These pioneers lived in the bounds of what is now West Virginia prior to 1826. We thank Dan, Ellen and Yvonne on their work in documenting these ancestors.

This year we were pleased to give Service Awards to several of our members who spent many hours working in the Library on clipping, pasting and indexing obituaries from the 1950's through 2003. These obituaries have been placed in notebooks, which were assorted by either year or decade depending on the number of entry's. Each obituary was taped or pasted on a backing sheet and enclosed in a plastic cover. The indexes were placed in the front of the books and these are now available for researchers. Service Awards were given to Francis G. Hosimer, Mary Ann Chapman, Margaret Conner and Enos Scragg. Each of these members spent many hours working at the tables in the Library. We thank them for their dedication.

It's not too early to start working on Awards for next year. If you need more information contact the Society.

You can add information on grandparents and be sure to include some of the funny stories they told you. I remember my Dad telling the story about when my grandmother and her friend had gotten a basket of tomatoes. My Uncle was driving them home in a Model "T" touring car. The ladies were inspecting their wares and found one that was not to their liking and out it went. They thought that the "splat" on the pavement was funny and began looking for another target. The next tomato went out and landed in the front seat of a passing open sedan. The story got funny as all the twisting and turning took place and how my grandmother and her friend had to hide the basket of tomatoes under their skirts in the back seat of the car. When Dad told the story, Grandma would sit up in a huff and then start to giggle. These stories add color to your autobiography and make it come to life.

You can add fill to your story with tales from uncles and aunts and you can start going back in your history. As you add subsequent generations you need to put in information of dates and places for births, marriages and deaths. Do you know where they were buried? Did they serve in the Armed Forces during some war and did they win a medal or were they sent to the brig.

How do you deal with the "Black Sheep" of the family? In some cases, everyone in the family knows about the problem which labeled them a "black sheep". In these instances, you won't have any problem writing about it as it happened. If however, the problem is closer to home and there are still persons affected by this incident, you may need to discuss this with someone closer to those involved. It may be that you need to leave that story out. If a myth has been generated for some reason, it should not be perpetuated in your journal. If direct line relationships are known but avoided you may have no other option but to tell it like it is.

Do you have an immigrant in your family line? We all do, it's sometimes hard to find them. If you do have references to the "Old Country", they should be included so that your heritage is not lost in subsequent generations. It is also interesting to tie your family line to historical events to give it perspective as to what was happening in the world and community.

After getting this on paper, in a draft form, you will have to go back and reread and edit your story. You may find that one story should go back three paragraphs and another come up. With a computer, it's fairly easy to cut and paste to get things in the proper order. Most word processors will help with spelling and punctuation and this should be simplified for you. It's also time to add in additional "flashbacks" as you think of things.

In going over your manuscript, you might want to add pictures that illustrate points or show people. If you have a photo of people, be sure to identify those in the picture. If you don't know or aren't sure, it's best to note that so as not to give erroneous information. This is the time that you'll probably kick yourself for not putting the names on the back of those pictures when you got them. Sometimes you can look at other pictures, identify others and determine who the questionable individual was.

I believe that you will find this a fun project. The trip down memory lane will be worth it. It will be fun to dredge up all those memories and relive the times of your life. The reward is to share them with your family and to pass them on to their children and to their posterity. Hopefully it will be a family treasure in years to come.

There are a number of excellent books in your local library that can help with this project and I'm sure the librarian can make some suggestions. Your book may not make the "Best Seller List" but I'll bet that your family members will be impressed.

ATTENTION

The Death Records of Kanawha County, Book 1A does not have any listings for the years 1863 or 1864. For some reason, these records were omitted from the ledger. I will try to find other sources for these records and they will be published in the future.

