DEATH OF MRS. BROBST

On New Years morning (1907) Mrs. Reuben BROBST died at her home in Brimfield her 87th year. Her father Nathan PACKARD came to Brimfield in 1817, the year after the first permanent settlement was made by John BOOSINGER.

Ora (Packard) BROBST was born May 6, 1819, and at the time of her death, was the oldest Brimfield citizen in the township. In 1848 she and Reuben BROBST were married. He died December 20, 1886. She was the mother of four children, and is survived by two, Electa (Mrs. Henry EWELL) and E. D. BROBST, both of Brimfield.

Possessed of strong and unwavering determination, she was a true pioneer and her departure leaves a large vacancy in the rank of early Brimfield citizens. Funeral services were held on Friday at the home.

CELEBRATES 80TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Rosella HERR was eighty years old last Friday, November 24th (1905) and in honor of her anniversary, her daughter, Mrs. J. H. OAKLEY, of Ravenna, her sisters L.A. LEONARD, Ravenna, Mrs. W.W. PATTON and daughter, Miss Emma PATTON of Kent and Mrs. George H. MILLER of Garrettsville and Geo. ROBINSON, and wife of Ravenna, the latter a grand-daughter, surprised her at her home, corner of Walnut and Spruce Streets, each bringing a remembrance. A daughter Mrs. Irene R. SEYMOUR, now in London, England with her son Frederick SEYMOUR and her daughter, Mrs. C.L. STOUGH of St. Louis, also sent her remembrances. A singularly beautiful feature of the evening was a presentation, of eighty carnations to Mrs. HERR - one for each year of her life. Mrs. HERR came to Ravenna from Shalersville in 1861 and has lived here ever since.

Mrs. Rosella HERR died the following month after her birthday, December 27th 1905. (Ravenna-Republican Nov. 30, 1905)

(Ravenna-Republican Nov.30, 1905).

The first rose introduced to Aurora by Mrs. Samuel BALDWIN, (Hannah NORTHROP) was handed to her as a sprout in Cleveland as she mounted her horse to ride home. At home she stuck it into the earth and it grew and bore the finest of double pink roses. She died in 1822! The rose continued to bloom and several generations of the BALDWINS enjoyed the beauty of this double pink rose.

EDINBURG A TOWN LIKE
GRAND PRE OF OLD

The history of Edinburg has honorable place in the great book on settlements of Ohio. It is another story of New England transplanted in a soil, that has preserved and nurtured its virtues and best tradition. Its landscape is much of it picturesque -- in some section of a semi-rugged character. From Highland hill, four miles from Ravenna is a beautiful view of this section. The early settlers came, built school house, town hall and church. This township furnished 49 union soldiers for the war of 1861.

Eber ABBOTT of Tolland, county, Conn. came in the spring of 1811 and settled in the southwest section the township. He built a cabin but was crippled for life by a falling tree. He subsequently moved to Ravenna, and died in Michigan. Lemual CHAPMAN, Jr., brother-in-law of ABBOTT, came soon after ABBOTT and cleared and built a cabin. He married three times, and was the father of fifteen children, eleven of whom were living at his death.

A Mr. HOWARD who settled at Silver Oaks, arrived in 1815 but later exchanged his land for a section near Sandusky, owned by a James STOOPS who came here, and still further improved the Howard settlement. STOOPS, a native of Penn., was carried into captivity by the Indians when a child, who held him and his parents for several years before they were released.

Alanson and Justin EDDY came in 1815 from Williamstown, Mass. making the entire journey with their families in sleighs. Justin broke the first ground and made the first clearing on the farm so long known as "Highland Home" and owned by the late Theodore CLARK.

In 1816 the population grew by the arrival of families Henry BOTSFORD, Amasa CANFIELD, Capt. TROWBRIDGE, Edmund and Elizur BOSTWICK, Cyrenus RUGGLES, Rial McARTHUR and his father-in-law Mr. COWELL, forty-two persons in all.

Richard M. HART, nephew of General William HART, the original proprietor of Edinburg, went to live with his uncle at the age of six years, who took liking for his nephew and gave him the entire northeast corner of the township. In May 1817 he came west to look at his possessions and was so enamored of the Portage county that he went back to Conn., married his sweetheart & returned to Edinburg, settling at Silver Creek, clearing eight acres of land, and sowed wheat. At the organization of the township, he was the first to be treasurer, one of the justices of peace and one of the supervisors. Aduah H. BOSTWICK came in 1819 from New Milford, Conn.

First election held April 19, 1819. The township was first called Eddysburg, as Levius EDDY purchased the first land in the township although, he did not come into possession of it, coupled with the fact the two other EDDYS, were prominent settlers. From Eddysburg to Edinburg was an easy transition.

