THE FATE OF THE STEAM PACKET MOSELLE

by J. R. Abell

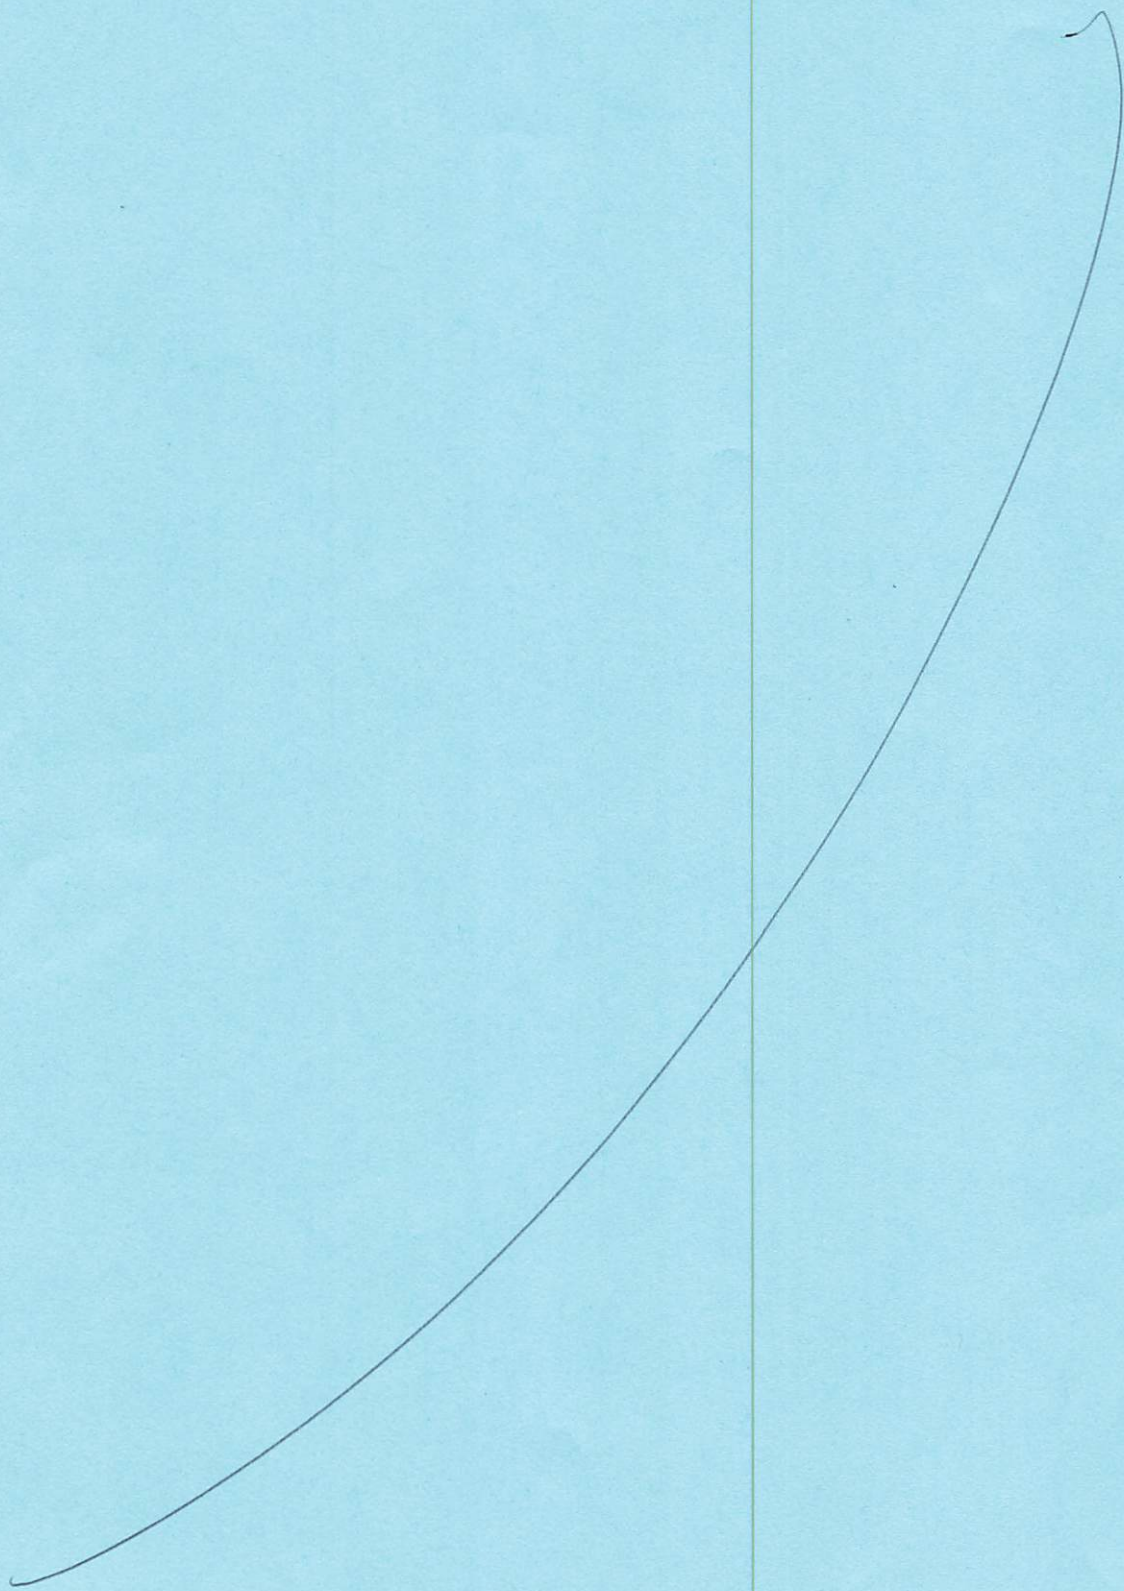

The advent and development of steam navigation on America's inland rivers during the first quarter of the nineteenth century had far reaching ramifications. The commerce and population movement made possible by relatively fast river transit cause rapid population increases in the old Northwest Territory, the assimilation of the Louisiana Purchase into the U.S. national system far sooner than would have been expected, and the growth of Cincinnati into one of the largest cities in the nation.

Steam navigation also had an unforeseen development; explosions became common. Safety features were not developed as rapidly as the power in boilers increased. On 25 April 1838, the steam packet Moselle exploded just as she was landing at Cincinnati. All four boilers burst at once. Fragments of the boilers and of human bodies were blown as far as the Kentucky shore, a quarter of a mile away. Passenger manifests were not maintained in river traffic so the exact numbers of passengers on board is not known. At the time it was estimated that there were two hundred and eighty people on board. Of these, eighty were known to have been killed, fifty-five missing, and thirteen badly wounded.

The day after this horrendous event a public meeting was called in Cincinnati and a resolution was passed deprecating "the great and increasing carelessness in the navigation of steam vessels." Congress was urged to consider this subject and did pass laws regulating and licensing pilots, steam boiler engineers, etc.

