Christ, Congregational
Chatham Township,
Medina County, Ohio

ORANGE COUNTY CALIFORNIA
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

PREFACE

The Chatham United Church of Christ, Congregational, of Chatham Township, Medina County, Ohio was organized May 1, 1834, under the union plan, and joined the Presbytery as the Chatham Congregational Church. For the first decade, the members met in a log school house, a mile and a half south Chatham Center.

In 1843, a schism occurred in the membership, with about half the members forming the Second Congregational Church of Chatham. The division seems to have been rooted in the Abolition movements of the period. While the original group espoused the Presbyterian plan, the Second Church advocated the Oberlin plan. After about 15 years, the division was healed (or died out), and the congregation was reunited.

During this period of schism, both groups built church edifices. The First Church built the present church building; it was dedicated in 1844 and has been used for worship since then. The Church remained with the Cleveland Presbytery until it withdrew to unite with the Medina Association in 1873.

The membership reached a peak in the latter part of the 1800's. By the mid 1900's, the membership had decreased to the point that the Chatham Church entered into an agreement with the Litchfield United Church of Christ to share a full time minister. A similar agreement existed between the Chatham and Lafayette United Methodist Churches. In 1966, a realignment within the Methodist Conference resulted in the Chatham United Methodist Church joining the existing Chatham-Litchfield Shared Ministry.

Now, the Litchfield Church has chosen to stand alone, while the two Chatham Churches are in the process of federating to form a Chatham Community Church.

The basic information herein is taken from the Church records. However, additional information on family relationships and death/burial was added from other sources. The various published histories of Medina County were used along with Chatham Township Cemetery records. Some data was also derived from personal knowledge of authors and from various sources such as obituary notices or family Bibles.

Several abbreviations and/or special notations are used in the listing. The following list should serve to alleviate any confusion.

- * When the maiden name of a female member is known, it is given and enclosed in parenthesis. The maiden name was not always given in the church records; it is often added based on other sources.
- * When another member is referenced, the year of joining the Church is given in parenthesis. When obvious, the referenced member's surname is omitted.
- * Parenthesis are also used to enclose other additional information.
- * When a female member married, or re-married, after joining the church, the symbol / is used to separate the married name which is appended. These appended names are not a part of the original church records.