Edinburg and neighboring twps. organized the biggest hunt ever, called "The Army Hunt of 1819". The game comprized 103 deer, 21 bears, 18 wolves and 500 turkeys.

First birth was a daughter to Lemuel CHAPMAN, Jr. born July 23, 1815, and next was Richard, son of Amasa CANFIELD, Apr. 24, 1818. Third birth was a son, Asa H., to Harry BOTSFORD, October 18, 1818. First death was that of Mary J. EDDY age 4 years, daughter of Alanson & Rachel EDDY August 4, 1819. Second death, was Mrs. Nancy BOSTWICK, wife of Elizur BOSTWICK, July 1820.

First marriage was Greenbury KEENE and Betsey HITCHCOCK February 1817 by Rev. Caleb PITKIN at the home of Alanson EDDY with whom the young lady, had come to Ohio.

LONGFELLOW, speaking of inhabitants of Grand Pre states that none was rich, none was poor, that the poorest had plenty and that the richest did not have great abundance. This might be said of Edinburg.

ALBERT RUSSELL

While Albert RUSSELL of Ravenna was on a trip East some time ago, he met one Thomas B. MEADER aboard a steamer plying between Woods Hollan Nantucket. The two gentlemen struck up an acquaintance and found that they were related by family ties. Mr. MEADER went to California in 1846, where he made much money in the mines and had just returned. He had many questions to ask, about his relatives in Ohio. Soon after this, he went to Cape Cod, where he lived for a short time. While on a visit to Nantucket recently, the old gentleman died. An examination of his papers brought out the fact that he had bequeathed his entire fortune to nephews and nieces, some of whom he had never seen. This, was a surprise to all concerned as he had a sister living. The daughters of Mrs. Ann Maria MEADER, of this city (Ravenna); Mrs. W. J. BINGHAM of Ravenna and Mrs. Ella SPELLMAN of Cleveland will come in for a part of the money. The fortune is estimated at $14,000.

UNUSUAL MARRIAGE

In Ravenna by Rev. W.F. DAY, Mr., T.W. CANNING of Wisconsin to a Miss Nellie JONES of Ravenna, January 21, 1889. With this romance is connected -- a neat bit of romance: When a Wisconsin Regiment in the summer of 1861 was passing, on the cars through Ravenna, they stopped a few minutes for refreshments and did received the kind attention of a large number of our citizens. Our Miss Nellie was present and presented to a bold soldier boy an entire stranger, a boquet on which was inscribed her name. This so impressed the soldier-boy. A correspondence was opened and behold, the happy results!

DEATH OF WILLIAMSON CARTERMurder Suspected

There is a great deal of excitement in the south western part of this county caused by the authorities deciding upon the arrest of of the Rev. Mr. POTTER of Limaville, Stark Co. and a United Brethren preacher, who is charged, with the murder of Williamson CARTER, his wife's uncle near Atwater Station about three weeks ago.

Rev. POTTER had not lived with his family and while he was at conference recently his wife left him and her uncle, the man murdered, helped to move her to Alliance, Ohio. Shortly after Potter got back from Conference he was able to persuade his wife to take up with him again and the family made ready, to emigrate to Kansas. She left about four weeks ago, he remaining to settle up some business. A week after, Williamson CARTER was found dead, near Atwater Station.

Mr. CARTER had started to walk home from Alliance on the railroad track. The affair had been kept a secret up to within a short time to allow authorities to work up the case. Suspicion fell upon POTTER, in consequence, of the many threats that he made, about the time that his wife had left him. Subsequent developments showed that POTTER was in "that vicinity", about the time, that the murder took place, and the hat, which an Alliance merchant says, he sold to POTTER, was found near the murdered man.

Another thing against him is that he disappeared immediately, after the murder. He had followed his wife to Kansas where he was followed by the authorities of Stark Co., was immediately arrested, and brought back for trial.

It has been expressed that POTTER will not be able to avoid eviction, within Portage or Stark Counties, and in fact, all over the Western Reserve.

The whole population has been aroused. They feel that if POTTER is arrested he will not be able to avoid eviction with-in any of the adjoining counties.

Williamson CARTER was struck with a heavy wrench that crushed his skull, and he must have died instantly.

BACKED OVER EMBANKMENT

James DeLEONE, wife and 10y old daughter Lora, had an experience with a very balky horse on a Monday afternoon that soon would not be forgotten. They had to travel the steep Hannah Hill road to get home. About midway to the top of the hill had been reduced by cuts and fills and the horses suddenly balked & commenced backing them over the high and steep embankment. They were unable to stop the horses and soon all were rolling to the bottom of the fill. Mr. Deleone and his little daughter were pinioned fast under the horse which fortunately for them, fell in such a manner as to be unable to kick or even to struggle. Mrs. DeLeone was able to call for help and was fortunate, to be heard. Herbert WRIGHT and Clarence DOOLITTLE hastened to the assistance of Mr. DeLEON and his daughter, cutting the traces and releasing them, from their position. They were brought to their home where their injuries were examined. The little girl's face was badly bruised and cut by the feet of the horse, & at first feared that she was seriously injured. Mr. DeLEONE was hurt in the left side and received some slight cuts on his head and Mrs. DeLEONE had her back severely wrenched. They are not dangerously hurt however. Their carriage however, was demolished and the horse lamed.