If you have an ancestor for whom no death record or burial place can be found, you might consider the possibility that this particular ancestor was blown to bits by a steam boiler explosion on a river packet, the railroad, or the stationary steam engines used at mills and factories. On 3 May 1838, the Cincinnati Daily Gazette had a report of interments from the accident made by the Trustees of Cincinnati Township during the week ending 2 May 1838. Obviously, there were many other burials made, some of them probably outside the city. The interments are listed below:

DEATH RECORDS
from Crosby Township
Hamilton County, Ohio 1717-1911

This list of death records was started by Almina E. Wakefield in January 1899 before her marriage to James R. McClure on 29 March of that year. She continued the list until her death 14 May 1948. Born 7 October 1874, she lived her entire life in the New Haven area of Crosby Township, Hamilton County, Ohio. The records are mostly of her family and neighbors and some from the towns of Harrison, Miamitown, New Baltimore, Venice, Shandon and Okeana. Her youngest son, Russell McClure (16 Apr 1911-23 Feb 1982) continued the records assisted by his brother, Stanley, born 10 July 1905. Stanley W. McClure, 9563 Baughman Rd, Harrison, OH 45030 has the original records and used multiple family records/histories for the earlier dates.

The family was active members of the New Haven United Brethren Church (now Crosby Methodist Church) and James R. McClure served as Superintendent of the Sunday School from 1909 to 1931.

