1889ers

After the Civil War, lands bordering Indian Territory had rapidly filled with settlers leaving no more free or cheap land available. At the urging of "Boomers" the United States government bought more than 3,000,000 acres from the Creek and Seminole Indian tribes. From this purchase, 1,900,000 acres in central Oklahoma was opened for settlement at noon on April 22, 1889 by virtue of a land run. By that evening, 50,000 people had moved into Oklahoma.