Mrs. LOUISA HAMLIN

Mrs. HAMLIN, mother of Mrs. Edward MATTHEWS, who was buried in Ravenna cemetery in early, September, was a woman of marked ability. Rising to superior, from disadvantage of birth among the lowly and prohibited from book learning etc. by the law of the State she only learned to read by being taught by her children in Ohio. She made the Bible her study and was a distinguished exhorter among the Wesleyan Methodists. She was licensed to preach, while living, in Canada and traveled on horseback around the circuit.

Louisa HAMLIN returned to Salem, Ohio and was the stated preacher, for just one church for some time. She was afterwards employed by the United Brethren to build up churches that were scattered abroad like sheep without any shepherd. Her last labor as a minister of the gospel was at Clayton, Mich. where she preached acceptably to congregations of white people for eighteen months and then obliged for her rest from her labors, last October she traveled, to a daughter living in Hudson, Michigan where she lingered until, August 29th, which was the 62nd anniversary of her birth, when she died.

Mrs. HAMLIN was born of free parents in Halifax county, North Carolina. She lived with her grandmother and when twelve years old, they joined a party of one hundred and thirty colored emigrants going to Ohio. A large planter, who owned five hundred slaves got each a pass through the States to the Ohio River and sent his most trusted slave, Joe WILKES and a son Henry WILKES, aged about twenty years old, with two wagons and nine horses, to carry their provisions. Each one paid the planter ten dollars and they followed the wagons on foot, Joe WILKES having crossed into Ohio with his old master, four times before with the same saddle horses as leaders of the train and young WILKS, drove the wagons.

Many of the emigrants, upon arriving in Ohio settled in Columbiana Co. while others came into Portage county because it had been the location, and burial site of their beloved leader---Louisa HAMLIN.

ORANGE COUNTY CALIFORNIA
GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

HARMAN D. HUTSON

H.D. HUTSON was born in Paris, this county, August 4, 1827, son of Lazarus & Minerva (Laughlin) HUTSON. Shortly after the death of his mother, he went to learn the harness-makers trade, but this being too confining, in March, 1847 he went to Pittsburg and worked on a flatboat that was bound to New Orleans. In 1852 he became pilot and continued to follow the business until 1855 when in this year he took a trip to California by way of the Isthmus. He remained, in California, for some eighteen months, most of which time he worked in the mines. He then returned to his former occupation of piloting, which had many dangers and narrow escapes. At one time he was blown into the river, by the bursting of a steam-pipe on the "Buckeye State" and swam ashore. He was the only one saved of a number who were also blown into the river.

In the War of the Rebellion he served under Commodore FOOTE in the Mississippi squadron and performed duties as Captain of the tugboat "Restless". He was soon put in charge of repairing the ship "Swallow." This vessel was lost in August of 1862, while Mr. HUTSON was sick in the hospital. With improving health he was ordered to the United States steamer, "W. H. BROWN", a Government dispatch boat.

On September 18, 1862, he married Charlotte C. VAUGHN, of Illinois, formerly of Mahoning County. By this marriage one son was born. In April 1863, he resigned his commission to take charge of the "Hammit", then in the service, & of which he was part owner. FREEDOM TOWNSHIP

Freedom was the last Township in Portage County to be formed, and was formed from Hiram in 1825. Reason for this was, the central part was all swamp, and hunters from adjoining townships reported it would never be suitable for any farming. To illustrate its wildness, in the winter of 1824, an early settler Enos WADSWORTH left his horse on a Saturday morning saying that he would return before night with a deer. He did not return and on the following Friday he was found by a searching party, face down in the swamp at the Center dead from exposure and hunger.

The first settler was Charles PAINE, son of General PAINE for whom, this village was named. He came in 1818, a large family named JOHNSON in 1822, three families in 1823 and increasing numbers arrived each year following.

The first census taken in 1830, states that 342 people were living in Freedom. Most of the new settlers came from Eastern States, some driving, overland in ox carts and wagons, some voyaging down the Lakes to Cleveland, and coming in wagons or in some cases walking from there.

Mrs. PAINE, a staunch Abolitionist, names the Township Liberty but, when she learned another township had that name, she changed it to Freedom. Their residence was on the road North from Drakesburg to Hiram town-line road, later called Polson Road. The North road was once called Vermont Street, as many of the people from Vermont settled on it.