BIRTH RECORDS

(This continuing list begins in Vol. 14, No.1)

This list of birth records was started by Almira E. Wakefield in January 1899 before her marriage to James R. McClure on 29 March of that year. She continued the list until her death 14 May 1948, born 7 October 1874. She lived her entire life in the New Haven area of Crosby Township, Hamilton County, Ohio. The records are mostly of her family and neighbors and some from the towns of Harrison, Miamitown, New Baltimore, Venice, Shandon and Okeana. Her youngest son, Russell McClure (16 Apr 1911-23 Feb 1982) continued the records assisted by his brother, Stanley, born 10 July 1905. Stanley W. McClure, 9563 Baughman Rd, Harrison, OH 45030 has the original records and used multiple family records/histories for the earlier dates.

The family was active members of the New Haven United Brethren Church (now Crosby Methodist Church) and James R. McClure served as Superintendent of the Sunday School from 1909 to 1931.

FIRST GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH DEATH REGISTER

The records of the First German Evangelical Church, a.k.a. Freeman Avenue Church of Christ have recently been micrographed and will eventually be available from the Genealogical Society of Utah. The church is one of the earliest Cincinnati German protestant institutions and was founded in 1845. Records exist from the year 1851. A marriage index of all First German records has been composed by Robert William Rudig of the Ohio Pioneer Project. The microfilming of records was completed by Jim Dempsey a volunteer with the Genealogical Society of Utah.