Benjamin J. Marks

Sent in by Richard Marks, Gambrills, MD

Benjamin J. Marks was bom in Kentucky in 1809, but spent most of his life in West Virginia. His parents possibly came from Germany in the 1700s and he may have had brothers and sisters in Indiana. On 25 October 1830 he was married in Harrison County Virginia by Rev. Joseph Morris to Mary Jenkins (1800-18 10sic). He is known to have had nine children between 1831 and 1847. These were Owen (1831) married first Sarah Amanda Knight (1835-1874) and second Matilda Murphy Bums; Samuel (1833-1858) married 21 September 1855 Celia A. Smith (1838); Eura (1834); Lemuel (1837-1903) married first Elizabeth Clevenger (1838-1859) on 18 November 1858, married second M. D. McCauley (1842) on 18 November 1860, and married third Indiana Talbott Lough (1838-1914) on 17 June 1871 (Indiana had been married to William E. Lough, who died at Andersonville Prison.); Eliza Ann (1840-1859); Martha (1841) married David Granison McCauley (1836); Benjamin J. (1843-1924) married Sarah Ann Brohard (1842-1911) on 12 June 1864; Nathan (1845) married Sarah Catherine Stone (1850) on 9 June 1866; and Elizabeth (1847) Married Granville Clevenger (1854) On 16 October 1872.

The death date and place for Benjamin J. Marks, Sr. cannot be given with certainty though a tombstone in the Cristlin's Graveyard, Brush Fork, West Virginia, marked "Ben J. Marks, died 25 June 1876, age 64" may mark his final resting place.

the Grandview Cemetery, Dunbar, WV books. The Family History Library was pleased to receive these additions. It was a fun time and we were able to find several items of information that will be helpful to our Library.

Rose and I also made a presentation of a copy of the Grandview Cemetery Book to the Manager of that Cemetery. He was very impressed with the work and appreciative of receiving a copy. One of the secretaries working there was also happy to see it as it was a single point of reference where she could look things up. They gave us the go ahead to do the same with the other cemetery they own which is Sunset Memorial Gardens in South Charleston, WV. Just looking at it, it's BIG!

Good luck on your research this summer. If you think we can help, let us know.

Don

difficult but can be done if a direct line descendent from that individual is known and tested. An example of this was that DNA analysis showed that Thomas Jefferson had a son by his slave Sally Hemmings. This proof was derived from blood samples taken from descendents of Jefferson and Hemmings.

Genetic research can also be used to explain and perhaps predict probabilities of inheriting certain hereditary diseases. An individual can undertake such a project by completing a health pedigree chart. We will endeavor to explain the steps for this process in the next edition of The Journal.

There are a number of reference sites to be found on the Internet for this subject. I used the key words "genetic genealogy" as search words and found a number of good references on the subject. There were Web Sites for several Laboratories that will send you a kit and perform DNA analysis for you. I would be careful to be sure that I understood what I was going to receive and what it will cost me. You may send in samples for testing and receive only a very general answer, which may or may not be helpful to you.

We will look at the Health Pedigree Chart in the next edition of The Journal.

Notes from Other Societies

From: Re-humidifying Family Treasures

Virginia Appalachian Notes, Summer 2005, p 146

Southwestern Virginia Genealogical Society, Roanoke, VA

Mr. Charlie Brown of Henderson, NC writes:

“Among the archives I inherited from my mother were her high school and college diplomas, which were rolled tightly with my father’s diplomas. They were tied with a blue silk ribbon, which disintegrated when I tried to untie it, and had to have been rolled up for more than sixty years.

After conferring with several archivists, we decided that the paper had to be re-humidified so that it would not crack when unrolled. (The college diplomas were on parchment which created a different problem!)

I took a large plastic under-the-bed storage box, put a glass baking dish at one end filled with water, and placed the roll of certificates at the other end. Every day I unrolled a little more. In a couple of weeks, they had absorbed enough moisture that they would lay flat, and are now framed (with acid-free backing and UV glass, of course).

Since they both graduated from high school in 1920 and from college in 1924, these certificates are precious to me.”

(Ed: More food for thought.)

Genealogy Mistakes

I thought that it might be helpful to remind our readers of some of the mistakes we make as genealogists. Probably one of the biggest errors we can commit is failure to:

DOCUMENT YOUR SOURCES

This is a common error for beginners and can be difficult to correct once you've closed the book and left the Library. I know, I've been there. During my first trip to the Family History Library in Salt Lake, I found a number of items on my family, but failed to record the source. On my next trip there, I spent the first day trying to look up the earlier finds to document the sources. It was a slow process. Your notes should be clear and you should record the exact place that you found the information.