Paul LARCOM, an early settler of Freedom, compiled a valuable History of the early Freedom days. He speaks of attending Singing School at the "log church" when the wolves howled and made so much noise that the singers, had to wait, for them to quiet down before completing their lessons, and the boys, carried torches to scare them away.

At that time the area bounded in deer, bears, wolves and rattlesnakes and it was not possible to keep hogs as the bears would catch them. One winter, the people in the area held a great hunt by forming a large circle, and working inward, until all animals were killed in the center of the circle. This was done to rid the people of the danger and annoyance from the wild animals.

One early church member, Mrs. Charles DUDLEY, who lived in northwest part of town, rode an ox to church. Twice her Sunday dress was torn and ruined by the briars and brush and she finally issued an ultimatum, that a road had to be built if she continued to attend church.

In 1829 Orsamus DRAKE and his wife came from Granville, Mass., and soon came his father, Enos DRAKE, and wife also arrived. Mr. DRAKE purchased 1200 acres of wild land in and around Drakesburg, extending as far as Freedom Center in one direction. This was one-fourth of the area of the Township. It is said, that Mr. DRAKE had considered buying land in Ravenna but decided that Drakesburg area was a more favorable location for the growth of the town.

The DRAKE'S built five frame houses, a store and a large tavern, and Drakesburg was named for them.

The Tavern built in 1836, operated by Mr. DRAKE was on the Stage Coach Route between Warren & Cleveland and catered to both Stage Coach and private trade and often 20 horses belonging to travelers were stabled in the barn, at one time. The tavern, called Freedom House, still stands at Drakesburg and today is the home of Arthur MAUR.

Two large porches were removed and a wing moved across the road & converted into a dwelling many years ago.

Several of the old buildings are still standing today.

MURDER IN MOGADORE

On Monday, November 26, 1866 a young man named Wilson S. ROOF entered the house of Wm. A. MUSSON at Mogadore, Suffield Twp. and shot to death, his wife, Mrs. Harriet MUSSON while she was engaged in her daily labors. The murderer fled and a reward of $550 was offered for his arrest, which was effected on Thanksgiving morning, Nov. 29, in Stark County about one and a half miles from Lima Station, on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh R.R. He was captured by James ROATH a farmer of that vicinity to whom he confessed he murdered Mrs. MUSSON. ROTH and William WILES took the prisoner in a buggy to Lima Station, thence by train to Ravenna and delivered him to the local Sheriff. A week later the prisoner pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder.

Soon after, the case took a new turn. Suspicion centered on a Milton MOORE who was a wealthy married man of Mogadore, doing business in Akron, as an accomplice in the murder of Mrs. MUSSON. In March, 1867, he was indicted, for prompting and procuring ROOF to commit the deed.

It was rumored around Mogadore that MOORE was a trifle too intimate, with ROOF's sister, Hattie and the scandal soon became "common gossip". During the absence of Mrs. MOORE from home, Mrs. MUSSON, who was her cousin, had written her a note regarding the talk that was going around and upon Mrs. MOORE's return she parted temporarily from her husband. This, lead up, to the commission of the tragedy. MOORE gave bail in $50,000 security and the case came to trial May 27, 1867. The trial lasted five days, and though ROOF swore to MOORE's connection with the crime, the latter was acquitted on May 31st. The following day ROOF pleaded guilty to murder, in the second degree and was sent to the penitentiary for life.

He rode from Atwater Station to Deerfield Station, a distance of almost eight miles, and the time - a little less than seven minutes. He was on his way to the scene of the tragedy of Mrs. Anna COLE who was cremated, when lightening struck her home at Diamond, causing it to burn. FREEDOM TOWNSHIP

Mrs. Sarah Ann HARMON came to Freedom with her mother from Oneida Co., New York to visit a friend in 1827 and was asked to teach the "Limeridge School" and in a letter to her mother she tells of the different homes as she visited around. December 1, 1838 is the date of a bill-of-goods (yellow with age) which reads: knives, forks, spoons, teacups, sausers, snuffers and tray, and wedding dress. Then came to the old home, a bride, Mrs. Merritt HARMON.

In 1825 came Mrs. Pardon SHERMON, then Esther REMINGTON. They had two girls, Harriet and Minerva. Harriet was very fond of greens so she went to get some and taking her little sister with her, they found them but couldn't find the way home. Too tired to go further, Harriet could hear the bell ringing, and shouts but little Minerva was fast asleep in a hollow log, with her bright tin pail beside her. As the sun came up in the morning they were found with fresh bear tracks all around them. It seems bears are afraid of shining tin. Thus they were saved and carried home their greens. Mrs. John PORTER "little Anna WILLIAMS" tells the story.

Harriett married George Williams and Minerva became Mrs. Alpheus BROWN, who resides in Oberlin, Ohio.