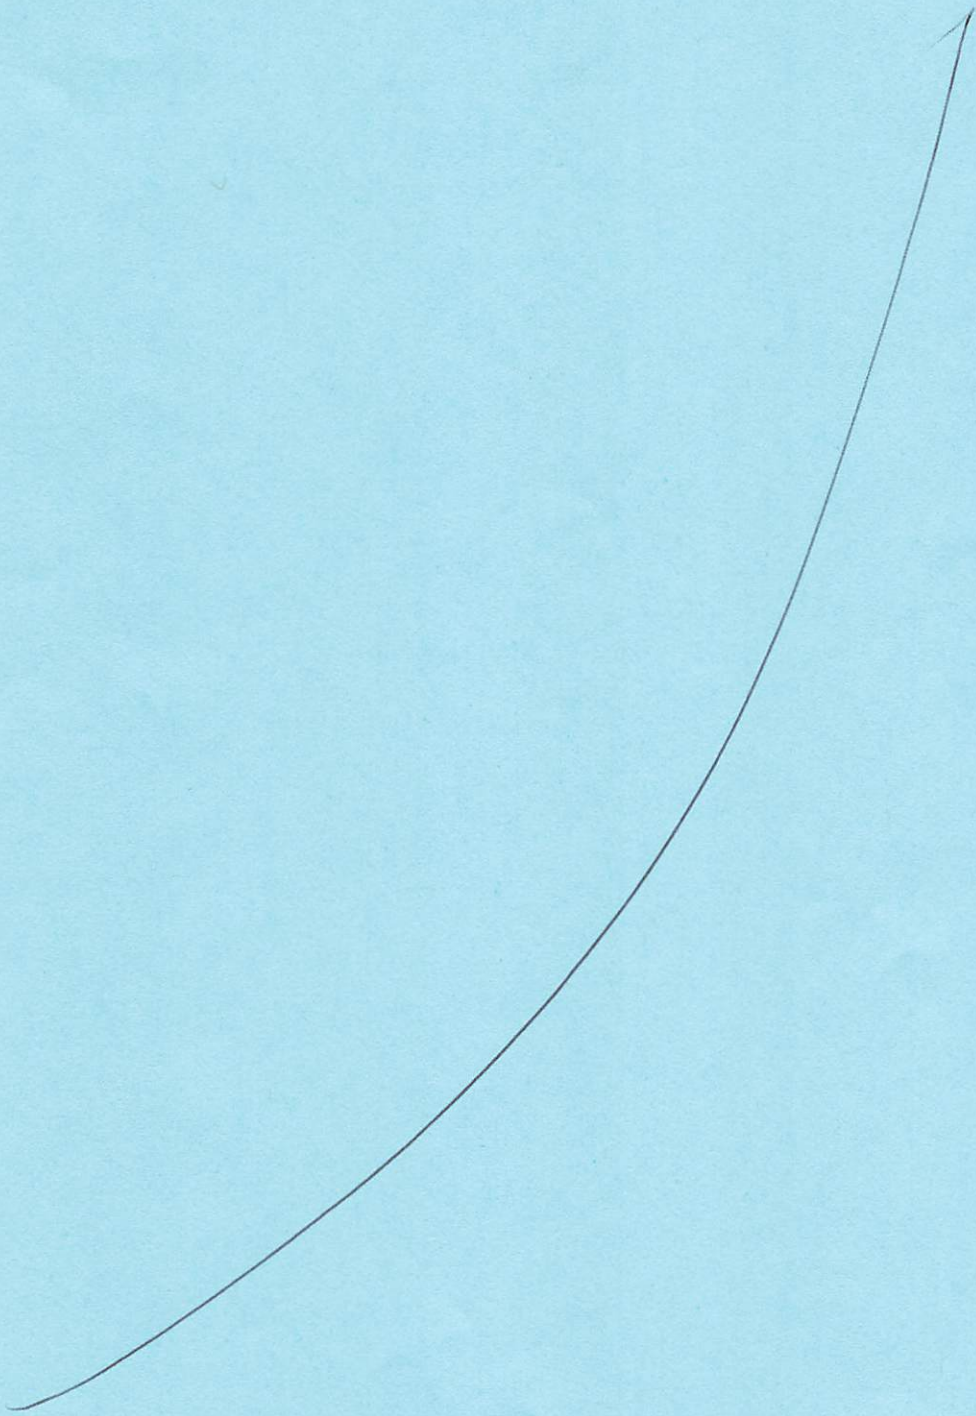

Below is a sample of the First German Church death register.

Recently the Ohio Pioneer Project donated a set of will and probate records (on microfiche) from Pike County, Ohio to the Hamilton County Chapter, OGS. These probate records were microfilmed by R. W. Rudig and are previously unavailable documents. The chapter will donate said records to a local repository so that they may be available to researchers.

Hamilton County Naturalization and Marriage Records

Over the years, genealogy researchers have often been told that few Hamilton County records prior to 1884 still exist because of the courthouse's destruction by fire in that year. However, more materials and documents are being discovered little by little, records of inestimable value for family research.

The Archives and Rare Books Department at the University of Cincinnati gathers local government records for preservation and research under the auspices of the Local Government Records Program administered by the Ohio Historical Society. This collection, termed by the Department as the Ohio Network Collection, includes the eight southwestern Ohio counties of Adams, Brown, Butler, Clermont, Clinton, Hamilton, Highland, Warren and their municipalities.

The documents housed in the Department range from probate books and wills to County Commission minutes and tax lists. These government records serve the research needs of local government employees, historians, social scientists, and genealogists.

In 1978 a large collection of documents labeled "Miscellaneous Records - Probate Court, Hamilton County" was brought to the Archives. Included in this collection were naturalization papers (approximately 1200), declarations of intent, marriage records (over 500), and a few estate records and ministers' licenses. These records are termed "restored" records because after the 1884 courthouse fire, Hamilton County citizens were informed they could re-file important documents such as marriage licenses, declarations of intent for citizenship, and naturalization records. The records were, in effect, "restored."

For many reasons - death, migration, apathy, etc. - most people did not re-file and so these sets of records are by no means complete. Because the number is limited, researchers should also contact the Hamilton County Probate Court in Cincinnati to inquire about any possible records which may be housed there. In 1986, the Department brought in additional naturalization records and declarations of intent from Hamilton County. These records, like the restored records, have been microfilmed. Both microfilm and hard copy are located in the Archives, and a duplicate set of microfilm is deposited with the Probate Court. It is hoped by Archives staff that a future database comprehensive index of naturalizations and declarations can be compiled.

The restored naturalizations and marriage records are indexed here, as are the handful of estate records and ministers' licenses. Collectively, the materials are given the accession number ON-78-1.

As the naturalization index shows, the arrival dates for most individuals range from the 1840s to the 1880s. The files are arranged alphabetically and contain affidavits from family members and friends attesting that the information the applicant provided was correct.

The marriages are indexed by groom. The individual files contain affidavits from ministers and acquaintances, usually giving the exact date and church of the marriage. The name of the "restorer" is also given, and in several cases, this was a son or daughter restoring the parents' marriage record.

A card index of the more than 10,000 declarations of intent in ON-78-1 is available in the Archives and Rare Books Department. The naturalization records were indexed by Mr. Barry Dop and the declarations card index in the Department was compiled by Mr. Steven Perkins.

