skull, Crossbones, Skeleton:

Mortality

Sun Setting: Death

Sun shining and sun rising: renewed life

Thistle: Of Scottish descent

Tree: Life

Severed branch: Mortality

Tree sprouting:

Life everlasting

Vine: The sacraments

Weeping Willow Tree:

Nature's lament

Winged Face: Effigy of the soul of the deceased;

the soul in flight

Winged Skull: Flight of the soul

from mortal man

Wreath: Victory.

Wreath worn by a skull: Victory of death

over life

Wheat Sheaves:

The divine

harvest

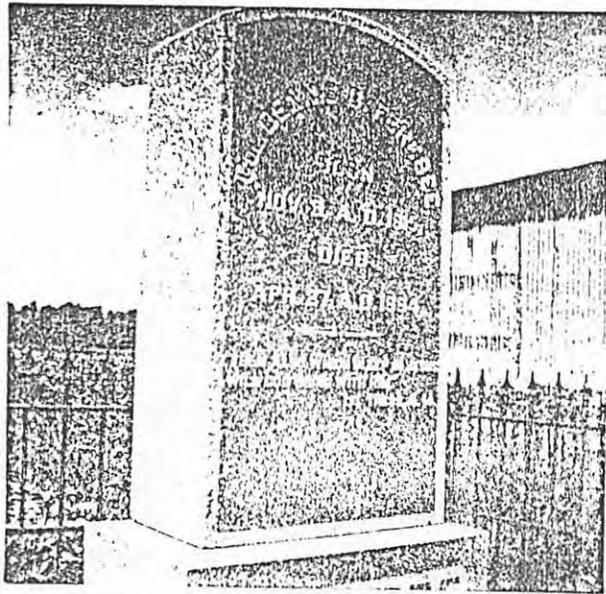

These cemetaries were researched and recorded over a period of 20 years or more. Some of them have no markers; they are only remembered in the memory of a few old people. Their dates and other data were obtained from different sources: i.e. family Bibles, censuses, genealogical books, and other written material. If there are any mistakes, we stand corrected.

These cemetaries are located in sort of a triangle, extending from McPherson Road down Hiway 17 South to Keeter Barn Road. (Where McPherson Rd. intersects with Culpepper Rd. the road name changes to Sharon Church Rd.) These two roads, Sharon Church Rd. and Keeter Barn Rd. come to a point at Lilly Rd; then thence down Lilly Rd. to Tar Corner and Old Swamp Road.