If in a book, cite the Author, Book Name, Publisher, Date of publication and Page. An interview should include the name of the person, where interviewed and date. Also if a tape of the interview was made the current location of that tape is pertinent. If you cite a Web Page, note the address and the date. The date is important as the Web pages change. There are several books which can help you in this area. The one I use is "Richard S. Lackey, Cite Your Sources. A manual for Documenting Family Histories and Genealogical Records. (University Press of Mississippi, Jackson, MS, 1980).

West Virginia Vital Records on Internet

The following article appeared in the Charleston Gazette on November 10, 2005.

A new database has more than 1 million West Virginia birth, death and marriage records that can be seen online.

Scanned originals of birth, death and marriage records from six counties and most death certificates from throughout the state from 1917 to 1954 are now on the Division of Culture and History's Web site, www.wvculture.org/vrr.

The Division worked with the Family Search Archive of the Genealogical Society of Utah on the Vital Research Records project.

"The ability to view digitized photographic images of the actual records rather than just the typed transcriptions is unusual in the online genealogy community", said Frederick Armstrong, the division's director of archives and history.

The project's initial phase includes records from Calhoun, Gilmer, Hardy, Harrison, Mineral and Pendleton counties. The database includes those counties birth records from 1853 to 1930, death records from 1853 to the late 1960's and marriage records from the creation of the county until the late 1960's.

Records from other counties will eventually be added over several years. Statewide death certificates will be added each year as the records become 50 years old.

THE MARKS - WITHROW CONNECTION

Contributed by Richard Marks. 956 Gambrills, MD 21054-I015

My Withrow connection stems from my grandmother, Sadie Agnes Withrow(20 Feb 1880 - 22 Jul 1934), who married Carson Roscoe Marks (5 Oct 1885 - 4 Oct 1971) on 1 Mar 1910. Sadie's parents were Samuel H. Withrow (24 Jan 1857 - 29 Jun 1934) and Cordelia A. (1862 - 15 Dec 1936). Her siblings were Elsie, Henry Elmer, Earnie and Earnest Withrow

Samuel's parents, William A. Withrow (4 Feb 1807 - 28 Nov 1893) and Nancy Ann Thomas (13 Jan 1819 - 17 Jul 1902), married in 1833 and reported to have had a large family consisting of Elizabeth A., Sarah Katherine, Elisha Redmon, Elijah Edmund, Margaret II, Charles M., John O., James M., Mary Jane, Anne E., William Ried, Matilda F. and perhaps Nancy A. William's grandson, Emory Hickman Withrow, owned a farm near present day 4935 Big Tyler Road, Charleston, WV on which at the top of the hill is the Withrow family cemetery. Sadie and Carson, as are many Withrows and related families, are buried there.

There is some debate on the lineage, but it is believed that William A.'s father was William S. Withrow (30 Oct 1765 - 1 Apr 1831) who married Susanna Skaggs, Greenbrier

Archaic Medical Terms

In the last several editions of The Journal, I have been reporting the death records of Kanawha County. In many cases the cause of death was completely foreign to me and I had no idea as to what had caused it. I found a web site that lists the Archaic Medical Terms for these diseases and have reported a few of the ones that I see below. The site referenced is: www.paul.smith.doctors.org.uk/ArchaicMedicalTerms.htm

Bold Hives	Croup
Brain Fever	Meningitis or Typhus
Cholera Infantum	A common non-contagious diarrhea of young children occurring in the summer and autumn. Probably due to food poisoning from spoiled milk in bottles in hot weather.
Consumption	Pulmonary Tuberculosis
Croup	A hoarse croaking cough associated with swelling of the larynx, trachea or bronchi. Probably caused by the parainfluenza virus. Confused with Diphtheria.
Dropsey	A contraction of hydropsy, which means oedema (fluid retention). Often due to heart failure or kidney disease.
Fever / Ague	Malaria
Fits	Probably epilepsy
Flux	Dysentery
Hives	A term for croup, laryngitis or other breathing difficulty. Origin is Scots.
Intermittent Fever	Malaria
Lung Complaint	Tuberculosis