These restored records provide researchers interested in Hamilton County, Ohio with new sources for study and family record-keeping. The Local Government Records Program seeks to preserve and make available historical public documents. A project is currently underway by Archives staff and local genealogy volunteers to index more than 50,000 Hamilton County wills between 1791 and 1901 which were added to the Ohio Network Collection. Membership Records of Deutsche Pionier Verein

by Kenny Burck and Deb Cyprych

The following list contains the names, birthdates, birthplaces, arrival ports, arrival dates, and residences of 222 men who became members of the Deutsche Pionier Verein from Mar 1886 to 7 May 1896, along with the corresponding page number in the membership book. The citation for this article is "Deutsche Pionier Verein Records," Mss fD486, vol. 1, pp. 136-152, Cincinnati Historical Society Library, Cincinnati Museum Center. Each entry also includes the membership date, the port and date of departure, and date of arrival in Cincinnati. This series began in the Sep 2001 issue, which has more information about the Deutsche Pionier Verein.

The names have been verified by comparison with the lists of new members in monthly issues of Der Deutsche Pionier, which until 1887 also contained birthplaces. Check all possible spelling variations. The names of birthplaces are transcribed here as found in the record or Deutsche Pionier list, compared with Meyers Orts- und Verkehrs-Lexikon, the Place Name Indexes series by Roger P. Minert, or a modern atlas. Those marked with ? were not found in either of the latter sources. Names in parentheses are possible alternatives. "Resides" refers to Ohio towns and counties unless otherwise stated. Addresses are for Cincinnati.

Ohio Death Certificates 1908 to 1926 Now Available

The Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County has purchased 952 microfilm rolls taken from Ohio Department of Health death records covering the time period from 1908 to 1944. As of January 2004, about half of the rolls have been processed, covering 1908 to 1926. Additional films for later years will be added week by week.

The certificates on microfilm are in chronological order by year, but not necessarily in chronological order by date. The main order is by certificate number. To obtain the certificate number, refer to the microform indexes also available at the Public Library. For the years 1913-1937, you may also search the Ohio Death Certificate Index maintained by the Ohio Historical Society online at www.ohiohistory.org/dindex/results.cfm.

To find the death certificate roll you need, refer to the History and Genealogy Department's microfilm collection binder. First locate the death year, then determine which roll includes the certificate number needed.

Requests for this microfilm should be completed on Materials Request Forms and submitted to the History and Genealogy Department's Reference Desk.

FIRST GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH OF CINCINNATI, OHIO

MARRIAGES OF THE FIRST GERMAN EVANGELICAL CHURCH

The records of the First German Evangelical Church have previously been unavailable to genealogical researchers and local historians. This early German church was founded in 1845 and contains marriage, baptismal, death and confirmation records from 1851. Robert Rudig is in the process of abstracting all marriage records from the church books and placing them in digital database format. Mr. Jim Dempsey, a volunteer with the Genealogical Society of Utah, has recently microfilmed the record books of this important source. The original 35 mm silver master will be stored in the archives of the G. S. U. and eventually diazo and vesicular copies will become available through the Family History Center microfilm lending system.

Published histories of this early German genealogical source are available in the library of the Cincinnati Historical Society. The original record books are currently archived in the offices of Salem United Church of Christ at Sycamore and Liberty Streets in the Over the Rhine area.

In recent years the First German Evangelical Church has become known as the Freeman Avenue United Church of Christ. Vandalism, fire and various other factors have caused the church community to relocate in Kentucky.

The researcher will observe that some of the member families in this church were drawn from St. John's, now St. John's Unitarian, from North German Lutheran, now Third Protestant Memorial and from St. Peter's Evangelical and St Paul's Evangelical churches. The First German Evangelical records therefore will prove valuable in completing many Cincinnati area German Protestant genealogies.

Until we have indexes that include the left-out deed books, we will at least know our odds of success using these old By-Surname Deed Index Books. How about the by-location "series" indexes? They appear to be complete.

The microfilms of Deed Books and By-Surname Deed Index Books (1794-1920) in the Cincinnati Historical Society Library were used for this study. I volunteer at the Historical Society and I was trying to develop a better understanding of that collection for myself and the staff. The findings reported above were big surprises.

Special thanks to the Recorder, Eve Bolton, and her Chief Supervisor, David Pittinger, who welcomed the findings and worked to verify the conclusions.
